WOODSTOCK WONDER.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Put Your Finger on Your Pulse

You feel the blood rushing along.

But what kind of blood? That is the question.

Is it pure blood or impure blood?

If the blood is impure then you are weak and languid; your appetite is poor and your digestion is weak. You cannot sleep well and the morning finds you unprepared for the work of the day. Your cheeks are pale and your complexion is sallow. You are troubled with pimples, boils, or some eruption of the skin. Why not purify your blood?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

will do it. Take it a few days and then put your finger on your pulse again. You can feel the difference. It is stronger and your circulation better. Send for our book on Impure Blood.

If you are bilious, take Ayer's Pills. They greatly aid the Sarsaparilla, They cure constipation also.

Write to our Doctors.

Write them freely all the particulars in your case. You will receive a prompt reply, without charge.

JAMAICA AND THE TARIFF.

The Whole Matter Is to Be Talked Over in Washington.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 26.—The Governor of Jamaica, Sir Augustus W. L. Hemming, has received instructions from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, to send two delegates from the Legislature to Washington, there to meet a delegate from London, for the purpose of conferring with the State Department on the whole subject of Jamaica's tariff and reciprocity with the United States. This announcement has considerably allayed public anxiety on the subject of the recent tariff trouble.

Mr. Foster In New York.

New York, May 24.—More than 100 members and invited guests attended the third annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York, which was given to-night in the banquet hall of the Hotel Manhattan. At the guests' table, which was presided over by Rev. Dr. Edward H. Kraus, pastor of St. Matthew's Church, and president of the society, seated as guests of honor were the Hon. George E. Foster, ex-Minister of Finance, Ottawa; Hon. Percy Sanderson, British Consul at this port; Hon. J. Franklin Fort, Newark, N. J.; Hon. Hiram R. Steele, Brooklyn; Rev. E. Walpole Warren, Rev. Dr. McConnell and Dr. W. M. Polk.

The toast, "Canada," was responded to by Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. J. Franklin Fort spoke to the toast "The land we live in." The toast "Our guests" was responded to by Rev. W. S. Rainsford. Rev. E. Walpole Warren and Dr. W. M. Polk spoke to the toast "Kindred societies."

True Bill for Manslaughter.

North Bay, Ont., May 25.—Court opened on Tuesday, Justice Ferguson presiding. The docket was very light, consisting of only one criminal case, that of murder, against Yon Yonson, a Finlander, of Sudbury, charge with killing one Henry M. Daley on Monday, April 17. The grand jury brought in a true bill for manslaughter.

SOUTH ONTARIO ELECTION.

The Petition Against the Return of the Hon. John Dryden Now Before the Court—The Day's Work.

Whitby, May 26.—The trial of the petition against the election of Hon. John Dryden on the ground of bribery by agents began at the Whitby Court House yesterday morning before Hon. Justices Rose and Osler. Messrs. W. Nesbitt, Q.C., and W. D. McPherson and Mr. R. H. Gagen appeared in support of the petition, and Mr. Dryden was represented by Hon. S. H. Blake, Q.C., and Mr. C. J. Holman. There are about 250 charges, and counsel for the petitioner say that the hearing of them will occupy till Saturday night. An immense number of witnesses are in attendance.

The Day's Work.

Four witnesses were examined during the day. The examination of two of them, William Gormely, secretary of the Reform Association of the Township of Pickering, and Mr. W. V. Richardson, chairman of one of the Pickering divisions, lasted from 2 until 7 p.m., when an adjournment was made until 9.30 this morning. During the examination of Messrs. Gormely and Richardson it was brought out that three persons named in the particulars had absented themselves from the riding, and an attempt was made to show that Reform officials had furnished them with money to go away. The purport of other questions was to try to make out that Sim. Hewitt, Capt. Sullivan and William Vanstone had been engaged in improper practices during the election, under he direction of agents of Mr. Dryden. Messrs. Gormely and Richardson emphatically denied any knowledge that bribery had been committed. The latter was still in the witness stand when the court rose at 7 o'clock.

IN PERIL AT BANFF, N.W.T.

Bishop Moret's Exciting Adventure in Canada's National Park—A Day and a Night of Misery in Solitude.

Banff, N.W.T., May 26.—Bishop Moret and five French clergymen, bound from Hongkong to Rome, who sought to break their journey across the continent, after landing at Vancouver a few days ago, by spending a couple of days in the Canadian National Park at this point, were rescued Queen's birthday from a perilous position in a mountain crevice. On Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock they started, without guides, to make the ascent of Sulphur Mountain, and lost their way. They owe their lives to the sagacity and experience of Swiss guides, recently introduced by the authorities to look after the welfare of travellers and hunting parties visiting the Canadian Rockies.

The Bishop and his party were not missed from their hotel until 10 o'clock Tuesday night, and the matter having been reported to the superintendent, the latter ordered the Alpine guides to at once make a search. Armed with lanterns and alpenstocks, the guides departed on their mission. After a night of tedious tramping among the pines of the mountain sides, they were rewarded by hearing their echoing calls answered from a slight crevice in the rock, into which a false step had precipitated the party. Though the crevice was but 20 feet deep, the clergymen found themselves unable to gain the ledge from which they had slipped. Ropes were lowered by the guides, and the rescue from the perilous position was quickly made. The previous afternoon and night had been spent in the crevice, 1,900 feet from the foot of the mountain, the height of which is 7,000 feet, and clothed with a pine forest.

Bishop Moret, who has travelled much, declared that he and his party had almost abandoned all hope of rescue.

Henry Prevost Drowned.

Kingston, Ont., May 26.—The discovery has been made that Henry Prevost, farm laborer, married and aged 35, was drowned while going up Longhboro Lake from Sydenham Village last Saturday night. The canoe was found bottom up in the lake.

Yon Yonson Is Free.

North Bay, Ont., May 26.—In the murder trial of Yon Yonson, the jury, after being out for six hours, brought in a verdict of not guilty and the prisoner was therefore acquitted, although the judge charged against him.

MARKET REPORTS.

Advance in the Wheat Market—Liverpool Reported Higher Prices and Chicago Rose 1 1-2 Cents—The Prices.

Liverpool, May 26.—Wheat market was strong yesterday. Spot wheat advanced 1d to 1½d per cental, and futures gained a net 1½d to 1⅝d over Wednesday's closing figures.

Chicago, May 26.—Wheat market was active and strong yesterday. The volume of trade was large, and prices advanced. The stronger cables and reports of further damage to crops by the Hessian fly and chinch bug instigated a general speculative buying movement. Futures advanced a cent and a half per bushel, and closed near the top figure for the day.

PECULIAR SENTENCE.

Magistrate Gives Boy Choice of Sunday School or Gaol.

Toledo, O., May 26.—Perhaps the most peculiar sentence ever passed upon a person in the courts of Ohio was passed upon James Firsden in Bowling Green by Mayor A. R. Campbell, who once made himself widely known by fining himself for a misdemeanor. Young Firsden, although 18 years old, has just finished a 30-days' sentence in gaol. When arraigned before Mayor Campbell he was sentenced to attend Sunday school and church for eight weeks every Sunday or go to gaol for 30 days. Upon presenting a certificate from his Sunday school teacher at the close of the time he is further to be paid $1 by Mayor Campbell for his good conduct. On refusal to attend church the boy is to be locked up and the sentence carried out.

American Baptist Institutions.

San Francisco, May 26.—The American Baptist Educational Society opened its eleventh annual session last night, Rev. T. G. Brownson, president of California College, presiding. The report of the executive board showed that in ten years $1,100,000 had been granted to about 40 institutions in 29 States and the Maritime Provinces of Canada. Kerr B. Tupper of Philadelphia stated in an address that the total endowment of Baptist institutions of learning was over $36,000,000.

The G.T.R. Trackmen's Strike.

Toronto, May 26.—The only thing new here in relation to the G.T.R. trackmen's strike is that circulars have been issued for a mass meeting of all the strikers within 20 miles of this city at 2 p.m. to-day. Word has been received here from Montreal that the United Counties Railway trackmen are also out on strike.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at James Lynch's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

When the Kettle Sings.

The reason why hot water makes a simmering noise is a very simple one. As the water heats, little bubbles of steam are formed at the bottom of the kettle. These rush upward and, being attracted to the sides of the kettle, they make a commotion which sets the metal in vibration, and the kettle "sings."

In the Imperial library at Calcutta more than 100,000 volumes on Indian affairs are brought together and classified.

DIZZY AND FAINT SPELLS.

Warnings of heart trouble that should be heeded.

These feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells and "all gone" sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They indicate an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nervous system. Nature is asking in an unmistakable manner that aid be brought to her assistance quickly.

There is no time for delay. One faint may be recovered from—will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off but the next may prove more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at once before their case gets hopeless.

This remedy acts directly on the disordered heart and nerves and restores them to healthy action.

MRS. JOHN GILKER, Maria, Bonaventure Co., Que., recently wrote as follows:

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to state that I have been using for some time the wonderful remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

"For a number of years I have been troubled with heart throbbing and dizziness, followed by nervousness and weakness.

"I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and got great relief from the first, and now am completely cured. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received."

There is no one who has ever taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills faithfully but has derived benefit from their use. They have cured thousands of cases of palpitation, dizzy and faint spells, throbbing, skip beats, nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, anaemia, pale and sallow complexion, female complaints and general debility."

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practising. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practising; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used, Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

Prompt Appreciation.

Mr. Charles Legros, the popular local tobacconist, took advantage of the visit of Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick to Peterborough on May 24th to send him a few of his imported "Boek" cigars. This morning he received from Mr. Fitzpatrick under date of Ottawa, May 25th, a letter of acknowledgement, stating in effect that though he was not a smoker himself, yet his friends to whom he turned over the cigars were delighted with their superb quality. He very cordially thanked Mr. Legros for the thoughtful present.

G. T. R. STRIKE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir—The present strike on the G.T.R. opens up the whole question of workingmen's remuneration. The day is coming and cannot be far distant when the standard of pay will be regulated by the government. Low, insufficient wages are a poor reward for honest toil. Then, too, we have the "scab" question to consider. The tendency to do undercutting or "scab" work is promoted by competition to such an extent that it has permeated all classes of people, poor and well-to-do. The very men that cry out against "scabs" employ a lodge doctor at low pay and chuckle over it. These men cannot expect sympathy when they do the same thing themselves. All this creates a mean, cheese-paring, parsimonious and overreaching spirit in the community that will make a mean people. Down with [illegible] freedom in all things. Away with the system of employing scabs of any kind, railway men or lodge doctors or any other kind of junk humanity. Yours, etc.,

KEARNS FOUND GUILTY.

Sentence Reserved for one Week—Has a Very bad Record.

Fred Kearns, who was arrested on Saturday evening last in an attempt to rob the till in Mr. James Long's confectionery store, and who was the same evening at a special meeting of the police court remanded until this morning, came up at 10 o'clock a.m., to answer the charge preferred against him.

County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution, whilst the prisoner was undefended.

Kearns was charged with attempting to steal a sum of money from Mr. James Long on the evening of Saturday, May 20th, to which charge he pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Jas. Long was the first witness called, and went over the circumstances of the attempted steal on Saturday night last. He saw prisoner in behind the counter and heard the till fall on the floor. When young Kearns had been caught by witness he promised to not go near the store again if let off this time. Kearns had also given the name of Ferguson when he was captured.

Chief Roszel gave a very hard character to young Kearns. H ehad admitted to the Chief after he was brought to the Police Station of attempting to rob Long's till and having robbed other tills around town. He was at present under suspended sentence.

The prisoner had no defence to offer and the magistrate found him guilty, but at the request of the boy's mother, who was in court, sentence was reserved for one week until his father returns to town.

It is altogether likely that Kearns will be sent to the reformatory. He is only ten years of age.

ONE MONTH IN JAIL.

Jas. McKenzie Receives his Sentence Yesterday Afternoon.

At a special sitting of the police court yesterday afternoon, Jas. McKenzie, was charged by W. S. Hutchinson with wilfully destroying the latter's plants and killing one of his chickens. He pleaded guilty and was given one month in the county jail.

It appears that about a year ago McKenzie, who has boarded with the complainant for some time, was up on a similar charge to which he pleaded guilty and expressed his regret at doing the act. He was let go with a warning to not repeat the offence. He offered no reason for acting in such a strange manner.

J. P. WHITE GETS THE PRIZE.

The Bean Guessing Contest Closed Last Night at the Spot Cash.

The great bean-guessing contest, which has been going on at the Spot Cash grocery, has closed, and Mr. J. P. White, son of ex-councillor J. M. White, is the lucky winner of the lady's gold watch and chain. The contest has been going on for some time and no less than 6,628 guesses made. The jar of beans weighed 15 pounds, and contained 7 1-2 quarts. The actual number of beans contained in the jar was 7,976, and the extraordinary part of the whole affair was that Mr. White guessed the exact number. Some of those who came near to this number in their guesses, were R. J. Winch, 7,974; Miss Birdie Dawson, 7,986; Mr. H. Crossley, 7,987; Mr. E. Bradburn, 7,962. Mr. H. Crossley, 2nd guess, 7,991; Mr. Fred Dallis, Bailesboro, 7,991; Thos. Raymond 7,997; Miss May Sawyers, 7,998; and Miss Sara Cochrane, 7,999. For every 25 cents worth of goods purchased, the purchased was entitled to one guess. The jar was sealed by Mayor Davis Davis at the time the competition commenced, and the beans were counted last night by Mr. Wm. Menzie, of the Examiner, and Mr. W. H. Robertson.

The prize is an elegant gold watch and chain, the former being beautifully decorated in gold, 22 karats fine, with a small diamond in the centre of back case. It is of the Waltham movement and stem winder and stem setter.

The last competition was at Christmas last, when a beautiful dinner set was the prise.

THE CATTLE YARD QUESTION.

South Ward Ratepayers Hold Another Public Meeting.

The ratepayers in the South Ward in the vicinity where the proposed cattle yards are to be established have by no means let the fight drop against what they claim will be a nuisance. Another meeting was held last night in the Park street Baptist church at which resolutions were passed embodying their views on the matter and appointing committees to help along the cause by raising sufficient funds to fight the matter out in the courts if necessary.

Ex-Councillor W. H. White occupied the chair, and in opening the proceedings strongly expressed his disapproval of the action of the Town Commissioners.

Ex-Councillor Charles B. Robertson made a scathing speech against the establishment of cattle yards in that vicinity, and the action of the Town Commissioners and Town Councillors in not taking steps to prevent such a concern being erected. He had been around to see every Commissioner, and he and Mr. Walter Evans had on their own behalf engaged Mr. Denniston, who interviewed the Town Council at their last meeting on the matter. A motion at that meeting to the effect that the Council ask the Town Commissioners to cancel the lease, or in the event of their not doing that, to meet them in joint discussion in the matter, had been passed, but as yet no good had apparently come of this. The matter of establishing cattle yards, such as proposed, the speaker alleged, would involve much depreciation in the value of property. Messrs. Carnegie and Moore had told him that if the yards were established and they afterwards proved to be a nuisance, the town council would have to put an end to it. Mr. Hall and Mr. Davidson he felt certain were in sympathy with them and would vote in favour of cancelling the lease. The majority of the Commissioners were against the anti-cattle men, however, and if the yards were once established they would always remain there no matter what nuisance they might prove to be. The speaker claimed that the nuisance would not only be in the form of bawling cows and a disagreeable odour, but it would be injurious to the well water, and they would be forced to use the town water, which he considered pretty bad.

Mr. Hugh Watson also spoke against the scheme. He had a taste of what a nuisance it would be already, he claimed, by the present yards. He often suffered from want of sleep owing to 40 or 50 cattle being shut up without feed as a rule and spending all night bawling.

An informal discussion took place as to what line of action they should ask the Town Council to take to kill the matter, and finally on motion of Mr. Charles Robertson, seconded by Mr. Hugh Watson, it was decided to ask the Town Council to pass the necessary by-law prohibiting the keeping of cattle for export inside the corporation for a longer period than 3 hours at a time.

It was the feeling of the meeting that funds should be raised at once to assist in fighting the matter out, and Messrs. C. B. Robertson, Henry Evans, Walter Evans, P. MacNamara, John Jamison, Robert Stenton, Hugh Watson, R. Sheeley, A. Letellier and N. T. Leplante were appointed a committee to get signatures to the necessary petitions which will be forwarded to the Council, and to raise the necessary funds to carry on the legal fight.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TENETS EXPLAINED.

REV. CARL NORTON, OF NEW YORK, GIVES AN ADDRESS.

He Delivers an Able Address on the Question Concerning which there has been so Much Controversy of Late.

A large audience assembled in the Sons of England hall last evening, to listen to Mr. Carol Norton, of New York, explain the tenets of Christian Science. In speaking on the subject, the speaker expressed himself substantially as follows:

The divine drama of atonement—at-one-ment with Good as the eternal God, has held the stage of human existence for centuries. The character of this divine drama through the authorship of Spirit is transcendental and spiritual. Divinely directed actors have in their day and generation played in turn such parts as Patriarch, Spiritual Leader, King, Judge, Lawmaker, Psalmist, Prophet, Wiseman, Seer, Poet, Friend, Priest, Mother, Father, Reformer, Saviour. Beginning with Abraham as the great teacher of faith in one Supreme Beginning, and following the line of Apostolic Hebrew succession down through the ages, remembering the careers, teachings, and spiritual labour of Moses, Isaiah, David and Deborah, Ruth and Elizabeth, Samuel, Zacharias and John the Baptist, we are at once brought face to face with the grandeur and dignity of the divine drama of spiritual atonement—at-one-ment—with God. Into each age and era have come His messengers and interpreters. Each period has been one of advancement, each new message fresh light on the eternal truths of existence. The progress of thought has been the unfolding within the heart of man of the actualities of the Holy Spirit. Each period in the history of human affairs has evolved a great leader. This is as true of secular history as of spiritual unfoldment. The divine climax in the great drama of atonement was the appearance and triumphant demonstration over the world, all flesh and materialism, made by that career which began in and to earthly vision ended in a crucifixion between two public criminals. From out the darkness of Paganism, from within the borders of a down-trodden Roman colony, shone a great light.

The career of Jesus Christ is a white light. It embodies the meekness of the lily-of-the-valley, the fragrance of the opening rose, the divine dignity of Lebanon' cedars, and the immortality of the Resurrection lily. The life of Christ is to the masses what the sweet white clover is to the country child—lowly and sweet, generous, and virtually omnipresent. Christianity is the outgrowth of the divinely human life of Jesus Christ. Christian Science is the demonstration through Divine Science of the teaching and tenets of the great discourse of Jesus Christ, which according to the best records that we have began with. "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father"s business;" and ended according to St. Luke with that divine and perpetual promise, "these signs shall follow them that believe; in my name shall they cast out devils; they shall take up serpents and if they drink any deadly thing it shall in no wise hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover." According to the evangelists Matthew, Mark, Luke and John as they record the utterances and acts of Jesus Christ, the founder of Christian religion taught the naturalness of goodness and purity of health or bodily harmony, and finally man's dominion over all sin, sickness and death. The early was more a society than an organization. A few of the psalmists' hymns, the Lord's Prayer, the law and the prophets, and after the sanctified earth-life had been finished, the simcommunion meal followed by what was known as the Nazarene's love-feast (Agape) constituted the congregationalism of the early church. Jesus came to fulfil the law and the prophets, to make clear the meaning of the Hebrew prophecies and the spiritual import of Moses' teachings. He was received by all who perceived the spiritual import of the Hebrew religion; he was rejected by the purely ecclesiastical type of thought, and crucified by a union of ecclesiasticism, with political and materialistic opposition.

The life of Jesus in all the grandeur of its honesty, simplicity, chastity, and loving kindness was an awful rebuke to the practices of the Paganism of the era in which he lived, and a rebuke to the externalism and literalism of ancient Hebrew scholasticism. The teachings of Christ are the logical outcome of monotheistic Hebrew teaching. Jesus Christ according to Christian Science presented the great and closing act of the divine drama of atonement. He demonstrated the way out of the flesh through overcoming it. He lived all that he taught, fulfilled his own prophecies and promises, and made the divine the natural and the spiritual the real. He reformed the sinner and healed the sick by one and the same method. Jesus Christ never intended that his words and precepts should chrystallize into dogma, creed, form, ceremonial, ritual, dogma, speculation, or metaphysical vagaries.

Christian Science is Christian because as taught by its Founder it affirms that the corner stone of all spiritual building is purity. The luminous life of our common Saviour and Teacher, the Healer and man of Galilee, radiated at all times the spiritual fragrance of manly chastity, innocent guilelessness, and the integrity of pure manhood. He taught us that the kingdom of heaven, the came not by material observation, and that it was neither on the right hand nor on the left, but already within us, and then forthwith taught us to pray, "Our Father which art in Heaven," Jesus thus presented the great truth that man lives, moves, and has his being in God, in the ratio that he lives in the spiritual consciousness of divine mind.

Christian Science is Christian because it is already giving men and women glorious glimpses of the divine and actual presence of the gospel of purity. It makes the law of purity equally binding upon man and woman, and sanctifies, glorifies and dignifies the virtues of innocence, meekness, childlikeness, guilelessness, and divine love.

Christian Science is Christian because it issues the following emancipation proclamation not only to Christendom, but to religionists in all lands living under the teachings of of all the world's religious teachers, "Be thou free." Freedom from sin, suffering, sickness and death is the divine heritage of all men.

Christian Science is Christian because it affirms that the religion of Jesus is a healing religion, a great, practical, demonstrable, system of mental therapeutics, scientific, exact, divinely ordered, and of permanent value to the race. The healing element has been as much a lost art in Christendom for fifteen centuries as the making of Damascus sword blades has been a lost art in the world of manufacture. When materiality, human prestige, and intellectual discussion took the place of "the faith once delivered to the saints" by the Founder of the Christian religion, the healing power disappeared and remained under the debris of scholastic philosophy until its reappearance in Christendom in the year 1866, through the spiritual discovery, or recovery, made by the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. Her recovery through spiritual healing from an accident supposed to be fatal led her to perceive the divine modus operandi of the healing of the Apostolic church.

Christian Science is Christian because it has come to the world through the virgin purity of a pure woman's mind; through the agency of pure womanhood came the greatest leaders of monotheistic spiritual history. Can we think of the career of Moses and forget the courageous womanhood and the maternal affection and womaly interest that saved him to Israel? Can modern Christians or Hewbrews for a moment forget the work of Esther, the example of Ruth, or Elizabeth? To the pure nature of Mary we turn in gratitude for the made manifest through the manhood of Jesus. Was Jesus not reared in the midst of influences largely augmented in spirituality by the examples of Miriam, Deborah, Hannah, and Sarah? Can we turn in memory to the career of Christ and shut from the mind's view, the home and presence of Mary and Martha and the grandeur of the new birth and loyal affection of the Magdalen. Down through the ages, though their history remains largely unwritten except as it is recorded on the tablets of human heart-breakings, martyrdom, and silent woe, we have the ever-present ministry of pure, righteous, and spiritually-mined women in all ranks of life, in all religions, and especially as disciples in successive ages of the man of Nazareth. Therefore Christian Science reaffirms that it is Christian because given to the world through the prayers and sufferings, overcoming and aspiration of pure womanhood. Christian Science is Christian because it is seeking to re-establish the whole of Christianity. It affirms that Christians need in this age the undivided garment of Christ, the physical healing of His religion as well as its power for mortal regeneration. Christian Science accepts the truth of immaculate conception of Jesus Christ, His divine incarnation, Messiahship, the genuineness of the recorded, but miscalled miracles, his resurrection and ascension, but at all times and under all circumstances antagonizes the idea that the works and demonstrations of Jesus Christ's miraculous power were Suspensions of Law.

Jesus promised that the works which he performed should be repeated by his followers in all ages.

Christian Science is Christian because it teaches that men should understand the Scriptures. The Christian ministry, Greek and Roman, Trinitarian and Unitarian, is based upon the first sentence of the great commission of the Founder of Christianity, "Go ye into all the world, preach the Gospel." With rightful confidence Christian ministers point to this command as orders issued directly by the great Captain of their faith to His followers in all ages. This command of Christ is considered the authority for all missionary labour, and bases the great organization of the Christian churches. Christian Scientists accept the perpetual significance of this command, but take one further step and affirm that the very next sentence in the same commission reads, "heal the sick." Therefore their pertinent and Christian conclusion that the through spiritual processes alone the pains of the body, yea the divine necessity of initiating the physical healing of Christ, as well as the moral reform, is incumbent upon his followers to-day as much as ever before, and therefore the union of physical and spiritual healing in Christian Science, which makes Christian Science both Christian and Scientific. Jesus did not teach that sickness was divinely sent as discipline. To the paralyzed woman He said, "lo, Satan hath bound thee these eighteen years;" and to the man at the pool so quickly healed by His spiritual method, "go sin no more lest a worse thing come upon thee." And to show that the healing of disease, casting out of devils, and the reformation of sinners were practically one and the same thing he said, "Whether it is easier to say unto thee, rise, take up thy bed and walk, or thy sins be forgiven thee." Christian Science is Christian because it teaches that Christianity has lost none of its healing power, and that God hath in no wise withdrawn himself from the needs of suffering humanity. Christian Science is of Christian origin and character because it elevates the profound efficacy of righteous prayer to God. The revered and loved Founder of the movement, Mary Baker Eddy, at all times and under all conditions asks loyal Christian Scientists to imitate in detail the career of Jesus, and to follow the apostolic injunction, "pray without ceasing," to forgive enemies, and be patient with persecution.

Christian Science is Scientific for two simple reasons. First, because it is a rational understanding of the mental laws through which the divine Omniscience, alias God, governs the universe including man. Second, because it gives evidences of certain well-developed spiritual laws heretofore considered unprovable and purely speculative. Christian Science is scientific because it starts with a reasonable premise, rears a consistent superstructure, and proves the actuality of its conclusions. Because good is positive, evil is negative, and because mind is causation what is called matter must be effect. If God is Omniscience then Deity is unchanging, the same yesterday, to-day, and forever. This is not only a Christian or religious truth, but a philosophical truism accepted by acute thinkers in all ages of past history. Christian Science is scientific because it sets forth with great vividness the now

YOUR LAZY LIVER

Needs stirring up this Spring.

Nothing can do this so effectually and remove every trace of impurity from the system as Laxa-Liver Pills.

The past winter has been a rather hard one.

People living indoors a good deal, eating quantities of meat and heavy foods, are likely to have their system clogged up with impurities.

No one can feel well with these poisons circulating in the blood.

The head feels heavy, the tongue is coated, appetite poor, bowels constipated—no energy, mental or physical.

Laxa-Liver Pills are what everybody needs this spring.

They relieve the constipation, set on the sluggish liver, clean the coated tongue, improve the appetite, purify the blood, clear the cobwebs from the brain and make the whole system feel buoyant and full of energy.

And they work so perfectly that they do not gripe or pain, sicken or weaken, or cause the slightest inconvenience.

Price 25c. a bottle, or 5 for $1, at all druggists. Say you want Laxa-Liver Pills, for there's nothing else as good.

THE HUMOR OF THE SAVAGE.

A Bad Lands Incident In Which Professor Marsh Figured.

To his intimates the late Professor Marsh was known not only as a scientific man of great ability and worldwide reputation, but also as a delightful companion, quick and witty, with a keen appreciation of humor, and a narrator of capital stories. One of these, which he used to tell of himself with great effect, dealt with a small adventure had many years ago in the Rocky mountains.

The first month or two of the trip had been spent on the plains of Nebraska and Wyoming, at that time the hunting ground of Sioux and Cheyennes, who were bitterly hostile and signs of whose presence near the command were often seen. The whole party realized that they were in a dangerous country, and all hands were constantly on the watch for enemies and were careful not to wander far from the command, or if two or three fossil gatherers did go off from the main body they took with them a number of soldiers to stand guard while they worked. After leaving this dangerous region the expedition moved on to the Bad Lands near Fort Bridger, where there were but few Indians, and those friendly ones, and the work of gathering fossils went on.

One day Professor Marsh was hard at work on his knees in the bottom of the narrow ravine digging away the soil from a bone which stuck out of the bank. He was entirely absorbed in his task and noticed nothing of what was going on about him until the brilliant sunlight, which poured down on him, was cut off by a dark shadow, and he looked up to see standing above him a great, grim Indian warrior, holding his rifle at ready. The professor's heart leaped into his throat. He forgot where he was. He strove to utter a propitiatory "How," but his dry lips refused to form the word, and he could only swallow, trying to get rid of the lump in his throat. Suddenly the savage bent toward him and spoke. "Have I the honor of addressing Professor Othnoll Charles Marsh, the eminent paleontologist of Yale college?" he inquired. The revulsion of feeling was almost too much for the professor, who was now even less able to speak than he had been before.

It developed that the Indian as a small boy had been sent east, Christianized, educated, taught the elements of theology and sent back to the west to civilize his tribe, but he had not carried the civilization far.—Forest and Stream.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER

Kidney Disease, Man's Deadliest Foe—Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, May 15. — "Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease does." was the assertion of a prominent physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used in every case of Kidney Disease there would be no deaths from it.

Interpolation.

"He comes not!" she faltered, wringing her hands.

The hour of the tryst was long past.

"He will never come!" cried the distracted girl. "But happily I know a mean thing and dance crabs will perhaps enable me to earn my living! Let her go, professor!"

The audience thundered applause, appreciating at once the exquisite art with which the specialty had been interpolated in the ruling drama.

DRUMMOND RAILWAY

The Maritime Province Members Discuss the Bargain.

HON. J. COSTIGAN'S STATEMENT

Its Delivery Was Deferred by the Absence From the House of the Leader of the Opposition, Sir Charles Tupper — Interesting Facts Elicited by Questions by the Members.

Ottawa, May 26.—There was a very slim attendance of members when the Speaker took the chair yesterday afternoon, but during the course of the session the number present increased materially. There was the usual number of inquiries by members, and Hon. John Costigan intimated that he desired to make a statement which might be regarded as of some importance to the House, but in consequence of the absence of the leader of the Opposition he deferred it until today. Before the orders of the day were called Sir Hibbert Tupper made some reference to Deadman's Island lease, which drew from Dr. Borden the reply that the late Government had given away 950 acres of the public domain for a nominal rental, and he had been informed that the late Government had been prepared to hand over Deadman's Island for $1 a year. The House went into committee upon the Drummond Railway resolution, and four Maritime Province members held the floor until midnight, when Mr. Russell (Halifax) moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere introduced a bill to amend the Weights and Measures Act. In explanation, he stated that the bill only affects the measurement of apples in Nova Scotia. There are, however, several other bills promoted by private members amending the act, and he suggested that when these measures had reached a certain stage they be amalgamated in this bill.

Questions and Answers.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, in reply to Mr. Foster, gave a statement of the financial relations of the Dominion and the Ontario Governments, but stated that it could not be accurate until the arbitrators had made their awards.

Hon. Dr. Borden, in reply to several questions relating to the militia, put for Mr. John Ross Robertson, who was not present, said in general terms that all regulations were submitted to the Minister for approval, and that he was not aware of any intension on the part of the Government to change the regulations at present.

Mr. Sifton informed Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper that no report had yet been received from Mr. Ogilvie, but promised that when it was, a copy would be brought down.

Mr. Sifton, in reply to a question asked for Mr. Clarke, said the number of immigrants who had arrived in Canada during the calendar year 1898 was 31,702, but there were no means of telling how many of those had actually settled in the country. The number of homesteads taken up was 4,847.

Mr. Blair, in answer to a question put for Mr. Foster, said that no promise had been made, officially or otherwise, by the Government or any member thereof to purchase the Canada Eastern Railway of New Brunswick.

In reply to Mr. Clarke, Mr. Blair said 16 palace and sleeping cars were ordered by the Government for the Intercolonial Railway between Jan. 1, 1898, and April 1, 1899. The orders were given to the Crossen Car Company for eight of these cars, and the Wagner Palace Car Company for the other eight cars. Tenders had been called for all but five of these cars.

Mr. Costigan to Make a Statement.

Hon. John Costigan, on the orders of the day being called, said that he had intended making a statement, but, as the leader of the Opposition, who might care to hear it, was not present, he would postpone it until to-day.

Drummond County Railway.

Mr. Borden (Halifax) resumed the debate on the Drummond County Railway resolution, and, after briefly summarizing his remarks of last Thursday night, took up the question from a Halifax standpoint.

Mr. McIsaac followed, speaking in favor of the purchase of the Drummond County road. He thought the bargain a good one, and complimented Mr. Blair on having made it.

Mr. Powell said the bargain was extravagant. In spite of the the improvement which had been made on account of the action of the Senate two sessions ago.

Dr. Russell followed at considerable length in support of the purchase, and in criticism of the course pursued by the late Government with respect to the Intercolonial, speaking until nearly midnight, when he moved the adjournment of the debate, which was agreed to.

The House adjourned at 11.58.

CONVALESCENT MEMBERS.

Mr. Tarte in the House—Mr. W. F. Maclean in Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 26.—Hon. Mr. Tarte was in his place yesterday for the first time since his recent indisposition, and received a hearty round of applause on rising to reply to a question pertaining to his department. He is somewhat better, but by no means well, and will leave for England and Paris as soon as his supplementary estimates have been approved by council.

Mr. Maclean in Town.

Mr. W. F. Maclean paid a flying visit to the capital yesterday, but could not remain long enough to take his seat in the House. The few friends who were lucky enough to meet him during the few hours he was here were pleased to find him looking so well and recovering so rapidly from the effects of his accident.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at James Lynch's Drug Store.

ALL HEADACHES

HOFFMAN'S HEADACHE POWDERS

Some women at the critical period of approaching motherhood fortunately receive every care and attention which abundant means can bestow, but the vast majority of them are obliged to take care of themselves and do their own work into the bargain; and what woman with family duties dependent upon her can be expected to patiently endure the long-drawn-out weariness of waiting and hoping in sickness and wretchedness for a recovery that seems to come on leaden wings?

"My wife has been a great sufferer from troubles incident to approaching motherhood," says Rev. E. R. Nelson, of Darvills, Dinwiddie Co., Va. "She suffered with such distressing sick stomach that she could not take food; what little was forced down could not be retained. Her breath was very offensive and indicated a bad state of the stomach. The digestive organs refused to work. The trouble became so severe and obstinate that I was really alarmed. She began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' and about the same time I wrote to Dr. Pierce for particular advice. He promptly and very courteously replied, saying that he felt sure a persistent use of these remedies would prove effectual.

"By the time the letter was received she was improving fast and before all of one bottle each of the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' had been taken she was up, able to eat, retain and digest her food. She continued to improve until entirely well without taking more than the two bottles mentioned, and some of the 'Pellets.'"

Accept no substitutes for these world-famed medicines, that may be urged upon you, not for your good, but that the dealer may make a little extra profit.

These remedies contain no trace of alcohol, nor opium, nor any of the dangerous drugs which enter so largely into many advertised "compounds," recommended for the cure of invalid women. They will not create craving for stimulants.

A CREMATION IN SIAM.

Festivities Are Rampant During the Conflagration.

If there is any time when the Siamese may be said to hold sports it is at a notable cremation. Ordinarily the dead of Siam are buried at a ghat, common to all who cannot afford the considerable expense of a private conflagration, and when the wood of the funeral pyre has been consumed the body is well roasted and the attendant vultures are given a chance to clean the bones. Those who can afford it build the funeral pyre within their private walls, where festivities are held during the burning and invitations issued to friends that they come and behold the honor paid their dead. The bodies of those intended for private cremation are embalmed and usually kept for some time—often many months.

One Siamese gentleman, when inviting me to the proposed cremation of his brother, informed me that the distinguished deceased had been awaiting combustion for a year. The extent and character of the festivities on such an occasion depend entirely on the length of purse of the deceased's remaining relatives.

On the afternoon or evening of the appointed day the guests assemble and witness the simple ceremony of the yellow robed priests of Buddha. Subsequently the nearest male relative fires the pyre, and then, while the flames crackle and the late lamented hisses and pops like a green pippin on a spit, his grieving family and friends grow merry over the cakes and sweetmeats and wines, while men hired for the occasion perform at several games, and even on rare occasions do some little running and jumping. The game nearest approaching one of skill is a sort of fence play with short sticks fastened to both arms. Once in awhile one sees at these human barbecues a kind of boxing, the art of which seems to be in parrying with the arm and open hand the thrusts that never have any serious intention of landing.—Harper's Weekly.

ITCHING PILES. . .

Positively and permanently cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is an absolute cure for piles, and has never been known to fail to cure the worst forms of this disease which has baffled medical skill for ages.

This statement may sound rather strong to persons who do not know the superior merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, but it is perfectly true, and heartily endorsed by the grateful testimony of thousands of men and women who have been cured by it after years of suffering, and after trying many preparations and consulting the best doctors.

Mr. H. Bull, Belleville, Ont., says: "I take pleasure in stating that after thirty years of suffering with Itching Piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me. I tried every remedy that was advertised, with little or no benefit, but as I have told different persons affected as I was, Dr. Chase's Ointment made a perfect cure."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine. It is guaranteed to cure any case of piles. For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Cocaine Habit.

A well known chemist states that a surprising number of well to do young ladies have taken to buying the various forms of doctored up coca extracts (cocaine) in large quantities, also phenacetine and various bromides, because "they make one feel so nice and happy." It is needless to say that such practices are exceedingly risky. Perhaps, however, they are preferable to another extremely foolish trick—that of sniffing chloroform dropped on a handkerchief, with the object of producing a pleasant, dreamy languor.—New York Telegram.

THE NIGHT CLERK'S STORY.

A FACE LIKE CHALK.

A very bad attack of the Grippe one year ago last winter left my system in a very weak state and my nervous system completely unstrung. After getting over the dangerous stage of the disease I naturally expected to gain strength, but, unfortunately, did not do so. On the contrary, my blood became weaker. I daily lost strength and vitality, and my nervous system became so weak that it was a constant source of suffering both day and night. I lost appetite, the sight of food nauseated me, the weak state of my system caused shortness of breath and unnatural action of the heart, such as fluttering and violent palpitation, and my face was like chalk. I was in this condition and constantly getting weaker when I b gan taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I had read the books they distributed and their advertisements in the papers, and thought, "Well, I have taken so much medicine without benefit it is useless to spend any more money. However, I finally made up my mind. It is a forlorn hope; I can but try. If I am not benefited I will not be hurt. So I bought one box and received great benefit therefrom, so continued their use, and to-day am a well man in consequence; my blood is strong, my face has the ruddy hue of health, my appetite has returned, I sleep well, I have not the slightest indications of nervousness or heart trouble, and from a sick, weak, nervous man Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have transformed me in six weeks to full health and strength." I am yours very truly,

(Signed) WILLIAM WILLARD,
Night Clerk Grand Central Hotel,
Peterboro.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DOCTOR WARD CO., Limited, 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

THE HEADSMAN.

He Used the Sword and Not the Ax Prior to 1483.

I am inclined to think that prior to 1483 the sword and not the ax was usually employed as the weapon for judicial decapitation and that a block was dispensed with, the victims receiving their doom "meekly kneeling upon their knees," and in this opinion I am fortified by the concurrence of an eminent clerical historian. This learned writer agreed with me that the ax did not become the "regulation" lethal implement until after the rough and ready "heading" of Lord Hastings on the Tower green, when he was summarily dispatched by order of the protector, Gloucester.

In this instance, according to the chroniclers, the victim's neck was stretched upon a piece of timber then in use for the repair of the adjacent church of St. Peter ad Vincula, probably a "putlog," part of the scaffolding which, we read, "conveniently lay in the way." Contemporary accounts seem to indicate that the executioner straddled over the prone body, and from this position I infer that the decapitation was effected by the tool known as an ads, the cutting edge of which is at a right angle to and not in a plane with the haft.

I may add that the only contemporary reference I have come across of the use, or proposed use, of an ax and block for inflicting capital punishment prior to this tragedy is in one of the Paston series of letters describing the peril of an unfortunate captive of Jack Cade's rebels (A. D. 1450), a generation before Lord Hastings was so clumsily hacked to death.—Notes and Queries.

A Good Thing Well Done.

New and pleasing ideas in advertising always interest. Nothing has appeared for years which is so attractive as the Hood's Sarsaparilla advertisements, utilising proverbs and wise sayings as headings, each followed by a little homily cleverly connecting the proverb with the subject. Besides this, the quaint Jensen italic type for the preliminary sentences, finishing with a script slogan, "Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints," adds to the effectiveness. All this work is running in over 7000 papers.

American Speech.

The faults of American speech, according to an authority on the subject, originate in the primary school. The child is not taught the melodic value of his phrase. He is allowed to use the throat instead of the tongue, and the flow of speech becomes, therefore, halting and guttural.

"Educate your alphabet and you will find your language as mellow as any of the family of Latium," is the advice given. "Your i's are throaty, your m's are too labial, your s's are too hissing, your c's are not soft enough. When you can train your scholars to emit these and the other consonants within the pitch, using the tongue instead of the throat for their emission, then you will see that for rhythm and sonority your English language may be compared with the Tuscan, the Roman, the Spanish and the Provencal."

School Girls' Nerves.

Many a pale, weak school girl, suffering from the evil effects of an exhausted nervous system, and thin, watery blood, has been restored to the vigour and buoyancy of robust health by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. The healthful glow on the cheek and the brightness in the eye tell of the building up process which is taking place in the body.

L'ENVOI.

The smoke upon your altar dies,
The flowers decay,
The goddess of your sacrifice
Has flown away.
What profit, then, to sing or slay
The sacrifice from day to day?

"We know the shrine is void," they said,
"The goddess flown—
Yet wreaths are on the altar laid—
The altar stone
Is black with fumes of sacrifice,
Albeit she had fled our eyes.

"For it may be, if still we sing
And tend the shrine,
Some deity on wandering wing
May there incline,
And finding all in order meet
Stay while we worship at her feet."
—Rudyard Kipling.

WHEN FIRE BREAKS OUT.

Keep Cool and Remember and Follow These Instructions.

In case of fire, if the burning articles are at once splashed and sprayed with a solution of salt and nitrate of ammonia an incombustible coating is formed. This is a preparation which can be made at home at a trifling cost and should be kept on hand. Dissolve 20 pounds of common salt and ten pounds of nitrate of ammonia in seven gallons of water. Pour this into quart bottles of thin glass and fire grenades are at hand ready for use. These bottles must be tightly corked and sealed to prevent evaporation, and in case of fire they must be thrown near the flames, so as to break and liberate the gas contained. At least two dozen of these bottles should be ready for an emergency.

In this connection it is well to remember that water on burning oil scatters the flame, but that flour will extinguish it. Salt thrown upon a fire if the chimney is burning will help to deaden the blaze. If a fire once gets under headway and prompt exit becomes a necessity, a silk handkerchief dipped in water and wrapped about the mouth and nostrils will prevent suffocation from smoke; failing this, a piece of wet flannel will answer.

Should smoke fill the room, recall your physics—remember that smoke goes first to the top of the room and last to the floor. Wrap a blanket or woolen garment about you, with the wet cloth over your face, drop on your hands and knees and crawl to the window. Bear in mind that there is no more danger in getting down from a three story window than from the first floor if you keep a firm hold of the rope or ladder. Do not slide, but go hand over hand.

Don't Die

before your time with rheumatism or neuralgia when there is a remedy at hand. Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure will cure the most obstinate case. It is an internal preparation. Mr. W. A. Butler, porter for Canadian Express Co., Kingston, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism for three years. Three bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him completely. 50 cents a bottle, containing ten days' treatment. For sale at all drug stores.

Too Well Imitated.

It is no easy matter for a violin maker to rival the famous Stradivarius instruments, but this an American maker did and did so effectually that experts pronounced his violin a genuine Stradivarius.

The successful man was the late George Gemunder, a famous violin maker of New York. His remarkable ability as a preparer of violins was known to many a distinguished player, such as Ole Bull, Remenyi and Wilhelmj. But he made, so runs the story, his greatest success at the Paris exposition of Eiffel tower fame. To that exhibition he sent an imitation Stradivarius, and to test its merits had it placed on exhibition as the genuine article.

A committee of experts carefully examined the instrument and pronounced it a Stradivarius. So far Mr. Gemunder's triumph was complete. But now came a difficulty. When he claimed that it was not an old violin, but a new one made by himself, the committee would not believe him. They declared he never made the instrument and pronounced him an imposter. He had done his work too well.—Youth's Companion.

Air Castles.

Living in the future is living in an air castle. The man who says he will lead a newer and a better life tomorrow, who promises great things for the future and does nothing in the present to make that future possible, is living in an air castle. In his arrogance he is attempting to turn water into wine, to have harvest without seedtime, to have an end without a beginning.

If we would make our lives grand and noble, solid and impregnable, we must forsake air castles of dreaming for strongholds of doing. Let us think little of the future except to determine our course and to prepare for that future by making each separate day the best and truest that we can. Let us live up to the fullness of our possibility each day. Man has only one day of life—today. He did live yesterday; he may live tomorrow, but he has—only today.—Saturday Evening Post.

He Supports the Proposition.

Mrs. Blickens—The president of our club is going to lecture next Tuesday evening on "Conversation as a Lost Art."

Mr. Blickens (yawning)—That so?

Mrs. Blickens—Well, why don't you go on and make some sarcastic comment about the impossibility of conversation being a lost art while women remain on earth? Of course that is what you think.

Mr. Blickens—No; I agree with your president. Conversation is a lost art. When only one side can be heard, it is merely talk.

Dr. A. W. CHASE

DISCOVERED A NEW TREATMENT FOR NERVOUS DISEASES

In his study of diseases of the nerves, Dr. A. W. Chase found that in nearly every case the cause of trouble was improper nourishment. About one-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless this blood is rich and pure the nerves cannot obtain proper nourishment, and become worn out and exhausted.

Nervous depression, nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, loss of sleep and vital force, lack of energy, are symptoms of weak, watery blood and exhausted nerves.

It was as a food for blood and nerves that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared. Its remarkable success in curing all diseases arising from thin blood and impoverished nerves is proof that Dr. Chase's theory of feeding the nerves and blood is the proper one; stimulants only urge on the tired and worn out nervous system until there comes a complete collapse.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates new brain and nerve cells, and makes the blood pure and rich. It restores to the exhausted nerves the vigor of perfect health. 50c. a large box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HIGH LIFE IN GOTHAM.

A Scorching Criticism of the Waldorf-Astoria and Its Habitues.

The Waldorf-Astoria hotel is a great temple of Mammon. You go there at any time and the only things you hear about are millions. You see millionaires of all sorts, fat and lean, young and old. You hear them, at the bar or gathered around tables, talking "margins" and of trusts and of millions. Everybody seems, around the Waldorf at least, to be money mad. The bellboys won't look at a tip less than $1. In the cafe an egg costs as much as a square meal. Cigars at $1 apiece are quite the ordinary thing. You can spend a month's salary on a dinner for four, and wine at $15 per bottle is not at all exorbitant.

The place is crowded all the time by the wealthiest visitors to Manhattan from all over the world. You are told in awe inspiring whispers that there are suites of rooms costing $250 per day. You are shown the safe which at this very minute holds $7,000,000 worth of valuables belonging to guests. And you'll see millionaires eating with their knives, and you'll hear dowagers telling their friends "I done it" and "I seen her." Money, money, money! The continual elevation of it is nauseating. There is something sordid in all the Waldorf-Astoria splendor.

The atmosphere of the Waldorf-Astoria is reeking with vulgarity and all unhealthiness. All these millionaires are nothing, after all, but a horde of gamblers. And the women, so far as one sees them, seem to be oppressed by their wealth. If there is anything more horrible than the high Gotham life in which every man and woman every day is sentenced to evening dress after 6 o'clock, where is it?

A distinguished man of letters said to me, after a view of the Waldorf-Astoria cafe in the evening, where you have to reserve your table in the early afternoon, "The trouble with these people is that they have no souls." And most of them haven't. They live solely for the senses. They are to be pitied rather than envied.—Exchange.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TENETS EXPLAINED.

world-wide idea of the divine Immanence, or the ever-presence of God, alias infinite Life, Truth and Love in His world or universe. Science is defined as demonstrable knowledge, or as that which can be proven. If Christianity is true it must be scientifically exact and must operate on the higher nature through exact laws of divinity.

The New Testament records some thirty-six events in the career of Jesus, which have for centuries been denominated miracles. Of these some twenty-six represent instances of physical healing without drugs or material methods. Christian Science teaches that these so-called miracles or supernatural events were natural manifestations of the power of divine Mind over physicality understood by Jesus. And because the early church continued these same works for three centuries the scientific deductions made by Christian Science is pertinent. Why should these same works not be a vital part of twentieth century Christianity? The age stands greatly in need of health. Men readily accept the new discoveries of science. Without comment we believe that a cake of ice will now now make liquified air boil, and readily accept the practicability of wireless telegraphy, and yet a perfect tidal wave of scepticism and opposition is aroused when Christian Science proclaims the inspiring and oft-repeated statement that that which is impossible with man is still possible with God, and that the diseases denominated incurable by materia medica are not necessarily fatal if attacked through the practical metaphysics of mental therapeutics. Christian Science is scientific because it studies mental anatomy and structure instead of physical or organic formation in its search for the cause of disease.

Christian Science teaches the radical idea of universal mental causation and contends for the contagion of health and righteousness rather than the continued spread of disease and depravity as the only contagious elements of existence. By reducing what we call matter to its lowest denominator, especially through the operation of the ex-rays, we find that it is but an externalization of the human mind and can be governed by Mind. By resolving what we call matter and structural life into its primary mortal mind elements, then by bringing the human mind under the spiritualizing control of the divine Mind, Christian Science scientifically dissolves a cancer and restores the waste substance of diseased lungs. Scores of allopathic and homeopathic physicians of long practice are adopting Christian Science.

Christian Science and common sense are synonymous terms. Can the human mind accept the astronomical fact that the sun does not rise if it relies upon the evidence of the personal senses? No. Can the uneducated Indian believing only in ocular evidence accept the statement that the Mirage is not really a city? No. Can the child be easily made to believe that the stick which looks crooked beneath the surface of the water is straight, and that the laws of reflection create the optical illusion? No. The existence of the evidence of the senses in these simple, but well known instances taken as absolute would end in ignorance, not knowledge. And so in Christian Science, ence, according to the evidence of the personal senses matter is not only real but has within in itself life and and causation. Truth shows this to be erroneous. Going above the senses through processes of spiritual thought here and now in a practical way is gained the central fact of life.

Conclusion.

Christian Science is both Christian and scientific. It is Christian because it imitates the life of Christ, obeys all His commandments and demonstrates his precepts on an ascending scale day by day, with signs following. Christian Science is scientific because it is provable, demonstrable, exact, and according to the teachings of "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mrs. Eddy, is capable of infinite application according to the spirituality of the demonstrator. To Mary Baker Eddy as the torch-bearer of these good new days in which we live, to her as a scriptural teacher, reformer and religious founder, not only the word of Christian Science, but universal Christendom is deeply, yea profoundly indebted. Thirty-three years ago as a religious devotee, as an aspiring woman and a studious and humanitarian medical practioner, the higher aspects of the religion of Jesus dawned upon her consciousness and she has generously shared this great gift with her fellow-beings. Thirty-three years ago she found apostolic spiritual healing, in a sealed sepulcher, and the Christian world and the followers of Christ suffering from more physical disease than the followers of any other religious teacher of history; yet the primitive Christianity of our Master had power over both disease and sin. To-day millions of Christian religionists thank God from the depths of their hearts for her selfless career and through spiritual experience, through the sweetness of spiritual and moral regeneration call her career one of divine ordination and millions of former invalids and sufferers can truthfully proclaim the integrity of the title of this lecture, "Christian Science Is Both Christian and Scientific."

My hearers, let the undivided garment of primitive Christianity be again shared with humanity. If human experience, loss and the continuation of earthly strife has made distant the simplicity of the religion of our Saviour, let the truths of Christian Science lead to a sober investigation of its tenets, and with the Christian Bible in one hand and the text-book of "Christian Science, Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," written by Mrs. Eddy, in the other, let the Holy Spirit interpret and confirm the title of this lecture, Christian Science is both Christian and Scientific."

A VICIOUS DOG.

Little Clara McGath Badly Bitten at Noon To-day.

To-day at noon Clare, the four-year-old child of Mr. James Mongraw, barber, had a narrow escape from being chewed to pieces by a strange dog. The little fellow was in the rear of his father's shop in the Opera House building, when a strange collie dog which was coming across the Market Square suddenly pounced upon him, and before Mr. James Baptis and a few others who were not far distant, arrived at the spot and drove the vicious animal away, the child was horribly bitten about the face and neck. In their hurry to attend to the injured child the dog was lost track of, but the local police are making a thorough search this afternoon for the animal.

Dr. Brown was sent for and dressed the wounds of the youngster.

HELPING THE TOWN.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In conversation with a couple of prominent citizens this morning, it transpired that they gave as the chief cause of the great success of the Industrial Exhibition, Toronto, its excellent management, and that was due to an energetic manager devoting his whole time to the business of promotion and management. It struck me that Peterborough could give employment the year round to a good, capable, brisk, alert man with an administrative capacity. Attention has been frequently called, if I mistake not in your columns, to the improtance that could be given to our Central Exhibition by the town taking more financial and practical interest in it. I am not at all to be considered as disparaging its management as a purely agricultural exhibition. But, for the purposes of the town it is not as beneficial in attracting large numbers of people as it might be made. From the town point of view, the idea is to attract people and the benefit derived from the outside money they would leave in town, will be in proportion to the attractions to be presented by a large well financed exhibition for four or five days. Now, if we could secure a local E. J. Hill, to give his time exclusively to the work of working up a first-class, humming exhibition, it would to my mind, be a grand thing. This would be accomplished, that is, if our business men who would benefit most directly, would put their shoulders to the wheel and back him up. It may be urged and that such work would not occupy such a man's whole time. However, to do the work well, would keep a man pretty busy; but additional duties could be laid on him in summer time, in the way of promoting excursions from outside points to Peterborough, and the town could, with proper management be kept busy with foreigners leaving their money with us. Of course the details of making the town attractive to pleasure seekers and accommodating them in various ways, are after considerations. I merely throw out the idea for consideration by those concerned. Our Board of Trade and our Town Council after the latter get the cattle yards question and the stone crusher and steam roller off their hands, might take the matter under their serious consideration and co-operate in measures that would bring large numbers of visitors to the town, who would necessarily leave a great deal of money behind them, carry away a good many articles of merchandise, and what would be as good, if things were properly managed, excellent impressions of Peterborough as an excursion town. Will somebody take a lead in this matter, who has more influence than your humble servant.

CANADA NOT TO BLAME

Americans Try to Prejudice Britain Against Canada.

BRITISH PAPERS RESENT IT.

Canada's Stand at Washington Was Quite Within Our Rights, and British Press Opinion Objects to Our Being Overruled—British Proposal for a Permanent Arbitration Tribunal May Be Successful.

London, May 27.—The Foreign Office officials confirm the statement made by the New York correspondent of The London Times to the effect that the negotiations with the Canadian Government on the subject of Alaska have reached an almost hopeless stage, owing to the insistence of the Canadians that they receive a slice of Alaska, which apparently precludes any agreement being reached on the subject between the American and Canadian high commissioners. The evening newspapers have reproduced the New York despatch with comment, generally regretting the situation, but objecting to the conclusion that Canada is blamable.

Canadians Should Not Yield.

The Globe says: "The Canadians would be far less patriotic than they are if they yielded to what they consider to be an unjust and undefensible demand for the sake of the establishment of more friendly relations with their big neighbor." Continuing, The Globe remarks that The Times, "by publishing its correspondent's unjudicial summing up, has adopted the surest way to inflame public opinion on both sides of the Atlantic."

The Westminster Gazette says: "We certainly hope a better face can be put on things, so far as we are concerned. But the deadlock seems very serious."

American Politics in It.

The St. James' Gazette thinks American politics are playing an important part in the situation, and says: "The Republicans are disposed to a friendly arrangement with England, but it must be on terms so favorable to America that the Democrats will have no excuse to say they yielded their interests to Great Britain."

A Denial From Washington.

London, May 27.—The Washington correspondent of The Morning Post says: "I am informed that the statement representing that State Department officials have reported the Alaskan boundary dispute as hopeless are absolutely untrue. The Administration has been exceedingly annoyed by the attempts made to obstruct an agreement, and hope that no credence will be given to newspaper articles circulating such rumors."

Of Course, It Seems Strange

The way we are doing business here. "Cash Only" is strange, but think how much better prices it lets us make for you. It brings us goods at the best possible cost. It wipes out everything in the way of bad debts. It saves almost all the expense of bookkeeping. It simplifies the store management. Every penny that is saved from any of these sources is a penny saved for you, if you trade here. All these things in a credit business help to make up "expenses." They are always added to the cost of goods. If the store gets along those who buy its goods must share in all these extra burdens. They do not know when they pay them for they are hidden in the prices put on goods.

You save money by buying of a Cash Store.

INCLINED TO RETALIATE.

United States Government Is Inclined to Be Ugly Towards Canada.

Washington, May 27.—There is little doubt that the United States Government is inclined to retaliatory consideration against Canada by the discouraging results of the negotiations in London, looking to the clearing of the field for the reassembling of the joint Canadian commission. It is gathered that the British Foreign Office, which had seemed desirous to meet Mr. Choate's advances in the spirit of compromise that promised well, has been again influenced by Canada's refusal to agree to anything less than a concession of all of their demands, which has stopped all progress.

The Department of State has referred to the Treasury Department the arrangement of a plan to protect the interests of the United States, and a decision from Secretary Gage is expected very soon.

The Treasury Department has now two courses open, both being retaliatory. The first is the preparation of an amendment to the Tariff Act, largely increasing the duties on lumber and forest products imported into the United States from Canada.

Possibly Another Course.

There is possibly another course. A section of the Dingley Act authorizes the United States Government, in cases where the countries impose an export duty, to add the equivalent of such export duty to the import on such goods coming to the United States. The Ontario Government is not imposing, in so many words, an export duty on logs, but it has prohibited their exportation. The question before Secretary Gage is whether this prohibition may not be regarded as in principle the same thing as an excessive and therefore prohibitive export tax. If this view is sound, the Treasury has already at hand the measure of retaliation it seeks, in the shape of an order prohibiting the importation of Canadian logs into the United States, which would bear very heavily upon other provinces in Canada outside of Ontario.

Both President McKinley and Secretary Day hope that Sir Julian Pauncefote will return to Washington with such instructions from Lord Salisbury as will insure the speedy settlement from there.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

Sir Julian Pauncefote Said to Have Fixed for Good the Principle of Arbitration—Laws of Warfare.

London, May 27.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at The Hague says: Peace prospects touched highwater mark to-day, when the conference found itself face to face with arbitration in a practicable and acceptable form, and as a permanent international achievement. This honor is mainly due to Sir Julian Pauncefote. When the members of the arbitration section had finished reading the Russian proposals on this subject Sir Julian expressed his complete approval of them, but said it would be a great pity if the conference failed to embody the principle of arbitration in some permanent shape.

"I now beg to propose," he said, "the formal establishment of a permanent arbitration tribunal, empowered to deal with all matters in dispute capable of reference to the judgment of an umpire. I do not intend to trouble you with details as to its mechanicism to-day, nor until you accept the principle of my proposal. Therefore I ask you to accept the principle now."

M. de Staal at once declared: "Sir Julian Pauncefote, having presented his proposals, we are prepared to supplement and to complete the printed suggestions just distributed by others, dealing with a permanent arbitration board."

Thereupon the Russian President of the Conference drew a paper from a pocket and laid it on the table then and there. The paper contained the foundation of a permanent tribunal suggesting the substitution of a new clause, and referring to an appendix not yet drawn up.

The amazed delegates crowded around Sir Julian, congratulating him upon having played the winning card, which had so quickly precipitated the Russian alternative scheme. Some stood aghast, as the matter was not contemplated in their instructions.

Finally it was decided to refer the matter to a sub-committee.

LAWS OF WARFARE.

Both Sections of the Committee Met and Discussed.

The Hague, May 27.—Both sections of the committee on the laws of warfare of the peace conference met separately yesterday and began the examination of the subject submitted to them, the Red Cross section discussing paragraph 5 and paragraph 6 of the circular of Count Muravieff, Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the Brussels conference section discussing paragraph 7.

Both sections met subsequently and discussed the question of competence, as regards the scheme for the revision of the Geneva convention, known as the Morgnier scheme. The Morgnier scheme comprises modification of the Geneva convention in connection with wounded and sick prisoners, members of the military hospital service, convoys for the wounded, ambulances, hospitals, property belonging to neutralized persons, religious and medical staffs, and kindred subjects. The scheme applies equally to land and sea warfare. It was proposed to submit the scheme to another committee for revision, and the question was then raised whether the conference was competent to deal with the matter.

Big Failure in Glasgow.

Glasgow, Scotland, May 27.—A great sensation has been caused by the failure of Neilson Bros., an important firm engaged in the iron and steel trade. They had long been bearing Glasgow pig iron and were heavily oversold when the corner in warrants was engineered. It is calculated that the concern lost $1,250,000 during the past year. The total of liabilities is unknown. Neilson Bros. were the largest dealers and exporters of ship plates in Scotland.

China Preparing to Fight.

London, May 27.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "Orders have been issued from Pekin directing the Viceroys and Governors of the neighboring provinces to put all their forces on a war footing, owing to the arrival of six Italian warships in Saamun harbor. It is thought also that the Chinese propose to drive the Germans from Shantung peninsula."

Four More Cases of Plague.

Alexandria, Egypt, May 27.—Four more cases of the plague have been reported here.

TWO GALACIANS HANGED TO-DAY.

Murdered a Fellow-Countryman and His Children

TO SECURE A PALTRY SIXTY DOLLARS

First Shot their Victim and then Battered him to Death with an Axe, which was also Used on the Children.

Special to The Examiner.

Winnipeg, Man., May 27.—Simon Czuby and Wasyl Guszcak, the Galacians who murdered L. Bvojeckho another Galacian and his four children at their home near Stuartburn on October 15 last, were hanged in the jail yard here this morning. The drop fell at 8 o'clock. The crime for which these men suffered the extreme penalty of the law was perhaps the most brutal in the annals of crime in the west. They first shot Bvojeckho, the bullet failed to kill him whereupon one of the men battered him to death with an axe. The men then killed Bvojeckho's children, the eldest of whom was only 10 years old, one of them using an axe and the other a stick of wood. The bodies when found were horribly gashed and mangled. The object of the crime was to secure $60 which Bvojeckho was known to have. Czuby and Guszcak when arrested confessed their guilt but each endeavoured to make the other responsible for the crime.

MUST HAVE A LARGER ARMY.

Americans Cannot Hold the Territory They Win From the Filipinos.

Manila, May 27.—The events of the past week have emphasized the need of a much larger army here, without which, according to the best authorities in Manila, it would be attempting the impossible to attempt to establish American supremacy in the Philippine Islands. The inadequacy of the American forces is said to be responsible for the large total loss in the number of small encounters, without material results as compensation. Most of the fighting has been in territory which the Americans had swept, but have been compelled to abandon because they could not spare troops to hold it. The insurgent generals take the loss of arms more to heart than they do the loss of men. Foreigners who have arrived here from the insurgent country, under the recent order of expulsion, say the cemeteries in all the towns are filled with fresh graves. A majority of the Filipino wounded die, because the insurgent hospitals are inadequate, medicines are scarce, and they have few surgeons, except Spanish captives who have been impressed.

Zamboanga Evacuated.

Madrid, May 27.—The Minister of War, General Polavieja, has received a despatch announcing the evacuation of Zamboanga, Island of Mindanao, by the Spanish garrison. The despatch further said that, as the Spanish had declined to assent to the Filipino demands that the arms and munitions of war should be surrendered with the city, fighting ensued, the Spaniards suffering some loss. The despatch adds that the natives continue bitterly opposed to the idea of American annexation, and that the conquest of Mindanao will prove to be a tough task.

A Hot Little Skirmish.

Manila, May 27.—A scouting party of American troops encountered a body of insurgents at Santa Rita, and the Americans being reinforced by Brigadier-General Funston, with the South Dakota Regiment, a warm fight ensued. A lieutenant and five men of the American force were wounded and ten of the insurgents were killed and several captured.

ROSA BONHEUR IS DEAD.

Death of the Celebrated Painter of Animal Pictures.

London, May 27.—A special despatch from Paris yesterday says that Rosa Bonheur, the famous animal painter, is dead at Fontainebleau.

Rosa Bonheur earned her first money in copying the paintings of old masters, working early and late helping to support her family. Her first animal picture was a goat, which pleased her so much that she gave up copying and took up animal painting. Models being too expensive for the slender purse of the young artist, she would tramp miles to a farm, carrying a meagre lunch in her pocket, to sketch an animal. When only 19 years old she sent her first picture to an art exhibition, and at once was pronounced a genius.

The gifted artist was born at Bordeaux, France, March 22, 1822, and was the daughter of a French artist of some note in his own country. In her childhood the family removed to Paris, where, in 1849, she established her reputation by two fine pictures, "Chevres et Moutons," and "Les Deux Lapins." These were followed by other striking works, until, in 1855, she exhibited in London, England, the "Horse Fair," the most widely known of her works. Other important pictures by her bear the titles "A Foraging Party," "On the Alert," and "The Lion at Home." She was decorated with the Legion of Honor on June 10, 1865. In January, 1880, the Leopold Cross was conferred upon her by the King of the Belgians. This was the first time a woman had received the honor. She was also the recipient of medals of honor from the King of Spain and other rulers, and from most of the art academies of Europe and Great Britain.

"Honesty is the Best Policy."

Never was a more pointed saying put into print, and yet to be honest only because it is policy is a poor kind of honesty. Better change "policy" to "principle" and the world will like you better. In the medical world there is one medicine honest for principle's sake—and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is the specific of the age for all blood troubles. The liver, kidneys and bowels are all toned up by its action as a cleanser and thus good health ensues. It never disappoints.

Rheumatism—"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal for rheumatism. It has done me more good than any other medicine I have taken." MRS. PATRICK KENNEY, Brampton, Ont.

Bad Cough—"After my long illness, I was very weak and had a bad cough. I could not eat or sleep. Different remedies did not help me but Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and I am now able to attend to my work." MINNIE JAQUES, Oshano, Ont.

Biliousness—"I have been troubled with headache and biliousness and was much run down. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and it gave me relief and built me up." A. MORRISON, 89 Defoe Street, Toronto, Ont.

Heart Trouble—"I had heart trouble for a number of years and different medicines failed to benefit me. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and three bottles completely and perfectly cured me." MRS. C. A. FLINN, Wallace Bridge, N. S.

A Safeguard—"As I had lost five children with diphtheria I gave my remaining two children Hood's Sarsaparilla as they were subject to throat trouble and were not very strong. They are now healthier and stronger and have not since had a cold." MRS. W. H. FLECKER, Pembroke, Ont.

Varicose Veins—"I have been a great sufferer from varicose veins, which swelled my foot and limb, discharging watery matter. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and the sores healed." MRS. A. E. GILSON, Hartland, Vt.

CANADA'S FINANCIAL POSITION.

In a paragraph printed yesterday the very great increase in the deposits in our chartered banks affords evidence of the unusual prosperity that permitted these deposits, the increase of last April compared to that of April, 1898, being over three millions of dollars. In every way Canada is thriving. Almost every department of national activity is, to use a common word, booming. Within the past few years the country has taken a place of prominence in the world, which she has never before assumed, and her relations with the Empire, especially the central portion, have so greatly improved as to compel the admiration and excite the interest of insular, if pre-eminently imperial, John Bull. The London, (Eng.) "Financial News has the following, which from its high authority on such matters and the good light in which it places Canada, is well worth study:

> The expansion of the revenue is not a little remarkable in view of the facts that more than half the total revenue is derived from customs duties, and that the Dominion Government has granted a remission of 25 per cent on the duties payable on imports from Great Britain and the colonies. The natural expectation was a diminution of the revenue . . . . What has happened, however, has been that the development of the Dominion has led to increased imports all round, consisting of a small increase of imports from within the Empire, and a large increase in imports from the United States. This, a tfirst looks like the failure of the preference to achieve its end, and to a certain extent that is the case; but only to a certain extent, and the failure, such as it is, we may hope will disappear with longer time for its working to become manifest. Revolutionary changes are not effected in a few months, and the Englishman is especially slow to respond to an invitation such as Canada has given him, and he evidently has not yet shaken off the other impediments to his commercial progress. Still, there has already been some increase in his trade with Canada, and it has occurred at a time when his export to the rest of the world was diminishing rather than increasing; so already something may be put to the good of the new arrangement. And as Mr. Fielding pointed out in his speech, the large increase in the imports into Canada from the United States during the current year does not mean that Yankee enterprise has overridden the preferential tariff obstacle; it is due to the fact that Canada is just now importing large quantities of raw material—which is a sign of her own development, but not a sign of the mother country being ousted from the Canadian market, for these raw material imports are a class of products which England does not, and which the United States does supply.

The only persons who can justifiably take alarm at the tiny additions made this and last year to Canada's debt are the English investors who see their opportunities for putting money into a most excellent class of securities brought within such narrow limits. From the investors' point of view Canada does not borrow half enough . . . . When one regards the tremendous resources of that vast country, which are now just beginning to be developed, promising a certain future of great wealth, it is safe to say that her debt might be tripled without causing a moment's uneasiness to her mortgagees. And this feeling of absolute security is strengthened by contemplation of the wise uses to which Canada puts her borrowings. The main use of the money has been the careful and statesmanlike development of railways and waterways. In a country of such "magnificent distances" adequate transport is the main thing, and all Canadian Governments have steadily set themselves to provide it. Much, of course, remains to be done, and if the Dominion wants more money for the purpose she will get it without trouble, and at the low rate of interest to which in recent years she has become accustomed. We hope, indeed, that Canada will come for more money.

A HOLLOW PRETENSE.

We now hear a great deal from the Opposition about the sacred principle of representation by population. They say the Government have ignored and violated this principle in the new redistribution bill, and they hold up the gerrymander of 1882 as the incarnation of the great and glorious doctrine of rep. by pop.

One member of the Commons to each 21,000 of the population, is the supposed basis of the representation, and it was on the specious plea of "equalising" the population that scores of municipalities in Ontario were torn from their natural political associations and pitchforked into adjacent counties, with which they had previously had no community of sentiment or local interests. The pretense of equalizing, says the London Advertiser, was merely a cloak for the outrageous attack on popular rights. The populations of some of these "equalized" constituencies show this at a glance:

Bothwell	25,593
Brockville	15,853
Carleton	16,534
Cornwall and Stormont	27,156
East Durham	17,053
West Durham	15,374
North Essex	31,523
Frontenac	13,445
West York	41,857
South Grenville	12,929
East York	35,148
East Grey	26,225
North Grey	26,341
East Hastings	18,050
West Hastings	18,964
Russell	31,643
East Huron	18,968
Kent	31,434
Leeds and Grenville	13,521
West Middlesex	17,288
North Oxford	26,131
Peel	15,466
North Perth	26,907
West Peterborough	15,808
East Simcoe	35,201

Where is the equality here? We venture to say that under the new redistribution the principle of representation by population will be more faithfully observed than under the present amorphous arrangement.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Toronto's tax rate to raise two and a half million dollars for civic expenses this year is twenty mills on the dollar. In this respect "Hogtown" is welcome to go ahead of Peterborough.

St. John's, New Brunswick, has again been tried by fire, half a million being swept away. Apart from the inevitable suffering and destitution, another it seems, inevitable condition is that the hasty rebuilding of unsubstantial structures invites another similar conflagration.

Some western newspaper writers refer to Peterborough as a backwoods town. Let any one of these acute Alexanders, find a town east or west of this place, that has half the progressiveness, beauty, solidity, enterprise and general excellence and then their cheap and nasty wit may be accused of possessing some point.

The Grand Trunk is importing Italians into London, Ont., from Toronto, to take the place of striking trackmen. Of course the road is justified in doing as it chooses in this respect, but the travelling public will be inclined to have greater confidence in the safety of the road bed that receives the attention of experienced men, than in a track looked after by green hands.

The grounding of the steamer Gallia, in the St. Lawrence river at Pointaux Soldats at first raised a cry against the channel and provoked a clamour for the deepening of it; and, of course, the Government was by some held responsible. But neither the channel nor the Government was to blame. An investigation shows that the steamer was running too fast at a sharp bend in the channel and that refusing to answer her rudder promptly, she went aground. It is only fair that the blame should be put in the right place. There is a disposition on the part of the public or at least some hypercritical people to jump at conclusions, and blame somebody or something without a knowledge of the circumstances, whether is the case of a government, a river channel or the water supply of a town.

Thirteen hundred more Gallicians have passed through Peterborough for Selkirk, where they will be distributed over the Northwest. Most of them have paid their own fares and have a little capital besides. That's what we want—population for our northwest. These thirteen hundred new Canadians, if each occupied a square mile, would not make an appreciable hole in the vast area of unsettled lands fit for cultivation in the northwest. When we get our vacant lands there half filled up, the pressing needs of increased transportation facilities will make the completion of the Trent Waterway, as an auxiliary transportation accommodation—if it is not finished before that time—a matter of necessity, not of expediency. With the Northwest even half-peopled, every possible outlet for the products of that western garden plot will be in demand. It is an indication of capable statesmanship to prepare for such a condition in good time. Hesitating dreamers may prate about the expenditure of public money like water, but too much public money can hardly be spent, if it is made like water in the shape of transportation outlets to the sea board.

The Bobcaygeon Independent says: Admiral Dewey is coming home to the States and the New York Council is to issue bonds for $150,000 to pay the expenses of celebrating his return. Did you ever hear of such utter madness. What in Sam Hill is to be done! By pre-arrangement and forewarned, he went into a defenceless harbour, and with a fleet, the perfection of modern invention, he knocked to pieces a squad of unprepared old tubs that had not a gun on them with which they could reach him. He actually called off for an hour to let his men take breakfast, and then resumed the baiting of the poor Spanish rats. Courage! Heroism! Great Heavens, it was the courage of a giant stepping on a toad, the heroism of cracking a louse under the thumb nail. And the poor, struggling masses of New York must be taxed $150,000 to celebrate such Heroism! A banquet at $100 a plate. A feed and a guzzle and a whirlwind of declamation over such Heroism! The expansion schemers are playing the people for fools, surely. And the cat schemers know what they are about." This is quite in line with what the Examiner has frequently pointed out.

The Ottawa Journal, Independent, says of the result of the bye-election in North Waterloo, "it gives another proof that Canadian voters have very little use for Opposition candidates in bye-elections; more's the pity." In this case the general principle hinted at does not apply. The voters would have had more use for the Opposition candidate if he had represented an Opposition that had any policy beyond whining over being unseated for corrupt practices by agents, after a fair trial by a competent court, and of puerile abuse and fault finding. Mr. Whitney and his candidates want the people to elect them to office without, at the same time, giving them any legitimate shadow of excuse for so doing. If the Opposition could show even to a limited extent that they had any policy better than the present government, that they could or would give any better administration, the people who are alive enough to their own interest, might be disposed to "have some use for Opposition candidates." But it may be considered as settled that the people before making a change must have some gleam of assurance that they would be bettering themselves. A policy of petty fault finding, of political pin-pricks, has no place in provincial politics more then the same policy in international diplomacy.

Gallician and Doukhobor are not far removed from the stock which made and is making the foundations of European nations. This land wants tillers of the soil, and will want them for many a year yet; for some reason or other too large a proportion of our native-born seek urban homes; and unless the soil be tilled the city will starve. The objections taken to these settlers do not seem to be well founded. A people that can suffer for conscience's sake, and leave the home of their fathers, so that they may worship the God of their fathers as it seems to them fit — a people that have ever made the desert blossom wherever they have been driven by knout or ukase must certainly have something in them very near akin to those pilgrims who some centuries ago landed on Plymouth Rock, and are themselves to-day the rock upon which the great republic stands.

A MAN'S SOUL LIES IN HIS STOMACH.

THE REASON WHY WE HAVE SO MANY CYNICS.

If Every Pessimist Were to Cure his Dyspepsia by the use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the World Would be so much the Happier.

Why do some men look at everything in a cheerful light? No matter what happens they always see the bright side of it. Such men are always happy and they cheer up everybody near them.

Look at Jones there, laughing and slapping his pale-faced friend on the back.

"How are you, old man?" he almost shouts. "Great weather we're having: wet, but great weather for the farmers. Makes a man feel brand new."

Jones looks as if he felt brand new, but his friend doesn-t.

"I think it's miserable weather," says he.

"Oh, no. It's fine; just what we need at this time of the year," says Jones.

"I don't see it," says his friend. "Wet, sloppy under foot and dark overhead. It gives a man the blues, spoils his appetite. Makes him feel like jumping off the end of the dock."

"Oh, pshaw, man, brace up" says Jones. "Your stomach is out of order—that's what's the matter with you."

"I know it is," says his friend.

"I used to be a chump like you," says Jones; "always down in the mouth, couldn't enjoy a good, square meal and couldn't digest it afterwards. But I swore off all that."

"What did you do?" said his pale-faced friend with interest.

"I took Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," said Jones.

"Did they cure you?" asked his friend.

"Look at me," said Jones.

Put Your Finger on Your Pulse

You feel the blood rushing along.

But what kind of blood? That is the question.

Is it pure blood or impure blood?

If the blood is impure then you are weak and languid; your appetite is poor and your digestion is weak. You cannot sleep well and the morning finds you unprepared for the work of the day. Your cheeks are pale and your complexion is sallow. You are troubled with pimples, boils, or some eruption of the skin. Why not purify your blood?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

will do it. Take it a few days and then put your finger on your pulse again. You can feel the difference. It is stronger and your circulation better. Send for our book on Impure Blood.

If you are bilious, take Ayer's Pills. They greatly aid the Sarsaparilla, They cure constipation also.

Mayor of Hamilton Writes Minister of Justice re Alien Labor Law.

Hamilton, May 27.—The carload of Hebrews who arrived on Thursday from New York to go to work for J. Calder & Co., clothing manufacturers, caused trouble, and as a result about 500 men, women and girls, who are pressers, operators and handsewers, are out of work, the result of a strike of the pressers. The pressers quit work because some of the aliens were put to work with them yesterday morning. A number of the strikers called on Mayor Teetzel and laid their case before him, asking him to use his influence to have the contract labor act enforced. The Mayor wrote to the Minister of Justice, asking that an inspector be sent here immediately to enforce the alien labor law. He stated the men's grievances and asked for a telegraph reply to-day.

RUSSIAN BARBARISM.

Finnish Parliament Are Discussing Counter Measures to Russia.

Helsingfors, Finland, May 27.—The Finnish Diet, after a protracted discussion over the new military law, is discussing a counter measure, by which some of the Russian institutions will be accepted, but the principle of the rights of Finland will be strictly safeguarded.

The closing of the Diet is not imminent, and will accentuate the differences between the Russians and Finns.

The Finnish press declares proclamations are being circulated among the rural population urging them to make common cause with the Poles against "Russian barbarianism," and declaring that the acceptance of Russian rule will result in a division of the land among the poor. The press adds that this agitation is inspired by malevolence and with the object of involving the Finns in difficulties with the Russian Government.

LETTERS ON CHRISTIAN UNITY

"The reunion of Christendom is likely at last to become a practical aim. Probably it would be a greater service to humanity, on philosophical as well as religious grounds, to contribute the smallest unit towards this consummation, than to construct the most perfect demonstration of the free personality of man. As things are, rationalism and fatalistic reveries may be labboriously confuted, but amidst the energies and aspirations of a regenerated Christendom, they would spontaneously pass away." —(Goldwin Smith. Lectures on the Study of History.)

No. 1—INTRODUCTORY.

The subject of Christian Unity is one in which an increasing number of people take an interest. Through the formation of a branch of the Canadadian Society of Christian Unity in Peterborough, the attention of the public has been attracted to it, and, no doubt owing to my connection with the C. S. C. U., I am frequently asked to explain what is meant by Christian Unity and how it is to be accomplished.

It is not an easy thing to answer such questions on the spur of the moment, nor in the places where they are often asked, on the street corners, for example, or in the drawing room during the course of an afternoon call, and so, by the kindness of the Editor of the Examiner, I propose to use up a column of his valuable space per week in the discussion of this subject in a series of letters addressed to the citizens of Peterborough and Ashburnham, whom I am proud to think I am privileged to call "My Friends."

This first letter is intended to be of an introductory character. I want to make clear at the outset what I would like to do, and what I do not pretend to be able to do.

Every thoughtful person, and I do not expect many thoughtless persons will take the trouble to read these letters, knows how great is the difference between principle and practice. It is a comparatively speaking easy thing to enunciate and expound principles, it is a much more difficult thing to put them into practice. There are, for example, a number of people amongst us who believe in Free Libraries on principle, but think it a difficult matter to have an actual Free Library in Peterborough. And so it is one thing to be able to lay down certain general principles of Christian Unity, and quite another thing to say right off how the barriers that separate Christian men of one fold from Christian men of another are to be removed. And much as I dread the charge of being a mere theorist however amiable, I must honestly say that I have no practical recipe for the healing of all the ills of Christianity, after the analogy of the famous Dr. Munyon, whose impressive likeness adorns so many of our newspapers.

What it is proposed to attempt is to set forth some of the fundamental grounds upon which the theory of Christian Unity rests, to show how widely spread is the feeling after Unity, and to indicate some of the lines upon which we may expect Christian Unity to be gradually accomplished. For it is my conviction that it is not by the construction of elaborate schemes of Unity, but by the mutual discussion of its many aspects, by the steady widening of our conceptions of the unity of human nature and of men's spiritual needs, and above all by the taking of every practical step in the direction of Unity so soon as we see it, that the goal will finally be achieved. To those who ask us how Christian Unity is to be solved, we give the reply to Aristotle's famous problem — "Solvitur ambulando." And indeed this is the way in which all great questions involving practical issues are solved. In the spirit of Newman's exquisite hymn, those who believe in Christian Unity, yet cannot offer a cut and dried solution of its problems, must cry

"I do not ask to see
The distant scene; one step enough for me."

To four clergymen the formation of a society for the promotion of Christian Unity seemed to be such a step, and they ventured upon it with the result that to-day there are over one hundred members, although no extended canvass has been made, and these hundred members include not a few of the most influential religious leaders in Ontario.

All great questions have at least two main aspects. The first, Theoretical, and the second Practical. To one class of mind—the philosophic — the Theoretical is the most attractive. Having elaborated a true theory the philosopher leaves others to work it out. To another class of mind—the active—theories are more or less repulsive. They often appear obscure, mere cobwebs spun out of the brain without reference to the hard facts of life. But both these classes of mind are necessary, because after all, theory does underlie action, and on the other hand, theories alone, like fine words, butter no parsnips. But there are some men, and St. Paul was one of them, who combined in a very marked degree the theoretical or the philosophic, and the practical. The Epistles to the Romans and to the Ephesians are splendid instances of Divine Philosophy, and on the other hand the first Epistle to the Corinthians is the letter of the practical common sense missionary and apostle. It is not given to many men to be leaders of either thought or action, still less to combine both, but the leaders are given us to follow, and so although there will be little that is original in these letters, I will try to call from those who have written with authority on this subject, such thoughts both theoretical and practical, as may I trust be found interesting and helpful to at least a few readers.

BY ACTS OF AGENTS

Has the Riding of South Ontario Become Vacant.

HON. MR. DRYDEN EXONERATED

The Minister of Agriculture Knew Nothing of the Acts for Which He Was Unseated—Persons to Be Reported to the Speaker of the Legislature for Corrupt Practices.

Whitby, May 27.—The result of the evidence given on Thursday and Friday morning in the South Ontario election trial is that counsel for Hon. John Dryden has admitted bribery by agents and the election has been voided. The Minister of Agriculture was exonerated from all knowledge of bribery.

The first witness called yesterday was William Gilmore, a farmer of Pickering township, who admitted receiving $15 from a mysterious stranger at the Gordon House for himself and two sons. The witness was directed to go there by Sam Hewitt. He asked for $30, but the man said they were not paying that much.

Patrick Sullivan, a farm hand, admitted that William Morrish threw him $6 in a stable and he put it into his pocket and spent it.

Mr. Blake said Mr. Dryden knew nothing of the acts of Sam Hewitt and Captain Sullivan. Counsel admitted that these men seemed to have been brought into the riding, and to have spent money entirely unknown to him. He wished to have Mr. Dryden examined.

Mr. Justice Osler—I don't think there is anything to implicate Mr. Dryden.

It was decided that Mr. Dryden should be examined later.

William F. Stewart, butcher, of Pickering, admitted receiving $5 from William Morrish. He wanted $10, but could not get it. It was to vote for Mr. Dryden.

Byron Linton spoke of receiving $5 from a mysterious stranger in Dr. Eastwood's yard at Claremont, who paid him to vote for Mr. Dryden. He was sent there by Ben Palmer. Afterwards he met the mysterious stranger again, and the latter said he slept the night before at Mr. R. R. Mowbray's.

William McCormack testified to receiving $5 from a stranger, who asked him to vote for Mr. Dryden. The occurrence took place in Mr. Eastwood's yard.

Mr. Nesbitt asked for their lordships' ruling. He argued that it had been shown that a series of strangers were spending money all over the riding, with the knowledge of the local organization. Mr. Dryden was busy speaking and did not know of these matters.

Mr. Justice Osler objected to abandoning the proceedings at this stage. Enough had been said to show that a considerable sum of money had been expended in the riding, but only a few unimportant witnesses had been examined. He pressed to have the matter probed.

Mr. Nesbitt said the expense of the trial was enormous, besides many of the most important witnesses had evaded subpoena.

Mr. Justice Ross concurred in the remarks of his colleague as to the undesirability of closing the trial at this stage. There was, however, a good deal to be said for the other side. Both the petitioner and respondent were under a heavy expense, and when it was manifest from the evidence that the only result of the trial could be to void the election it would be an onerous thing to pursue the investigation at the expense of the parties concerned. It was in the public interest that the main actors in the wrongdoing should be discovered and punished. In the present case, however, it was manifest that those who controlled the fund and manipulated the transaction were not brought before the court, and they would probably escape punishment, unless some other proceedings were instituted. The judges, however, were powerless to act. The law gave them no inquisitorial power, and did not place any fund at their command for the investigation. In the present case it appeared to him there had been a general scheme of bribery, and much money spent.

Mr. Justice Osler reluctantly acquiesced in the ruling declaring the election voided and the seat vacant. He thought further evidence should have been given. His lordship said the following persons would be reported for bribery: William Gilmore, Patrick Sullivan, William Stewart, Byron Linton, William McCormack, Simeon Hewitt, William Morrish and Ben Palmer.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER

Kidney Disease, Man's Deadliest Foe —Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, May 15. — "Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease does." was the assertion of a prominent physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used in every case of Kidney Disease there would be no deaths from it.

NEWS IN BRIEF SPACE.

Another case of smallpox has broken out in Ravena, N.Y.

Over one-third of the business portion of Staples, Minn., was burned on Friday night, over 25 buildings being destroyed.

With the return of spring to Dawson City come renewed fears of pestilence and death. Stringent sanitary measures are being adopted.

The attempt to float the Paris on Friday resulted in another failure. The Paris is in the same position, which is now regarded as very critical.

The Ohio Sash & Door Company's big factory was destroyed at Cleveland on Friday. The total loss is about $100,000, partly covered by insurance.

E. C. Shorey, a graduate of Queen's, Kingston, has been appointed food commissioner and analyst to the Board of Health of the Hawaiian Islands.

Former U.S. President Benjamin Harrison, who is acting as the legal representative of Venezuela on the boundary commission, which meets in Paris on June 15, has arrived in that city.

Three Cambria workmen were literally cooked to death by an explosion at the blast furnaces of the Cambria Steel Company's plant in Johnstown, Pa., on Friday and three other workmen were badly injured.

Jim Humphreys and his two sons have been found hanging to a limb of a tree near Bazzotte, Texas. The Humphreyses lived two miles west of Athens. Details of the triple lynching cannot be obtained at present.

One man was instantly killed and another so badly injured that he died in a hospital on Friday morning by the explosion of a steam cylinder in the dyeing and finishing mill of James Martin & Co., Philadelphia.

Fire started early Friday morning in Buschman's Pavilion, Coney Island, New York, and spread rapidly until seven blocks of frame buildings, 20 in all, had been destroyed. A conservative estimate of the loss places it at $750,000.

Mrs. Frank Glass and her 4-year-old son lost their lives on Thursday in a well. The child accidentally fell in and was drowned. Mrs. Glass jumped into the well in an effort to save her boy. The child was dead in the mother's arms.

Despite the set-back given them by the defeat of the good roads by-law on Thursday, the members of the Hamilton Board of Works have determined to spend all the available money for putting down tar-macadam pavements. The amount available is $39,000.

"The battle of the Jordan" was fought on Friday by Canadian troops divided for the purpose into "Red" and "Blue," on the march from Hamilton to Camp Niagara. Major-General Hutton, as umpire-in-chief, expressed his approval of the work of the "citizen soldiery" on this occasion.

The Grand Trunk trackmen's strike shows really no change in situation, beyond a strong hope on the part of the men that the matter may be submitted to arbitration. The officials of the road at Montreal will not make a statement beyond saying that they are filling the places of the strikers with other men.

Mrs. Mary Harrison, a widow, who resided with her daughter, Mrs. Frank Sharp, Toronto, was run down and instantly killed by a G.T.R. freight train near the Don Station on Friday afternoon. The victim was crushed and mangled in a dreadful manner. Eyewitnesses say that the woman deliberately threw herself in front of the locomotive and thus ended her life.

Went Through the Crossing.

The new road roller was given a trial yesterday afternoon on Hunter street, between Water street and the bridge. It was in charge of a representative of the Harrisburg Roller Company, and Mr. Matthew Wainwright, who will run the machine for the town. When they were bringing the roller to its quarters in the town yards, it broke through the crossing at the police station. No damage was done, however.

Now on Exhibition.

The beautiful silver tankard which was so generously donated by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick at the Lakefield picnic, to the winning team in the Campbellford Maple Leaf— Peterborough Shamrock lacrosse match, and which was won by the latter, is now on exhibition in the window of H. S. Macdonald's drug store, corner of George and Hunter streets. It was quite a prize, indeed, for the boys to capture and they justly feel proud of their doing so. They intend having it suitably engraved.

Lady Bicyclists who Insist on Riding on the Sidewalks.

Chief Roszel is up in arms against the lady bicyclists who are incessantly breaking the bicycle by-law forbidding riding on the sidewalks, and unless the practice is stopped some of the fair young breakers of the law will appear in the police court.

When the Chief was bringing young Kearns up to the jail yesterday morning he politely drew the attention of a certain young lady to the fact that she was breaking the laws of the of the town by riding on the sidewalk. She became indignant and was inclined to "chew the rag," and as much as told the Chief that he should provide better roads. The officers of the police force say that they have had an unusual lot of trouble in this respect this season, but the matter will be soon brought to a climax.

HARDLY ADVISABLE.

To Award a Medal to a lad for a Brotherly Action.

The gentleman who has been corresponding with the Royal Canadian Humane Association regarding the case of Eddie Wall, who so bravely attempted to rescue his little brother at the Dickson Company's dam, has received the following reply from Mr. H. P. Dwight, chairman of the Investigating Governors:

Dear Sir—Yours of the 19th inst. was received. No doubt the elder Wall boy showed a good deal of bravery in attempting to rescue his younger brother, but I doubt if any reward of the R. C. H. A. would be in order or advisable. It seems hardly proper, for instance, to offer a man a medal for attempting to save the life of his wife. Such an offer might be considered almost an insult. The medals of the R. C. H. A. are awarded for bravery and presence of mind, more especially when shown in a disinterested manner. Although in some cases it is difficult to draw the line, I fancy that it would not be with the most perfect satisfaction that Eddie Wall would, in after years, exhibit any reward made him for attempting to save the life of his little brother. While fully recognizing his brave and brotherly action, I hardly think it would be advisable for us to take any action in the matter."

TO RIDE A BRANTFORD.

Chief Roszel has taken to the Silent Steed.

Peterborough's police force has always been looked upon as almost perfect in its organization and ever on the alert to keep apace with the times. The latest step in this direction is the introduction of the bicycle in the service. Henceforward any disturber of the law in the most remote parts of the town will be hunted down by Chief Roszel on a Brantford Redbird. For some time the Chief has been considering the advisability of using a wheel, and on Saturday next that officer will mount the silent steed for the first time. Offenders of the law beware.

IN A MUSIC SHOP.

In a dim corner of the shop,
With none but mice to mark,
The weary old toy zither f ng,
Forgotten by the dark

The c web hid its outworn case,
Dimmed with the anxious years;
The strings that little hands had p rol
To laughter more than tears

(And didst thou hope, a music toy
For slumber? Nay, awake!
Th heart of music has no rest
Until its cords must break.)

Without, among the violins
That master hands had wrought
It heard the master music voice
Its own unuttered thought

Like some poor bird of halting song
Wayworn, with broken wing,
Watching the lark fly up through heaven
Ever to fly—and sing

To little old toy instruments
Nor rest nor sleep belong;
Only to feel with helpless strings
Eternal stress of song

And even there, adase with dust,
Too old and worn to sing,
The message of the viola not
Its voice a-quivering.

Thou weary little zither,
Long days and years shall come
Before thy heart of song may break,
Thy weary strings be dumb.
—Josephine Peabody in Youth's Companion.

THE CONSPIRATORS.

Captain Hanson, having returned from a long voyage to find himself a widower, had sacrificed his fondness for a seafaring life to the needs of his only daughter, Lucy, and had settled in a thriving coast city, where he could live comfortably upon the modest fortune he had accumulated.

A good man was the captain, rough in his ways, but tender hearted, irascible, but forgiving, and deeply devoted to his "little girl," as he continued to call Lucy even after she took to long gowns and began to receive calls from eligible young men.

It was rather slow in dawning upon the captain's mind that Lucy might some day like to marry. He never took her "company" seriously, for most of the young men who called and whom he admitted, for he habitually answered the doorbell, were of a type with which, to put it mildly, he was not familiar. That Lucy should cherish a genuine interest in a young man who knew nothing of the sea never occurred to him until a son of one of his former shipmates proposed for Lucy's hand. Then there was a rude awakening.

The suitor, Jack Darrow, was himself a sailor, and the old captain had found great comfort in his calls. In fact, the ancient mariner had entertained the notion that Jack called to see him, and it was quite a shock when Jack, finding the captain alone one evening, made his purpose clear.

"Have ye signaled her, Jack?" he asked.

"Haven't hoisted a rag," replied the young sailor sheepishly. "If it's all right, cap, you speak to her. She'll do anything you say."

"Dunno, dunno," returned the captain dubiously, "but I'll heave the lead, Jack, and let you know if the channel's clear."

That satisfied Jack, and, true to his word, the captain "heaved the lead" that very night.

"Lucy," he said, "Jack Darrow wants to splice with ye."

"Can't be done, papa," she answered at once. "Jack's a good fellow, but I don't love him."

The captain knew not whether to rejoice or regret. He was sorry for Jack, but glad for himself.

"All's well," he said after a moment. "I'm not asking ye to love him, Lucy. You shan't marry anybody ye don't love."

"I knew you'd say so, papa, just as I knew you won't object to my marrying the man I do love."

"Eh? Steady there! Do ye mean ye've got somebody in mind?"

Lucy blushed and looked at the floor.

"Who is he?" asked the captain anxiously.

"It's Henry Whitman, papa. He asked me this evening."

"What! That dude?"

"Papa!"

Lucy's eyes blazed as she addressed her father in sharper tones than she had ever used. She looked at him steadily for a moment and then went to her room.

The captain drew a long breath, sank into a chair and fumbled for his pipe. Under its soothing influence he became comforted. Whitman dressed stylishly, but that might not be against him. He could afford his apparent extravagance, for he was a clerk in a bank. Everybody spoke well of him too. Poor Jack Darrow!

After a time the captain knocked the ashes from his pipe and, going to Lucy's room, spoke to her through the closed door.

"It's all right, little girl," he said in a shaking voice. "If ye want young Whitman, ye shall have him, and God bless ye both."

Whereupon Lucy arose, went to the door, opened it and threw her arms around her father's neck.

Next day Captain Hanson reported his soundings to Jack and told him plainly that he'd have to sheer off. Perhaps the captain failed to couch his information in terms that suggested his disappointment and kindly feelings.

Jack did not manifest his ill will then, but a little later he devised a way to wreak vengeance on his successful rival. He chanced to learn that Whitman was to take Lucy to a theater on a certain evening. It began to rain that afternoon, a depressing, ceaseless drizzle. This was Jack's opportunity, and he arranged his plot with great care. There was nothing he could do himself except supervise operations, but he found three loyal friends to whom he confided the situation and his purpose, and they agreed to look after details.

The curtain rises upon their little drama at exactly 7:15 in the evening. Scene, the front steps of Captain Hanson's house. A cold drizzle continues throughout. The first conspirator enters, trips up the steps and pulls the bell. After a slight pause the door opens and the old captain appears, looking out into the wet.

"Is Miss Hanson at home?" inquires the conspirator.

"Yes," replies the captain, trying to recognize the visitor. "Will ye walk in?"

"Thanks, no," is the reply. "I just called to say that it is a very uncomfortable night, moist and windy, and she really ought not to think of going out. Good evening." And the first conspirator trots down, leaving the captain in open mouthed amazement.

Offended, but too surprised to do or say anything, he slams the door and retires.

Five or six minutes pass, and Conspirator No. 2 comes striding confidently along, mounts the high stoop and rings the bell.

"Is Miss Hanson at home?" asks the visitor of the old gentleman.

"Yes, she is," responds the captain. "What do ye want?"

"It's a very dirty night," remarks the conspirator with engaging frankness, "and she really ought not to venture out."

"Big seas and great gales!" roars the captain in a tremendous rage. "Ye get out of here!" And he makes a dash at the self appointed adviser, but the latter is on his guard and skips down the steps unharmed.

Ten minutes are then allowed to lapse before the third conspirator appears on the scene. He, too, trots up the high stoop and rings the bell, but, having rung, he prudently retreats half way down again and waits. Almost immediately the door swings open and the irate captain howls:

"Well? How is it?"

"Is Miss"— begins the third conspirator; but the captain waits for no more. He makes a mad rush down the steps, roaring savage imprecations and evidently bent upon violence, but the third conspirator, anticipating just this attack, nimbly jumps out of the way and flees. The captain, choking with unappeased rage, returns to his home and the three conspirators and the discarded lover gather under a convenient doorway across the street.

They had not long to wait. Henry Whitman, with commendable promptness, pattered up the steps at 7:45 and rang the bell. The captain was in waiting, for the accepted lover's hand had not left the bell pull when the door opened, the captain emerged like an ocean greyhound out of a fog bank and fell upon the caller before he could utter a word. It was hammer and tongs for about a second, and then such was the force of the captain's onslaught that both men rolled down the steps and came to a stop in a heap.

Whitman yelled, the captain bellowed, and Lucy, coming to the door, screamed. The conspirators across the way sneaked off in great delight at their success, and it was well they did so, for had they remained they would have witnessed an anticlimax that would have been unpleasant for them. Lucy, recognizing her lover's voice, promptly went to his relief and caressed his bruised face in a way that Jack Darrow would not have liked to see. The captain, too, though still mystified and wrathy, apologised handsomely, and when later the truth about the conspiracy became known to him he made full amends to Whitman by doing all he could to hasten the wedding.—Chicago News.

Would Have Done the Same.

Rudyard Kipling undoubtedly got his wit from his maternal grandfather, the Rev. George B. Macdonald, a Wesleyan clergyman. It is related of this bright Macdonald that in the days when he was courting the lady whom he afterward married the father-in-law to be—an aged Methodist with extremely strict notions in regard to the proprieties—was injudicious enough on one occasion to enter the parlor without giving any warning of his approach. The consequence was that he found the sweethearts occupying a single chair.

Deeply shocked by this spectacle the old man solemnly said: "Mr. Macdonald, when I was courting Mrs. Brown she sat on one side of the room and I on the other."

Macdonald's reply was: "That's what I should have done if I had been courting Mrs. Brown."—Troy Press.

The Red Bird--Best To-day and Good for Years.

A Modern Racer

For Modern Racing Men.

THE thoroughly up-to-date features of the Brantford Red Bird Special Racer places it it in a rank by itself among racing wheels.

From tires to handle bars it is strictly high-grade. Not only is it made of the best material it is possible to buy, but it is the most carefully constructed wheel built to-day.

Every detail of construction is given the most careful attention, after which it is submitted to the most critical inspection before being permitted to leave the factory

In previous years more riders have riden to positions of prominence in racing circles on Red Birds than on any other wheel, and this year will prove no exception to the rule.

The improved caged bearings with which this wheel is fitted, make it not only the easiest running wheel built, but the speediest. See it at your nearest Red Bird Agency.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

In the Spring.

Many a wild flower droops its head as if too modest to be seen,
And the tender grass is springing into velvet mats of green.
While the trees, so lately leafless, now with merry songsters rife,
Feel again the inspiration of a brighter, fuller life.

In the hedge the noisy robin and the redbird clamor loud.
Sheltered in a neighboring treetop are the sparrows in a crowd.
Every creature feels the wild exhilaration of the time.
"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of"—rhyme!

All around is nature smiling, animation everywhere,
And there comes an inspiration with the gentle southern air,
And the young and hopeful farmer quits the little district school,
Drills the sorghum, drops the corn or plows the yaller, kickin mule.

How delightful 'tis to ramble by the little streamlet's side,
Resting where the banks are shady, fishing where the pools are wide!
But we wish to give a caution: 'Tis not safe to be about—
For the flowers all carry pistils and the trees are shooting out!

Suburban Reflections.

The lilac leaves from their varnished sheaths
Of brown are elbowing daily,
The hairbird weaves in bridal wreaths
Its nest in the bushes gayly,
The willows toss, and the gray and gold
Of their bloom tufts beckon to us,
But the clouds are cross and the nipping cold
Of a north wind shudders through us.

Oh, the dawns are bright and the blackbirds call
From the fir grove over yonder,
But we feel the blight of a frosty fall
And we lie abed and—ponder.
The grass is green to the loving feet
Of the man who works the mower,
But he, I ween, should be more discreet
(At six a. m.) and slower.

Oh, the joy of spring is a lovely thing,
And suburban life is charming,
But the jay that shrieks when it seeks to sing
At sunrise is alarming!
And yet, despite the jaybird's plight,
Lawn mowers and their rattle,
Suburbanites do sleep at night—
And that is half the battle.

The Season's Uncertainties.

We've asked them all and asked in vain,
These questions of the day,
And now a new one racks the brain
And turns our temples gray

When will the heathen cease to rage
With ardor so intense?
Will gentle peace the world engage
After the conference?

Will Germany's intentions be
At last well understood?
Will Europe ever live to see
The sultan being good?

Is England's love a tender bluff,
Made in some hope of gain?
Will Aguinaldo know enough
To come in from the rain?

All these, which once so puzzled men,
Seem for the moment flat,
For all the world is guessing when
To wear the first straw hat.

"WANT TO GO HOME."

Under the shade of a tree hung a hammock; in the hammock a man perched on the rope a big green parrot. Now and then the bird raised its head and croaked:

"I want to go home! I want to go home!"

"That parrot used to belong to a fellow that took sick of typhoid and went to the hospital," said a soldier standing by. "He took the bird with him, and it used to sit on the window while he tossed and moaned with the fever. The chap was horribly homesick, and he was always moaning: 'I want to go home! I want to go home!' And the parrot picked it up. Ever since the fellow died and the parrot came back here to live it's been croaking 'I want to go home!' until it makes us homesick. Sometimes in the night, when everything is still, that parrot will croak out 'I want to go home! I want to go home!' just the way the boy did when he was dying, and it's enough to make one's blood run cold to hear him."

The parrot slowly fluttered down to the open window, spread its wings and balanced itself on the window sill. It looked around the room and in a sobbing tone repeated again and again: "I want to go home! I want to go home!"

"Oh, so does everybody, Polly," said a soldier whose white face showed he had just got out of the hospital. "So does everybody. We all want to go home. You are not the only one."

But the parrot still swung back and forth on the window ledge and chanted "I want to go home! I want to go home!"

"You must be sure and say we want to come home," said a private from his window in a soft whisper, so the officers could not hear him. "We have been in this accursed spot four months, and we want to go home. We didn't enlist for regular army work. We enlisted to fight and not for garrison duty. Most of us fellows had good jobs back in the States, and we want to go home.

"You think Manzanillo is a pretty nice place? You wait until you stay here four months and have learned to count the days by cutting notches on a stick. You stay here four months and see nothing but these yellow buildings and the blasing sun and always the same faces and hear nothing from your friends in the States, and you'll be hollering like that parrot over in D company, 'I want to go home, go home, go home!'"

The soldier walked out of his quarters and stood leaning against the side of the barracks, looking out across the range of hills to the north.

"Away over those hills and across the water there's the States, I guess, though it's so long since I was there that I almost doubt it. It seems as though I hadn't done anything all my life but loaf around a miserable little town on the side of a hill and wait for a steamer to come once every 1,000 years and let off a few Americans and put ashore some beef that we can't eat and a few papers and now and then a letter. You Americans go away as soon as the steamer is loaded, and then there is the old monotony again.

"Some of the fellows go away to the hills and sit there by the hour thinking of the States. But I don't. I'd be afraid some time that if I did I might take my gun out of the rack and try to swallow the muzzle while I pressed the trigger with my toe.

"But I wish I could get back to West Virginia again. I've got a girl back there—or I did have. I haven't heard from her for a long time. I heard she was sick, and then I heard she was married. I don't know. I suppose I am about the same as dead to her anyhow. You can't expect a girl to wait for you forever. But I want to go home. I don't care whether the Cubans get salvation or not. I don't care if Spain comes back and gobbles up the island again. I just want to go home. That's all. I want to go home."

He drew his hands across his eyes, walked back into the barracks and began putting his accouterments in order for the dress parade that evening.

"It's Sunday," said the sergeant lounging outside the quarters, "but we have dress parade. All ceremonies on Sunday in the army were abolished by congress, but we have them just the same. The colonel wants to keep us busy. It doesn't do to let men have nothing to do. They get to brooding, and a soldier that gets the blue devils is worse than a sick horse."

The bugles blew first call for dress parade, and the Americans went out to the common in front of the barracks. It was a poor sort of ground for dress parade. It was only a couple of hundred yards wide at most and shelved down in a manner that made it seem wonderful that the men could keep from slipping down into Manzanillo when it marched across the parade to take position at the right of the line.

A narrow road ran along the top of the parade ground, and on it the regiment formed in line of companies. There were the usual reports and the publishing of the orders by the adjutant; then a flourish of trumpets and the regiment, headed by the band, swung into columns of fours and passed into review.

It was a strange place for a review of American troops. The town of Manzanillo lay in front with its red tiled and thatched roofs, and in the distance was the bay, with wrecks strewn along the shore. Back of the troops were the low barracks and the distant blockhouses.

The band struck up "Dixie" and the regiment wheeled past, the men as erect and soldierly and every movement executed with as much precision as if it was marching down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington instead of balancing on the side of a hill in a faroff place that a great many people in the United States didn't even know was on the map.

"Oh, I wish I was in the land of cotton!" played the band as the regiment came marching by.

A convalescent soldier leaning on his cane near our party drew in his breath with a sharp, whistling sound.

"I wish to God I was!" he murmured.

Then he stiffened up and took off his hat, for the colors were passing.

The regiment countermarched at the end of the parade and marched back on the road to the barracks and disappeared through the gate.

I wish I was in the land of cotton;
Olden times are not forgotten—
Look away, look away, look away to Dixie land!

The music of the band died away. The sun slowly sank and darkness gathered. The Americans walked silently down the hill. The convalescent soldier joined them.

"What did you think of it?" he asked. "Fine," said we. "It was the best appearing regiment I have seen in Cuba," said the army captain.

"Say," said the soldier suddenly "you are not going back to the States and say that, are you?"

"Certainly," replied the captain. "It's true, isn't it?" He turned to me.

"Why, yes," I replied. "I wouldn't hesitate to say that dress parade was a magnificent thing and that regiment as soldierly a lot of men as I ever saw."

"Look here! You are not going to put that in the paper, are you?" asked the soldier.

"Why, yes! Why not?"

"Why not? Why, because the people at Washington will read it, and they will make us stay in this God forsaken land another thousand years. Look here," he went on appealingly, "I want to go home. We all want to go home—except the officers. Don't say we are good. Don't say that the regiment is the best you ever saw. Say it's bad. Won't you, please? Say it's the worst looking gang you ever came up with in your life. It won't hurt you. Nobody will know the difference. Why, I guess most people have forgot there ever was such a thing as the Fourth immune regiment. Say we are on the verge of mutiny and ought to be sent home in disgrace. Won't you? That will help us out."

He seemed to like the idea, for he went on rapidly. "That's the stuff. Tell 'em we're so rotten that the insurgent soldiers don't have any respect for us and that if we are not taken home the insurgents are liable to attack us and drive us off the island. Say we don't look able to fight a detachment of the Salvation Army. Give us a holy roast, and it'll make the department mad, and they'll say 'What's all this about? The Fourth immunes. What are the Fourth immunes? Oh, yes, that's a regiment, ain't it? Well, where are they? Let's bring 'em back home and send a decent regiment there that reflects some credit on the United States.' That's what they'll say. Do that for us, won't you?"

He stopped at the beginning of the town.

"I can't go any farther. But do that for us, won't you? You don't know how tired we are of being Robinson Crusoes. Say I've got a mother at home and I want to go back."

We walked away and left him. But that night as the passengers sat on the deck of the Antinojenes Hernandes and watched the water widening between the steamer and the pier there was a shout from the shore. In the moonlight we could see the figure of the soldier we had met at parade. He formed his hands into a speaking trumpet and shouted after us:

"Do that, won't you? Say we are going to mutiny and join the insurgents. Say anything. We want to go home! We want to go home!" The steamer came about and stood straight out to sea. But as far as we could discern objects on the lonely coast of Manzanillo we saw dimly a forlorn figure leaning on a cane, and once or twice the night wind carried his voice to us again. "I want to go home, go home!"
—R. H. Little in Chicago Tribune.

When Insects Sleep.

There is no doubt that all insects, except those, like the May fly, which die very soon after they are born, take rest. Some of them take from 10 to 20 hours' rest at a time—as, for instance, butterflies, which remain fixed to certain spots for days together. Some caterpillars and moths like rest during the day, appearing only at night, while insects of the bee and wasp tribe do their work by day and slumber at night.

Beetles may often be found during the daytime with their legs drawn up under their bodies in a condition suggesting repose, while it is well known that they make their depredations principally by night.

Some insects, again, take a long period of rest during the winter months, and it is certain that insects, like any other family of animals, enjoy periods of repose, though, as they cannot close their eyes, it seems hardly right to call this sleep.

PUPILS IN HOTEL LIFE.

A Chicago Scheme by Which Women Train Themselves For Travel.

"There goes a pupil in hotel life," said the clerk. He nodded toward a modest little woman dressed in black who had just called for her key and was standing a short distance away waiting for the elevator.

"A pupil in hotel life?" repeated the listener wonderingly.

"Yes. Haven't you heard of the plan adopted by Chicago women nowadays when they are consumed by a desire to travel and learn the ways of the world, but have not the means to gratify their ambition? It's becoming quite the thing. You see, they all think they may have an opportunity to go away from home and stop at big houses some day, and, in anticipation of that event, they are trying to learn how to conduct themselves when the crucial test comes.

"This hotel is a favorite resort of the novitiate. I can spot one of the beginners every time, but they soon get the crudeness toned down so that I can hardly tell them from thoroughbred travelers. Their plan is certainly original. Whenever they have a few dollars that they can spare and an opportunity to leave home for a day or two without causing comment they come down here or to some other first class house and register with as much importance as if they had just come in from Europe, or St. Louis at least. They learn how to engage a room, call for their mail—which is generally written by themselves to themselves—and order meals in a large restaurant with as much grace as if two-thirds of their whole lives had been spent on the road.

"It takes practice to wear away the rough edges, to be sure, but if the town should be destroyed by a general conflagration and the female portion of the population be compelled to go to other cities and put up at hotels, they could pass through the ordeal with credit to themselves and the town. This system of training is comparatively inexpensive, considering the value received, and, in my opinion, is highly commendable. One of the most pitiable sights one can witness is to see a woman traveler make a fool of herself, which she is bound to do if she hasn't had a little preparatory experience."
—Chicago Tribune.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

How Queer It Feels to View Ourselves In That Light.

"I had a strange experience at Cincinnati the other day," said a traveling man, chatting with some friends in his hotel lobby. "I had some time to kill and had dropped in at an afternoon vaudeville performance, where, as usual, they had the vitascope. One of the views was a remarkably good street scene in New York, taken on Broadway, near the corner of Thirtieth street. A tremendous crowd was surging down the pavement, and as the figures reached the foreground of the picture they became very large, at least life size.

"As I stared at the throng my eyes were suddenly riveted on a man and woman walking together and somewhat detached from the others. I cannot describe my shock of amazement when I recognized the man as myself and the woman as my wife. We were apparently absorbed in conversation, and, as we drew rapidly near, my wife seemed to call my attention to something across the street. I looked up and smiled, and, as I did so, we passed over the circular margin of the picture and vanished as swiftly as a dream.

"My heart was beating like a drum, and as I glared at the apparition I had risen unconsciously from my seat. It seemed strange beyond expression, and I don't know how long I might have stood there transfixed if some one had not recalled me to earth by requesting me to sit down. The picture was taken last summer when my wife and I were visiting in the north, and gradually I recalled the exact incident.

"I remembered distinctly the day we walked down Broadway together and also that my wife called my attention to a comical baby crowing in the arms of a nurse at one of the windows of the Gilsey House. That was evidently when I glanced up and smiled. I looked older than I would have thought and also stouter. I tell you it gives one a queer feeling to see himself as others see him."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Poison and Faith Cure.

Arsenic and strychnine kill, Mrs. Eddy says, not because there is really any deadly property in themselves, but because the belief that there is on the part of the majority of mankind has put this property into them, and yet it is one of Mrs. Eddy's main contentions that though the poisons which men believe in will, because of men's belief in them, kill the medicines which men believe in are absolutely powerless to cure. Indeed she affirms with triumph, on the authority of some doctor, that they "have actually destroyed more lives than war." What will Mrs. Eddy's disciples make out of this? Is human belief, to which matter owes all its properties, able to invest it with bad properties only? How can it turn strychnine—that naturally harmless unreality—into a cause of death, while it cannot turn rhubarb and magnesia into a means of health? How will they reconcile these two contradictory propositions?—National Review.

Eating Candy.

The time is luckily gone when a woman had to have two pounds of candy to tide her over Sunday, and she is better looking today for the exercise of common sense. A plain spoken physician said to his ansemic patient:

"If you could see the inside of your stomach after eating candy you would never touch another bit."

Just after a hearty dinner is the best time for candy. Then the appetite for it is abated, and the small amount taken mixes with the other food. Sugar, nuts, chocolate and pure fruit syrups are all well enough in their place, and that is after, not before, the evening or midday meal.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used, Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

CHEMONG PARK HOTEL.

How This Hostelrie Dispenses Hospitality.

A few days ago a party of ladies and gentlemen paid a visit to Chemong Park and the rain preventing a return, as arranged, the company concluded to take pot-luck for dinner with the Chemong Park Hotel, which had no previous intimation of the presence of so many distinguished guests, but which under the new manager, Mr. George Brown, extended a most hospitable and much appreciated welcome. In fact, so pleased were the guests with the appetising menu provided that one of them brought away a copy of the dinner bill of fare, which is here reproduced:

Soup, Macaroni; fish, fresh water, salmon, white sauce; entrees, lettuce salad; boiled, leg of mutton, caper sauce; roast, beef, brown gravy, baked heart, dressing; vegetables, boiled potatoes, mashed potatoes, string beans, radishes, green onions; pastry, etc., deep apple pie, with cream, rhubarb pie, cranberry tart, tapioca cream; dessert, oranges, black and green tea.

The proprietor, Mr. Geo. Brown, though not related to one of the great "Fathers of Confederation," of that name, is certainly aiming to be the father of a first-class reputation as a caterer to the public in one of the most pleasantly situated and popular summer hotels in the district. Mine Host Fobert's mantle has fallen on worthy shoulders; the good reputation for management given the Chemong Park hotel is being perpetuated by his successor, and one may expect an increasing influx of summer visitors to the most accessible of the summer resorts that surround the town.

THE FALL EXHIBITION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In reference to "Citizen's" communication in yesterday's issue of your paper, urging the town to take more interest in the Peterborough Central Exhibition in order that it might grow to mean as much to the town as Toronto's Exhibition means to that city, I wish to draw your readers' attention to a feature of the Toronto show, which makes it very attractive to the citizens. In connection with the exhibition it has become the custom to hold a dog show every year. Beginning in a small way, this feature has attained such proportions that it is recognized to be the largest affair of the kind held in Canada each year. Hundreds of American dogs are benched and consequently the city is well advertised across the border. Peterborough could easily hold a one day show in a large tent without the necessity or expense of benching, and this would doubtless prove an attraction which would re-enlist the interest of the townspeople in the Exhibition. As it is at present, whilst the show is well patronized by the country, the citizens of the town seem to have lost the interest necessary to induce them to attend the grounds on fair day.

Would not the addition of a Dog Show be a feature that would rearouse the failing interest.

Yours, etc.,

BASS AND LUNGE FISHING.

The Alteration to be made Concerning the Closed Season.

At the request of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., recently communicated with the Minister of Marine and Fisheries urging that the close season for bass and 'lunge be changed, and be fixed from the 1st of December to the 15th of June.

The Minister referred the matter to the Inspector of the Department, Mr. Sheppard, of Toronto, who has approved of the suggestion of the Association. Appended is a copy of the answer received by Mr. Stratton, and doubtless the change for the further protection of bass and 'lunge will be put in operation before next year:

Ottawa, 20th May, 1899.

J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Sir—Referring to your letter of the 29th ultimo, addressed to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, stating that at a meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers Association it was suggested that the close season for bass and maskinonge be fixed from the 1st December to 15th June, I beg to say that in the opinion of Mr. Inspector Sheppard, of Toronto, the proposed change would be a very wise and judicious one to make, and entirely in the interest of the proper protection of these fish. The brook trout, black bass and maskinonge are practically all the real sporting fish that are caught in the waters of Ontario, and should therefore, in his opinion, be protected for the sportsmen, as the commercial fisherman has the privilege of catching all the other kinds, such as trout, whitefish, pickerel, sturgeon, herring, etc., in proper seasons.

Mr. Sheppard would not recommend that the 24th of May be excepted from the close season, as the fish at that time of the year are not through spawning, and as black bass protects its young, if the parent fish were destroyed it would do great damage as the fry would become an easy prey to the perch and other fish.

I am sir, your obedient servant,
F. GOURDEAU,
Deputy Minister Marine and Fisheries.

In the fall of the year after the Cottagers have left the lakes, quite a number of persons, particularly the Indians, cut holes in the ice, where they have staked out the beds where the fish congregate during the winter. When the snow falls on the ice shelters are built over these holes for the protection of fishermen. The fish being hungry bite freely and are caught by the sleigh load at a time of the year when they are mating and protection is most needed. Tons and tons of bass and 'lunge are shipped away, and consequently the fish are becoming so scarce that in a few years there will be none left for the summer visitors at the lakes. The waters are thus being depleted of fish for commercial purposes by a few individuals, who might just as well be employed in some way more advantageous to the country than depleting these waters of what certainly is one of their chief attractions.

A COUNTY POORHOUSE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

If anyone wanted an argument in favour of the establishment of a poor house they could have had it this morning at the Police Court.

There, setting on a bench waiting the kind offices of the Court, was an aged man, whose sightless eyes, wan and shrunken cheeks and wretched clothing told but too plainly the story of his want.

Samuel Oliver, for ten years a carter in Peterborough, has of late been living with a daughter at Young's Point, but a large family and little means, and perhaps want of filial affection, led to the old man being put on the cars and shipped to Peterborough, where he now seeks a place of rest during the remaining few days of his life.

The Protestant Home is unable to take him, and for want of more suitable accommodation, the Magistrate kindly gave him six months in the County Gaol — evidently longer than his requirements. God pity the poor and God pity the poor Councillors who refuse to provide for helpless and deserving poverty.

SENEX.

LOGIC ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—No doubt some of the "old time" religionists will pounce upon the Christian Scientist and will, as so often happen, mistake wit for argument, but the question of miracles (improperly so called) is for the first time scientifically set forth by the Christian Scientists, for all that. By the Christian faith a wicked man may through prayer procure a state of moral cleanliness "whiter than snow." He secures the full measure of the sufficient atonement which means if it means anything at all, that the original sin, (Adam)is cleared away and the original order of purity restored in its entirety. Now, at what time did disease first come into the world? Manifestly with the advent of original sin, therefore and from this conclusion there is no escape, the atonement in its perfection is a restoration of the original state of sinlessness and freedom from disease. If men are at one with Christ and He with God, they become morally and physically pure. They of course, say this is all a myth and that the Methodists, Presbyterians, etc., merely combine a little religion with a little fact, the one to keep up the idea of the ideal, the other to maintain the recognition of the facts that are as plain as the noses on their faces, a sort of working hypothesis. Christian Science is logical religion but whether it is logical common sense or not is another and less interesting or important question.

LACROSSE.

Markham is going to run a big excursion to Peterborough when the team of that place plays the first league game here on June 23rd.

The following is the senior league schedule for the district:

June 10th—Brampton at Markham.
June 23rd—Markham at Peterborough.
July 1st—Peterborough at Brampton.
July 12th—Brampton at Peterborough.
July 22nd—Markham at Brampton.
July 29th—Peterborough at Markham.

The dates for the Georgetown games have not yet been arranged.

The seniors will probably play the return match with Hastings about the middle of June.

It would be a good idea if the seniors and juniors could play a couple of scratch matches on the Nicholls Park oval on a few of the afternoons just previous to July 1st, when both teams play out of town on large fields. The afternoon practice would mean a great deal and playing on the oval, the boys would become accustomed to working a combination on strange grounds larger than their own. The management could surely arrange to have a couple of busses take the boys up to the mark and as Peterboroughs lacrosse team gives the town lots of free advertising in every paper in the province, the merchants ought to see their way clear to give the players who work for them, an afternoon off once in a while during the dull season.

Hastings plays the Juniors here in the C.L.A. junior series on June 26th and the local lads will have their work cut out for them to win. By constant practice together, however, they ought to be able to give a good account of themselves.

It isn't every town that can drum up three lacrosse teams which can go out, all on the same day, and play a winning game, yet that honour fell to Peterborough on the 24th.

Under the heading, "met a heavier team," the Campbellford Herald says: The "Maple Leaf" lacrosse team who went to Lakefield yesterday and played the "Shamrocks" of Peterborough for a silver cup, were defeated by a score of 2 to 1. The boys were met by a much heavier club but they were not discouraged and put up a most creditable game—a credit to their pluck and good playing. They will meet them again some time in the near future at Hastings.

When Lionel King returns to Peterborough he will probably bring with him Mr. "Robbie" Robertson, of Toronto, who has conceived such a fancy for Lakefield, that he is considering the advisability of spending the summer in town in order to be within reach of that pretty summer resort. If "Robbie" spends the summer here, he will try to qualify for the junior lacrosse team. He is possessed of plenty of wind and is quite a "stick" handler, but trials have shown that his staying powers are limited.

The Markham boys state that they scored the first two goals in Orillia on the 24th and could have won the match if the Orillias had not fallen back on their old slugging tactics. The final score was 4-3 in favour of Orillia.

Tom Graham, of Claremont, will play with Markham this year.

The Markham Sun says: Clarence Tefft, better known as "Taffy," is with the lacrosse club again this season. "Taffy" played with Shelbourne last year, and was considered one of the best home players in the Grey district. He will in all probability play inside home this summer.

The Toronto Telegram makes the following note of local interest. — Congratulations to Canada's greatest home player, Harvey Nelson German, on this, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his birth. May he be as great a player when he is twice the age. — Another well-known lacrosse player to be congratulated is Richard Lionel King, who has just passed his third year medical exams. at Trinity. — Walter Phelan, the fat boy, of Peterborough, is reducing on the lacrosse field and has taken off considerable weight. He runs to Lakefield (on a busy day) and back every morning, which is good for his wind.

CRICKET.

The Omemee Cricket Club was reorganized this week. Judging by the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting cricket will boom once again in the village. The following officers were selcted for the ensuing year:

Secretary—Joseph Sherwood.
Treasurer—Arthur McCrea.
Committee—S. Couch, T. C. Stevenson, Hugh Murray.

Turner & Sons' factory and see this sail as it is only one of the smallest sails on the vessel and there is nearly two hundred yards of heavy canvass in it.

—Here is a practical comment on the letter of "Citizen" in yesterday's issue respecting the profit of bringing large numbers of strangers to spend their money in town. Kingston thanks the Queen's Birthday crowds for leaving $30,000 in the city. Such a sum as that left in Peterborough would represent nearly $3 for every man, woman and child.

—Toronto fines citizens $1 for using trees as hitching posts for horses. Many fine trees are seen in Peterborough badly gnawed by horses. A dollar fine would be too small punishment for the dolt that uses a tree for the purpose of tying up a horse. A good share of the twigs of the injured tree should be used up in thrashing the offender, and the tougher the tree the better.

—Our Council and Board of Trade will have to "Watch Out" or Lindsay will get ahead of them in advancing the interests of the town. The Scugog village is now wrestling manfully with the scheme of trade excursions to bring business to their town. The scheme involves using the Midland navigation to run excursions, and it is proposed to have one steamer call at Gannon's Narrows to capture the people of Harvey, whose trade belongs to Peterborough. Will our local enthusiasts wake up and keep awake.

WOODSTOCK WONDER.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

HON. JOHN COSTIGAN

Gives Reasons Why He Left the Conservative Party

UNDER SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

The Man Who Plotted Against Sir Mackenzie Bowell Did Not Possess the Ex-Minister's Confidence, and He Changed His Politics the Day That Half of Sir Mackenzie's Cabinet Went Out.

Ottawa, May 27.—Before a crowded House yesterday Mr. Costigan explained his reasons for leaving the ranks of the Conservative party and supporting the Government. Sir Charles Tupper, in a somewhat bitter speech, criticised the course of his late colleague. The Drummond County debate was then resumed, and continued until after midnight, its principal feature being a two-hours' speech by Sir Charles Tupper. Mr. Morin delivered one of his very rare but decidedly entertaining speeches. At 12.30 a.m. the resolution was adopted without a vote. The Canada Life bill was also adopted.

Mr. Costigan's Statement.

On the orders of the day being called, Hon. John Costigan (Victoria, N.B.) said he felt compelled in justice to himself and friends to make a statement rendered necessary by certain newspaper articles which attributed to him improper motives for his change of seat and change of attitude towards the present leaders of the Conservative party. He then replied to the attack of The Evening Telegram (the paper of the hon. member for East Toronto, Mr. John Ross Robertson), and said that the only time the old Conservative party was in opposition was when Sir John Macdonald resigned in 1873 up to the time he resumed power in 1878. During that time he had given proof of his fidelity to the Conservative party beyond the possibility of cavil of The Evening Telegram of Toronto. He asked if it was fair that the hon. member (Mr. John Ross Robertson) should attack him in his paper when he had the opportunity of doing so in the House of Commons. Speaking of the cartoons of that paper, he remarked that "the great advantage that man has is, that it is out of my power to retaliate, for there is no artist in Canada or on this continent who can make a cartoon of that gentleman's countenance that will not be flattering to him." (Great laughter.) He then replied to The Mail and Empire's remarks upon his course by reading what Sir John Macdonald said of his having "ratted" in 1884 in reply to the inquiries made by Mr. Blake on the subject. The interview in The Mail and Empire with Sir Charles Tupper next claimed his attention. He charged that Sir Charles had ruined the Conservative party, and said: "The day he sailed from England, and especially from the day he landed in Canada, the doom of an honest Government and the leadership of an honest man was sealed. The fate of Sir Mackenzie Bowell's Government was sealed. A great deal has been said about the manner of his coming. That I will not touch on now, because there is a history to be told of this transaction, a history that will be written and a history that will form one of the darkest pages that can be written, so far as all those who were intimately connected with it at the time are concerned."

He said that he changed his politics the day one-half of Sir Mackenzie Bowell's Cabinet resigned, and that, although he was a member of Sir Charles Tupper's Cabinet, he only entered it on the written condition that the remedial bill would be re-introduced if the Conservative party was successful. He felt aggrieved at the attitude taken by the leader of the Opposition and some of his old friends, and said that, although a man of peace, he gave notice that from this day forward he would defend himself. "I am a man of peace," he said. "I never was a quarrelsome man, but I am not a peace-at-any-price man, and the man that follows this up and strikes me, if he does not get blow for blow it is because old Costigan is getting too old." (Laughter and applause.)

He defended his votes on the Yukon and Drummond County Railway questions and on the question of the charges against Major Walsh, which he characterised as a piece of "political bungling," which had lost Brockville to the Conservative party by the policy of Sir Charles Tupper, whom he described as being "cheered by a strong contingent of his own supporters to-day, who have no more confidence in him than I have." He claimed that he had worked hard and long for the Conservative party, and had given hard, honest work for every dollar he had received, and in concluding a speech of over three-quarters of an hour, said: "I have not fired my last shot nor struck my last blow."

Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper, in reply, said he regretted the course taken by the hon. gentleman who had just taken his seat, not personally, not for the Conservative party, but for his (Mr. Costigan's) own sake in the position he had attained in this country. He thought the member for Victoria should have made the statement long ago, when, in fact, he stood up and voted against his old Ministerial colleagues and party. He had not broken the peace until the hon. gentleman had gone to the press of this country with his story, and then he was bound to indicate the causes of his defection. The speech of the hon. gentleman in the House on the 2nd April, 1897, in which he said he owed nothing to the Conservative party, could not be otherwise regarded than as an intimation that he was open to suggestions from hon. gentlemen opposite. He made the break on an occasion that bound him as a Conservative to stand with his party, when three continents were ringing with charges of the gravest character affecting the Government of this country.

Some hon. members—Oh!

Sir Charles Tupper—Yes.

Some hon. members—Oh!

Sir Charles then devoted some time to the claim that before he entered the Cabinet of the speaker he (Mr. Costigan) had received a stipulation of justice to the Catholics of this country, and he claimed that he had always given them, as all other people where he could, fair play and justice. Mr. Costigan was ungrateful in leaving the Conservative party led by him on this issue, for it had fought the battle of the Roman Catholics of this country. Sir Charles continued at some length defending his course since he returned to Canada in 1896, claiming that he had acted according to the traditions and in the best interests of the Conservative party, and speaking "More in sorrow than in anger," of Mr. Costigan's defection, for which, he said that gentleman had entirely failed to give any good and sufficient reason.

Mr. John Ross Robertson also replied, and after a tribute to the Irish race, he closed by saying: "I hope the time is long distant before he is gathered to his fathers, when his mounment should bear this epitaph, 'Here lies an Irishman who was faithful to the Conservative party so long as the Conservative party was on a dividend-paying basis.'"

In response to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's request, Mr. Costigan withdrew his motion to adjourn, but not before Sir Henri Joly had assured Sir Charles Tupper that there was no shadow of reason whatever to suspect either him or Mr. Costigan of having been guilty of a dishonorable bargain.

The Drummond Railway Bill.

Dr. Russell then resumed the debate on the Drummond County Railway, speaking for an hour in support of the same, and was followed by Mr. R. R. McLennan, who spoke in general condemnation of the bargain.

Sir Charles Tupper spoke at great length, saying that the Government had made a very bad bargain, which would have been worse but for the Senate, and severely criticizing Mr. Blair.

Hon. Mr. Fielding followed and the debate was continued by Messrs. A. C. Bell (Pictou), Morin and Borden (Halifax), after which the resolution passed through committee and was reported.

After some routine matters had been attended to, the House adjourned.

PITY THE WOMAN

Who's a Nervous Wreck—But Glory in a Remedy that Will Cure her, as South American Nervine did This One.

Mrs. James A. Publicover, Lunenburg, N.S., was a wreck from Stomach troubles and nervous prostration. After she had tried many remedies, and was treated by best physicians, only to be disappointed in a cure, she was recommended to use South American Nervine. She did so, with the result that to-day, after years of suffering, she is a cured and happy woman, and proclaims this great remedy saved her life. Sold by H. S. Macdonald and Ormond & Walsh.

A MOTORMAN'S VICTORY

Over Diabetes, Gained by the Power of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, May 8.—In a large city like Toronto, there is always much sickness, kidney disease largely predominating. The street railway employees, exposed as they are to all the inclemencies of the weather are particularly liable to kidney disease. But they all know how to conquer this enemy.

For instance; Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, 27 Niagara street, motorman, No. 624, was for three years a great sufferer from Diabetes. Every remedy failed to help him, till he began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him.

It is cases like this, where the patient and the cure are equally well known, that are the test of a remedy, and Dodd's Kidney Pills have always stood it successfully. They cure all kidney complaints.

Good Roads Bylaw Killed.

Hamilton, May 26.—The bylaw for the issuing of 20-year debentures to the amount of $150,000 for the purpose of putting down good roads throughout the city was voted on yesterday and defeated. Out of over 4,000 voters, less than one-half voted. The result was as follows: For 838, against 939; majority against the bylaw 111. Had the bylaw carried, it was the intention to lay tar-macadam roads, and from 10 to 12 miles of roadway could have been laid with the $150,000 during the next two years.

ITCHING PILES...

Positively and permanently cured by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is an absolute cure for piles, and has never been known to fail to cure the worst forms of this disease which has baffled medical skill for ages.

This statement may sound rather strong to persons who do not know the superior merits of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, but it is perfectly true, and heartily endorsed by the grateful testimony of thousands of men and women who have been cured by it after years of suffering, and after trying many preparations and consulting the best doctors.

Mr. H. Bull, Belleville, Ont., says: "I take pleasure in stating that after thirty years of suffering with Itching Piles, Dr. Chase's Ointment has completely cured me. I tried every remedy that was advertised, with little or no benefit, but as I have told different persons affected as I was, Dr. Chase's Ointment made a perfect cure."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine. It is guaranteed to cure any case of piles. For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AFRAID SHE WOULD LOSE HER BOY.

He was wasting away with a terrible Cough. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cured the Cough and restored his health.

It takes the life out of a mother to see her child—the idol of her heart—slipping away, succumbing to a cruel Cough that all the remedies she has tried won't cure.

Mrs. Jasper Singer of Burgessville, Ont., went through a trying experience and gladly gives an account of it for the benefit of Canadian mothers. This is what she says: "My little boy of a year and four months old took down with a heavy cold last fall. I tried different medicines but they did no good. He got so thin he was nothing but bones and hardly ate anything.

"I thought quite a few times I would lose him, till I tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The first bottle helped him wonderfully and the third bottle completed the cure.

"I would advise all mothers to give their little ones Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup as it is so pleasant to take and so effectual." Price 25c. All dealers.

STATUE OF THE QUEEN.

Proposal to Erect One at Tampa—Her Majesty's Health.

London, May 26.—At the Hotel Cecil banquet Wednesday night telegrams were exchanged with the banqueters at Port Tampa, Fla. A message signed by Col. Thomas Wright was received. The message proposed the erection of a statue to Her Majesty, the monument to be erected in the United States. The Americans at the banquet replied cordially, endorsing the proposed honor to the Queen.

Her Majesty is said to have stood the fatigue of her birthday admirably. During the performance of "Lohengrin" at Windsor Castle the Queen and the royal family occupied a dais behind which were arranged tiers of seats for the household. The proscenium was surrounded with the royal coat-of-arms, and the hangings were in crimson and gold.

"HIS MONEY IN THE STREET."

Catarrh Remedies Cost him hundreds and no cure—Two Bottles of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Cured Him.

Fred H. Helb, jr., distiller, Railroad, York Co., Ia., on January 31st last, wrote of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder like this: "I had catarrh of the head and stomach for two years, and had it in the worst form. I spent several hundred dollars in remedies and might as well have thrown my money in the street. I was recommended to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and two bottles of it have already cured me. I am a well man and wish its makers the greatest success. Sold by H. S. Macdonald and Ormond & Walsh.

COMMISSION AT APIA.

Samoan Commissioners Have Begun Their Investigation.

MATAAFA SENDS A LETTER.

He Makes an Explanation and Welcomes the Commissioners—He Will Obey the Unanimous Order of the Court, But Will Not Recognize Malietoa as King—Cable News.

Apia, Samoa, May 17, via Auckland, N.Z., May 26.—The Samoan commission arrived here on May 18. Its first sitting took place May 16. The commissioners were engaged all that morning in conferring with the Chief Justice, Mr. William L. Chambers. Nothing was disclosed regarding the deliberations, but it is reported that they will uphold the action of Admiral Kauts, the American naval commander.

Mataafa sent the commissioners a letter of welcome and expressed the hope that they would satisfactorily end the troubles in Samoa. It is understood Mataafa will obey the unanimous order of the commission, though it is doubtful whether he will order his followers to disarm, unless the Malietoans are first disarmed.

The Mataafans will probably disperse to their homes if ordered to do so, but they will never recognize Malietoa as King, and, doubtless, there will be further trouble in the future if the kingship is maintained.

The Germans are preparing compensation claims. It is understood one German firm claims $60,000, and that other German subjects claim $90,000. The British consul, Mr. E. B. S. Maxse, invited them to put in their claims, and it is understood the commission will adjudicate them.

Replying to questions submitted to him, Mataafa said that the head chiefs, and not he, began the war, adding that they did so because they were angered at power being taken from them by violence, and also because they were made angry by the Chief Justice's unjust decisions. Mataafa claimed he had upheld the treaty, and said his orders throughout were not to fire upon the Europeans, and that but for this order the whole party of bluejackets could several times have been shot down by large bodies of natives concealed in the bushes.

Berlin, May 26.—A despatch received here from Apia, Samoa, says the armistice was not disturbed on the arrival there of the Samoan commission and that letters were being exchanged with the view of disbanding the rival forces.

A CASE IN QUEBEC.

A MONTREAL MAN FINDS A WAY OUT.

The Secret of Treating Diseases of the Bladder—"Worth their Weight in Gold"—Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Montreal, May 26.—It was not generally known here until the publication of Mr. John H. Barber's statement that troubles of the bladder were closely connected with disordered kidneys. But since his remarkable cure by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills reported recently the fact has excited much attention.

Mr. Barber said at the time: "I suffered for two years with bladder and kidney troubles, and could get nothing to give me relief.

"I suffered more than I can tell, till I began using Dodd's Kidney Pills, I used only a few boxes, but they made me a strong and healthy man.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are worth their weight in gold."

The cause of bladder trouble lies in the fact that kidneys fail to dissolve the gritty particles brought in by the blood. These irritate the lining of the bladder, causing inflammation and if allowed to remain gather into a ball of "stone."

Therefore restore health to the kidneys first.

The grit is then dissolved in the kidneys and its further escape to the bladder cut off. This then, is the secret that Mr. Barber solved so successfully.

Use Dodd's Kidney Pills and insure perfect health to the kidneys.

Everything else works in harmony once the kidneys are working perfectly. The blood is kept pure while the impurities are easily and freely drained from the system.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are for sale by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes, $2.50, or sent on receipt of price, by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

How Jack Roach May Escape Extradition.

Toronto, May 26.—There may be some difficulty regarding the extradition of Jack Roach from Boston. At the Attorney-General's Department no one has anything to say about the matter, but it is a question whether, in the absence of Pare and Holden, any declaration can be given as evidence on which Roach may be extradited, and unless Pare and Holden can be found it seems that there would be very little use in bringing Roach back.

Child Drowned at Windsor.

Windsor, Ont., May 26.—Wednesday evening Marguerite, the 5-year old child of John Calvert, fell into the river at the foot of Ferry street and was drowned. The father had given the child and her 8-year-old brother some fireworks, and the next he heard of them was the boy running into the store saying that his sister had fallen into the water

Dr. A. W. CHASE

DISCOVERED A NEW TREATMENT FOR NERVOUS DISEASES

In his study of diseases of the nerves, Dr. A. W. Chase found that in nearly every case the cause of trouble was improper nourishment. About one-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless this blood is rich and pure the nerves cannot obtain proper nourishment, and become worn out and exhausted.

Nervous depression, nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, loss of sleep and vital force, lack of energy, are symptoms of weak, watery blood and exhausted nerves.

It was as a food for blood and nerves that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food was prepared. Its remarkable success in curing all diseases arising from thin blood and impoverished nerves is proof that Dr. Chase's theory of feeding the nerves and blood is the proper one; stimulants only urge on the tired and worn out nervous system until there comes a complete collapse.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates new brain and nerve cells, and makes the blood pure and rich. It restores to the exhausted nerves the vigor of perfect health. 50c. a large box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MAKING CHATTELS OF GIRLS.

A B.C. Chinaman Reported to Have Sold Two of His Daughters.

Vancouver, May 26.—R. Odlum writes from Cariboo to The World as follows: "It is said that a Chinaman north of Quesnelle has daughters whom he is desirous of turning into cash. Some little time ago he is said to have sold one of these little girls to a well-known Chinaman at Quesnelle Forks for $950, and within a week or two another was sold to a Mongolian at Soda Creek. In both cases the girls were put into wooden boxes, holes being bored to admit air and delivered like any other goods, or small animals, such as swine. It is also said that white men gave aid to the vendor, both in preparing documents and in delivering the goods. Suppose the above to be true, then it is time the strong arm of the law should reach all parties interested."

"LABORERS' UNION BAND."

A Georgia Organization to Drive the Negro Out of the Country.

Griffin, Ga., May 26.—The flogging of three colored operatives of the Kincaid mills on Monday night by whitecaps has led to sensational developments. It now transpires that there has been a club formed here, known as the "Laborers' Union Band," for the purpose of driving the negro out of the country. Troops may be ordered out.

Thomas Lowes' Body Found.

Brantford, Ont., May 24.—The body of Thomas Lowes, drowned off the G.T.R. bridge during high water time, about a month ago, was this morning found about a mile and a half below the town, partly embedded in sand on the Two Fish Islands. The body was somewhat decomposed.

Happy Thoughts.

To please attract and give people something to talk about is an art in writing a prosaic advertisement. Hood, of Sarsaparilla fame, is the originator in an extensive sense, of the the idea of using proverbs and wise saws as a prefix to a pleasant introduction to the well known virtues of America's Greatest Medicine. These quaint quotations often fit the news of the day with startling directness and the moral is easily drawn, with natural good to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE "IMPERIAL LIMITED."

C.P.R. Will Run a Train From Montreal to Vancouver in Four Days.

Montreal, Que., May 26.—The new fast service on the Canadian Pacific Railway will be inaugurated about the middle of June, practically the 18th or 19th. The flyer across the continent will be called the "Imperial Limited," and will reduce the time between Montreal and Vancouver to about 100 hours.

It will also be a daily trans-continental service, instituted owing to the vast increase of travel, and trains will leave on Sundays as well as on week days, this being absolutely necessary to relieve the present heavy traffic on Monday trains with travellers from Europe. The hour of departure from Montreal will be 9.30 a.m. and Toronto four hours later, and Winnipeg and many parts of Manitoba will be brought within 48 hours of this city, local trains in that province making close connection with the "Imperial Limited." Vancouver and Victoria will be reached on the fourth day out from Montreal.

A Heroic Remedy.

Malta's way of treating rheumatism is a trifle heroic, but a generation brought up on mustard plasters and electricity ought not to object to it The patient is stripped and bees are cordially invited to settle upon his body It amuses the bees and cures the rheumatism, so it seems to be a philanthropic system all around. The poison in the bee stings is said to neutralize the acid in the blood which is responsible for the rheumatism.

Gray kept the elegy by him for nine years before he gave it to the world. He polished away at it all those years as a lapidary polishes a gem, and the result was he made it a gem. In his whole life he wrote comparatively little, and when asked why he had written so little he replied: "Because of the exertion it costs in the labor of composition."

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264.95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 15002 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334.80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

AN ANALYSIS

OF "REV." CARL NORTON'S LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

By Senex.

The lecture opens with platitudes of statements concerning the growth of religion amongst the peculiar people who received the direct revelation, culminating in the career of Jesus Christ.

This he elaborates with figures not always opposite or true, but the truest and only acceptable part of the lecture is that statement of religious truth which all orthodox teachers may and do constantly utter, and without which sugar-coating his lecture would not go down.

The lecturer says: "Christianity is the outgrowth of the divinely human life of Jesus Christ." Christian Science is the demonstration through Divine Science of the teaching and tenets of the great discourse of Jesus Christ, which according to the best records that we have, began with, "Wist ye not that I am about my Father's business" and ended according to St. Luke, with that divine and perpetual promise, "these signs shall follow them that believe; in My name shall they cast out devils, they shall take up serpents and, if they drink any deadly thing it shall in no wise hurt them, they shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover." The lecturer says the evangelists record that Jesus Christ taught the naturalness of goodness and purity of health or bodily harmony, and, finally, man's dominion over sin, sickness and death.

Now this lecturer begs the question when he asserts that the gift of power to His first disciples whom he sent out to establish His most holy religion was a perpetual promise. The history of Christianity proves the contrary for there never was a time when drinking a deadly thing did not hurt, or when the viper's sting was not deadly, and as to man's dominion over sin, sickness and death, history does not record that the early Christians did not sin, did not grow sick, and did not die. From Dorcas down, even the good have died and so they will, else heaven will not get its due. The lecturer uses the expression, "Christian Science" where he should simply say Christianity. Many of the facts that he asserts of Christian Science are the admitted facts and fruits of Christianity, and there is a very dishonest attempt to quell simple people by claiming for this unknown thing—this science—the accepted and unquestioned fruits of Christianity.

Then the lecturer attempts to define Christian Science. He says this Science is Christian because it issues the following emancipation proclamation to the world, "Be thou free."

Now, if he stopped there, every Christian will say that is just what Christ taught, but he goes on to put his own meaning on freedom by adding, "it is freedom from sin, suffering, sickness and death," and "this is the divine heritage to all men."

I think God did intend men to be free from the dominion of sin, but so long as we are in the flesh, there will be in the future, as in the past, suffering, sickness and death" and if the lecturer will bring all his followers to a province by themselves, he will find, though he may do without doctors and "yorbs," that he will want quite a lot of undertakers.

But our lecturer gets more exact. He says his Science is Christian, because it affirms that the religion of Jesus is a "healing religion, a great practicable demonstrable system of mental therapeutics, scientific, exact divinely ordered and of permanent value to the race." That's big talk—mental therapeutics indeed.

for healing tooth ache and rheumatis. And it's a "lost art"—lost for 1500 years until the woman of "virgin" purity, Mrs. Eddy.. discovered and founded it. My! but she was clever—and she discovered the "modus-operandi" of the healing of the Apostolic Church.

The lecturer did not say if she has patented the discovery—perhaps the difficulty in getting a patent was the fact that it was not a "new and original discovery."

During the first 300 years of Christianity, if we are not misinformed, there was "suffering, sickness and death," and some wild beasts at Ephesus and elsewhere. This lost art did not shut the lion's mouths or save the sick—they died, and Paul does not chide anyone for not relying on this lost art. In fact I understand that poor Paul was subject to "suffering, sickness and death," and the early fathers and saints have not left much record of this lost art—perhaps it was not worth mentioning.

The lecturer denies that Christ's so-called miracles were suspensions of law. Just so, they were quite natural. Anybody could do them—if they knew how—if they had Mrs. Eddy's discovery.

Because Christ demonstrated his Omnipotence by healing the sick and forgiving sin the lecturer intimates that Mrs. Eddy's followers may call upon God to do the same now, and that that this is the correct thing and not relying upon simple doctors.

Christian Science, says the lecturer, is scientific (by the way I don't remember Christ saying much about ways that were "scientific") because "it starts with a reasonable promise, rears a consistent superstructure, and proves the actuality of its conclusions." Gracious, that's just what the world cannot see, either the reasonable promise or the actuality of its conclusions. There are people toddling about our streets that the people look with great curiosity, and though they are disciples of Mrs. Eddy the healing is not apparent. And there have been some funerals here which should have been followed by coroner's inquests, for Mrs. Eddy's medicine failed when an honest, old fashioned doctor might have saved the expense of the funeral.

This science gives "ocular" evidence of certain well-developed spiritual laws. Let's see them, Lecturer, and if they are quite apparent I may take more stock in Mrs. Eddy.

"Because good is positive evil is negative, and because mind is causation what is called matter must be effect." Dear me, that's wonderful. The Devil is negative. Lots of people will be glad to hear that—and "matter is effect of causation," that is, of mind. That, too, is good news, for why go to the Klondike when mind (causation) can make the matter (nuggets) right here at our door. Oh, Mrs. Eddy, you are a jewel — why were you so long in coming?

"Universal mental causation," that's just what is wanted, perpetual motion aint nothin' to it. The world has been aching for this mental causation—and contagion of health and righteousness rather than contagion of disease and depravity. (The last I suppose is the result of negative evil microbes.)

"Matter is the externalization of the human mind." That is clear as mud—made clear by the X ray. There is some science about this thing after all.

"Christian Science scientifically dissolves a cancer and restores the waste substance of diseased lungs." Cleopatra dissolved a diamond and drank it, but that was nothing to the dissolving of cancers and patching up bad lungs.

Cleopatra wasn't in it with Mrs. Eddy.

"According to the evidence of the Science matter is not only real, but has within itself life and causation. Truth shows this to be erroneous."

Dear me, how mistaken we have been. Those nasty potato bugs and caterpillars we thought were real and had in them life and causation—but its all a mistake.

I'll send for Mrs. Eddy's key and with my bibls on one knee and the key on the other, I'll try and learn how to get rid of these bugs and worms and some original sin, and a few ailments, cancers, etc., and as sure as I strike it I'll patent it here in Canada—though it is a Yankee invention. Adieu, Rev. Carl Norton.

Many of the facts that he asserts of Christian Science are the admitted facts and fruits of Christianity, and there is a very dishonest attempt to quell simple people by claiming for this unknown thing—this science—the accepted and unquestioned fruits of Christianity.

Then the lecturer attempts to define Christian Science. He says this Science is Christian because it issues the following emancipation proclamation to the world, "Be thou free."

Now, if he stopped there, every Christian will say that is just what Christ taught, but he goes on to put his own meaning on freedom by adding, "it is freedom from sin, suffering, sickness and death," and "this is the divine heritage to all men."

I think God did intend men to be free from the dominion of sin, but so long as we are in the flesh, there will be in the future, as in the past, suffering, sickness and death" and if the lecturer will bring all his followers to a province by themselves, he will find, though he may do without doctors and "yorbs," that he will want quite a lot of undertakers.

But our lecturer gets more exact. He says his Science is Christian, because it affirms that the religion of Jesus is a "healing religion, a great practicable demonstrable system of mental therapeutics, scientific, exact divinely ordered and of permanent value to the race." That's big talk—mental therapeutics indeed.

for healing tooth ache and rheumatis. And it's a "lost art"—lost for 1500 years until the woman of "virgin" purity, Mrs. Eddy.. discovered and founded it. My! but she was clever—and she discovered the "modus-operandi" of the healing of the Apostolic Church.

The lecturer did not say if she has patented the discovery—perhaps the difficulty in getting a patent was the fact that it was not a "new and original discovery."

During the first 300 years of Christianity, if we are not misinformed, there was "suffering, sickness and death," and some wild beasts at Ephesus and elsewhere. This lost art did not shut the lion's mouths or save the sick—they died, and Paul does not chide anyone for not relying on this lost art. In fact I understand that poor Paul was subject to "suffering, sickness and death," and the early fathers and saints have not left much record of this lost art—perhaps it was not worth mentioning.

The lecturer denies that Christ's so-called miracles were suspensions of law. Just so, they were quite natural. Anybody could do them—if they knew how—if they had Mrs. Eddy's discovery.

Because Christ demonstrated his Omnipotence by healing the sick and forgiving sin the lecturer intimates that Mrs. Eddy's followers may call upon God to do the same now, and that that this is the correct thing and not relying upon simple doctors.

Christian Science, says the lecturer, is scientific (by the way I don't remember Christ saying much about ways that were "scientific") because "it starts with a reasonable promise, rears a consistent superstructure, and proves the actuality of its conclusions." Gracious, that's just what the world cannot see, either the reasonable promise or the actuality of its conclusions. There are people toddling about our streets that the people look with great curiosity, and though they are disciples of Mrs. Eddy the healing is not apparent. And there have been some funerals here which should have been followed by coroner's inquests, for Mrs. Eddy's medicine failed when an honest, old fashioned doctor might have saved the expense of the funeral.

This science gives "ocular" evidence of certain well-developed spiritual laws. Let's see them, Lecturer, and if they are quite apparent I may take more stock in Mrs. Eddy.

"Because good is positive evil is negative, and because mind is causation what is called matter must be effect." Dear me, that's wonderful. The Devil is negative. Lots of people will be glad to hear that—and "matter is effect of causation," that is, of mind. That, too, is good news, for why go to the Klondike when mind (causation) can make the matter (nuggets) right here at our door. Oh, Mrs. Eddy, you are a jewel — why were you so long in coming?

"Universal mental causation," that's just what is wanted, perpetual motion aint nothin' to it. The world has been aching for this mental causation—and contagion of health and righteousness rather than contagion of disease and depravity. (The last I suppose is the result of negative evil microbes.)

"Matter is the externalization of the human mind." That is clear as mud—made clear by the X ray. There is some science about this thing after all.

"Christian Science scientifically dissolves a cancer and restores the waste substance of diseased lungs." Cleopatra dissolved a diamond and drank it, but that was nothing to the dissolving of cancers and patching up bad lungs.

Cleopatra wasn't in it with Mrs. Eddy.

"According to the evidence of the Science matter is not only real, but has within itself life and causation. Truth shows this to be erroneous."

Dear me, how mistaken we have been. Those nasty potato bugs and caterpillars we thought were real and had in them life and causation—but its all a mistake.

I'll send for Mrs. Eddy's key and with my bibls on one knee and the key on the other, I'll try and learn how to get rid of these bugs and worms and some original sin, and a few ailments, cancers, etc., and as sure as I strike it I'll patent it here in Canada—though it is a Yankee invention. Adieu, Rev. Carl Norton.

The Veterns Here.

Messrs. Drum Major Bourne and J. R. Grey, of Her Majesty's Army and Navy Veterans are in town today, making arrangements for the annual excursion of that corp, which will be run this year to Peterborough on the 28th of June. The two gentlemen are pleased with the appearance of the town and have completed all preliminary details for the event.

A MIGHTY HARD PROBLEM.

The One of Inventing a Bottle That Can't Be Refilled.

"I read a little interview not long ago," said a New Orleans grocer, "with a man who purported to give some particulars concerning the much talked of nonrefillable bottle problem. He said, among other things, that there was a standing reward of $10,000 for a practical solution, and I had to smile to note how a fable, once set adrift, is continually vitalized by repetition. I happen to know something about the bottle question, and I can state positively and authoritatively that there has never been a reward of $10,000 or any other amount for such a device.

"The impression probably originated with a circular that was prepared years ago by a convention of northern distillers. It was designed for the information of inventors and stated briefly and clearly just what was essential to a practical nonrefillable bottle—what the working part should be made of, what tests it should be able to sustain, what it should cost in quantity, and so on. I doubt whether there is now a copy of that circular in existence, but it unquestionably gave rise to the story that the whisky men of the country were hot after a bottle that couldn't be refilled and had offered an enormous reward for the same.

"The Lord only knows how many lives have been wrecked by that yarn Next to perpetual motion it has been the great asylum feeder of the mechanical world. The problem looks easy enough on the surface and upward of 50 patents have been taken out on different devices, but none of them works under all conditions. The favorite scheme is a ball valve which would be closed automatically by pressure from above, but it is readily worked by a wire or an air pump.

"At first the liquor men and makers of proprietary remedies that were largely counterfeited encouraged inventors in the line, but after repeated failures they finally came to the conclusion that the thing couldn't be done and have given it up altogether. Nevertheless the cranks still persevere, and every now and then one reads of a new bottle that works like a charm. But you never see them on the shelves, and I make bold to say you never will."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Poet.

Miss Quizzer—Is there any infallible test of a poet's greatness, or is that something concerning which every one must form his own opinion?

Critic—There is an infallible test. When a poet can make grammatical errors and have his admirers try to show how they add clearness to his meaning and beauty to his diction, then he is undeniably great.—Chicago News.

HAS A STRONG CASE.

London Times on Alaska Boundary Arbitration.

ACRID AMERICAN COMMENT.

They Are Trying to Prejudice Canada's Side of the Case, and They Are Resentful Because the Dominion Has a Will of Her Own—How the Matter Really Stands.

London, May 29.—The Times this morning publishes a special article explaining all aspects of the Alaskan boundary dispute. It believes that England's case is very strong and that she has every interest in going to arbitration, provided the terms of reference are satisfactory, adding that the Venezuelan precedent might fairly be accepted on both sides. The article speaks favorably of the compromise plan for internationalizing the wharf at Skaguay and the White Pass road as far as the Canadian frontier.

The Big Island Pleased.

St. John's, Nfld., May 29.—The announcement of the failure of the joint high commission negotiations gives general satisfaction here, because it will enable the colony to resume independent negotiations with the United States for reciprocity in fishery products, which the Americans are desirous to concede in return for unhampered admission to the bait supply in Newfoundland waters. It is believed here that, in view of Canada's fault, the British Government will not object to Newfoundland making a separate arrangement.

"THE EXACT STATUS."

How the Americans View the Question of a Reference to Arbitration of the Alaskan Boundary.

Washington, May 29.—To clear up misunderstandings which appear to exist both in London and to some extent in this country, as to the exact status of the negotiations between the United States and Great Britain respecting Canadian-American issues, the following statement of the occurrences which led to the present condition of affairs has been secured from the best of authority:

When the joint high commissionn adjourned it was because it had reached an apparently insurmountable obstacle in the shape of the Alaskan boundary question. After the adjournment the two Governments took up this question with a view to settling it and thus removing it from the path of the many other important issues involved. There were numerous delays, owing to the need of exchanging views between London, Washington and Ottawa, and the authorities here became convinced that an adjustment was hopeless.

But the feeling in London was more hopeful, and when Sir Julian Pauncefote reached London on his way to The Hague he held conferences with Lord Salisbury, which resulted in a definite proposal for settling the boundary issue and removing it as an obstacle to the work of the commission. The chief point of this proposal was that a separate tribunal of arbitration should pass on the boundary question. It was communicated to Ambassador Choate and by him to the State Department.

Canada Makes a Condition.

Just as the acceptance was about to be given, the officials here were surprised to have presented what they regarded as an extraordinary condition, which Canada imposed in connection with the submission of the question to arbitration. This condition was that, in any event, Canada should have Pyramid Harbor and a strip of territory in the Lynn Canal, without reference to the general conclusions reached by the tribunal of arbitration. This port and the strip of territory on the coast would have carried also the back country leading to the interior. It was decided not to accept this condition, and a peremptory refusal was given to the proposition. Thus the matter stands. If it is withdrawn, arbitration may yet be arranged as a means of settling the boundary. The opinion in the highest quarters seems to be positive that without some such adjustment of the boundary matter the resumption of work by the joint high commission on the many other topics considered is impossible.

PUBLISH THE PROTOCOLS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Cannot Either Affirm or Deny American Report.

Ottawa, May 29.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was last night seen with reference to the statement from Washington that the Canadian commissioners demanded Pyramid Harbor before they would submit the Alaska boundary question to arbitration. He said that he was not at liberty to say anything beyond what he had already stated, for publication, and that he could not make any additional statement until the protocols were published. He added that he regretted that permission to publish the protocols relating to the Alaska boundary question had not been given, as their publication would have prevented several misstatements being made in the American press, some of which had been officially contradicted. As this question had been removed from those before the commission by its being referred by the commission to their respective Governments, he could see no reason why the protocols relating to it should not be made public.

DREYFUS' RETRIAL.

It Is to Be by a Second Court-Martial Held Outside of Paris.

London, May 29.—A special despatch from Paris, received here, says the Government officially announced that Dreyfus will be re-tried by a court-martial, the sitting of which will be held in a garrison town distant from Paris.

The proceedings in the case will be public, although the greater part of the court room has been reserved for ticket-holders. The procedure will consist of the reading of the report of M. Ballot de Beaupre, followed by a speech by Maitre Mornard, counsel for Madame Dreyfus, and the address of the public prosecutor, M. Manau. The court will then retire to deliberate upon a verdict, which it is expected will be rendered on Friday or Saturday.

Officers Are Barred.

Paris, May 29.—The Minister for War, M. Camille Krantz, has issued stringent orders that no officers, either in civilian costume or in uniform, shall frequent the Palace of Justice or its precincts this week, during the public hearing of the demand for a revision of the Dreyfus trial and during the trial before the Court of Assize of MM. Paul Deroulede and Marcel-Habert on the charge of provoking offences against the security of the state and inciting the army to mutiny.

PEACE CONFERENCE.

Not a Great Deal Was Done at The Hague Saturday.

The Hague, May 29.—The sections of the committee on the laws of warfare, charged to deal with the subject of the Brussels conference of 1874, on Saturday studied articles 23 and 24, which deal with prisoners of war, and it was agreed to adopt the articles with slight verbal amendments.

The concert of the municipality of The Hague in the evening was a brilliant affair.

Arbitration Recommended.

Minneapolis, May 29.—A good attendance marked the final session of the Presbyterian general assembly on Saturday. An address to the international peace conference was adopted, recommending an international court of arbitration. The State clerk said he would forward the address next week, with a similar one from the Alliance of Presbyterian Churches of the World, representing millions of Christians.

Russia After English Money.

London, May 29.—The Statist says an attempt is being made in London to raise a Russian railroad loan of £3,000,000 at 4 per cent. and at an issue price of 99. The paper advises British investors not to furnish Russia with money to "carry on her anti-British policy in China."

Another Vessel Ashore.

Halifax, May 29.—The steamer Lady Glover, Captain Hutt, which sailed from Halifax Saturday morning for the coast of Newfoundland and Labrador, ran ashore at Jeddere, 100 miles east of Halifax, in a thick fog early yesterday morning.

The Swap Denied.

London, May 29.—The report credited to The China Gazette of Shanghai that Great Britain has agreed to transfer Weihaiwei to Germany two years hence in return for German concessions in South Africa is denied here.

A FILIPINO REVIVAL.

During Rainy Season They Will Give U. S. Much Trouble.

THEIR AGGRESSIVE ACTIVITY.

Natives Keep United States Troops in Trenches, Sleeping in Their Clothing, and Constantly on the Alert—At Washington the Worst Is Feared—Major Diggles Dead.

Manila, May 29.—The approach of the wet season finds the insurrection seemingly taking a new lease of life. All along the American lines the rebels are showing more aggressive activity, in their guerilla style, than at any time before since the fall of Malolos. They keep the United States troops in trenches, sleeping in their clothing, and constantly on the alert against dashes upon the outposts, and they make life warm for the American garrisons in the towns.

The Worst Is Feared.

Washington, May 29.—General Greeley yesterday received a cablegram from Major Thompson at Manila, reporting that a party landing for the repair of the cable at Escalante, Island of Negros, had been attacked by natives; that Capt. George H. Tilley, Signal Corps, is missing, and that the worst is feared.

MAJOR DIGGLES DEAD.

He Was Wounded in the Head by Filipinos on May 8.

Manila, May 29.—Major A. M. Diggles of the 13th Minnesota Regiment, who was wounded in the head while reconnoitering May 8, at a point near San Miguel, and who was brought to the hospital here, is dead.

Would Work Macabebees.

Manila, May 29.—General MacArthur is in favor of the experiment of enlisting Macabebees against their old enemiets, the Tagalogs.

A delegation of the leading Macabebees has visited the General, and its spokesman read an address, assuring the American commander of the friendship of the Macabebees and of their willingness to transfer their allegiance from Spain to the United States. They complained that the Tagalogs murdered them and burned their villages, and they asked to be protected and given arms to protect themselves.

GOVERNMENT MEDIATION.

The G.T.R. Strike Discussed in Parliament — Incidents of the Strike at Napanee, Kingston and Elsewhere.

Napanee, May 29.—The G.T.R. brought 11 laborers from Victoria Bridge and placed them at Napanee, along with five Frenchmen brought from Montreal and sworn in at Kingston as special constables, whose duty would be to guard the above laborers, who were to patrol the track. When morning arrived these men positively refused to go over the track, stating that they were not trackmen, but bridgemen, and would not do trackmen's work or take their places under any consideration.

On arrival at Napanee about 7 o'clock Saturday evening and applying for accommodation none of the hotels or boarding houses would either give them lodging or supper, nor would the merchants of the town supply provisions, so strong is their sympathy with the striking trackmen. Provisions for the laborers were finally procured from Belleville.

Three Coach Loads.

Kingston, Ont., May 29.—Three coach loads of men reached here Saturday to work on the G.T.R. The men have all gone save six, who say they did not engage as trackmen but as blacksmiths and bridge builders. Police Magistrate Louff has sworn in Montreal men to act as special constables on the line.

Situation at Montreal.

Montreal, May 29.—The situation in the matter of the Grand Trunk strike remains, so far as can be learned, in statu quo. All sorts of reports are afloat regarding further movements, but nothing can be learned definitely. The Grand Trunk people will only say that the men's places are being rapidly filled all along the line.

Matter Serious at Hamilton.

Hamilton, May 29.—The strike of the G.T.R. trackmen is taking a serious aspect here. Engineers and firemen of the road attended the meeting of the local strikers yesterday afternoon and afterwards sent a telegram to the management of the road at Montreal, to the effect that if there is not better protection against accidents given them on the line they will strike. The strikers are more determined than ever that all their demands shall be acceded to before they return.

Word has been received from the Minister of Justice that no action will be taken with regard to the importation of aliens, in view of the fact that the international commission last year agreed that the alien law in Canada shall remain in abeyance. Until United States officials violate this understanding, Hon. D. Mills says there will be no prosecution in Canada.

The Strike in the House.

Ottawa, May 29.—In the House on Saturday Mr. E. F. Clarke referred to the strike upon the Grand Trunk, and suggested Government interference for the protection and safety of the travelling public. Hon. Mr. Blair, while expressing sympathy with the men, thought the duty did not devolve upon the Government or department of interfering, and hoped the difficulty would be settled. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who spoke in a sympathetic strain, was doubtful as to the prudence of Government interference at present, but intimated that if the strike continued and the opportunity offered, the Government would not be averse to assisting in bringing about a settlement of the difficulty.

"One Good Turn Deserves Another."

It is so easy to go through life doing good and helping to make others happy. A lady who had been ill with a complication of troubles, having been thoroughly cured and now enjoying perfect health, felt it a duty to tell her friends that the specific that brought her back to health was Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Thus, after Hood's had served her well, she felt it deserved a good turn at her hands. Thousands tell the same story of blood purified and health restored. Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses merit peculiar to itself.

Sick Headache—"For a long time I was troubled with sick headaches. Different medicines failed to give me relief. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, my husband having been cured of salt rheum by it, and soon it made me feel like a new woman." MRS. ROBERT MCAFEE, Deerhurst, Ont.

Impure Blood—"My wife suffered with pain and distress from an affection of the throat caused by impure blood. She was almost in despair when she turned to Hood's Sarsaparilla. Six bottles of this medicine completely cured her." JOHN WECHNAR, Galt, Ont.

Back Ache—"My mother had severe pains in her side and back. She was obliged to give up work. A friend persuaded her to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon she was able to do her work, free from pain and had a good appetite." MAGGIE MORGAN, Nasonworth, N. B.

No Strength—"My whole system was run down. I was weak and could hardly get around to do my work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and after using five bottles I found that my strength had returned and appetite much improved." MRS. KELLEY, 318 Dufferin Street, Toronto, Ont.

Nerve Food—"My wife was stricken with nervous prostration. She suffered from headaches. She became weak, low-spirited and her appetite was poor. I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured her of all her ailments." G. BELLAMY, 321 Hannah St., Hamilton, Ont.

REDISTRIBUTION.

Say whatever the Conservative papers choose, the principle of the Redistribution Bill, now before the House of Commons, is based on the principle of the maintenance of county and city boundaries, and having the representation as fairly adjusted as possible within these boundaries, the work of division to be of an entirely non-partisan character—done by a committee of judges. This is the British practice as carried out in the redistributions of 1832, 1867 and 1884, as has been expressed in these words: "Take the county as far as practicable; divide the county, when it is divided, so as to equalize population." The chief objection, however, to the present Redistribution Bill in the eyes of the Conservative Opposition is that it restores the county boundaries, and that the judges having to equalize the population will do the work fairly and honestly.

The charge is made that some of the group constituencies, in counties, constituted by the new Redistribution Bill are under-represented, because they are Conservative in complexion. Simcoe County is quoted as one of the examples. Look at the matter a moment. Under the Conservative gerrymander the three ridings dubbed Simcoe were composed of the municipal county of Simcoe spliced with patches from no fewer than three adjoining counties, and contained a total population of 84,828 according to the excellent atlas of constituencies compiled by the late Government in 1895. This would give an average of 28,276 to each representative, without any pretence of representation by population, now become so dear to Conservatives. On the contrary, this principle was completely ignored, for, while South Simcoe had a population of 20,824, with 5,233 names on its revised lists, East Simcoe had a population of 35,801, with 10,052 names of voters on the revised list — that is 5,000 voters elected a member in the one case and 10,000 in the other. North Simcoe had a population of 28,203 with 7,010 names on the revised lists. The three ridings, if arithmetically divided, would have had an average of 28,000 population to a member in-instead of one riding having fifteen thousand more than another. Under the new Liberal bill the three ridings created in the real Simcoe (within the county boundaries) will have with a total population of 79,000, an average of 26,333 population to a representative, that is to the judges divide the county into suitable parts, which they will recommend do.

The principle of [illegible] a certain [illegible] in the [illegible] of a matter [illegible] importance to the preservation [illegible] boundaries, as Sir John [illegible] held, [illegible] Bill [illegible] by the Opposition [illegible] is indefensible and a [illegible] the gerrymander, and a matter [illegible] the gerrymander of the [illegible] is not to [illegible] Government [illegible] under [illegible] boundaries retention principle, whilst the framers of the gerrymander had full swing; they could cut and carve, pare off here and add there at their own sweet will; there was nothing to prevent them having a balance of population in the ridings almost ideal if that had been their aim, instead of strengthening their party and injuring the Liberals, which were the aim and result of the gerrymander. A few few instances by way of comparison, or, rather, contrast, may be given to show how uniformity of population in ridings was preserved by the gerrymander. Contrast Essex North with 31,523 of population and Frontenac with 13,445; contrast Elgin with 26,724 and South Grenville with 12,929; contrast Kent with 31,434 with North Leeds and Grenville, 13,521; contrast West York with 41,857 with Wentworth, 14,591. And similar discrepant conditions exist throughout the whole list of ridings under the gerrymander, when there was, with a free hand in shuffling the municipalities regardless of county boundaries, an opportunity of equal division of the population of ridings.

TOO BUSY TO TAKE ORDERS.

Complaint is made sometimes that the Government procures certain articles outside of Canada. This practice on principle to be condemned, but it is justly subject to exception when good government co-operating with other causes has made Canadian industries so busy that they cannot supply an insistent demand. In the House of Commons in reply to a question of Mr. Clarke, the Minister of Railways stated that ten palace and sleeping cars were ordered by the Government for the Intercolonial Railway between January 1, 1898, and April 1, 1899. The orders were given to the Crossen Car Company for eight of these cars and the Wagner Palace Car Company for the others. Fourteen thousand and forty-five dollars each was paid for five sleepers, $19,940.80 each for eight sleepers, and $9,800 for each of three parlour cars. The cars recently ordered were obtained from the Wagner Palace Car Company after tenders asked for and obtained from several large firms in the United States. The department, before making a contract with United States manufacturers, applied to the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railway Companies, Messrs. Crossen & Company, and Messrs. Rhodes, Curry & Company for offers. The two last mentioned firms declined to offer for these cars on the ground that the orders they had then on hand from the Intercolonial Railway were all they could fill within the time allowed. The first two companies would not undertake the work, as their shops were overcrowded with their own work. The department needed these cars for the opening of the tourist season, this spring, and had no alternative but to place these orders with the Wagner Palace Car Company, whose tenders were the lowest of the United States firms. No one will reasonably object to going to the United States or other countries for urgently needed work which Canadian concerns are too busy to supply.

When farmers and shippers learn that British prices for Canadian produce govern the prices at home, they will take more care than is now their practice in preparing their shipments for the British market.—Toronto News.

This, remarks the London Advertiser, is good advice and true, every word of it. But is it good tactics on the part of a Conservative paper to tell the farmer that the price of his products is fixed abroad? The farmer may well ask, If the tariff cannot increase the price of what I sell, and only increases the price of what I buy, wherein is the tariff to my advantage?

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

FOUND THE ZEALANDIA

First News of a Steamer Lost 18 Years Ago.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., May 29.—The propeller Zealand, which disappeared after leaving Port Dalhousie in a storm 18 years ago, has just been found by divers of the Donnelly Salvage Company while searching Lake Ontario for the Tug Walker of the Ontario Transportation Company, sunk last fall. The Zealand plied the St. Lawrence and was loaded with pork and iron. The steamer remains intact, and will be raised, the wreckers claiming ownership. She was valued at $60,000. Capt. Harry Zealand and his crew of Hamilton went down on her.

Eight People Were Killed.

Waterloo, Iowa, May 29.—The through train from Chicago to Minneapolis over the Rock Island & Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern Railway was wrecked at 1.15 Sunday morning at the crossing of [illegible] Creek, about four miles southeast of this town. Eight persons were killed and ten injured. A cloudburst had washed the sand and gravel roadbed, leaving the track unsupported for a stretch of 30 feet. The rails held the ties held together. The engine struck the washout and was derailed to the east, the tender the track, and behind it the cars were piled up in a confused heap.

SENT THE GRITS AWAY

SO THAT THEY COULD NOT VOTE, AND GAVE PASSES WHOLESALE TO CONSERVATIVES.

Revelation Made at Ottawa—A Scandalous Abuse of Power.

Ottawa, May 26.—The report of Commissioner Wilson, who held the investigation into the Intercolonial Railway matters, resulting in the dismissal of Peter S. Archibald, Chief Engineer, states that previous to the general elections of 1896, Mr. D. Pottinger, General Manager of the road, agreed with two divisional superintendents that in the Government's interests the employees of the road should be controlled. A list was accordingly made and the political leanings of each employee marked opposite his name. Then on election day George M. Jarvis, a despatcher, acting under written instructions from Mr. Reznels, one of the divisional superintendents, sent out the Liberals, so that they could not vote. Mr. Price, the other divisional superintendents, also did some moving round. Mr. Jarvis objected to the work, but Mr. Archibald said it had to be done. Archibald also sent another man 150 miles away to settle a $50 bill for the railway, that had been standing some years.

PASSES GALORE.

The pass record had been imperfectly kept, 1,427 passes being missing. The column, "Why issued" had not been filled up. Archibald had given out a large number without authority. Most of the passes issued for election purposes were sent in bundles of 25, 50 or 75 to Charles P. Hillson, of Amherst, N.S., who was supplied with them under an order from Mr. Archibald, in response to his request for 25 or 50 "M ahingles."

In some cases 203 passes carried 430 people, and another set of 157 passes carried 302 people. The summary is that 2,575 people were transported during the campaign for election purposes, the fact being established by sworn statements of the railway officials.

WORSE THAN YELLOW FEVER

Kidney Disease, Man's Deadliest Foe—Dodd's Kidney Pills its Only Cure.

Toronto, May 15. — "Yellow fever and smallpox combined do not kill as many people as Kidney Disease does." was the assertion of a prominent physician, recently.

The assertion is fully borne out by facts, and were it not that there is a means of checking and curing Kidney disease the number of its victims would be trebled.

But the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills keeps the death rate from this complaint quite low compared to its former height.

If Dodd's Kidney Pills were used in every case of Kidney Disease there would be no deaths from it.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

Prospect of High Commission Reassembling in August.

SIR CHAS. TUPPER'S PROPOSAL.

To Expedite the Work of the Session He Would Have the Redistribution Bill Withdrawn—Premier Opposed to Making Any Change in Plan Regarding That Important Measure.

Ottawa, May 29.—On Saturday in the House, Sir Henri Joly introduced a bill respecting the inspection of petroleum and naphtha, and one to amend the General Inspection Act with respect to the inspection of wheat.

The Minister of Agriculture denied that his words regarding the packing of apples for the Old Country would bear the construction that he charged the farmers with fraudulent packing. The packing had been done by jobbers.

The American Negotiations.

After routine, Sir Charles Tupper brought up the question of the Anglo-American commission. He said the statement made by the Premier the previous day that the reassembling of the commission depended upon the Alaskan boundary question being removed from the arena of discussion by the diplomatic action of the two Governments removed the difficulty he had felt in talking of the matter. From the inception of this question he (Sir Charles) had treated it as one above and beyond party. He read with great satisfaction that the peace commission assembled at The Hague has practically agreed to Sir Julian Pauncefote's proposal of a board of international arbitration for the settlement of questions of controversy between nations, and as the United States and Great Britain were parties to the peace conference, it would be most unreasonable to suppose they would not agree to submit the Alaska boundary question to arbitration. He assumed, therefore, that at this moment we could look hopefully forward to the reassembling of the Anglo-American commission on the 2nd of August. Sir Charles then dealt with an article in The New York Sun of May 14, which stated that the difficulty with respect to the Anglo-American conference reaching a satisfactory conclusion was with the Conservative party, which embarrasses the Government in dealing with these questions. Sir Charles said that all he (Sir Charles) had stated in the House, or out of it, was quite at variance with that statement.

For instance, there was the statement that Canada occupies the position which rendered her absolutely independent of the United States; then, although it is most desirable these questions should be settled on a fair and satisfactory basis, such, fortunately for us, is our position that we are not compelled to make any undue concessions to our great neighbors to the south. That statement was the strongest card the commissioners could play. Then there was the power which Parliament had already given the Government to impose an export duty on pulp wood, logs and nickel matte. He had held that by exercising that power we could cut off the supply from which the Americans manufacture a large part of the paper used in the world, and transfer its manufacture to Canada, where we had an enormous advantage by reason of our great water power and transportation facilities. As to mining rights, Canada was in the position that it was of more importance for Americans to obtain mining privileges in Canada than for Canadians to have similar privileges in the United States, so that it was in the interests of the United States to assimilate the mining laws of the two countries so as to make their privileges common. We had, also, the advantage of practically controlling the supply of nickel. Therefore, taking all these questions into consideration, it would be seen that the attitude of the Conservative party upon them would not only not interfere with the British commissioners during the negotiations, but was calculated to strengthen their hands when the negotiations should be resumed.

This being the case, his object in mentioning these matters was that he proposed to meet the leader of the Government with a flag of truce, to suggest means by which Sir Wilfrid would be left more free to proceed with the work of the commission, which he regarded as no mere party question. He would suggest that, under the circumstances, Sir Wilfrid should withdraw the redistribution bill, have it published for the benefit of the country, and allow the business of the session to be promptly closed by the disposing of all the other questions now before the House, in order that the Government might give the necessary care and attention to the work of the commission, and furnish themselves with the most minute information to strengthen the case with which they were charged. However, he would not expect the leader of the House to reply at once.

In conclusion, Sir Charles observed he was sure the leader of the Government would vindicate him from the charge in The New York Sun that the modus vivendi proposed by the United States would have been accepted by the British commissioners but for the fear of the hostility of the Conservative party, because, when Sir Wilfrid consulted him in reference to what Canada proposed, he had given him assurance of hearty support in the attitude the Government had assumed. He hoped, too, the Government would receive his suggestion in the spirit in which it was offered, and give it the consideration to which it was clearly entitled.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Statement.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—Mr. Speaker, we on this side of the House may be pardoned, I am sure, for some feeling of satisfaction at the language just spoken by my hon. friend (Sir Charles Tupper). The wisdom of the course which I took in the month of February, instead of breaking suddenly the negotiations of the Anglo-American commission, has been fully vindicated by what the hon. gentleman has just said. If I were allowed to refer to a past debate I might call the attention of the House to the fact that in the debate on the address my hon. friend took a very different position, and stated that the moment we could not come to an agreement with our fellow-commissioners representing the United States we should have broken negotiations and come home. We thought that this course was not the course which should be followed under the circumstances.

Sir Charles Tupper—But that is practically what you did, judging from your statements in the House on Friday. You said you would not go on with the negotiations until the other questions were removed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—When we left we referred the question of the Alaska boundary to our respective Governments, and stated then to the world that it would be useless to reassemble unless this matter had been disposed of. I stated at the time to my hon. friend and to the House on more than one occasion that the matter had been referred to the respective Governments, American and British, and that we were to reassemble on the 2nd of August. But, what would have been the use of reassembling on the 2nd of August or any other time if the very questions which we had not been able to agree on were then to be found in the same position as before?

We would not proceed with the other matters needing consideration, but we hoped that when we assembled again on the 2nd of August the British and the American Governments, by their respective authorities, would have been able to perform what we had not been able to perform; that is to say, settle the question of the Alaskan boundary. We thought that, of all the measures that had been referred to us, that was the most important. We might have gone on with some other questions, but, pending that, we thought it would not be advisable in the best interests of Canada to proceed with other questions. If that question could have been settled one way or the other, we could have proceeded with other questions, giving more or receiving more, as the question was settled one way or the other. There were only two ways of settling it. One was by compromise.

We did not agree as to the location of the boundary which has been defined by the treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia. We, representing Great Britain, and the Americans, representing Russia, did not agree as to the location of the boundary on the ground. We claimed that the boundary passed at one point, while the Americans contended that it passed at another. If we could compromise by giving and taking, I say without hesitation, the manner in which we would settle it by giving more and accepting less would be of material aid in the solution of other questions before us, either one way or the other. But we could not come to an understanding upon that question, and there was nothing to do but to refer it to arbitration. We cannot, of course, force our fellow-commissioners to come to an understanding with us.

But there is one thing that must be done—if we cannot come to an understanding, the matter should be referred to arbitration. When it is referred to arbitration, it is then out of the way, and we can resume our sitting and go on with the other questions. I shall regret very much if the matter has to be referred to arbitration, instead of our reaching a compromise. I should prefer to have a fair and honorable compromise, by which both parties would relinquish claims in order to have a settlement.

Having taken that ground, I may proceed to say that if this matter of the Alaskan boundary is removed from the questions entrusted to the commission, and if we resume our negotiations upon matters still remaining over, and there are some of great moment, I say frankly that I do not expect that we can settle them all perhaps as I would like them to be settled myself, to the extreme limit of our rights and pretensions; but I have hopes that we can settle the most, if not all, of those questions, in an honorable and satisfactory manner to both countries. I do not expect that we can get all that we are contending for, but I expect that we can make an honorable settlement, such a settlement as will intensify the good feeling which now prevails between Great Britain and the United States.

Now I can acquit my hon. friend altogether from the aspersions made upon him by the editor of The Sun. I can say that anything he has done or has not done had nothing to do with the non-success of the negotiations. But I must take exception, at all events, to the suggestion which he made to us. I do not believe that either in the future or in the past any policy of retaliation towards the United States would have any effect or will have any effect in settling our difficulties with them. But I am quite as much in earnest as my hon. friend himself in this respect, that we must stand upon our rights and upon our dignity, but standing upon our rights and upon our dignity does not call upon us to enter upon a policy of hostility to the United States. Even though the United States sometimes try our patience very much, even though they sometimes more than try our patience, still I think it would be the part of wisdom in us under such circumstances to continue to be patient and not allow ourselves to be moved by any sentiment of irritation.

If we resume our negotiations, as I believe we shall, I think we are in a fair way of making a treaty which can be settled in a very few days.

Now my hon. friend led up to a conclusion for which I must say I was not prepared. He made these international negotiations a basis upon which to ask us to withdraw the redistribution bill. Well, the ground is a broad one for such a request. For the present I must say that I am not prepared to withdraw the redistribution bill. I am quite prepared to consider his suggestion. I owe to him, occupying the position he does in this House, I owe it to him to place the matter before my colleagues and before my party, and we will give it the best consideration. But if we are to spend the summer at Ottawa, I do not think it will be in the legitimate discussion of the redistribution bill. Although I think the bill is drawn upon a fair basis, I do not pretend that all its details are perfect; I do not know that we may not be able to make some improvement in it, and to that end we will listen to the suggestions that are made to us. All this is a matter for consideration in the committee.

But I say that the measure as it has been proposed is one which is fair in its terms, and which ought to win the commendation of both sides of the House. I do not see why, if the measure should receive a fair criticism, it should not be disposed of in a few days. But the hon. gentleman has made me a suggestion which, I repeat, coming from one having the authority which he has in this House, resting not only upon his official position, but upon his long experience and long service in Parliament, a suggestion I intend for my part to treat with great respect, and I shall ask my friends as well to give it their best consideration. But more than this, I know my hon. friend does not expect me to say to-day.

Farmer Conlin Killed.

Grand Valley, Ont., May 29.—James Conlin, a well-to-do farmer, living about half a mile north of here, was almost instantly killed on Friday evening, and his son Harry, a young man 19 years of age, is in a precarious state. It appears that they were engaged in drawing manure, when the team, driven by Harry, became unmanageable and ran away. The father, seeing the danger of his son, ran to the rescue, and was struck by the tongue of the wagon, and only lived a few minutes.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. After Serious Sickness

THE HEART AND NERVES NEED STRENGTHENING—THE BLOOD REQUIRES ENRICHING.

Nothing will do this like Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

After such serious diseases as Typhoid Fever, Scarlet Fever, Pneumonia, Diphtheria, La Grippe, etc., the heart and nerves are left in an extremely weakened condition, and the blood is thin and watery.

Getting back health and strength again seems slow work.

At this time there is nothing that will help a convalescent to health like Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They impart vitality to the heart and nerves, enrich the blood and invigorate the whole system. Since the recent epidemic of Grippe, thousands of people have not regained their strength—don't feel their old self yet. A few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will banish all the evil after effects of this disease and rapidly restore health and animation. Mr. T. Barnicott, with Messrs. Hutchinson & Thompson, Aylmer, Ont., made the following statement:

"About a year ago I was quite sick with La Grippe, which left my system in an exhausted condition.

"I could not regain strength and was very nervous and sleepless at night, getting up in the morning as tired and unrefreshed as when I went to bed. I was very listless, had no energy, and was altogether in a miserable state of health.

"Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I got at Richard's Drug Store, changed me from a condition of misery to one of bright and happy healthfulness.

"They built up my system, strengthened my nerves, restored vigorous circulation of the blood, and in fact made a new man of me. They are a splendid remedy for all enfeebled and nervous conditions, and I heartily recommend them to any one suffering from the after effects of Grippe."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure Palpitation, Dizzy and Faint Spells, Shortness of Breath, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Anaemia, Dyspepsia, St. Vitus Dance, Partial Paralysis, Female Troubles, Weakness and General Debility.

Sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25, T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1898 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Conductor Morris Honoured.

The Belleville Sun says: Conductor William H. Morris, of Lindsay, is the general favourite of all the youngsters about the station, and the other day they decided to give him an ovation on his arrival. When the train came in he was met by about 100 boys fantastically attired, and led by Master Tom Gorman, who was a fierce representative of a wild scalp hunter, to a chariot, gorgeously decorated, waiting, and to this the amazed conductor was escorted and seated in it. He was then presented with a Union Jack and a bouquet and was drawn in state to a nearby lot, where a boxing tournament was given for his entertainment. The boy "Billy" was supposed to outline the matter very mildly, but he managed to find words to make a very neat speech to the boys.

WEDDED IN BUFFALO.

Former Peterborough Citizen enters Benedictine Bonds.

On Thursday, May 18th, 1899, Mr. E. Round, now of Buffalo, but formerly mechanical manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company's station, was united in marriage to Mrs. Olive Kellett, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. A. Scrimshaw, 698 Humboldt Parkway, Buffalo, by Rev. A. Scrimshaw, pastor of the Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Round will reside at the Falls.

THE INFORMATION WITHDRAWN.

Fred Stabler of Smith did not Have to Stand his trial

The trial of Fred Stabler, of Smith, charged with the seduction of Ida May Cummings, did not go on when it was called by County Magistrate Edmison this afternoon.

County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood stated that a satisfactory arrangement had been arrived at between the parties, and asked that the withdrawal of the information be allowed. The Magistrate agreed to this and the matter accordingly went no further.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

The fleet of steam launches on the Otonabee waters will shortly be increased by the addition of an elegant new yacht, which is being built by the Peterborough Canoe Company for Mr. C. B. McAllister, of town. The new boat will be 32 feet long by 7 feet beam, and will be driven by a 6 h.p. gasoline engine,

The steamer North Star and Eclipse arrived at the wharf Saturday morning. Both boats had a considerable number of passengers.

The Beaver made her first trip of the season to-day, when she will go to Keene to bring a load of cattle to Sugar Island.

The City of Peterborough is expected to commence work about the first of June.

The Auburn Union Sunday School ran an excursion to Jubilee Point on May 24th, per steamer Eclipse. A most enjoyable time was spent at the point in games, football and boating.

Mr. Dan Foley was up from the point Saturday and says that Jubilee never looked better than it does this season. The ball grounds are in excellent condition and everything points to a good season.

Sandy Smith, who has been down at Ford's Landing for a week or so, came up on the Star on Saturday morning. Sandy has been running the steam yacht "Alma," recently owned by the late Mr. Webber, for Mr. Braithwaite, who has purchased the little launch. Mr. Braithwaite runs a summer house at the Landing.

PETERBOROUGH LOCK COMPANY.

Shareholders Meeting—Dividend of Three Per Cent.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company, was held on Saturday afternoon. The directors presented a statement of the business of the company, for the past five months, which was extremely satisfactory to the shareholders. A dividend of three per cent will be declared payable on June 30th.

It is understood to be the intention of the company to add some new machinery and extend the manufacturing facilities of the company and with this object in view, Mr. M. Riley is at present in the United States looking up the necessary machinery.

It is very gratifying that one of our most important industries is increasing its output, facilities and profits.

DEATH OF EDWARD LYNCH.

It Occured at St. Joseph's Hospital Yesterday Morning.

The many friends of Mr. Edward J. Lynch will learn with regret of his untimely demise. The deceased was taken to St. Joseph's hospital on Monday last suffering from obstruction of the bowels, and on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock passed peacefully to his eternal rest.

The deceased was twenty-five years of age and was the son of Mrs. James Lynch, No. 672 Stewart street. He had been an employee of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company for about ten years, and until the time he took sick, a little over a week ago was still in the employ of that institution.

He was of a quiet disposition and was a general favourite with all who knew him. Deceased was a brother of Mr. Fred Lynch, who this spring left for Nelson, B.C.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from the family residence, Stewart street, interment taking place in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

MARRIED.

ROUND—KELLETT—On Thursday, May 18th, 1899, at the residence of the bride's sister (Mrs. A. Scrimshaw, No. 698 Humboldt Parkway, Buffalo), by Rev. A. Scrimshaw, Methodist minister, E. Round, of that city, formerly of Peterborough, to Mrs. Olive Kellett, of Peterborough.

SERPENT AND EGG MOUND.

Another one Discovered near Rice Lake.

Mr. Johnston Paudash, of Hiawatha, was in town Saturday and states that he has discovered another serpent and egg mound at Rice Lake. The mound is situated near Gore's Landing and is 650 feet long and 16 feet across. It is more perfect than those previously discovered and the serpent has an egg on either side of it. Judging by appearances it has never been opened.

The Historical Society, of which both Chief Paudash and his son Johnston, are members, will probably charter a boat and take a party to the mound early in June.

REV. A. H. RANTON IN GEORGE ST. CHURCH.

HIS TEXT WAS "THE WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH."

The Evangelist Makes an Important Visit to Peterborough and is Invited to Take an Evening Service.

Rev. Mr. Ranton, the evangelist, happened to be in the George street Methodist church yesterday morning and was invited to take the service in the evening, which he did, although he had come to Peterborough for a rest. The service was not announced save by intimation through the Sunday school in the afternoon, but a large congregation turned out to hear one whom they remembered so kindly on account of his effective service here a few years ago.

Mr. Ranton took for his text, "the wages of sin is death." The preacher by numerous telling and appropriate illustrations, impressed the truth of the text upon the minds of the audience with telling power. The whole discussion was intensely interesting and powerful. The delivery was graphic and a splendid exhibition of elocution, but not the elocution of the school boy class, but of the orator, aiming at that highest point of eloquence, effect. The audience was held with intense power and the sermon was what all sermons should be—one which left the hearer with the deep impression of the truth to be taught.

Rev. Mr. Shorey, who so seldom gets an opportunity of listening to a sermon other than his own, was highly pleased, as was indeed the entire and vast audience.

REV. W. L. ARMITAGE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

A SERMON ON THIS SUBJECT LAST EVENING.

Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's Book on the Matter Taken up and Discussed at Length.

The Rev. W. L. Armitage yesterday evening at All Saint's church preached a very impressive sermon on Christian Science. Although the weather was anything but agreeable, a very large congregation was present. The speaker claimed that he was not speaking on the subject in a retaliating manner, but that he merely thought it his duty to his congregation.

The speaker took for his text I Timothy, 4th chapter, 1st verse, "Now the spirit speaketh expressly that in the latter time some shall depart from the faith." After first emphasising the text that notwithstanding the clear witness to the truth by the church, from time to time some would depart from the faith. Not that they would become in direct opposition to the Church, but would mingle which is commonly called heresy. He then said that it was not for the purpose of having something new for pulpit utterance nor to be controversal, but because if not answered by some of those who are exponents of the truth, it would appear unanswerable, besides it is his duty as a clergyman "to drive out all erroneous and strange doctrines." From the largely increased attendance the speaker claimed he was right in judging that many are more or less interested. The question is, "why are you interested?" which is well to note. Because if adopted it will most seriously effect both faith and practice, and if we consider well why we are interested, it will tell us whether we ought or ought not to go further. The name "Christian Science" seems to indicate or lead us out to a scholarly ambition. The title "Christian" points as if it contained a religious elevation which would make one better than before and possibly better than others, besides it seems new and claims to present a higher scheme of truth.

The Origin

of it is claimed as a revelation to Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy in 1866 and is expounded in her book "Science and Health" which will be found to be a most illogical, disconnected, bewildering and incomplete jumble of assertions. It is an incomplete conception of the idealism of Bishop Berkley, who living in a gross materialistic age, went to the opposite extreme and contended for the unreality of all things outside of his own mind. It is true there are a great many things in Mrs. Eddy's book, that are good, and were it not thus coated with truth the error would be most repulsive. The two points the speaker wished to impress in this address, were first, it is not science and secondly it is not Christian.

In the very first chapter of her book, Mrs. Eddy's use of the term, "science" shows that she does not understand the term or uses it in a new and unnatural sense not accepted in the history of learning. Science concerns itself with truth in principle, and fact in things but in either truth in the abstract or truth in general. Truth as principle and in fact has of course its source, fullness and function in God; but science as the classified knowledge of truth and fact is, under God's guidance, the work of human thought and investigation. Christian Science claims to be a revelation. Science reaches truth only through investigation, experiment and discovery and not through revelation. Revelation and science have distinct methods of which the relation of the Bible to science is an example where they have appeared to conflict, when it should always be remembered that the Bible does not claim to be scientifically true, or present truths in a classified form. Science is classified knowledge and requires analysis, careful definition and systematic order, none of which can be found in the book "Science and Health." Christian Science claims to be but healing is an art, which is the "application of knowledge or skill in affecting a desired result."—Webster. Surgery, medicine and healing are arts, not sciences, hence to favour Christian Science thinking to make progress in science is sheer delusion.

The speaker then stated that it is not Christian. Not that it sets aside the Scriptures, for it claims the Bible as its foundation and offers the interpretation of it—so with all heresy—and rarely has a professed use of Scripture been put before the public so calculated to take the unsuspecting unawares. There is a reverence and pious feeling and certainty of truth which would if possible "deceive the very elect."

Numerous quotations and numerous passages of Scripture were then given and Mrs. Eddy's monstrous and given, among which were "Be not weary in well doing," which means "that mortals need not be weary in well doing, it (mind science) dissipates fatigue in doing good." "Thou shalt have none other gods but me," which means, "thou shalt have no intelligence, no life, no substance, no birth no love but what is spiritual." "Unto us a child is born, etc." is interpreted to be "Christian Science," and "when a new spiritual idea is born into the world." The teaching on Incarnation, the Atonement and the Trinity were shown to be not only contrary to Scripture and the universal belief of the Church, but in some cases to be blasphemous, especially when Christian Science puts itself in the place of the Holy Ghost, claiming to be "the Comforter which will lead you into all the truth."

Time did not permit the speaker to dilate at length on the "healing," but he referred to it as by no means new, the same principle underlies the practice of the Indian medicine man, the Egyptian fakir and the Hindoo Yogis. Much of it was shown to be practiced in daily life, the whole amounting to the bringing into action of the recuperative power of nature, which even physicians endeavour to do by the use of drugs. It pertained to functional diseases, not organic.

The speaker closed with an appeal to his people to remain firm to the old paths wherein the greatest Saints the world had ever known had walked.

FIRST OF JULY PICNIC.

In St Joseph's Hospital Grounds—More Attractive Than Ever.

Special efforts are being made this year with the object of arranging, if possible, a more attractive programme than ever for the annual picnic in the grounds at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Success has always attended this Dominion Day event in Peterborough, and as the funds this year are to be devoted to the praiseworthy object of assisting in defraying the expense of erecting the new House of Providence, it is to be hoped that the patronage will fully come up to expectations.

THE HAVELOCK MATTER.

Removal of Trainmen Appears to be Quashed.

The Havelock Standard says: The much talked of removal of the trainmen from this place to Smith's Falls appears to have fallen through from what we can gather from the different sources. Last week Reeve Bryans wrote Mr. Leonard asking him for specific information on the subject and received an ambiguous reply stating "That the Company intended to make no change in their program." Just what the program is, is a matter of conjecture.

A letter from Mr. Thomas Tate, manager C.P.R., in reply to the Peterborough Board of Trade enlightens the case somewhat but provokes the query, where do the trainmen come in? Their removal is hardly touched upon, when it was supposed, from Mr. Brady's statements, that they were the only ones concerned.

As to the removal of any engineers to Smith's Falls on account of repairs to their engines, we may state that such a circumstance will not take place, and the only thing that can be gathered from Mr. Tate's letter, is that no changes will be made whatever and that Havelock will continue to advance steadily on the lines of progress and industry as in the past.

Mr. Tate's letter reads as follows:

Montreal, May 8th, 1899.

T. Q. Quartermaine, Esq.,
Sec. Board of Trade,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 6th, enclosing a resolution of your Board of Trade respecting alleged removal of train crews from Havelock to Smith's Falls.

We have lately put in use on the line between Toronto and Montreal, a large number of consolidated compound locomotives. In order that these locomotives may be economically and efficiently operated it is necessary that we should have the facilities for making light running repairs to them. Such facilities exist at Toronto junction and are available for the engines running between Havelock and that point. In order to make the required light running repairs on the engines not only between Havelock and Montreal but between Chalk river and Smith's Falls, we have provided the necessary facilities for the purpose at Smith's Falls where they are available for use in these engines, both east, west and north of that point. These engines while under repair, etc., lay over longer at Smith's Falls than hitherto, and I expect that this will result in some of the men running engines moving from Havelock to Smith's Falls, but such removal is not obligatory, and rests with the men themselves. Nothing has been done in the direction of discontinuing Havelock as a divisional point.

Yours truly,
THOS. TATE.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The morning anthem in the George street church was, "Ye servants of God."—Reid.

Rev. O. C. Elliott, of Park street Baptist church, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Bastow, of Murray street, yesterday evening.

The young people of Murray street Baptist church intend holding a social evening for the members of the congregation this evening.

The evening anthem, "Ye shall dwell in the land, with bass solo by Mr. Frank Turner was well rendered in the George street church last night.

Rev. H. Symonds occupied the pulpit of St. John's church last evening.

The contralto solo, "Down in the paths" was excellently sung by Miss Pascoe during the offertory last evening in the George street Methodist church.

At the Murray street Baptist church yesterday morning Miss Hutchinson sang "Forever" very effectively. In the evening a quartette composed of Mrs. Dr. Hunter, Miss Hutchinson, Mr. G. K. Martin and Mr. C. B. Routley rendered "Hark, I hear a whisper."

At Park street Baptist church yesterday evening Rev. Mr. Bastow took for his text John 3, 16 "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him, should not perish, but have everlasting life.

Mr. P. W. Owen, who for the last three years has presided at St. John's church organ, terminated his engagement last evening, having accepted a similar position with the Carleton street Methodist church in Toronto. The church wardens of St. John's have been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. C. J. Rogers, who has had considerable experience already in church choir work.

At the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning the anthem "Trust in the Lord" was rendered, the solo being taken by Miss Hall, and the duet by Miss Hall and Mr. Stevens. In the offertory, "It is Jesus" the solo was taken in excellent style by Miss Dorothy Dart. At the evening service the choir rendered "Rock of Ages," Miss F. Hall taking the solo. In the offertory hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," Miss M. Stephens took the solo and Miss Stephens and Mr. S. Mitchell the duett.

Energy Easily Earned.

DR. WARD'S BLOOD & NERVE PILLS

Wasted energy must be made up or the body will weaken and perhaps perish.

For a long time prior to taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills my nerve system was greatly deranged and I was terribly nervous, so much so that in my business (Lineman of the Kingston Electric Light Co.,) my extreme nervousness naturally made the following of my business extremely hazardous. Before taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills my kidneys had been affected for some time. I had constant soreness and stiffness across my loins and the small of my back. My appetite was variable and very poor. I also suffered greatly with constant headaches. I am glad to be able to inform you that Dr. Ward's Pills completely cured me of all the above ailments and made me a well man. I have found no medicine like Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, although I have tried many different kinds. They acted quickly and effectually on my nerve system, making my nerves strong and removing all indications of nervousness. These valuable pills also removed all kidney and back trouble and restored to me a healthy vigorous appetite. I have had no headache since five months ago and feel justified in saying that they are a wonderful remedy. They not only removed nervousness, but gave me healthy kidneys, removed all soreness and stiffness from my back and loins, cured me of headache and gave me a good appetite, consequently I am highly pleased. I know of no medicine that equals Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills for nervousness, chronic headache, sore kidneys and back and loss of appetite. Yours truly, John McCutcheon, 522 Princess St., Kingston, Ont.

All good druggists sell them. If they won't, we will supply you by mail on receipt of price, 50c. per box, or 5 boxes for $2.00. The Doctor Ward Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HE WAS SUPERSTITIOUS.

And In Spite of His Mascot He Dropped His Big Roll.

"Yes, superstition broke me," said the ex-gambler, as, perceiving that the next man to him had a squint, he crossed his fingers. "I had heard of the luck that a humpback is certain to furnish, so I advertised for one. I got him all right, and now I wish I hadn't. He had a hump that was a wonder. It was two feet high at least. I took him to Europe, with the intention of cleaning out the bank at Monte Carlo. Going over on the steamer I made a little money, and I could see a glorious finish. From London to Nice I nearly ruined my bank roll constantly rubbing it against my mascot's magnificent hump.

"To make a long story short, I'll just say that in spite of my humpbacked friend I dropped my roll at roulette before we had been in the Casino two hours. I had just a thousand franc note left, and my mascot, who was as badly broken up as I was, begged me to let him play that in himself. I consented, because I didn't see how the luck could be any worse. The first crack that he made was to put a limit bet on the double zero, but when he won it I fainted. By the time the doctors had brought me to he was playing on velvet a foot thick and never turned a hair or winked an eye until the croupier announced stolidly that the bank was broken.

"I was the happiest man in the world then, I guess, but not for long, as I came back in the steerage. No: I didn't lose it back. In fact, I didn't get a chance, for when I asked my humpback to divide he said 'Nit.' I reminded him of how well I had treated him and begged him to at least tip me off to the secret of his success. He unbuttoned his coat, loosened a few straps and tossed me over a most artistic artificial hump. 'That's it,' he said.

"Ah, yes! Superstition has ruined many a good man."

WOODSTOCK WONDER.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

The Flag on the Wall.

The Troy Times tells of a visitor at a public school, who, being requested to address the pupils, spoke of the necessity of obeying their teacher and growing up to be useful, loyal and patriotic citizens.

To emphasize his remarks, he pointed to a large national flag that almost covered one end of the room, and said, "Now, boys, who can tell me what that flag is there for?"

One little fellow, who understood the condition of the room better than the speaker, replied

"I know, sir It's to hide the dirt."

Remember

We don't advertise for mere effect, but for business. We know that, if you are subject to cramps, that you should have a prompt, efficient remedy on hand. Nerviline—nerve-pain cure—has a wonderful and immediate curative power. It relieves in one minute; it cures in five. Pleasant to the taste and the best known remedy for pain.

HE STAKED HIS LIFE.

"WILDCAT" SMITH'S THRILLING GAME OF SEVEN UP.

The Doughty Pioneer Beat His Comanche Captor, Big Laugh, at the Game and Then Risked His Life Again to Save a White Girl Captive.

Old "Wildcat" Smith is just about the last living one of that famous band of pioneers who drove the Indians to the mountains, killed the panthers and bears, and blazed the tracks through the trackless wilderness. He does not look like a lawyer, but he has, nevertheless, sat upon a camp stool and decided cases of the greatest importance. He does not bear any very marked resemblance to a general, but he has commanded a considerable force in battle, and, while military critics might have complained that he was deficient in strategic ability none ever charged him with lack of valor. Few people would discover in his face or manner any of those traits that distinguish a duelist, but he has demonstrated that he possesses them all in an eminent degree by ordering "pistols and coffee for two" more than once. Upon one occasion he had the audacity to invite General Houston, who was at that period president of the republic, to "come out and exchange shots" with him. He says that the old warrior "floored" him by coolly making a note on a slip of paper and putting it in his desk. In answer to the enraged challenger's inquiry the general simply said: "Mr. Smith, you are the fortieth. When I have killed these other 39 scoundrels who have challenged me, I will accommodate you. Be patient, sir."

Smith came to Texas in 1836 and served in the Texas army through all the long wars with Mexico. He was also a soldier in the great civil war, and when that ended he enlisted to fight Indians and remained on the border until there were no more Comanches to shoot. He has been a man of war from his youth up, and in his old age he carries a soldier's musket with a fixed bayonet, and continues to make war on all kinds of game and "varmints." He wanted to go to Cuba, and when the boys insisted that he was too old and feeble he threw off his coat and challenged the whole company to fight him.

Upon one occasion Smith was captured by a roving band of Comanches, many of whom were well known to him. They frankly told him that they intended to make him run the gantlet and burn him at the stake when they reached their village on Devil river. The captive had a flask of whisky, which the chief took away from him. After taking several drinks the old warrior asked Smith if he could play seven up. Smith proudly boasted that he could beat any man living playing that particular game. This answer appeared to put the Indian on his mettle, and he at once proposed that they should halt by the side of the warpath and play for the highest stakes that mortal man ever waged on a game of chance—life.

Smith eagerly agreed to the proposal, and they sat down under a tree and dealt the cards on a blanket. The other warriors dismounted and anxiously watched the game. The chief's name was Big Laugh, so called on account of a natural grin that marked his features. After a short time they stood 6 to 6, and it was Smith's deal. He ran the cards off and turned a jack from the bottom. Smith had won his liberty, and Big Laugh told him he might go, but the Texan had something else in view. He might easily have walked away, but he determined upon another act which marks him as a generous soul possessed of the highest courage. There was a young white girl tied on one of the ponies, who was weeping in the most piteous agony.

Smith coolly proposed to play another game, staking his life against the liberty of this young girl. Big Laugh was evidently pleased with the white man's courage, and after taking another drink he began to shuffle the cards. The young girl was cut loose from the pony and made to stand on the blanket, while the thongs for binding Smith, in case he lost, were thrown at her feet. Again they played a close game, and at the end of a short time stood 6 and 6, but it was Big Laugh's deal. With what awful interest that poor girl must have watched the turning of that trump! The Indian slowly dealt the cards, and, peeping at the trump, a hideous grin spread all over his face.

"I was sure that all was lost and was just in the act of springing at his throat," says Smith, "when he turned the queen of hearts for a trump. He could not give me, of course, and I held both the ace and deuce of hearts."

Big Laugh was by this time hilariously drunk and in a most excellent good humor. He not only kept his word and gave Smith and the young girl their liberty, but he furnished them two ponies and allowed Smith to take his gun. The liberated captives reached the settlement in safety, where Smith's strange story would never have been credited had not the young girl borne witness that it was true. She is still living on a fine plantation on the Brazos and is the widow of no less a personage than Colonel Sam Jones, who was killed at the battle of Shiloh.

"Wildcat" Smith lives in a little cabin in the woods and devotes his whole time to hunting bear and deer and sometimes smaller game.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat

HELD CAPTIVE.

The most terrible captivity a woman can experience is to feel herself completely incapacitated for all womanly duties, bound hand and foot, as it were, by some nerve-racking, life-draining disease or weakness. In such a condition she cannot be a happy wife or mother; she cannot be an efficient housekeeper; she cannot be a woman at all in any complete or satisfactory sense.

"I was afflicted for seventeen months," writes Mrs. Elizabeth J. Bullard, of Winnie, Bladen Co., N. C., in a significant letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I was confined to the house and yard all the time. I could not be on my feet but a very little. I could not lift the weight of a cup of coffee; and did not have strength to speak more than a few words at a time.

"We tried three doctors and a lot of patent medicine which cost over one hundred and twenty-five dollars; and I found no relief. I had lost all hope of ever getting any better when my friends advised me to take Dr. Pierce's medicine. My husband said we would try that next. He got me five bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I commenced taking these medicines and soon found relief. When I had taken one bottle of each I walked half a mile to church.

"I commenced taking it the first of January 1897; the first of the following June I took my cooking in hand and have cooked for eleven in family all through the summer. It was Dr. Pierce's medicine that gave me all the relief I have received. I recommend it to all suffering females, for it is his medicine and the help of God that has restored me."

Every suffering woman in this land should write to Dr. Pierce and learn how certainly he can help her to health and strength. It costs nothing to write and receive entirely free the advice of one of the most experienced physicians in this country. His great thousand-page book the Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free for 31 one-cent stamps, the bare cost of customs and mailing.

LINCOLN AS A LAWYER.

How the Immortal Abe Won His Early Successes at the Bar.

A suit was brought in the United States court in Springfield against a citizen for an infringement of a patent right. Mr. Lincoln was employed to defend it. Mr. Lincoln went to the most skilled architect in the city, inquired how he spent his winter evenings and received the reply: "If times are brisk, I sometimes work. Otherwise I have no special business."

Mr. Lincoln said: "I have a patent right case in court. I want you as a partner and will divide fees. I know nothing about mechanics—never made it a study. I want you to make a list of the best works on mechanism, as I don't suppose they can be purchased here. I will furnish the money, and you can send to Chicago or New York for them. I want you to come to my house one night each week and give me instructions." In a short time he had witnesses to meet him, and they were thoroughly drilled.

When the trial commenced, Mr. Lincoln put his questions at the cross examination so scientifically that many witnesses were bothered to reply. When his witnesses were put on the stand, so skillful were his questions that the court, the jury and the bar wondered how Abe Lincoln knew so much about mechanism. His witnesses could reply promptly. He gained the suit and a reputation such that Mr. Lincoln was sustained in every patent right case brought into that court up to the time he went to Washington. He went to Chicago, St. Louis, Iowa, Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan to try patent right cases, and the last year of his practice did little else.—Thomas Lewis' "Recollections of Lincoln" in Leslie's Weekly.

To Err Is Human.

People like to talk about attractive things in advertising. In a company recently the proverb above quoted, and which appeared at the head of one of a well constructed series of advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, was so much discussed that we doubt if anyone there will ever forget the source whence it came. Messrs. Hood & Co. are using these proverb advertisements on a very broad scale, and they are attracting discussion and favourable comment everywhere.

Mules Fed on Molasses.

The largest sugar planter in Texas is J. W. Cunningham, whose plantation and refinery are located at Sugarland. The crop is cultivated and harvested by convicts who are leased from the state. Several hundred mules are employed on the plantation, and Mr. Cunningham introduced a new food for them a few years ago. This food is pure black molasses, and the animals are fed nothing else throughout the year. Large troughs have been built in the stables, into which the molasses is conducted direct from the refinery through pipes. The mules have a great fondness for the molasses, and they are kept in prime condition all the time. The molasses fed to these work animals is of a coarse quality and would command only a low price in the market. It is much cheaper than corn or oats.—Austin Letter.

THIN GIRLS GET PLUMP

while using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

There comes a critical time in the life of every woman when the bud of girlhood is unfolding into the full blown flower of womanhood. Mothers at this time should carefully guard their daughters' health, for this is a time when many a girl falls victim to insidious diseases which make life a misery.

Loss of flesh, headaches, pains in back and side, nervousness, irritability, dull eyes and a pale, sallow complexion, these are the symptoms that warn you to use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

The blood is impoverished and the nerves require nutrition. Nature must have assistance and there is no better way to help nature than by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. It is a food for blood and nerves, and creates rich, red blood, solid flesh and new nerve tissue. The color will return to the cheek, the brightness to the eye, and increase in weight will tell of solid advance in health.

THE EVILS OF FLIRTATION.

These Who Engage In It Grow Incapable of Steadfast, Enduring Love.

"In flirtation there is the same dissipated element of excitement so beguiling in gambling—uncertainty—in fact, we might add to the dictionary definition a still later one, 'To flirt, gambling in hearts,'" writes Frances Evans, "About Men," in The Ladies' Home Journal.

"The flirt, like the gambler, feeds upon the intoxication of his passions. In a few years he becomes incapable of steadfast, enduring love, that feeling which in civilized man is separated from the love of the barbarian by the element of ideality, of spiritual sympathy as distinct from merely the attraction of brute nature. The open minded, open souled, manly man is apt to express himself in abrupt praise of what he likes, but the flirt knows better than to take the edge off of a compliment by giving it publicity. The flirt is invariably confidential in his manner. A flirt becomes unscrupulous in his relations with women, no matter how high a code of honor he may abide by in other matters. His conscience is calloused on one side beyond remedy. There is no germ which develops more rapidly than the flirtatious bacteria.

Given a young man or woman whose pride is wounded more deeply than his or her love by a member of the opposite sex, then, if there be a slight flirtatious tendency to begin with, it will be but overnight before the weed has grown to surprising proportions, choking out conscience and kindness while it supports and strengthens vanity, which stands close by wounded affections in the human heart."

Nineteenth Century Folly.

The greatest piece of folly of the nineteenth century is to suffer the tortures of rheumatism when a permanent cure can be obtained by using Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mr. C. W. Trotter, Cushendall, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism for three years. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has not had a pain or ache since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, price 50 cents. For sale at all drug stores.

A Compliment For the Scots.

An old Scotch lady in Detroit is a little bit prouder of her nationality than of anything else to which she can lay claim and never misses a chance to boast of what her countrymen have accomplished. She never tires of telling what they have done, dwelling particularly upon Scott, Burns, Wallace, Bruce and Ian Maclaren.

"Mother," said her son, after she had been discoursing upon her favorite theme the other day, "you honestly seem to think that no good can come except out of Scotland. I fear it's becoming a sort of mania with you. You'll be claiming yet, mother, that Gladstone, Washington, Lincoln, Dewey and all the best of our greatest men in modern times were born in Scotland."

"Weel, I'm nae so sure o' that, Jamie, but there be ane thing I do ken o' the gude men ye name, laddie, a'most a' o' thim had intellect enuch to be Scotchmen."—Detroit Free Press.

SHE WILL FIND OUT.

This Woman's Curiosity Is Only Temporarily Suppressed.

He had been out pretty late, and he knew it. Where he had been, who he had been with and what he and the other fellows had been doing are matters not germane to the story. Suffice to say that when he opened the door with his latchkey and made as quiet an entry as possible he felt in his guilty heart that the wife of his bosom would ask him a whole lot of things which he did not care to detail just at that time. He was not mistaken. As soon as his wife heard him enter the chamber she knew instinctively that he was trying to "hold out" on her and she asked:

"Where have you been?"

Now, it wasn't part of his plan to tell her where he had been. The idea was furthest from his mind, so he temporized.

"Now, see here," said the husband, "if you will let me go to sleep and don't ask me any questions now or at any other time about where I have been, I will give you $50 in cash for yourself."

This was a poser, and the dutiful wife naturally started to reach for the $50. But feminine curiosity was a little too strong, and she did not at once acquiesce. The next morning, when she arose, the first thing that caught her eye was her husband's coat, with one sleeve torn out by the roots and hanging by a thread.

"Why, Will, what is this?" she asked.

"That's a loose sleeve," said her husband.

"Well, how did it get loose?" she persisted.

"See here," he said suddenly, "do you want to lose that $50? If you do, just keep asking questions about that. If you want to get it, just let the matter drop."

Being a wise woman, she let it drop, but his friends are making bets that she will first secure the $50 and then find out some way how that sleeve got loose.

PATE DE FOIE GRAS.

The Fearful Cruelty That Makes This Dainty a Possibility.

To the ordinary man and woman no conception of the torture to which the poor, unfortunate goose is put could possibly be formed.

The geese when about 9 months old are taken from the pastures and placed in an underground cellar, where broad, slanting stone slabs stand in rows, and are bound fast to the tables. They are literally crucified.

Feet, wings and bodies are spread out and bound by bands, so that only the neck is left free. As may be imagined, the animal struggles with all its might against this stretching, till, after days of vain endeavor to free itself from the bands and its position, its powers of resistance are overcome, and a dull resignation, broken only by its low cries, takes possession of it. Two months must pass away before death brings relief.

The animals are meanwhile crammed with dumplings made of dough of buckwheat, chestnuts and stewed maize. Every two hours, six times a day, they receive from three to five dumpling pills, which in time become so sweet to the tortured creatures that they stretch their necks to be crammed.

The most difficult task is to determine the right moment for death. Those who die of their own accord are lost to the liver factory, therefore a kind of study is needed to see when the cup of agony is brimming full and the liver is ripe for taking. The bodies of such ripe ones are like pumpkins—where ordinarily fingers are buried in flesh and fat nothing but skin and bone are found. The livers have absorbed all the strength and juices.

A Painful Mistake.

A conductor got up early the other morning and got his own breakfast. He is not used to this, as his wife, who was sick on this occasion, is used to getting breakfast ready. He is fond of strong coffee for his early meal, and, filling the pot with water, heaped in four tablespoonfuls of what he took to be coffee.

After all was done, the coffeepot steaming and hash well browned, he sat by his own self to break his fast. The coffee did not seem very hot, so he drank off half the cup in three or four swallows. Then the roof started. He yelled like a maniac. His trembling little wife ran out to see her husband dancing about on one foot and screeching like a maniac.

He ran to the water pipe and drank off two quarts of cold water and then quieted down enough to ask: "What in thunder's the matter with the coffee?" She smelled of it and said: "Why, dear, you mistook the ground cloves for the coffee, that's all."—Lewiston Journal.

Five Cakes.

"I wish to pay you for five cakes," said a traveler to a railway restaurant keeper.

"But you had only four—a sponge cake, a cocoanut cake, an almond cake and a currant cake."

"And a stomach-ake," added the traveler.

Very Useful.

"Do you believe in the power of the human eye with a wild beast?" asked Gableigh.

"Yes," said the professor; "the power of the eye is very useful—to see the wild beast coming."

THE HORSE REVIEW.

Deborah, 2:21¼, is the first mare ever bred to Searchlight, 2:03¼.

Strock, 2:14¼, trotting, will be out this summer in the pacing classes.

Matt Dwyer has sailed for Austria with a lot of California bred trotters.

Pilot Boy, 2:09¼, is reported to have led Newcastle, 2:11¾, down the New York speedway lately.

The latest report is that John Dickerson will drive Joe Patchen. Dickerson drove the black horse to his record of 2:01½.

John R. Gentry has stepped a mile in 2:28, which is the fastest of any horse at the Jewettville track, where there are 108 horses in training.

Billy Broadwell of Chicago has refused $1,500 for the trotting team McKenna, 2:23¾, and Tom Medium. They are high styled bay geldings, with white feet all around, and they can step a 2:30 gait and do it like one horse.

A mile in 2:11½ by a green 4-year-old pacer, and a mile in 2:16¼, last half in 1:02¼, last quarter in 30¾ seconds, by a green trotter, are samples of the speed Tom Keating had on tap at Pleasanton, Cal., on April 10.

C. E. Owen of Colorado Springs has sold to C. G. Schneck, same place, the bay stallion Hooper, 2:21¼. He was a good horse last year; started 22 times, won 8 firsts, 11 seconds, 2 thirds, 3 fourths and was outside the money but three times.

The Supreme Test.

"You are all right," said the doctor after he had gone through with the regulation thumping and listening with his patient, "Not a trace of heart disease. Fifteen dollars, please!"

The patient drew a long breath and remarked: "I am sure now I have no heart disease. If I had, I should have dropped dead when you mentioned your fee."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Safe.

"Johnny, are your people going to take you with them on that trip across the ocean?"

"Yes'm."

"Aren't you afraid?"

"Nome. Ain't afraid of nothin. I've been vaccinated an baptized."—Chicago Tribune.

A WRONG IDEA OF... DYSPEPSIA

Throws all the Blame on the Stomach—The Real Seat of Trouble is the Intestines—The Permanent Cure is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is an old idea long since exploded that digestion is confined to the stomach. No modern scientist denies that by far the greater part of digestion and the more difficult part takes place in the intestines. This explains why dyspepsia is never really cured by preparations which merely aid stomach digestion and act only on the stomach.

This fact also explains why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been so remarkably successful as a cure for the worst forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and give new tone and vigor to the intestines, and make them able to perform their work of digesting the substances on which the stomach has no effect.

Stomach treatment may do well enough for slight indigestion, but if you have chronic indigestion or dyspepsia of a serious nature you can profit by the experience of scores of thousands who have been permanently cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE CYNIC.

When you are sick, it is a great satisfaction to grunt.

Some people use so much diplomacy that they expose the bait.

Your friends give you everything but money, and money is what you need.

The man who tries to say smart things makes more breaks than other people.

When a father and a son quarrel, the mother nearly always complicates matters.

Some women make a continued story of their troubles and recite a chapter every time they see a friend.

The trouble with many married people is that they married their first love, and the trouble with the rest of them is that they didn't.

CURIOUS CULLINGS.

The Ainu women in Japan tattoo their faces to give them the appearance of men with whiskers.

When a dog barks at night in Japan, the owner is arrested and sentenced to work for a year for the neighbors whose slumbers may have been disturbed.

In the Chinese morgue one of the strange sights is a number of lifesize dolls which are burned to accompany the corpses as their servants to the next world. They are doubtless a relic of the time when human beings were thus burned as companions of the deceased.

Good Blood and Sound Muscles.

Scott's Emulsion is a blood-making and strength producing food. It removes that feeling of utter helplessness which takes possession of one when suffering from general debility.

He Fooled Himself.

A station master who had been taking a short holiday at some distance from his own station went to catch the last train homeward, and on entering the station found a lady trying to turn the handle of one of the compartments. The station master rushed to her assistance, opened the door, bundled the passenger in, slammed the door to, and then, by force of habit, waved his hand to the guard and stood calmly on the platform till the train had steamed out of sight. He had to walk home and the other station master laughed.—London Standard.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264.95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 15002 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334.80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

Lionel King scored three of Varsity's seven goals against Cornell University on Friday. The score was 7-3. Lehigh University was beaten by 10 goals to 6.

BASEBALL.

The success of the local baseball nine in the first game of the season has aroused still greater enthusiasm amongst the players and their backers than has already existed. The play of the nine on the whole was good, but certainly some of them deserved special mention. McCabe, who has played many a ball over the plate in days gone by, still showed his ability at his old position, and surprised not a few of the visitors. Parnell is a promising young player and will prove a good acquisition to the team.

That the visitors were sorely disappointed at the result of the game is no secret, for they admitted this fact before leaving town, and expressed themselves as greatly surprised at the style of ball the local men played.

The management is completing arrangements for another game on Saturday, June the 3rd, when the Kingston baseball nine will visit Peterborough. Kingston, as everyone knows, is one of the oldest ball towns in Canada, and was the home of the once famous Princess street nine. In fact it is a remnant of this same team that is coming to Peterborough, and the game will be well worth seeing. The Argyles, of Toronto, have written for a game on the same date, but will have to wait the pleasure of the local management. Varsity is crazy to tackle the local men and will have that opportunity before a great while. Meantime it behooves every member of the local team to get out to practice and keep up the winning pace which they have started out with.

It is likely that the local men will go down to Millbrook on Thursday to have a practice game with the team of that place.

GOLF.

The semi-finals of the Spring Handicap Competition was played off on Saturday afternoon with the following result:

G. W. Hatton, 18, beat E. H. D. Hall, 9, by 7 holes.
E. W. Holst, 18, beat C. Bell, 12, by 1 hole.

Mr. G. W. Hatton and Mr. E. W. Holst will play off the finals before Saturday, 3rd June. From the fact that both men have the same handicap and have been making about equally low scores, the struggle will be a very keen one.

The second round of the Ladies' handicap has been drawn as follows:

Miss L. Davidson, 18, vs. Mrs. Denistoun, 6.
Miss N. Hall, 3, vs. Miss Boucher, scratch.
Mrs. Aylmer, 3, vs. Miss K. Hall, 18.
Miss Fairweather, 18, vs. Miss Rackham, 18.
Miss D. Hamilton, scratch, vs. Miss Kempt, 9.
Miss L. Hall, scratch, vs. Mrs. Hill, 18.
Miss Denniston, 6, vs. Mrs. Fair, 18.
Miss Hutton, 12, vs. Miss Archer, 12.
Miss L. Denniston, 12, vs. Mrs. H. J. Rogers, 12.
Miss A. Hamilton—a bye.

The round to be played off by Thursday, June 1st.

THE WHEEL.

There is considerable talk of a pursuit race taking place on the Nicholls Park track between Davidson, Shepherd and Milburn. It would prove very interesting.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

The rain interfered with the practice last week, but this evening the boys will be out in force again. On Wednesday evening there will be a practice match with the Stonehouse in Nicholls Park, beginning at 7 o'clock. Some new players are coming out, and it is expected that the Association will soon have a team that can give a good account of itself.

Norwood has invited the boys to play the return game in Norwood next Saturday. It is likely that the invitation will be accepted. A warm game may be expected. A week ago the association team was disappointed. It was thought that they would play Millbrook on Saturday last. Both were anxious to get off, unfortunately neither could be substituted. This will no doubt be rectified by next week.

The Association team would like to arrange friendly games with any of the neighbouring villages — Keene, Lakefield or Warsaw.

Goldey at half back is picking up the game in good style, while Campbell and Walden on the forward line are doing good work.

THE SCISSORS STILETTO.

An Ugly Little Weapon Carried by Spanish Women.

The Spanish are generally reputed to be a quick, hot tempered race, a people who on small provocation resort to deadly weapons to avenge a wrong or slight. The stiletto, a small dagger with a keenly pointed, slender blade, is a favorite with these people, partly because of its size and perhaps more because of its certainty, as its keen point and slender blade do not require much force to make it effective. These stilettos are made in many styles, but the strangest to the American mind is one made as a pair of scissors. This is a form much affected by the women, as it is doubly useful, and, in the very nature of things, is most likely to be near at hand.

They are made like an ordinary pair of scissors, except that the "shank," or that part between the finger loops and the rivet, is perfectly straight and is inlaid with pearl. Just at the point where the blades cross is a "guard" similar to the same thing on a hunting knife, to prevent the hand slipping when the instrument is used as a weapon. From the "guard" to the ends of the blades they are slender and tapering to a fine point. When opened, this is an ordinary pair of scissors, but when closed it becomes a perfect and a dangerous stiletto.

A great many women always carry these scissors with them. They are carried in a sheath like any dagger and thrust in the bodice, where they are very handy in case of need. The Spanish and Spanish-American woman is a very passionate, resentful creature, and when roused a most dangerous one, who will not hesitate to draw her stiletto and use it. They are very quick and expert in the use of this weapon, and woe to the luckless one who incurs their anger or hatred, for their thrust is sure and deadly.

The Latin Language.

It appears to have been in the last years of the Roman republic and the first of the empire that the polished Latin language reached its highest point of perfection in the writings of Cicero, Horace, Virgil and others, but by the influx of strangers, by the gradual decline of Roman feelings and Roman spirit and by the intermixture of the classic forms with the dialects of the provinces it became corrupted, the process of deterioration going on with double rapidity after the dismemberment of the Roman empire in the fifth century. Thus were formed the modern French, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese.

The English language also owes much to Latin, both directly by derivation from the classical forms at second hand through the Norman-French. Latin continued to be the diplomatic language of Europe till a comparatively recent period. It is still the medium of communication among the learned of the world and is now, as it has always been, the official language of the Roman Catholic church.

Legal Antiquities.

Punishment in effigy was legally practiced in France and with great solemnity up to the time of the first revolution, says The Green Bag. If the man condemned escaped, an effigy was put up in his cell, and the entire routine of the law allowed to take its course. The warrant was read to it, and on the day appointed it was conducted to the scaffold in the presence of all the legal functionaries and with all the circumstances of the law. Sometimes the same person was executed in effigy simultaneously in several cities, but that did not exempt him from actual punishment should he be afterward caught.

CURIOSITY ABOUT THE DEAD

Morbidity That Prompts Strangers to Invade Houses of Mourning.

"Please, missis, may I see the die lady?" The speaker was the biggest of a group of three diminutive street girls, and the doorbell which she had just pulled vigorously was hung with crape. The reluctance with which, when finally convinced that the delight of "seeing the die lady" was not for her, she led her little band of followers down the steps again was characteristic of a phase of public curiosity but little known save to those who have personally experienced annoyance from it, but which is decidedly on the increase in Chicago.

Whether from religious, superstitious or merely curiosity satisfying reasons, there are numbers of people in this city who make a practice of invading the houses in which death has entered and pestering the mourners with requests to inspect the body. Up to the door of the darkened house just mentioned crept that same afternoon no less than half a dozen individuals of this description and of social grades and characteristics widely similar.

"I should like to pay my respects to the dead," explained the solemn and obsequious colored man who tiptoed thither in the gathering dusk. This man evidently had an idea of indulging in a social ceremony of some kind and was really hurt as well as indignant to find his modestly preferred request refused.

"It's so lucky to say a prayer by a corpse," pleaded the Italian vender, who also importuned for "just a peep" at the dead body, while the lame beggar who insisted upon returning to the basement doorway again and again until threatened with arrest offered no reason whatever for his peculiar action. Nor are such incidents as these by any means confined to the class of individuals mentioned. There is a growing plague of the people who stream in at funerals, annoy and distress harassed mourners by their persistent petitions to be allowed to view the sacred dead, and who even make a practice where it is possible of taking the trip to the cemetery. Well dressed and ill dressed, old and young, rich and poor, alike, these people are. Their persistence is exceeded only by their numbers, and the only thing which will send them to the right about is a stern "No." Since the people whom they distress and torment are rarely in a condition to be stern and indignant they are often enabled to satisfy their inexplicable desires.

From Welsh to Spanish.

A very long time ago the British government ordered that English should be taught in Welsh schools. As a result, in 1865 a colony of persecuted Welsh miners fled from the British tyranny and settled in the deserts of Patagonia. These men were heroes, and with most magnificent courage they dared to live in a desert where not a plant would grow, where the water was brackish and the heat intolerable. They were surrounded by wild tribes of hostile savages and made them warm friends; they were ruled by a foreign government and became loyal citizens.

Through long years of want and famine they never despaired. They have turned the desert into a beautiful fertile country, have become rich, number 8,000 people, have extended their string of settlements right across South America, own a paying railway and ship large crops of wheat, wool, ostrich feathers and guanaco skins.

They left Wales to escape the tyranny of the English language and now, rather than talk Welsh, they converse largely of their freedom in excellent Spanish.

A Modern Elopement.

The agitated girl looked back through the cloud of dust that rose in their rear.

"Algernon," she exclaimed in terror, "pap is pursuing us!"

"Let him pursue!" chuckled Algernon. "The last thing I did before we started was to slip out and change his storage battery. It's only got about one more mile in it, and then it'll stop dead."

And even as Algernon spake these words his automobile drew away from the pursuer, while from the lagging machine far in the rear came faintly to the ear hoarse cries of impotent rage from the baffled parent.—Chicago Tribune.

Within a mile from Congleton, England, on the high road from Macclesfield, there is a deserted village consisting of over 60 houses, not one of which is tenanted.

The present printing machinery of the Oxford press, if it were all running on Bibles, would turn out 83.75 copies per minute.

Picture and Frame.

A frame should set off the picture as well as protect it. If the moulding is properly selected and the frame carefully made, it will double the pleasure. Nothing but service will show the quality of a frame and the framer. Both have made our frames popular. Oaks, greens, golds, silvers, whites, and other fancy woods for mouldings and combinations of the very newest and nicest patterns. Our prices—well, you'll wonder where the profit is for the Peterborough Bookstore.

THE CASE OF DREYFUS

Court of Cassation Reporter Argues for Revision.

VERY SEARCHING ANALYSIS.

The Strong Conclusions Reached and Forcibly Expressed by M. Ballot de Beaupre in Considering the Trumped-Up Case Against the Prisoner at Devil's Island—Return of Dreyfus.

Paris, May 30.—The Court of Cassation met yesterday to hear the debates in the application for revision of the Dreyfus case. The doors of the Palace of Justice were opened at 11 o'clock. Extensive precautions were taken to preserve order. The court room was filled with Parisian celebrities, the greater part of the hall having been reserved for tickets-holders. Many judges belonging to other courts were among those present, and absolute tranquility prevailed. The proceedings commenced at noon, amidst profound silence, the reporter of the civil section of the court reading his report on the case. After recalling the conditions under which the prosecution of Dreyfus was installed in 1894, he dealt with the contradictory evidence of the experts in handwriting, and mentioned the protest of innocence by Dreyfus to Lieut.-Col. Henry.

Eulogies of Dreyfus.

M. Ballot de Beaupre then read a number of eulogistic reports on Dreyfus, when the latter was a military school probationer on the general staff, his interrogatory by Lieut.-Col. Du Paty de Clam, in which Dreyfus persisted in denying having had relations with any foreign embassy, and his statement that he had not given any documents to any agent relating to the defence of the country.

The report said the first suspicions of Dreyfus emanated from Col. Babre, who was struck with the similarity of the word "artillery" in the bordereau, and in a document written by Dreyfus. The report dealt with Lieut.-Col. Henry's account of his conversation with Dreyfus, when the latter was transferred to the Cherche Midi prison. Dreyfus said: "It is terrible. I am accused of a frightful thing."

Henry then asked what he was accused of, and Dreyfus replied: "I am accused of the crime of high treason."

"The devil!" answered Henry. "But on what ground?"

"The Death of My Life."

"I don't know," said Dreyfus. "I am nearly mad. I would prefer to receive a bullet in the head. I am not guilty. This accusation is the death of my life."

To this Henry said:

"If you are not guilty you must not lose your head. An innocent man is always strong. Have you a family?"

"Yes," replied the prisoner. "A wife and children. I am well off, and I must have justice done me."

"That does not come within my competence," was Henry's next remark, "but justice will certainly be done you. Do you know what you are accused of?"

"Yes, I am accused of giving documents to a foreign power."

"What documents?"

"I don't know. Du Paty de Clam only spoke of secret and confidential documents. Without further explanation I replied that during my probation at the general staff office many documents passed through my hands, but that I communicated them to nobody."

The Judicial Aspect.

M. Ballot de Beaupre then reviewed the judicial history of the case, and said it now rested with the court to pronounce judgment. He upheld the statement that there was sufficient presumption that most serious errors and doubts existed, and that they justified a revision of the case. He had examined the different cases in which the court could annul sentence without retrial, and in his opinion the court should only consider a revision of it. A revision, he contended, was imperative.

Continuing, the reporter read letters written by Esterhazy, abusing France and the French army, these producing a deep impression upon the audience. He referred to a letter written by Esterhazy to Baron Rothschilds, dated June 21, 1894, to the effect that if his application for money was refused he would have no resource but to kill his family and then commit suicide. Such, said the reporter, was Esterhazy's language on the eve of the date when the bordereau was "placed." The inference to be drawn was that Esterhazy sought in treason resources necessary to carry on a life of dissipation.

At this point, with the evident approval of all who listened, M. Ballot de Beaupre quoted from M. Mornard's statement, as follows:

Innocent Man Unjustly Condemned.

"Although justice has been rendered more or less impotent with regard to Esterhazy by the latter's acquittal of the charge of being the author of the bordereau, it is none the less the duty of the Supreme Court to restore to liberty an innocent man unjustly condemned."

The hearing of the argument in the Dreyfus case was adjourned without any incident worth noting at 6 o'clock.

Sons of Benjamin to Mme. Dreyfus.

New York, May 30.—At their convention here yesterday the following cablegram was sent by the Sons of Benjamin:

"Mrs. Captain Dreyfus, Paris:

"The Independent Order of the Sons of Benjamin in convention assembled congratulate you on the near approach of the vindication of your husband.

"(Signed) Ferdinand Levy,
"Grand Master."

Homecoming of Dreyfus.

London, May 30.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at Cayenne, capital of French Guiana, telegraphs the substance of an interview he has had with H. L. Mouttet, Governor-General of the colony, as to the possibility of the re-transportation of Dreyfus to France. The Governor-General says: The question has been already thoroughly considered. I have received the minutest instructions relating to his removal from the Isle du Salut, which will be personally superintended by myself and M. Daniel of the Isle du Salut. No person but the state officials and the regular warders will be permitted to witness his departure. What arrangements are made for disembarkation in France I do not know.

Rev. Dr. Black Accepts.

Toronto, May 30.—Last night a cablegram reached Justice Maclennan, announcing that the Ministers' Presbytery in England had recommended the call and that Rev. Dr. Black had accepted.

The new pastor is an impressive-looking man, standing fully six feet in heights and is broad-shouldered. He has had extended experience, lasting some 25 years, in ministerial work. He has held charges in St. Andrew's, Irvine, Waterbeck, Edinburgh, Kilcreggan and Birkenhead. He is an eloquent preacher and wins friends as much by his kindly disposition as by his earnest spirituality. He is an ideal pastor. Dr. Black will come to Toronto in August.

Great Fire at St. Thomas.

St. Thomas Ont., May 30.—Robertson, Lindsay & Co.'s establishment, the largest departmental store in western Ontario, was completely destroyed by fire last night. The building was one of the largest in the city, and comprised about six stores. It was comparatively a new structure, having been built two years ago, and was situated in the centre of the city, directly opposite the postoffice. The stock was valued at $85,000, the building at $25,000. Insurance on stock in the neighborhood of $60,000, and on building $35,000.

Toronto University Deficit.

Toronto, May 30.—The Ontario Government has issued the report of the standing committee on finance of the University of Toronto, which gives a detailed statement of the expenditure of the past year. The deficit estimated for 1897-98 was $6,020.26, and the actual deficit was $6,098 39. Although $8,000 had been received for sale of lands, the deficit for the current year is estimated at $8,005.98. The revenue for 1898-99 is estimated at $125,465.28, while the total receipts for 1897-98 amounted to $119,087.10.

Train Killed Unidentified Man.

Port Union, Ont., May 30.—Last evening about 6 o'clock No. 9 local train killed a man half a mile west of Port Union. He was walking on the track and was watching a train going in the opposite direction. He was about 50 years of age, height about 5 feet 11 inches, small moustache, face recently shaved, black Christy hat and black shirt and tie, black coat and brown trousers. Nothing was found on the body that could identify him.

Will Give It Up at Present.

Cove Rock, Cornwall, May 30.—Further attempts to float the American Line steamer Paris have been abandoned until the next spring tides. Fresh holes have been discovered in her forepart. There is no doubt the Paris is badly strained. Fortunately, the weather continues fine and the sea is smooth.

When You Buy Here

You buy without an atom of risk. There is nothing at risk, we have no interest in deceiving you if we could. We have every interest in "not" deceiving you.

Take the little mountains of Wash Fabrics. Here are the Ginghams, the Piques, the Muslins, the Percales, the Crashes, the Egyptian Batistes, the Palmer Suitings, the Cotillian Skirtings—a hundred and one styles that belong to a carefully selected stock. They are new, they are the cream of this season's productions—Decide whether you want a flimsy Muslin, a knock-about Gingham, or a snowy white Pique, and the rest will take care of itself—the prices will be right, very likely lower than you expect:

PIQUES—This season's much favoured wash fabric have been procured in various width cords, some up and down, others crosswise—in white, self colours and fancies, the values will take a lot to beat, prices per yard 12½c. to..... .35

TUCKED MUSLINS — Printed in new colourings of quaint, old-fashioned designs that appeal to anyone's simplicity of taste. These Muslins come with single tucks and tucks in clusters of three—these are purely this season's novelties and why we are in a position to give you 25c goods for the price we ask will be explained at the counter, price per yard..... .19

TUCKS WITH INSERTIONS, for Blouses, Yokes and Trimmings of all kinds, "much sought after" goods, per yard 25c. to..... .50

FRENCH ZEPHYRS—Grec Romans, best goods, a guarantee of style, colouring and correctness of weave, in stripes with silk effects, checks of various sizes, etc., these are safe washing goods, prices range, per yard, 25c. to..... .37

CRASH SKIRTINGS of Scotch and Donegal Checks in plain and fancy weaves, check and stripes as well running in easy stages from 12½c. per yard to..... .25

A DOUBLE DROWNING AT COBOURG TO-DAY.

TWO BOYS DROWNED THROUGH A CANOE UPSETTING.

Both Lads Were Only About Fifteen Years of Age—They Were out Sailing.

Special to the Examiner.

Cobourg, Ont., May 30.—A very sad drowning accident occurred here this morning about half past six. Gordon Wilson, son of ex-Mayor Wilson, and Willie Floyd, son of W. H. Floyd, shoe merchant, went out for a sail in a canoe, when only a short distance out, the canoe capsized and before assistance could reach them, both boys were drowned. The boys were each about fifteen years of age.

A NEW INDUSTRY FOR PETERBOROUGH.

Conditional on Satisfactory Inducements Being Extended—Exemption from Taxation the Only Favour Desired.

For several months past, some Toronto gentlemen have been in communication with prominent citizens of Peterborough with a view of establishing in this town, a factory for the manufacture of oils and varnishes. The gentlemen mentioned have had, besides Peterborough, several sites in view, including Sherbrooke, P.Q., Lindsay and Toronto. This town, however, at present seems to have the preference. The promoters of the establishment in question, have several times visited Peterborough, inspecting sites suggested or offered as suitable for the purposes of their business. On Saturday they paid the town another visit and, in company with several prominent citizens, made another tour of inspection with the result that a site was provisionally chosen, and if the inducements desired are provided, the business will in a very short time be established and in operation. The inducement considered as reasonable condition of the establishment of the works in Peterborough, are simply exemption from taxation, certainly not a large or burdensome equivalent for the addition to the industries of the town of an establishment, with a capital of $50,000 and one that will bring to the town at the commencement fifteen families, which will require the use of fifteen of our now vacant houses and tenements; the new industry will employ, besides considerable local labour. Negotiations are now going forward with the Grand Trunk Railway company for a siding into the premises, which have been virtually selected. The buildings in question will require a considerable expenditure for refitting and necessary additions to the present structure, before they are ready for the reception of the machinery and plant of the new concern; but if the exemption from taxation desired, is assured, it will probably not be many weeks before the music of a new establishment will be added to the industrial hum of Peterborough.

Mayor Davis was in Toronto yesterday and completed the negotiations that have been in progress for several months, for the establishing of the works in question in Peterborough, provided exemption for taxation is granted.

Mayor Davis informs the Examiner this morning that in connection with this matter he proposes calling the council together at once to deal with the question of the exemption required to bring the establishment under consideration to Peterborough.

RAILWAYMEN IN SESSION.

Mass Meeting Held in Lindsay Yesterday It Was Largely Attended.

(Lindsay Post.)

The unrest and dissatisfaction among the men of this division of the G.T.R. arising out of the Trackmen's strike and the demand of the engineers for increased pay, culminated yesterday in a mass meeting of the several classes of employees in the Brotherhood hall. All the men who were not out with specials were on hand, and it was plain, even to the uninitiated that something unusual was to the fore.

When the session opened the situation was discussed with considerable warmth. The sympathy was with the striking trackmen, and some speakers proposed allowing the G.T.R. management a very short time in which to render justice to the oppressed and dissatisfied employees. Wiser councils prevailed, however, and we are informed on good authority that a resolution was unanimously adopted ordering that an ultimatum be forwarded to headquarters giving the management one week in which to patch up a peace with the men, failing which traffic on the Midland Division will be tied up.

Supt. Tiffin and Constable R. N. Harrison, of the Union Station, Toronto, arrived in town Saturday evening, presumably to investigate the truth of a rumour that the enginemen intended to quit work that night at 12. Constable Harrison remained in town all day.

LABOURERS FOR THE WEST.

About 100 left per C. P. R. this Morning for Manitoba.

Mr. Seth Myers of Cannington, arrived in town yesterday afternoon with about fifty labourers on their way to Manitoba. He was joined here by about fifty more and left by C. P.R. to-day for the west.

Mr. Myers, as agent for Messrs. Mckenzie & Mann, has engaged the men to work on a railroad in the Swan Valley, a continuation of the Lake Dauphin line. The men are big strong looking fellows and came from around Cannington, Orillia, Lindsay, and Peterborough. They have been offered good wages.

"To Do Ill Costs More Than to Do Well."

This "wise saw" might properly read, "It costs more to BE ill than to BE well." The source of all health is rich, strong blood. It is to the body what the mighty streams are to the earth. If the blood is pure, the body thrives; if the blood is weak or impoverished, then every pulse-beat carries weakness instead of strength.

Why make the cost of living more than it need be? Purify your blood and give your constitution a chance to do its level best. The only perfect blood purifier and vigor-maker in existance is the world-famed Hood's Sarsaparilla. It brings good, perfect health. It never disappoints.

Erysipelas Sores—"After scarlet fever a running sore was left on my nose. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it cured me. My brother was also relieved by it of erysipelas in his face." ELLA COUSSEN, Burden, N. B.

Bowel Trouble—"My mother, Mrs. John Ried, suffered with bowel trouble for four years and tried different doctors, but obtained no relief until she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this medicine entirely cured her." LIZZIE REID, Tracy Station, N. B.

A Good Medicine—"We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family as a spring medicine and used Hood's Pills for billousness and found both medicines very effective. For impure blood we know Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine." R. S. PELTON, publisher Bee, Atwood, Ont.

Loss of Appetite—"I was in poor health, troubled with dizziness, tired feeling and loss of appetite. I was completely run down. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and after awhile I felt much better. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up." LIZZIE A. RUSSELL, Old Chelsea, near Ottawa, Que.

Dyspepsia—"For twelve years I was dyspeptic and broken in health, had terrible pains in my back and was unable to work. When I had taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I recovered my health. I always recommend it." J. B. MANOR, 302 8th Street, Oswego, N. Y.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Ottawa, May 27.—In the interval since the last adjournment of the International High Court Commission, the efforts that have been made in some quarters from the day of its inception to discredit the commission and embarrass its deliberations, have been continued with steady persistency. When the adjournment was announced about three months ago with the intimation that the deliberations would be resumed in the early fall, the Opposition press without exception boldly declared that that was the end of it all, for the plenipotentiaries would never meet again; and when, three or four weeks ago, a fake despatch from Washington gave what purported to be the views of one of the United States Commissioners that there was no probability of the Commission resuming its deliberations, the statement was eagerly copied into every Conservative paper in Canada with the well satisfied comment, "I told you so." However, it appears to be another case of the wish being father to the thought, and now the authoritive announcement appears that the Commission will not only meet again, but that there is the most encouraging prospects of a successful conclusion being reached on all important points. Of course Opposition leaders are delighted at the prospect of success crowning the efforts of the Government in this direction, at least they profess to be, and of course the Liberals are well pleased, so everybody is satisfied.

The Redistribution Bill.

The Redistribution Bill is before the country, and those members of the Opposition who have so violently assailed it in advance, must be congratulating themselves on their sagacity in attacking it before the details were made known, for they will find it much more difficult now to offer any effective criticism. The province of Ontario is principally interested, and there the only object sought has been, as the Premier announced at the beginning of the session, to remove the glaring imperfections of the redistribution acts of 1882 and 1892, restoring municpal boundaries for Federal election purposes, wherever such has been made necessary. There is no change in the number of representatives though four constituencies have been obliterated and four new ones created. Of course any change made in the present law would benefit the Liberal party, for the simple reason that the province had been so scientifically gerrymandered to their disadvantage that it could not well be made worse.

Thoroughly Constitutional.

The evident intention of the Opposition is to lay all possible stress upon the contention that the constitution contemplates a redistribution only after each decennial census; but there is no attempt in the present bill to make a general redistribution throughout the country and consequently the principle is not affected one way or the other. It is never too soon to right a wrong or to remove an injustice, and as this is the only purpose of the bill, there is no necessity for the Government to explain its position further, or to offer any apologies for the policy it is pursuing. The preliminary skirmish over the introduction of the bill gives an inkling of the policy of the Opposition will adopt in the matter. With the desperation of despair they are evidently prepared to use any and every kind of weapon convenient to their hands—abuse, misrepresentation, appeals to sectional, provincial and racial prejudices will all be pressed into the service, but the Government need feel no apprehension, for the more the measure is discussed the more thoroughly will the country appreciate the fact that it is called for, and that they would be lacking in their duty to the country and particularly to the gerrymandered constituencies if they allowed another election to be held under the old conditions.

The Teslin Lake Railway.

In view of the fact that the honourable and venerable Senate still appears to be labouring under the delusion that it did great things for itself and the country when it threw out the Canadian Yukon Railway Bill last session, it is of interest to note what Mr. Louis Davies Coste, late Chief Engineer of the Public Works Department, says of the route over which that line proposed to run. Prefacing with the statement that the Stikine river may be navigated from the middle of May to November, Mr. Coste proceeds: "From all I have heard and seen on the coast, I belive that, being given that the portion from Glenora to Teslin Lake is improved by the construction of a railway or wagon route, the Stikine route will be the cheapest and best inlet into the Yukon Territory for all provisions and mining supplies required in that country during the coming season, particularly as it is known by Mr. Hamlin's report that the Hootalinqua River offers no obstacle to navigation, and that the Lewes and Yukon Rivers are navigable. A great number of people are anxious to avail themselves of the Stikine route, and therefore must strongly insist upon the necessity of improving at once that part of the route which lies between Glenora and Teslin Lake. Had it been possible to construct the proposed railway between these two points in time for the opening of navigation, I have no doubt that a large majority of the gold-seekers or traders intending to go into the Yukon would have adopted that route."

Trade Lost to Canada.

He further adds "When the railway over this route is built it would certainly assure to Canadians the vast trade of the Yukon and the larger share of the immense riches contained in that Territory and the numerous mineral districts of Northern British America. Concerning the construction of a telegraph line from Quesnelle, the present terminus of the Government telegraph line to British Columbia, to Dawson City, by way of Telegraph Creek, Teslin and Fort Selkirk, I am able to report that the construction of this line would be an easy matter. The country is an open one, in which, however, timber suitable for telegraph poles is plentiful. The average cost per mile should not exceed $275."

It may be observed that this is an absolutely unprejudiced report, for not only was it prepared before Mr. Coste had any knowledge of the fate of the MacKenzie-Mann project, but he has since resigned his position to engage in private business, and therefor had no personal object in view in thus endorsing so strongly the policy of the Government.

Her Majesty Took the Hint.

There has been mild surprise expressed in some quarters that Canada has received no share of the birthday honours this year, particularly in view of the fact that this anniversary was a more than usually memorable one. But the explanation perhaps is not far to seek. A few days ago a letter appeared in the Mail-Empire signed by "A Civil Servant," inveighing, in impassioned and soul stirring periods against the bare idea of the bestowal of knighthood upon the Postmaster-General, and declaring that if such "a monstrous outrage" (as Sir Charles Tupper would observe) were perpetrated, he, "A Civil Servant," would never again sing "God Save the Queen." Who can imagine for a moment that Her Most Gracious Majesty, or her advisers, would venture to invite such a reprisal as this? This must be why there are no birthday honours for Canada.

Notes.

The monthly return of the business transacted by the Government Post-office Bank shows an increase of $35,-329 in deposits over April, 1898, while the withdrawals were $114,927 less. The balance to the credit of the depositors on the 30th of April was $33,-851,405, as compared with $33,842,332 on the same date last year.

The announcement was made by the Minister of Finance this week that the Government did not intend to proceed any further this session with the bill dealing with the question of Friendly Society insurance. The importance of the subject to tens of thousands of Canadians, and the desirability of securing a more thorough discussion of the question in all its bearings before enacting legislation thereon, has led the Government to decide that the whole subject could be safely laid over another year, so that the chief governing bodies of the various societies may have the desired opportunity to meet and confer thereon.

The Black Chapter Convenes.

Toronto, May 30.—The Grand Black Chapter of British North America began their 25th annual meeting here yesterday. Delegates from all points of the country were present, and the meeting was one of the most important ever held. The reports presented by the officers of the various branches of the order were gratifying, and the past year was the most successful in the history of the order.

The Grand Black Chapter will conclude business this morning. In the afternoon the annual convention of the Grand Lodge of British North America will be held and to-morrow the election of officers will take place.

PROCEEDINGS AT THE HAGUE.

Italian and American Amendments to Russian Arbitration Scheme.

The Hague, May 30.—The drafting committee, or sub-committee of the arbitration committee, met yesterday and discussed the Russian scheme, adopting with slight modifications, the first six articles. Count Nigra, chief of the Italian delegation, submitted a proposal of mediation and arbitration, consisting of six articles, in the form of an amendment to the Russian project.

The Americans also submitted an amendment, demanding that in the event of a dispute between two nations, each should choose another nation to act together as arbitrators to settle the difference without bloodshed. This must not be confounded with the proposal for a permanent arbitration tribunal which the Americans will introduce during the week.

The Italian proposal includes a clause providing that mediation and arbitration shall not stop mobilization or preparations for war. Neither the American nor Italian amendment has as yet been discussed.

The naval and military sections of the disarmament committee both met yesterday, and exchanged ideas in a desultory manner. The impression gains ground that the outcome of this committee will be practically nil.

The British minister to the Netherlands, Mr. Henry Howard, gave a grand reception last night, at which all the delegates and the leaders of Dutch society were present.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264.95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 15002 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334.80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

A POPULAR AFTER-DINNER RELISH.

A LONG FELT WANT FILLED BY DODD'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS.

While Curing Advanced Stages of Dyspepsia a Tablet Taken After Dinner is Accepted Gratefully by Even the Most Healthy Stomach.

We eat an awful lot of trash nowadays—that is considering the use of it is to our bodies when eaten.

Think what a mixture has been sent down our throats at the end of an average good dinner.

The stomach has to separate the grain from the chaff, the blood-building parts from the [illegible] no use to its extra [illegible] finished work that the [illegible] of the material was [illegible]

So the fact is [illegible] stomach is greatly overworked.

[illegible] whether it has [illegible] not Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will help it.

They assist in the digesting process.

They help the stomach out with its work.

If you are troubled with the severe symptoms of Dyspepsia, viz., Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Foul Breath, Wind on the Stomach, Biliousness, Waterbrash, Heartburn, Catarrh of the Stomach, Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will give your stomach a chance to take the time to cure itself.

That is the only way it can be done. If you starve yourself to rest your stomach you starve your stomach also, for it needs nourishment like the rest of you.

If your stomach is still "game," but you know from experience to refrain from certain delicties, use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after every meal and eat anything you like.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are fifty cents a box, six boxes, $2.50 or will be sent on receipt of price, by the [illegible] Co., Limited, Toronto.

Screamed ... WITH.. Agony

From the Terrible Itching, Burning Tortures of ...

Eczema on the Scalp

Some of the cures effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment are more like miracles than anything else. The case recorded here was one of the worst ever brought to the attention of Toronto's best physicians, and when doctors gave up all hope of recovery Dr. Chase's Ointment was successful in producing a perfect cure.

Mr. James Scott, 156 Wright Ave., Toronto, states: "My boy Tom, aged ten, was for nearly three years afflicted with a bad form of Eczema of the scalp, which was very unsightly and resisted all kinds of remedies and doctor's treatment. His head was in a terrible state. We had to keep him from school, and at times his head would bleed, and the child would scream with agony. For two and a half years we battled with it in vain, but at last found a cure in Dr. Chase's Ointment. About five boxes were used. The original sores dried up, leaving the skin in its normal condition. To say it is a pleasure to testify to the wonderful merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment is putting it very mildly."

KALAMAZOO.

Have you heard the pretty legend, sad and mournful and yet true,
Of the brave and dusky lover and the Indian maid Mahsoo?
How they lived and loved and wandered on the river's shady shore,
Happiest of Indian lovers in the days that are no more?

All day long the maiden labored, weaving baskets by the stream,
Thinking of her love, her Kahla, weaving him into her dream;
Then he comes—she hears the rowing of his light birch bark canoe.
"Kahla!" calls she. Cries he, "Coming, coming to my own Mahsoo!"

Ah, one night she waits in silence! Sad her face—her love is dead!
Wounded in the chase, her warrior in a fortnight to be wed.
In the morn they find sweet Mahsoo lying silent in the stream,
Gone unto her lover Kahla, nevermore to watch and dream.

Still the echoes o'er the river may be heard soft through the air—
Echoes of the warrior Kahla and of young Mahsoo the fair.
All the trees repeat the whisper, all the ripples murmur, too,
In the stream that bears their name now—bears the name "Kalamazoo."

A CURIOUS PROCESS.

STRIPPING SALMON OF THEIR EGGS AT FISH HATCHERIES.

After the Operation the Big Fish Are Placed Back in the Water None the Worse For Their Experience Out of Their Natural Element.

There are two methods which are employed by fish culturists to propagate food and game fish. One is to catch the young fish, the fry, and transport them to other waters where it is desired to introduce them. The other is to strip the female fish of her eggs and to impregnate them artificially.

All the attempts that have been made to propagate black bass by stripping the female of their eggs have been failures so far, and the only method that can be applied to them is to catch the fry and nurse them till they are strong enough to be liberated. Other fish, notably the shad and the salmon, are readily stripped, and the results are wonderful, as the percentage of eggs that fail to hatch is exceedingly small.

Were either fry or eggs left to nature only an excessively small proportion would grow into adult fishhood. Apart from those which would die naturally a tremendous quantity would fall prey to the host of enemies—insects, crustacea, fish, birds and mammals—that is waiting for the spawn or the tiny fish.

Any one who has handled fish freshly caught knows how delicate they appear to be and how quickly they die after leaving the water. Yet the experts in the service of the various state and of the United States fish commissions handle millions of the most sensitive food and game fish every year, and few of them die from the process.

The process of handling a female salmon that is heavy with spawn which it is desired to take from her is a decidedly interesting and extremely simple one and may be explained so as to be readily understood. First the fish are led to swim into a confined space where they can be reached with the landing net. The manipulation of this dip net alone requires no mean skill. It must not bruise the floundering fish and must lift the creature in such a way that it does not scrape the scales from its sides as it struggles. Wherever a scale is torn from a fish, particularly in fresh water, fungus is almost certain to form, and that is generally fatal.

After the fish is in the net the latter is lifted carefully, and the operator's hand slides downward, gently but firmly, till it grasps the body immediately above the tail. Then he draws the fish from the net and holds it head downward. That serves to show at once whether the fish is "ripe"—that is, whether the eggs have reached that stage of development which permits of stripping. If the fish is perfectly ripe, the eggs sink toward the head.

If the fish is found satisfactory, the operator places a pan between his legs and holds the fish firmly in his arm. With the right hand he encircles the salmon just back of the gills and, squeezing the fish gently, slides the hand down toward the tail, when the eggs spout into the pan. They are hard then and rattle into the receptacle like peas. Later, after they have been in the hatching frames for a time, they get larger and softer, having absorbed much water.

After the eggs have been drawn from the female fish she is placed back into the water, none the worse for her trials. Then the milt from a ripe male fish is pressed into the pan in the same way, and the impregnated eggs are ready to be hatched.

Under favorable conditions 90 days is the period of incubation for the grand landlocked salmon, one of the finest game fishes in the world and hardly inferior to any as a good fish. The first sign of life in the eggs is the formation of a little clot, generally red or pink, which increases with remarkable rapidity, until in a few days the complete form of a little fish is plain to the eye.

But it is rather a hideous little monster that wriggles out of the egg finally. It resembles a fish only because it wriggles and moves like one. Otherwise it looks more like a fevered dream after too much broiled lobster or Welsh rabbit. It is a transparent body, with a globular swelling where its fine, fishlike lines ought to be, and its eyes are immense goggles. Then the fish wise men watch the things most carefully.

This is a critical period of the young things' growth, and a fall or a rise of a degree in the temperature of the water may mean death to millions of salmon. Generally men remain on guard night and day in the big hatcheries to watch their charges at this time. If they pull through, it is beautiful to see the successive changes as the tiny swimmers cast off their hideous appendages and turn into dainty, slender, silvery creatures that dart through the water like bubbles of air and form in thick swarms in the corners of the tanks, where they hang like bees.—New York Press.

Apt Quotations.

Proverbs, axioms and wise sayings have been uttered by Confucius and other wise men from time immemorial, but few people realize how many there are of them. C. I. Hood & Co., of Sarsaparilla fame, have over two thousand and they have originated the ingenious plan of serving them up in delectable shape in thousands of newspapers with each one neatly turning a point as to the merit of their well known medicine. The extensive use of these proverbs is original and creditable to Hood & Co.

Keep in mind that Scott's Emulsion contains the hypophosphites.

These alone make it of great value for all affections of the nervous system.

It also contains glycerine, a most valuable, soothing and healing agent. Then there is the cod-liver oil, acknowledged by all physicians as the best remedy for poor blood and loss in weight.

These three great remedial agents blended into a creamy Emulsion, make a remarkable tissue builder.

SHELL FRUIT.

Filberts are a species of hazelnuts that grow in Greece.

Pistachio nuts come from Syria, and the Greeks were very fond of them.

Hazelnuts grow in Europe, Russia, Asia, north Africa and North America.

Walnuts grew originally in Persia, the Caucasus, China, North America and Europe.

Almonds are found in Asia, Barbary and Morocco. Those we get are imported from Malaga.

Cocoanuts come from the East Indies, the West Indies and the islands of the Pacific near the equator.

Chestnuts form a portion of the daily food of the Mediterranean nations, though in America they are not ground into flour, but are eaten simply as nuts.

Hickory nuts are an American product, and we export them in large numbers to Europe, where they are found good eating. Pecans belong to the hickory family.

Good Blood and Sound Muscles.

Scott's Emulsion is a blood-making and strength producing food. It removes that feeling of utter helplessness which takes possession of one when suffering from general debility.

Oyster Shells as Medicine.

Ground oyster shells were given by the mediæval doctors to children suffering from rickets and scrofula. Now it appears that they were right. The shells contain lime, nitrogen, iron, sulphur, manganese, magnesia, flour, bromide, phosphoric acid and iodine, all excellent for feeble children. They say that if growing children were to take powdered oyster shells in their food the teeth would be improved.

PEN, CHISEL AND BRUSH.

Asked how he began to write, Rudyard Kipling replies, "For the fun of the thing—like all others."

Adams-Acton, the sculptor, has completed his design for the colossal statue of Gladstone to be erected in Blackburn, England.

Stephen Crane has bought a country home in Surrey, England, and is reported as hard at work on a new novel, the scenes of which are laid in a New England university town, New York and Greece.

Munkacsy, the Hungarian artist who has now for some time been mad, has occasional lucid intervals of late, during one of which he called for a print of his "Last Hours of Mozart," and, looking at it, remarked sadly: "That is my best work. I'll never be up to that again."

Miss Braddon is still, at the age of 62, as industrious as ever, and a new novel, "The Infidel," which has been promised for publication soon, makes it sure that 1899 will not go by without a novel from her pen. Since 1863, when she began to publish in book form, she has skipped only two years.

WOODSTOCK WONDER.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

He Needed a Map.

Here is the direction given in the south to a bewildered New Yorker desirous of finding a certain man who had some lumber to sell: "When you come to Fonso Payne's gate—you know the fellow what owns Jim Gray—turn to your left and ride on 200 or 300 yards till you come to a frame house in a locust grove, where the Porters—John, you know—lived 'foh the war and some English people lived there some time ago, but they're gone. Reckon it's rented, for I saw a hawg in the house yard. Then keep up the hill until you come to a blown over chestnut; somewhar down the hill thar's a gate; turn in and keep the mountain road for two miles and then turn to your left, and you'll come to the hollow, and I reckon Goss'll be there."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Free Medical Treatment For Weak Men

Who are Willing to Pay When Convinced of Cure.

A SCIENTIFIC combined medical and mechanical cure has been discovered for "Weakness of Men." Its success has been so startling that the proprietors now announce that they will send it on trial—remedies and appliance—without advance payment—to any honest man. If not all that is claimed—all you wish—send it back—that ends it—pay nothing.

This combined treatment creates health, strength, vitality, sustaining powers, and restores weak and undeveloped portions to natural functions.

There is no C. O. D. extortion, no deception of any nature in this offer.

If you are interested and in earnest write your name and address in the blank form below, cut out the coupon and mail it to Erie Medical Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

We pay Canadian duty. No delay, no exposure.

Handsome Hat Rack.

The art of window decorating is largely cultivated in Peterborough. A successful business must not only have a shrewd merchant at its head, but good storekeepers and window trimmers as well. A new and very handsome hat rack for window displays has just been placed in the north window of Messrs. W. Lech & Sons hat store, George street. The main outlines are designed in the form of a lyre, having branching stems or mechanical rods that may be adjusted to any desired position for producing effective changes of display. It is beautifully nickel-plated and ornamented and forms a pleasing variation for the arrangement of hat displays.

BARN STRUCK BY LIGHTENING.

Two Sheep Killed but the fire Gotten Under Control.

Yesterday evening about 6 o'clock lightning struck a barn in Otonabee, near Westwood, owned by David Bartier, knocking the end out of the building and killing two sheep. The fire was gotten under control before any very great damage was done.

TO DISCUSS THE HIGH WATER QUESTION.

A Meeting to be Held on June 10th at Which John Lang M.P. and Jas. Kendry, M. P., will be Present.

A meeting of the farmers of Otonabee and Monaghan who reside along the route of the Trent Valley Canal, which was held in the Council Chamber on Saturday, was not very largely attended.

A number of farmers and land owners from Otonabee and North and South Monaghan were present and discussed the high water question in an informal way. Owing to the great quantity of water from the back country this season the farmers along the canal route have suffered a great deal and had it not been for the new sluices which have been built at Hastings matters would have been much worse.

The meeting adjourned until Saturday, June 10th, when it is expected that Messrs. John Lang, M.P., and James Kendry, M.P., will be present.

THE SOCIAL EVENING.

At the Murray Street Baptist Church Was a Grand Success.

Considering the very disagreeable state of the weather last night, there was a good attendance at the "Social Evening" which was given in the Murray street Baptist Church.

The affair was of the most informal nature, there being no chairman nor any previously arranged programme. Just a few hours were spent in social intercourse. During the evening an informal programme was disposed of, and was taken part in by Miss Hutchinson, Miss Webber, Miss Harding and Messrs. John McDonald, A. J. Radden and Rev. Mr. Bastow. The latter gentleman gave a reading from Shakespeare's Richard III., which was very much enjoyed.

Refreshments were then served and the affair brought to a close by singing God Save the Queen.

MUSIC.

Mr. Chas. J. Rodgers, Organist and Choirmaster of St. John's Church, will accept pupils for the study of the Organ and also of Service Playing. He will continue to accept pupils in Piano Playing and Voice Culture at his studio in the Bank of Commerce Chambers.

BAD BOYS IN COURT.

Two More Appear before Magistrate Dumble this Morning.

That there are a great many bad boys in Peterborough is quite apparent, and unless they mend their ways the local authorities will ship a load of them to the reformatory. Two more samples of this class of boys answered to their names in the police court this morning. They were Eddie King and George Kearns, the latter being a brother of young Fred Kearns, who is at present in the county jail on suspended sentence. They were charged with throwing stones at the shoe shop of Wm. McCaul, corner of Macdonnell and Reid streets, on Friday last.

Mr. McCaul made a bitter complaint in court of what he has had to stand for the last couple of years from the same two boys. They gave him all sorts of impudence and used the most profane language to men, women and children on the streets.

Mrs. King, who was in court, claimed that young Kearns was the means of getting her son into much trouble, and that if the magistrate would let the boy off this time she would try and keep him in better company.

Many have been the complaints that have been made to Magistrate Dumble concerning the two, and he administered to them a good, sound lecturing. They are both to report at school to-morrow morning, and the magistrate said that the next time they appeared before him it would most likely be the last for some time.

Bismark's Iron Nerve.

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25c at James Lynch's drug store.

District Lodge No. 10, I. O. G. T., will meet at the Auburn Mission Hall, Auburn, on Friday next, June 2nd, commencing with an afternoon session at 2 o'clock sharp.

At 8 o'clock in the evening a public meeting will be held, which the public are cordially invited to attend. Short speeches will be given by some of the prominent members of the order, and a programme consisting of readings, recitations, dialogues, etc., will be run off. The Rhines Brothers, the famous Evangelistic singers, have also promised to take part. No admission fee will be charged.

The visiting delegates will be entertained to tea by members of Auburn Lodge, No. 250, I.O.G.T.

Exhibition of Painting.

Lovers of art will have the opportunity to-morrow and a few days afterwards of visiting at Belleghem's furniture store, 190 Hunter street, a collection of pictures painted by Henry Martin of Toronto, during his sketching trips in European cities. The collection is small, but the subjects are very interesting, including Westminster Abbey, The Market Place, Verona and many other such well known historic places, Venice not being forgotten. We advise everyone to visit these pictures and it would be well to retain some of them in Peterborough. 2d

A BICYCLE BYLAW FOR PETERBOROUGH.

IT IS TIME ONE WAS PASSED BY THE COUNCIL.

Riders Should be Compelled as in Toronto, to keep to the right of the car tracks—Accidents happen Otherwise.

The matter of the town passing a by-law regulating bicycle traffic in the town is being generally discussed amongst the devotees of the wheel, the majority of whom have long since recognized the danger existing in the hap-hazard way in which some riders dash about the streets.

References have been made from time to time in the Examiner drawing attention to accidents and narrow escapes from them, which have resulted from the fact of wheelmen occupying the wrong side of the street or riding at an immoderate rate of speed inside the town limits.

The following amendment to the Act regulating traveling on public highways deals partially with the case:

1. (a) "In case a person travelling or being upon a highway in charge of a vehicle, as aforesaid, meets a person travelling upon a bicycle or tricycle he shall, when practicable, allow the person travelling upon a bicycle or tricycle sufficient room on the travelled portion of the highway to pass to the right.

1. (b). "In case a person travelling on a bicycle or tricycle overtakes any vehicle as aforesaid, or horseman travelling at less speed, or a person travelling on foot, the person travelling on a bicycle or tricycle shall give to the other person audible warning of his approach before attempting to pass."

1. (c). "In case a person travelling or being upon a street or highway on a bicycle or tricycle is overtaken by any vehicle, as aforesaid, or horseman travelling at a greater speed, the person so overtaken shall quietly turn out to the right and allow the said vehicle or horseman to pass, and the person so overtaking the bicycle or tricycle shall turn out to the left so far as may be necessary to avoid a collision.

The City of Toronto has passed a by-law from which many clauses might be taken for incorporation in the local by-law. The clauses read as follows:

1. The following provisions of this by-law shall apply to the use of the vehicles hereinafter mentioned upon the highways, streets and other public places in the City of Toronto.

2. In case a person on a bicycle or tricycle or other vehicle overtakes a person or vehicle travelling at less speed, the person first mentioned shall give audible warning of his approach before attempting to pass, and shall, in passing turn out to the left so far as may be necessary to avoid a collision.

3. Bicyclists or tricyclists, when approaching and crossing street intersections, shall run their vehicles at a slow rate of speed.

4. In case of a person on a bicycle or tricycle travelling upon any portion of a street set apart by the Municipality under the Municipal Act, the said person shall have the right of way over vehicles driven, or horsemen, provided the said person gives audible warning of his approach to the driver of such vehicle or horse, provided, however, that this shall not apply to horses or vehicles lawfully standing on the public highways.

5. Every rider of a bicycle or tricycle shall at all times when riding the same have control of the vehicle by keeping his or her feet on the pedals and holding the handlebars.

6. No person shall carry a child or children upon a bicycle or tricycle.

7. In case a number of bicyclists or tricyclists are travelling together not more than two of them shall be allowed to go abreast.

8. No bicyclist or tricyclist shall travel at an immoderate rate of speed.

9. Persons travelling upon any highways, streets or public places in the City of Toronto, whether upon bicycles, tricycles or other vehicles, either drawn by horses or propelled by other power, shall travel upon that portion of the highway which is to the right of the centre line of the street, and in turning from one street to another shall keep to the right of the centre line of the highway from which and also of the one to which they may be riding or driving. Provided, however, that this section shall not prevent persons passing to the opposite side of the highway to stop or dismount or for any other necessary purpose, but in so doing they must use extra precaution so as not to get in the way of other persons riding or driving in the opposite direction. Provided also that nothing herein contained shall prevent the use of the central strip between the double tracks of the surface street railway, as provided in Section 7 of the Act to regulate travelling on public highways and bridges.

10. Bicyclists or tricyclists, in meeting or passing, or on being overtaken by a street car, shall keep off the central portion of the roadway between the double tracks of the street railway known as the "devil strip."

11. Any person convicted of a breach of any of the provisions of this By-law shall forfeit and pay, at the discretion of the convicting magistrate, a penalty not exceeding the sum of fifty dollars for each offence, exclusive of costs, and in default of payment of the said penalty and costs forthwith, the said penalty and costs, or costs only, may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, and in case of there being no distress found out of which such penalty can be levied, the convicting magistrate may commit the offender to the Common Gaol of the City of Toronto, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding six calendar months, unless the said penalty and costs be sooner paid.

12. This by-law shall come in force and take effect upon the 11th day of July, 1898.

Clause IX is one which would be especially desirable in the local by-law, as through violation of its requirements many accidents have already occurred in Peterborough.

The city of London classifies bicycles along with all other vehicles and it remains with the Police Magistrate to decide, upon the evidence, whether or not bicycles are being propelled at an unmoderate speed.

Buffalo has passed a "Bicycle and Fast Driving" ordinance from the text of which, the following "Municipal Don'ts" are compiled:

TO RIDERS OF BICYCLES.

Don't ride your bicycle anywhere within the city limits without a bell attached.

Don't sound your bell unnecessarily.

Don't make a nuisance of the bell; there is a penalty therefor.

Don't do tricks or fancy riding without permission of the Superintendent of Police.

Don't ride anywhere within the city limits faster than ten miles per hour.

Don't ride south of North street, west of Jefferson street, southeast of Porter Avenue, or north of Katherine street, and the southerly city line, faster than eight miles per hour.

Don't scorch within city limits; some policeman may be holding a stop-watch on you.

Don't coast inside of above limits, nor ride with both hands off the handle bars.

Don't ride on any sidewalk.

Don't get too far from the curb in turning corners, the law says so.

Don't ride abreast so as to take up more than one-third of the street.

Don't ride more than two abreast on streets where car tracks are laid.

Don't leave your bicycle upon any roadway or sidewalk so as to hinder or obstruct traffic along or across the same.

OBITUARY.

The funeral of the late Edward Lynch took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, Stewart street, and was largely attended by the many friends of the deceased, who had learned to love and respect him.

The members of the Catholic Literary Association, of which deceased was a model member, turned out in a body and the employees of the Lock Works attended the funeral in carriages. The coffin was literally hidden from view by the many beautiful floral tributes from friends. Amongst them might be mentioned a floral cross from the C.L.A., an anchor from the lock works, a cross from the employees of Miss K. Rudkins' dry goods store and a floral tribute from St. Peter's Cathedral choir.

The services at the funeral were conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey and as the remains were leaving the church, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair" was sung by Mrs. Geo. Ball.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Jas. Lynch, Jas. Hickey, F. McFadden, F. Sullivan, Ozias Le Plante and F. Walsh.

Cancer Cured.

Burdock Blood Bitters again Vanquishes this Terrible Disease.

Mrs. E. J. Tufford, Paris, Ont., tells how it cured Cancer of six years' standing.

Not long ago we published in this paper an account of the case of Mrs. Gilhula, of Buxton, Ont., who was cured of cancer of the stomach 12 years ago by Burdock Blood Bitters, and who, up to the present time, has had no return of the disease.

Now we let MRS. E. J. TUFFORD, a fine old lady, 84 years of age, living at Paris, Ont., tell how B.B.B. cured her of cancer of six years' standing. This is her statement: "About six years ago last fall I was afflicted with that terrible disease, a cancer under my left breast, about as large as a saucer. It was between the skin and the body, and fast to the body.

"I wrote to a Chicago specialist about my case and he desired me to go to him and have an operation performed, which I decided not to do on account of my years.

"I had heard a great deal about wonderful cures being made by Burdock Blood Bitters and decided to try it.

"I can assure you if it had not been for B.B.B. I should have gone the way of all flesh long ere this.

"After I had taken seven or eight bottles I found I was greatly benefited, so I continued its use until I was cured.

"People say to me 'you are wonderfully smart for a woman of 84.' I tell them I give B.B.B. all the credit.

"I tell folks they need not have boils, pimples, abscesses, cancers, salt rheum, scrofula or any blood disease if they will only use B.B.B. faithfully according to directions."

A case of such severity as the above ought surely be sufficient to convince the most skeptical of the thorough blood purifying properties of B.B.B.

There is no disease or disorder arising from impure blood, be it the smallest pimple or the worst scrofulous sore or cancer, but what B.B.B. can cure to stay cured.

JAPANESE CUSTOMS.

Peculiar Practice of Formal Dinners. Guests Carry Away Scraps.

At the close of formal dinners in Japan the guests are presented with any portion of the meal they may fail to eat. However great or small the amount they may fail to eat, it is carefully wrapped up for them and they are expected to take it home with them. The unique custom was followed at official dinners until a short time ago, when it was discontinued, but the withdrawal of government example has not materially affected the practice. The plan has been followed for many years and it is difficult to place its origin.

Peculiar as the custom is, it is not without its attractive features. The husband who stays out late at night can pave the way to wifely pardon with the neat and tempting parcel under his arm. The impecunious or temporarily embarrassed can hold out enough to tide them over several hungry days. The indulgent father or mother can pass the sweets and carry them home to their children. Half a dozen satisfactory combinations can be worked on the plan.

There may be all kinds of elaborate courses at a dinner that one does not care for, but the mental struggle of saying no is not half so hard when you know you will get a chance to carry the food off and either give it to your children, feed it to your dogs and cats or distribute it among your friends. The Japanese practice is all that could be expected. Each kind of food is kept in a separate parcel, and at the close of the dinner the share of each guest is made up in a neat and artistic bundle. —San Francisco Chronicle.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at James Lynch's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Killed by a Through Freight.

West Lorne, Ont., May 29.—John Johnson and his two sons, Peter and John, farmers, on Saturday morning did not notice a through freight, westbound, until their horses were on the track. On seeing the train the father grabbed the lines from his youngest son and caused a delay. In an instant the train struck the wagon. The horses got free, but the occupants were thrown several rods. The father was instantly killed. The youngest boy and part of the wagon were carried over a quarter of a mile on the cow-catcher. The boy at last rolled off, fortunately on the outside of the rails, or he would have been killed. The eldest son cannot possibly live. The youngest son, it is thought, will live.

The Galician Murderers.

Winnipeg, May 29. — On Saturday morning the two Galicians, Gacsak and Czuby, were hanged in Winnipeg jail yard. Unexpectedly, both displayed great nerve at the end and walked to the scaffold, the drop falling at 8 o'clock. Radcliffe made a good job, death being practically instantaneous. Czuby protested his innocence to the last.

THE SAD STORY IT TOLD.

Cussi's First Glance In a Looking Glass in Fifteen Years.

Shortly after Cussi's rescue by General Kitchener, when the latter entered Omdurman, the long suffering man said

"During my 15 years' imprisonment I never saw a mirror, and gradually all interest in my personal appearance faded completely away. When it became sure that an expedition was on its way to Omdurman, I began to live again. When at last the cannon began to thunder and the wild cries of the battle penetrated the city, I laid my sword ready, determined, should this last hope be destroyed, to put an end to my life. When finally the noise of the cannon ceased and the victor Kitchener stood before me, congratulating me on my release, I thought I should suffocate with emotion.

"The next day I made my toilet in an officer's tent and held in my hand the first looking glass I had seen for 15 years. I looked curiously at my reflection in it and started back. I had gone out into the world a young, active strong man, and the image which now stared at me was that of a sick, hollow eyed, wrinkled, broken man. Never did all that I had suffered enter my mind with such strength as at this moment, and I wept, wept like a child—the first tears in 15 years!

"The day after I was made a prisoner I saw my wife die, but my grief was too great for the relief of tears. My child was torn from me and died of starvation far away, and I could not weep. I suffered deprivations and ill treatment without a sign of weakness, but now, before this small looking glass, I was overwhelmed. The pain of all that I had lost seemed concentrated in the grief stricken features reflected in the mirror. At one glance I saw the story of my sufferings."

ADDERS FOND OF EGGS.

Little Reptiles With Remarkable Swallowing Ability.

Among a lot of very interesting specimens of prepared animals sent to the Museum of Natural History at Paris by Father Guilleme, a missionary in the upper Kongo country, there is one group of native adders, in the act of swallowing eggs, which excited uncommon interest. The most remarkable part of it is the relative size of this snake and its common food. This adder is rather small; it is seldom longer than 28 inches, and its thickness never exceeds an inch. Yet it feeds regularly on duck eggs, the smaller diameter of which is almost two inches.

How the snake can get such an egg into its mouth is difficult to understand, and the aspect of these reptiles while swallowing the eggs is most strange. The only way to account for this peculiar manner of swallowing whole eggs is the presence in the neck, just back of the head, of a series of pointed bones slanted backward and piercing the esophagus. These not only assist to hold the egg in place, but act like a saw. When the egg has advanced far enough, their pressure will cut the egg; its contents will continue into the stomach, while the empty shell is crushed afterward and thrown out through the mouth.

While in the act of swallowing the egg the snake is easily caught, for it is then almost in a state of complete inertia; it then looks very much like the bulb as used by photographers for opening their shutters.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

Sample Carriers.

The Philadelphia Record says: "A peculiar trade followed by a number of men who haunt the big hotels is that of sample carrier. The natty drummers who visit the city are far above the work of lugging around their sometimes heavy samples, and so there has arisen a class of men who make a living by hanging around the hotels waiting an opportunity to carry sample cases. Sometimes these cases are very valuable, as when they contain samples of jewelry. It is not an infrequent sight to see a spruce young fellow, followed by a shabby individual carrying two black cases, enter the portals of one of the big hostelries. If the couple were traced farther it would be seen that the big hotel safe was the objective point. Some of these sample carriers have their regular patrons, who look for them on every visit."

Ottawa's Society Robbers.

Ottawa, May 29.—The robberies which occurred among Ottawa's four hundred about a year ago and created such a furore of excitement have commenced again. In fact the thefts have been going on in a quiet way for some months. At an at home given on Sandy Hill, one lady, this time a visitor to the city, had her purse relieved of a considerable amount of money. This is only one case in many. A prominent society lady stated on Saturday morning that Ottawa's social highwayman was still energetically at work, but refused to talk further on the matter.

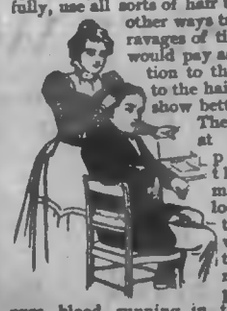
GRAY HAIR.

Some people do a whole lot of worrying when a few gray hairs make their appearance. They pick them out carefully, use all sorts of hair tonics, and in other ways try to hide the ravages of time. If they would pay as much attention to the stomach as to the hair, they would show better judgment.



They would get at the starting point of the things that make people look old. If the stomach works well, the blood will naturally be pure. With pure blood running in the veins, its owner cannot be sick. He won't be nervous either, and his food will agree with him. His lungs will be strong, and there will be no chance for consumption to get a footing. His head will be clear, and there will be, within him, an ambition to work. Good health is such a simple thing—so easy to have. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the medicine that induces good health. It strengthens the stomach when weak, purifies the blood, tones up the nerves, strengthens the lungs, and cures all diseases that, if neglected or badly treated, end in consumption. It is a temperance medicine—no alcohol or whisky in it. Its protracted use does not create a craving for intoxicants. If afflicted, better write about your case to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y. He charges no fee for consultation by mail.

"I will forever thank you for advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mrs. Jas. Murphy, of Fonda, Pocahontas Co., Iowa. "It has cured me of chronic scrofula of twelve years' standing. I had doctored for the trouble until I was completely discouraged. I also had chronic diarrhea for twelve years. I am in good health now—better than I ever was in my life, owing to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took several bottles of the 'Discovery' before I stopped."

Take Dr. Pierce's Pellets if you want to be permanently cured of constipation.

WOMEN'S WAYS.

Many a woman gets old looking through worrying about the best way to conceal her age.—Philadelphia Record.

Every mother thinks there is no baby on earth like her own, and every other mother is glad of it

Tender hearted ladies continue to attend meetings of the Audubon society wearing birds on their bonnets.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A girl who hesitates to marry because marriage is a lottery will nevertheless ask a man to buy a 50 cent chance on a 10 cent doily at a church fair.

A woman receives lots of comfort when she gets her husband's life insurance, but after she has lost it by foolish investments she seems to miss him and mourn for him more than ever.

"Chimney Climate."

"Chimney climate" is the latest for the climate that is to be found in all large cities. Its characteristics, says a man of learning, are mildness, absence of rain and frequency of fog as compared with surrounding rural districts And he gives a very clever explanation of the presence of the fog. It is actually manufactured right under our eyes You know if you look crosswise at a sunbeam you see in it a myriad of very small particles of dust, so densely crowded together that some scientists even attribute to them the color of the sky And there is also about us an invisible vapor and this combines with the particles to give us fog It may be so It sounds reasonable enough when one takes into consideration the fact that fogs are more frequent in large manufacturing cities than elsewhere. But if it be so, what are men of science about that they don't find an antidote for the evil?

No Wonder You Can't Keep Quiet.

If you never wholly give yourself up to the chair you sit in, but always keep your leg and body muscles half contracted for a rise; if you breathe 18 or 19 instead of 16 times a minute and never quite breathe out at that, what mental mood can you be in but one of inner panting and expectancy and how can the future and its worries possibly forsake your mind? On the other hand, how can they gain admission to your mind if your brow be unruffled, your respiration calm and complete and your muscles all relaxed?—"The Gospel of Relaxation," by Professor William James, in Scribner's.

A WRONG IDEA OF... DYSPEPSIA

Throws all the Blame on the Stomach—The Real Seat of Trouble is the Intestines—The Permanent Cure is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is an old idea long since exploded that digestion is confined to the stomach. No modern scientist denies that by far the greater part of digestion and the more difficult part takes place in the intestines. This explains why dyspepsia is never really cured by preparations which merely aid stomach digestion and act only on the stomach.

This fact also explains why Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have been so remarkably successful as a cure for the worst forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, and give new tone and vigor to the intestines, and make them able to perform their work of digesting the substances on which the stomach has no effect.

Stomach treatment may do well enough for slight indigestion, but if you have chronic indigestion or dyspepsia of a serious nature you can profit by the experience of scores of thousands who have been permanently cured by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE FINGER TIPS.

Their Remarkable Value In the Identification of Criminals.

In detective novels finger prints left by criminals, preferably in blood, play an important part, but truth seems stranger than fiction in the fact that the finger print system of identifying criminals in India has been made so perfect that it would enable any intelligent person in a few minutes to distinguish the individual, if necessary, from all other persons now living in the world, or, if data were available, from all other persons who have lived since the creation of man.

The system is simplicity itself, and there is none of the elaboration of process or the costly and delicate machinery required for the anthropometric system. All that is needed is a piece of tin, a sheet of paper and some printer's ink. The inked impressions of the ten digits are taken and filed in the proper compartment of the proper pigeonhole, and it is on the classification of records and their distribution into the pigeonholes that the success of the system depends.

Every finger mark shows lines of the "loop," or the "whorl" type, and by a simple table of the combinations of these types in the ten digits 1,024 main classes are made. These are again subdivided according to minor details, and the subdivisions can be further divided ad infinitum if necessary, but with the table before him any person of ordinary intelligence can place his finger on the corresponding card to a record in his hand within five minutes, no matter how many thousand cards there may be.

It is calculated that the chances are about 64,000,000 to 1 against any two persons having single fingers identical, and the chances against all ten fingers being identical go beyond mathematics altogether.

Does Your Back Ache?

Is constant pain when on your feet?
Is that dragging, pulling sensation with you from morn till night?
Why not put the medicine exactly on the disease? Why not apply the cure right to the spot itself?
You can do it with

Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster

Immediately after the Plaster is applied, you feel its warming, soothing influence. Its healing remedies quickly penetrate down deep into the inflamed tissues. Pain is quieted, soreness is relieved and strength imparted.

No plaster was ever made like it. No plaster ever acted so quickly and thoroughly. No plaster ever had such complete control over all kinds of pain.

Placed over the chest it is a powerful aid to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; relieving congestion and drawing out all inflammation.

POSITION OF CANADA.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Corrects Some False Reports.

NO CONDITIONS WERE IMPOSED.

The Alaskan Boundary Was the Only Question on Which the Joint High Commission Disagreed—The Status Is Just as It Was in February Last—House Proceedings.

Ottawa, May 30.—In the House yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier again gave a flat denial to the statements that have recently appeared in American newspapers and been reproduced in the Canadian press, alleging that there is a change in the position of the Anglo-American commission. Col. Prior called attention to one of these items, which alleged that Canada had stipulated that whatever might be the result of the arbitration on the Alaska boundary, Pyramid Harbor and a port on the Lynn Canal should be given to Canada.

The Premier's Statement.

The Prime Minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replied: "Of course, I have, like everybody else, noticed the series of articles and correspondence that have appeared in the American press. I believe I am not saying too much when I state that there is an evident attempt on the part of somebody to create the impression that Canada has taken a very unfair position in regard to the settlement of the Alaskan boundary. It has been suggested in some quarters that the authorities in Washington must in some degree be responsible for such a statement appearing so frequently, so repeatedly, in the American press. I am quite sure that the American authorities in Washington are free from blame in this matter.

"I am sure they cannot in any way have authorized or sanctioned any such expression of opinion appearing in the press, for the very simple reason that the American authorities know perfectly well in what condition the question stands at the present time. I have only to repeat that the position to-day, on May 29, is exactly what it was when the commission adjourned in the month of February last. There has been no change, and so far as this Government is concerned, there will be no change.

"My hon. friend (Mr. Prior) asks me to state what is the contention maintained by the Government of Canada or by the commissioners of Canada, with regard to the Alaskan boundary. I am not in a position at this moment to give any information on this point. I may say that I hope that, perhaps, without making any promise or even undertaking to anticipate coming events—I hope that perhaps the negotiations of the commission upon this subject may be laid before Parliament during the present session. As I say—I make no promise upon this point.

"I hope that before we separate we shall be able to lay before Parliament the exact condition of things, that is to say, the statement of the views maintained before the commission and of the point on which we disagreed. While I cannot say what was the position maintained by Canada upon this question, still I may say, without revealing any secret, that it is well known by everybody who has given any attention to the study of the question of the boundary, that the boundary is defined by the treaty between Great Britain and Russia in 1825. According to our construction of the treaty, according to the construction that has been maintained all along, the boundary line should follow the crest of the mountains nearest to the coast, passing over bays and creeks and inlets, which are territorial waters.

"The contention maintained by the American authorities all along is that the boundary line should be placed so as to place in American territory the strip of territory which is given to Russia by the treaty of 1825, beyond and above all head water. That was the contention, I may say, which was maintained all along by both parties, and it may be assumed, without doing violence to any understanding, that this was the position maintained by the British commissioner. The contentions of both parties were so far apart that it shall not surprise anyone if I state that it was difficult to come to an understanding. Nor shall I surprise anyone if I state that we endeavored on both sides, both American commissioners and Canadian commissioners, to reach a settlement by a fair compromise.

"After we had negotiated on this basis for a long time we came to the conclusion that even a compromise could not be reached upon that question, and, having reached that conclusion, that it was not possible by the Commons to effect a settlement of this question by giving and taking and by reconciling either party to the views of the other, we came to the conclusion that the only thing to be done was to have the question referred to arbitration.

"We proposed, and the statement was made when we adjourned, that is to say, the British commissioners proposed, that the arbitration should be held on the lines of the Venezuela precedent. That position was ours, and it was not coupled with any other condition. The only proposition which we made was that the matter should be referred to arbitration, and that the arbitration should proceed exactly on all fours with the lines of the Venezuela precedent. All statements made that this was coupled with any other condition are absolutely erroneous. This is the set statement of the case that I have to make at this moment, and I hope I have made it sufficiently clear to have it understood by everybody in this House."

Sir Charles Tupper thanked the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, for having gone as far as he could properly go under the circumstances in giving a brief explanation of the present position of this question.

Questions and Answers.

Sir Louis Davies said, in reply to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, that Capt. Moore of the Allan steamer Californian had informed him that he attached no value whatever to the tidal survey.

In answer to a question put for Mr. Quinn, the Postmaster-General said that no mistake had been made in printing the purple two-cent stamp envelopes, and that none were recalled from circulation. If the gentleman would make a charge that any stamps had been improperly obtained, the department would make an investigation. It was not the intention of the Government to print any more purple two-cent envelopes.

Mr. Sifton, in answer to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, said that eight reports had been received from Major Walsh, under order-in-council, on the 17th of August, 1897. Six of these reports have been brought down, and the other two will be included in a return which is now being prepared.

In answer to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Mr. Sifton said Mr. Ogilvie, commissioner of the Yukon, had no connection with the British Canadian Gold Fields of the Klondike, Limited; that the Government knew that Mr. Ogilvie had given it certain exclusive information regarding unclaimed mineral deposits, and he put in a letter from Mr. Ogilvie in answer to Sir Hibbert's sixth question, "Had the Government any information," etc., to offer.

It was claimed that this mode of answering avoided the necessity of putting Mr. Ogilvie's letter in the official minutes, and the debate on this question of order and the Government's method of answering questions became general.

The order paper was run through, and several unopposed motions for papers passed.

Standard for Wheat.

Mr. Davin moved his resolution respecting grain standards and the mixing of wheat at Fort William.

After the mover, Dr. Sproule and Mr. Campbell had spoken.

Sir Henri Joly said he thought the Government bill would meet all, or nearly all, the objections to the present system, and when it was in committee it could be amended so as to make it as workable and efficient as possible. There was great difficulty in determining how far east the bill should be made to apply, but that also could be discussed in committee. The matter then dropped.

Private Bills.

After recess these private bills were read a third time and passed:

Respecting the James Bay Railway—Mr. Hughes.

Respecting the Nipissing & James Bay Railway—Mr. Bertram.

Respecting the Ottawa Electric Railway—Mr. Belcourt.

Mr. Carey's bill respecting the drainage over the property of railway companies was referred to a new special committee, consisting of Messrs. Casey, Monk, Bain, McGregor and Craig.

Mr. Bertram's bill to further amend the Trade Mark and Design Act passed through committee, was read a third time and passed.

Proposed Railway Commission.

The adjourned debate on Mr. Rutherford's resolution for the appointment of a railway commission was then resumed, and the question discussed at some length by Mr. Bostock; Sir Charles Tupper, who opposed the appointment of a commission, and moved the adjournment of the debate; Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who suggested the withdrawal of the motion, and Messrs. Davin, Blair, Davies, Oliver and McCarthy, after which Sir Charles Tupper's motion to adjourn the debate was carried.

The House adjourned at 10.30.

Dandurand's Usury Bill.

In the Senate yesterday afternoon, Hon. Mr. Dandurand's bill respecting usury was read a second time and referred to the committee on banking and commerce. The bill limits the rate of interest which can be recovered on a promissory note to 20 per cent. per annum before judgment, and ten per cent. after.

Leasing a Part of the Grand Trunk.

Mr. Blair last night gave notice of a resolution confirming the lease of that portion of the Grand Trunk from Ste. Rosaire to Montreal for 99 years, from March 1, 1898, at a rental of $140,000 a year.

THE STORM STRUCK BUFFALO.

Number of Persons Hurt and Much Damage to Property Done.

Buffalo, May 30.—A severe rain and wind storm passed over Buffalo and vicinity yesterday afternoon, causing considerable damage to property and injury to a number of people. In this city a 90-foot smokestack at the works of the Buffalo Cast Iron Pipe Company was blown over, and in falling it crushed in the wall of the foundry building. Andrew Riedle and Valentine Hahn, workmen in the foundry, were probably fatally injured, and 20 others were slightly hurt.

At Lockport, the grand stand at the Lake avenue ball grounds was wrecked. Daniel Toothill, 14 years old, was fatally injured. Two other boys, named Albert Murphy and Sharkey, were painfully injured. Reports from Tonawanda, Jamestown and other places report much damage in the way of trees and outhouses blown down, windows blown in and signs torn down. Many houses were struck by lightning in outlying districts.

MARKET REPORTS.

Wheat Has Gone Up a Cent and a Half at Chicago—Crop Damage Reports Responsible.

Liverpool, May 30.—Wheat futures yesterday were ¼d to ½d per cental higher than on Saturday.

Chicago, May 30.—Wheat futures yesterday advanced. The July option rose 1⅛c and the September delivery 1⅛c per bushel, both closing near the top figures of the session. The reason for the appreciation was found in the continued reports of increasing damage to winter wheat.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1898 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. LACROSSE.

The Canadian Lacrosse Association clubs will continue to travel at the same club rates over the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway as prevailed last year. District Passenger Agent Dickson, of the Grand Trunk, has intimated to President W. J. Stark that his company will not make a departure from the old rate of single fare and a third for such business, which practically terminates the negotiations pending between the C.L.A. officers and the railways.

The Rochester Lacrosse Club will play in Peterborough on July 3rd and in Port Hope the following day.

The Toronto Tecumsehs will not be be able to give the Peterboroughs a game on June 9th, as the Island grounds will be occuppied by the baseball team on that day.

The Lindsay Post refers to Wednesday's match as follows: Peterboro and Lindsay teams crossed sticks for the first time yesterday, 24th, and the best team won. Our boys are not at all discouraged over the result, and expect with hard practice to retrieve the lost laurels when they play the return match in Peterborough. The game itself, while not being first-class, in every respect was a fairly good exhibition considering that over half our boys had not handled sticks before. Peterborough plays a more open game, and if our boys had checked closer and played more to one another, the score might have been different.

The game started a little rough, but towards the end the boys began to play better lacrosse, and it was more interesting to the 150 spectators from that point out. Peterborough started to score, and soon had three goals to their credit, while Lindsay had done nothing, but with determination they checked closely, and Peterborough had to work for the next two goals, which they scored within three minutes of time. At the next face-off our boys got together with a rush, and with a little combination Dusty secured the ball, shot and scored, thus leaving the score Peterborough 5, Lindsay 1.

GOLF.

The following members of the local Golf Club will go to Toronto on Friday to play against a similar number of members of the High Park Ladies' Golf Club: Mrs. Peter Campbell, Mrs. H. S. Greenwood, Miss Lillie Hall, Miss Bouchez, Miss Halliday, and Miss Daisy Hamilton. Luncheon will be served at the Links, and Mrs. Plunkett Magann, President of the High Park Ladies' Golf Club, will entertain the Peterborough ladies at dinner after the match.

LAWN TENNIS.

The Lakeview Tennis Club organized last evening for the season, at the National hotel parlours. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. J. O'Sullivan.
President—O. Leplante.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss A. White.
Executive Committee—The officers, Fred Sullivan and Miss Jessie Morrow.

The committee to whom was referred the task of furmulating the proposed Ontario Lawn Tennis League and arranging the districts met recently in Toronto. After perusing the replies from the different clubs and considering the suggestions made, they provisionally grouped the clubs as below. In a few instances clubs have been entered without their having replied, the committee having reason to believe it is their intention to enter the league. Any change will be made in the grouping that are agreed on by the clubs concerned. Officers of the League and an Executive will be elected at an early date. Every club can nominate a delegate or vote by written proxy. The clubs in each district will arrange their own schedule, and, unless otherwise arranged, play home and home matches with all the others, the winners in each group to play off, as arranged hereafter. Teams to consist of four players and matches to be four singles and two doubles, the club gaining the majority of events to be the winner of the match. In case the results are even, the match to be decided by the majority of sets, or if there is still a tie, by the majority of games won. The home club to provide the balls for the match. The referee and umpires to be mutually agreed on. By consent of the clubs interested, any of these rules as to number of players or matches or otherwise may be altered. If single matches only are played, the home matches will be apportioned equally between the clubs. A fee of $1 per annum shall be paid by each club to cover the cost of postage and stationery and to provide a challenge trophy. Communications to be sent at present to Mr. Summerhayes, 28 Wellington street east, Toronto.

The following are the districts as arranged:

District No. 1 — Western group — Windsor, Walkerville, Chatham. Central group (— Schedule already arranged)—Thamesville, Bothwell, Glencoe, Florence. Eastern group—London, Strathroy, Watford, Alvinston, Petrolia.

District No. 2 — Goderich, Clinton, Blyth, Seaforth, Brussels.

District No. 3—St. Marys, Stratford, Berlin, Waterloo.

District No. 4.—St. Thomas, Woodstock, Paris, Brantford, Cornell.

District No. 5.—Owen Sound, Meaford, Thornbury, Collingwood.

District No. 6.—Barrie, Orillia.

District No. 7—Orangeville, Fergus, Elora, Guelph.

District No. 8. —Brampton, Georgetown, Milton, Streetsville.

District No. 9.— Toronto, A team; Toronto, B team; Hamilton, Grimsby, St. Catharines, Merriton, Niagara Falls.

District No. 10—Toronto Intermediate League Clubs, viz., 'Varsity, Toronto, Osgoode Hall, Rusholme, St. Matthew's, Canada.

District No. 11.—Newmarket, Aurora, Bradford, Bachelors' (Toronto.)

District No. 12.—Uxbridge, Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Perry, Millbrook, Sunderland, Cannington.

District No. 13. —Port Hope, Cobourg, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Whitby, Newcastle.

District No. 14.—Kingston, Belleville, Deseronto, Napanee, Picton, Trenton, Colborne.

CRICKET.

The Lakefield Cricket Club has organized for the coming season with the following officers:

President—R. C. Strickland.
Capt.—George B. Hilliard.
Vice-Capt.—John Cooper.
Sec.-Treas.—E. R. Tate.
Man. Committee—Messrs. M. L. Strickland, T. Ridpath, J. W. Ridpath, G. B. Hilliard and John Cooper.

The club have organised under very favourable auspices, and it is expected that the season will be a very successful one.

The managing committee met on Monday evening and decided to purchase a first-class cricket set, and to have the agricultural grounds put in good shape as soon as possible. It is likely that practice will begin about June 1st.

THE KENNEL.

Mr. C. B. McAllister has purchased the fine collie dog "Laurel Laddie" in Manchester, Eng. Laurel Laddie has 77 wins to his credit, though only two years old. The dog is expected to arrive in a week or ten days, when Mr. McAllister can be congratulated on owning the best collie in Canada.

THE STREET RAILWAY

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Is it not possible for the Street Railway Co. or the town to run the cars part of the time through June, July and August. How are families with children and baskets to carry, going to go five or ten blocks to take the boat to go down the river. Suppose they do get to the boat in the morning, how are they going to get home at night, when all are tired and the children sleepy. They will only try it once. There will be no way of getting fresh air in the evenings by taking a round trip. The people that cannot leave home to go up the lakes for the summer will be the most to feel the want of the street cars. The boats cannot expect to do anything like the trade they did last year. It does seem hard that there is no way to get to the wharf once in a while, to get a little fresh air and rest by walking half a mile or a mile twice in the day and carrying children and baskets. I believe it would pay to run the cars a part of the time about three months, say from 5 a.m., that would take in the morning trains; then from 6 to 8 p.m. would give the people time to come and take in the air, get a little fresh water and keep up all day in the cars. Can't the council do something to help the people to get a little outing.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

THE TRACKMEN'S STRIKE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I think that public sympathy is with the striking trackmen of the Grand Trunk Railway, especially those on this division living in town. We recollect with pleasure the important assistance given the C.P.R. employees in Havelock in preventing their removal from Havelock and their homes to Smith's Falls as was intended. Now it seems to us that the Board of Trade and the council combined, might take similar action in regard to the cause of the striking trackmen in Peterborough. All must see in asking that our wages for ten hours hard work in all sorts of weather, be advanced to $1.25 per day, that we are not unreasonable, and it might not be an unfair thing to have the countenance and assistance of the Board of Trade and the council or both in bringing our grievance in an authoritative form before the railway authorities. I would suggest therefore, that, if one of these bodies would call a public meeting to discuss the situation, and pass some resolution of sympathy with the trackmen, great force would be thereby added to the expression of public opinion, that will influence the railway authorities in favourably considering our claims.

Hoping that prompt action will be taken if the kindness of action is decided upon, I remain on behalf of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, of whose Grand Lodge I am a member,

Yours truly,
CHARLES NOYES,
Chairman of Local Committee.
May 30th, 1899.

G. T. R. STRIKE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir—A word for the G. T. R. trackmen now on strike. We all know the G. T. R. Our merchants know their unfair freight rates. Our travelling public know the high passenger fares and poor accommodation. Belleville can tell how the G. T. R. keeps its promises; so can many another town. Nor do we always remember that immense subsidies from our parliaments and generous bonuses from our people went far to build this huge machine that is perpetually using up our best bone and sinew and giving nothing in return. Like the monster that Frankenstein created, it has nothing but ingratitude and unkindness for those who called it into being. It treats the people at large badly; can we believe that it treats its employees any better; not while we remember the Murray Hill horror.

Already this year we have now the second quarrel of the G.T.R. with its employees! This is a more serious matter than the trouble with the operators in the winter, for now the track is unsafe. The usual spring repairs have not yet been made. The passenger train last night could not use one of the switches in the yard here. Yesterday afternoon the mail train stopped three times within 20 miles to repair the track. But human life is nothing to the G.T.R. It is our Juggernaut, under whose wheels yearly we fling our hundreds.

Thus, then we know the Grand Trunk. We also know the men here who are seeking redress for their wrongs. With which side should our sympathy be? Is there one of them that is not a type of sturdy manliness and honest industry? Are they not the best bone and muscle in our community? Surely, a railway, subsidized by parliament, and bonused by our money, that pays fancy salaries for Yankee managers and Yankee bosses, that extorts fat freight rates and fat fares out of us, should be able to pay the men that keep up the road bed and that make dividends possible. Do these men ask anything unreasonable? They ask the same wages as are paid ten miles north of us on the C.P.R. They do not ask the wages our Yankee managers are paying Yankee labourers in Portland. They ask merely —bread; they get a stone. Shall the Yankee method of treating labour be introduced into Canada?

The outcome of this struggle depends not a little on the active sympathy we show in each community to those heroic labourers—who, in their humble duties, work with as full a sensibility of their responsibility —a responsibility for human life never felt by the Grand Trunk—as he who shapes the destinies of a throne.

Yours very truly,
JOHN STEWART CARSTAIRS.

Arbitration Proposals Submitted by Russia at The Hague.

THE DREYFUS CASE ARGUMENT.

M. Ballot de Beaupre and M. Manau Advocate Revision—Esterhazy Pronounced the Author of the Bordereau—A Revision and a Retrial Recommended—Decoration Day in the Philippines.

The Hague, May 31.—The Vaderland printed yesterday the text of the Russian proposals regarding mediation and arbitration.

Part one deals with the desirability of seeking a solution of international disputes by the mediation of friendly powers, and sets forth that such good offices, whether sought or proffered, shall bear strictly the character of friendly counsel, and in no way of compulsory force.

Part two deals with international arbitration, which declares "the most efficacious and equitable means of settling questions regarding the international application of treaties." The contracting powers, therefore, should undertake to seek arbitration in such cases, so far as these affect neither vital interests nor national honor.

Then, after setting forth that each state remains the sole judge of what cases are to be submitted to arbitration, it is suggested that in a large number of cases, such as questions of pecuniary damage, and disagreements in the application of treaties or conventions affecting commercial, postal, navigation, currency, sanitary and copyright matters and the like, not affecting vital interests or national honor, arbitration should be obligatory. In all other cases, says the Russian scheme, arbitration, though recommended by the present act, can only be applied on the spontaneous initiative of one of the parties in dispute, and with the express consent of the other parties to the quarrel.

Things Look Squally Again.

London, May 31.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Mail says: Japan is assuming a threatening attitude toward Russia, and is sympathizing with China, while China is determined to resist Italy's seizing of Sanmun and any further German encroachments at Shantung. The British squadron, it is said, will shortly assemble at Weihaiwei.

Very Bad for Russia.

Odessa, May 31.—The winter wheat crop of southern Russia has been completely destroyed by a protracted drought. The spring wheat crop is also in jeopardy from the same cause.

The steamer Moscow has sailed with 3,500 Cossack emigrants for Port Arthur Audience With the Emperor.

Pekin, May 31.—M. Pichon, French minister to China, and his staff, were granted audience of the Emperor yesterday, and presented His Majesty with a letter from President Loubet.

Yesterday the German minister, Baron von Heyking, was also granted an audience for the purpose of decorating the Emperor with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Black Eagle and presenting him with two magnificent girandoles made at the Berlin Imperial porcelain works.

THE DREYFUS CASE.

M. Ballot de Beaupre and the Procurator-General Advocate Revision—Esterhazy Author of the Bordereau.

Paris, May 31.—At the Palace of Justice yesterday before the Court of Cassation resumed its sittings, the same precautions were observed as on the day before for the preservation of order.

M. Ballot de Beaupre said that if in 1894 the officers of the court-martial had thought it was not their duty to show Dreyfus the documents concerning him, the judges, not being lawyers, had erred, though acting in good faith.

M. de Beaupre read a fresh report drawn up by M. Manau, the Procurator-General, on Saturday last, in view of the recent developments, enumerating ten fresh facts in favor of Dreyfus, viz.:

1. The Henry forgery.
2. The changing of the date of the bordereau to August instead of April.
3. Contradictions of the handwriting experts.
4. The absolute identity of the paper upon which the bordereau was written with Major Esterhazy's letter paper.
5. The sentence, "Am starting for the manoeuvres," which could not have been written by Dreyfus.
6. The police report withheld by the court-martial.
7. Lieut.-Col. Henry's weeping confession in Burtulu's office.
8. The Panizzardi despatch.
9. Official documents proving that Dreyfus had no relations with foreign embassies.
10. A document demonstrating that Dreyfus never confessed guilt.

M. Manau's report concluded with an expression in favor of a retrial of Captain Dreyfus.

M. Ballot de Beaupre said that one new fact, from a legal point of view, was the discovery that the bordereau was written upon precisely the same paper as that used by Major Esterhazy. The judges in 1894 did not know this, and M. de Beaupre declared that on his soul and conscience, according to his conviction, the bordereau was written by Esterhazy. He deplored the attacks of revisionists upon the army, but said that the honor of the army was not dependent upon the detention of an innocent man on Devil's Island.

"I do not ask you to proclaim the innocence of Dreyfus," cried M. de Beaupre, with profound emotion, "but it is with a firm conviction and a lively sense of my duty and responsibility that I say there is reason to grant revision of the trial of 1894, and send Dreyfus for retrial before another court-martial, whose task will be to give a decision with a full knowledge of the facts. My report is ended," said M. de Beaupre, while cries of "bravo" and other marks of approbation filled the court room.

Amidst general excitement, M. Manau, the Procurator-General, addressed the court. He claimed that the change in the date of the bordereau constituted a new fact apart from numerous other new facts, and declared that the bordereau was really the work of Major Esterhazy. M. Manau dwelt upon the strangeness of the general staff's protection of Esterhazy, and the latter's ambiguity.

The court adjourned at 5 o'clock without incident. M. Manau will continue his speech to-day.

The news that M. Ballot de Beaupre had directly ascribed the authorship of the bordereau to Major Esterhazy produced a condition of stupefaction among members of the League of Patriots in the precincts of the court. They made no attempt to conceal their chagrin. "It is the collapse of our charges," shouted Maurice Barres, the novelist and Deputy from Charmes-sur-Mozelle. The anti-Semites generally bitterly denounced M. de Beaupre, whom they accused of having sold himself.

Deroulede and Habert.

The section of the Court of Cassation engaged in the hearing of the case against MM. Paul Deroulede and Marcel-Habert, charged with inciting soldiers to insubordination, resumed its sitting at noon. The entry of the defendants elicited shouts of "Vive Deroulede." Several witnesses deposed in favor of M. Deroulede, and de Beaurepaire backed Deroulede and addressed the court in support of Deroulede's charges against President Loubet.

Decoration Day at Manila.

Manila, May 31.—Memorial Day was celebrated at Battery Knoll, where Scott's guns were planted against the Filipino trenches in the first day's fighting at Manila. Nearly 300 soldiers lie buried there on a bleak mound, surrounded by rice fields, rough boards marking the graves, which are ranged in five unbroken rows. The few soldiers who could be spared from the trenches came to Battery Knoll, dusty and bronzed, bearing flowers with which to strew their comrades' graves. A silk flag was placed above each mound. After taps had been sounded, the soldiers took the flags from the graves to send to relatives of the dead.

Similar services were held over the dead in the Paco Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The graves of soldiers and sailors buried at Cavite and Iloilo were also decorated yesterday.

Death of Capt. Tilley.

Iloilo, May 31.—Captain George H. Tilley, U.S. volunteer signal corps, was killed at Escalante, east coast of the Island of Negros by insurgents Saturday, May 27 at 11 o'clock a.m. Captain Tilley's body was found floating in the river with marks of violence on the head. He was buried at Iloilo, May 30.

Milner and Kruger on Their Way to Bloemfontein.

CONYNGHAM GREEN'S LETTER.

Significant Terms of the Reply of the British Agent at Pretoria to Uitlanders' Petition—Sympathy Guardedly Expressed—Inflammatory Story Containing a Grave Charge Against the Transvaal.

Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, May 31.—Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner of South Africa, and President Kruger of the South African Republic left Cape Town and Pretoria, respectively, yesterday morning, for their meeting here to-day to consider the demands of the Uitlanders. Great preparations for their reception have been made here. A triumphal arch has been erected outside the railway station, and addresses expressing hope for a successful result of the conference will be presented to the officials.

Conyngham Green's Letter.

London, May 31.—The letter addressed by Conyngham Green, the British agent at Pretoria, to Wynberg, the president of the Transvaal Province South African League, with reference to the petition signed by 21,694 British subjects resident in Witwatersrand, and addressed to Her Majesty the Queen, reads as follows:

"I have instructions to inform your petitioners that their petition has been received the serious consideration of Her Majesty's Government, and, without expressing an opinion at this stage of the proceedings, on several allegations contained in the petition, Her Majesty's Government cannot but express a general feeling of sympathy with the memorial, and is earnestly desirous of seeing a speedy and substantial change effected in their position.

"That the Government refrains from further reply to the petition at this moment is due to the fact that a meeting is arranged between a high commissioner and the President of the Republic, at which it is expected these questions, with others now at issue between the two Governments, will be discussed in a conciliatory spirit.

"Her Majesty's Government regards the agreement of the President of the Republic to meet the high commissioner as an indication that both the Volksraad and the Government of the Republic are sincerely desirous of arriving at a solution which will satisfy the reasonable aspirations of the unenfranchised population.'

Boer Farmers Get Rifles.

London, May 31.—The Mail's Cape Town correspondent says Sims Secret, a member of the Cape Parliament, having recently toured Barkly District, Cape Colony, reports that a number of farmers there have received Mauser rifles and sealed parcels of ammunition from the Transvaal Government, and, in return, are pledging themselves to rally to the Transvaal flag at Christiania upon the signal from Transvaal.

Secret also says a detachment of Transvaal infantry lately inspected a bridge across the Val River, north of Kimberley, with a view to destroying it in the event of hostilities.

THE FINNS ARE STRUGGLING.

The Diet Proposes to Reject the Government Army Bill.

Stockholm, May 31.—According to a despatch from Helsingfors, capital of Finland, published by The Aftenbladt, the Finnish Diet will virtually reject the Government army bill by adopting the bill recommended by the army committee, raising the strength of the army from 5,000 to 12,000 men, and providing that as a condition of the service performed, the Finnish army is to retain its national character and is only to be employed outside of Finland when the defence of Finland does not require it, and the Landwehr is only to be employed in Finland, except in a case of emergency, when it may be used in defence of St. Petersburg. The Diet also asks the Czar if he cannot sanction the bill, or submit a new bill, to be dealt with in a constitutional manner.

The Queen to Undergo Operation.

London, May 31.—Truth, in its issue yesterday, says that Queen Victoria has decided to undergo an operation for cataract when Prof. Hermann Pagenstecker, director of the Opthalmic Hospital at Weisbaden, thinks the proper time has arrived. The operation will be performed either at Osborne or Balmoral, probably after the Parliamentary session.

Liberia Wants a Change.

London, May 31.—The Liverpool correspondent of The Daily Chronicle asserts that Dr. Blyden, a native Liberian statesman, is now en route from Liberia, empowered by the Liberian Executive to demand an American protectorate for Liberia, and, in the event of the United States refusing, he is empowered to approach the British Government on the same subject.

Premier Lays a Corner-Stone.

Campbell's Cross, Ont., May 31.—The corner-stone of the new Anglican Church in this village was laid with impressive ceremony yesterday afternoon by Hon. A. S. Hardy. The event was witnessed by a large number of people, who gathered from far and near to hear the Premier.

Young Man Killed at Mattawa.

Ottawa, May 31.—Word has been received here that B. Irish, a son of John Irish, Mattawa, met instant death on Saturday. He was blasting rock, when a charge of dynamite prematurely exploded. The deceased was 21 years of age, and formerly resided in Aylmer.

Bones Broken.

Kingston, May 31.—While attempting to board a C.P.R. train at South Perth, Ont., Lieut.-Col. Montizambert slipped and fell, breaking bones in his right arm. He will be laid aside for some days.

When You Buy Here

You buy without an atom of risk. There is nothing at risk, we have no interest in deceiving you if we could. We have every interest in "not" deceiving you.

"A Cheerful Look Makes a Dish a Feast."

"Cheerful looks" depend just as much upon physical well-being as upon natural disposition and temperament. If the blood is disordered, the brain is starved, and no "dish is a feast," for the reason that the vitalising elements do not reach the proper spot.

A step in the right direction is to purify the body by the use of a natural remedy. Hood's Sarsaparilla is Nature's remedy. It acts upon the blood, and whether the seat of the disorder is brain, stomach, liver or kidneys, the purifying process of this medicine is equally sure and successful. It never disappoints.

Great Builder—"Have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion, constipation and finds it builds up the whole system and gives relief in cases of catarrh." WILLIAM E. WELDON, Moncton, N. B.

Sour Stomach—"My system was out of order. I suffered from headache and sour stomach. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla, my health improved and I gained 18 pounds." MAXWELL D. SHANGRAW, Colebrooke, Ont.

Bad Cough—"My sister was troubled with a cough which caused pain in her left side. She was confined to her bed. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few weeks she was able to sit up in bed, her appetite improved and the cough and accompanying pain disappeared." LILY WALKER, 36 Cottingen Street, Halifax, N. S.

Dyspepsia—"My husband suffered with dyspepsia. Physicians did not benefit him. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla relieved him. My husband's father and our little boy have been wonderfully benefited by this medicine." MRS. O. F. CHAMBERLAIN, Glen Sutton, Que.

Run Down—"My system was run down. I could not sleep nights and my appetite was poor. Hood's Sarsaparilla restored an appetite and strength and has made me feel like a new woman." MRS. S. E. DAVIES, Amherst, N. S.

NOT CANADA'S FAULT.

The English newspapers with a tendency to bestow dignified gush upon the Americans, are lavishing praise upon the representatives of the United States at The Hague peace congress for their "humanitarian ideas and their devoted advocacy of arbitration." These newspapers are talking stately rubbish. They don't know the Americans as we do. Theoretically the latter are magnanimous and fair promising—but when it comes to make an honest, international bargain the cloven foot sticks out like the horns on a ten-tine buck. Take the Alaska boundary matter, for instance. In reference to a settlement of this matter the English and Canadian representatives at the international conference at Washington, wished to refer the matter to arbitration on the same terms that were adopted in the Venezuelan arbitration. With all their "humanitarian ideas" and their "devoted advocacy" of arbitration, the Yankee representatives would not consent to arbitration without many conditions that were equivalent to granting their contention —in other words, they wanted a verdict before the trial. Yet the Yankee newspapers have the "cheek" to accuse Canada of being the obstructive agent in defeating the principle of international arbitration. Canada and her representatives at Washington simply insisted on their rights, and it is a pleasure to know that enlightened British opinion backs them up in the the position they took. Thanks to the eye-opener represented by the visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to London in 1897, the days when British diplomats were willing to sacrifice the rights of Canada are past. Canada doesn't want any more Ashburton treaties and British official and public sentiment is not favourable to any more Ashburtons.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

While the United States has been speculating and theorising on the subject of deep waterways, the Canadians have been building them.—Watertown Times.

That's the difference between spread-eagleism and doing things. Canada is voted slow by her giddy neighbours. But if she is slow she takes heed to her steps and plans to lay the foundations of [illegible]

Russian tyranny in Finland is driving the Finns into exile. They are too much in love with freedom to enjoy the rights which belong to every man, to stand tyranny and rather than submit to oppression, fly from it, being weaker than their oppressors, resistance to whom would be folly. The Finns have enough of the Anglo-Saxon hatred of oppression to make them citizens we want in Canada which needs a sturdy population with too much natural independence to submit to injustice but willing to conform to just laws and certain to make citizens who will do credit to the conditions of the free citizenship Canada is able to offer. It is therefore a pleasure to learn from the London, Eng., Canadian News that the prospects of Canada benefiting by their emigration are improving, and that the eyes of the Finlanders have been turned towards this country, and they are setting on foot inquiries which may lead to organized emigration to and settlement in the North-West. The London Daily Chronicle alluding to the subject, says that in Canada the new settlers will find no difficulty in amalgamating with the colonists who have preceded them—and they will be in every way valuable elements in the future of the Dominion. It is to be hoped that that the Canadian authorities will act with promptitude and catch the tide of emigration from Finland that is likely to set in. We want above all things population for our Northwest and newer Ontario, especially such sturdy settlers as the Finlanders will make.

ONEMEE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The wet weather has had a very despondent effect. Farmers have almost became hopeless of good crops, but Emily Township im much better situated than Ops and some other places.

Isaac Richardson continues to ship the finest quality of hogs.

The spraying exhibitions given by the Provincial Government Instructor are proving to be a great success. The trees sprayed are showing the advantage they possess over the trees not sprayed. Every fruit tree should be sprayed. It will pay the owner for the time and trouble.

Our village has had several funerals of late. Mrs. J. J. Lamb, beloved wife of J. J. Lamb; Violet Spence, beloved daughter of Mrs. W. H. Spence, both of lung trouble, and Mr. James Rice, aged 89, one of the oldest settlers, was buried on Tuesday.

Doctor Ivory, late of Peterborough, having sold out his practice, is staying with his father here to recuperate his impaired health.

The Presbyterian Church here are receiving applicants, but no one has been selected permanently so far.

Mr. Samuel Lamb, our veteran 'bus and livery man, has been suffering from a severe attack of hemmorhage of the stomach, but is on a fair way to recovery again.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at James Lynch's Drug Store.

Marchand on French Soil.

UNCLE REUBEN ON THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Ye cud tell I'm uster workin' by my [illegible] an' sunburnt arm,
An' thar' ain't no mortgage hangin' like a weight upon my farm;
An' in my undertakin's I hev hed a streak o' luck,
An' I'm what my Yankee neighbors call a genuine Canuck;
Tho' I wouldn't have a homestead, nor a single shinin' dime
Ef I went a hollerdayin' nearly half the blessed time;
Yit there's one day in the season we'en I hitch up roan and gray,
For I like to go a fishin' on the 24th o' May.

I kin walk about light-hearted, in the fresh and dewey morn,
We'en I know that I hev finished plantin' every field of corn;
An' in my imagination many golden visions pass
We'en I think about me haulin' up a string o' perch and bass;
All the household is refjoicin' we'en they realize the fun,
An' thar' ain't a sleepin' youngster et the raisin' uv the sun;
An' they know whar baits are biggest, an' they dig and dig away,
For they like to go a fishin' on the 24th of May.

I hev got a Celtic mayhur, who, uv course is very witty
(He's the boy thet's got the answers for them fellers from the city),
Tho' he talks of Dan O'Connell an' the noble Emmet's fate,
Tho' he tells me uv th' troubles thet occurred in '98;
Tho' he ain't enthusiastic in his praises uv the Queen.
For tha'r hangin men in Irelan' fer the wearin' o' the green,
Yet I'm noted for persuasion, an' I talk tu Mr. Shea,
An' he goes us a fishin' on the 24th o' May.

I ain't got a pile o'larnin' in the ologies or Greek
W'en the wise men are a talkin' et is time to make my sneak,
An' altho' I'm mighty rusty in my histry, I declare,
That ou noble sov'rin's treated 'ith devotion everywhere;
She hez been a model ruler, an I cannot fail to mention,
She hez raised her many children 'ith a gra' deal of attention;
So 'ith pleasant expectations, I await the happy day,
Fer I like to go a fishin' on the 24th o' May.

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

Hairene for the Hair

Mrs. Mary Wright, Berlin, says:—"My hair was coming out very fast, in fact it combed out by the handful. Nothing I used did any good until trying Hairene, from the first application of which I noted an improvement, and less than one bottle entirely stopped the falling. It is a clean preparation to use, and a valuable acquisition for the toilet."

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264.95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 15002 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334.80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Why let your neighbors know it?

And why give them a chance to guess you are even five or ten years more?

Better give them good reasons for guessing the other way. It is very easy; for nothing tells of age so quickly as gray hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

is a youth-renewer.

It hides the age under a luxuriant growth of hair the color of youth.

It never fails to restore color to gray hair. It will stop the hair from coming out also.

It feeds the hair bulbs. Thin hair becomes thick hair, and short hair becomes long hair.

It cleanses the scalp; removes all dandruff, and prevents its formation.

We have a book on the Hair which we will gladly send you.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

THE CASES TRIFLING.

Investigation of Charges Against the Yukon Officials.

THE REPORT OF MR. OGILVIE.

Hon. Mr. Sifton Laid It on the Table of the House on Tuesday Afternoon—The Redistribution Bill Will Not Be Withdrawn — The Second Reading of the Drummond Railway Bill.

Ottawa, May 31.—The report of Mr. Ogilvie, the commissioner of the Yukon, brought down by the Minister of the Interior yesterday afternoon, shows that the statements calling into adverse question the administration of the Yukon are without foundation.

The Redistribution Bill.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that on Saturday his hon. friend, the leader of the Opposition, had made the suggestion in the House that the Government should suspend for this session the redistribution bill. He had submitted the matter to his colleagues, and they had given it their consideration, and had come to the conclusion that there was really no reason why the bill should not be proceeded with this year.

Mr. Cowan introduced his bill to amend a temperance act of 1864. He explained that this act, which is commonly known as the Dunkin Act, was passed at a time when there was open voting, and his object was to amend the act so as to bring the voting under it into touch with the ballot system. The bill was read a first time.

Report of Mr. Ogilvie.

Hon. Mr. Sifton presented the report of Mr. Ogilvie on the investigation he had made into the charges of misconduct on the part of Yukon officials.

Commissioner Ogilvie's report covers 24 pages, and, after formalities, the report explains that after a conference with his legal adviser, Mr. Clement, Mr. Ogilvie decided not to investigate anything which occurred after Aug. 25, 1898. Mr. Ogilvie states on this being announced the representatives of the Miners' Association and of The Nugget newspaper withdrew, and this naturally took away most of the interest from the proceedings. Still he continued the inquiry and examined three cases. The first of these was of a mounted policeman who was charged with having received money for letting a man pass into the postoffice. This case had been already dealt with by the Mounted Police authorities and the man punished. The next case was that of a Mrs. Cook, to whom Gold Commissioner Fawcett was charged with having improperly issued a location permit. From the evidence it appeared that the woman spoke very imperfect English, that Mr. Fawcett had made a mistake, but Mr. Ogilvie was not of the opinion that any blame attached to him. The third case was that of Miner and Kelly, in which it was claimed that Gold Commissioner Fawcett had acted improperly in connection with some transaction between these men and Alex. Macdonald. Mr. Ogilvie, after taking the evidence, could not find that Mr. Fawcett had acted improperly in this matter. Mr. Ogilvie's report, which is dated at Dawson, April 27, concluded with the statement that in a few days he would continue the investigation with regard to the charges made against Messrs. Wade and Norwood.

Hon. Mr. Foster suggested that the rules of the House should be suspended, and an order passed that the report be printed immediately. This was agreed to.

Alien Labor Law.

Mr. McCleary called attention to the case reported in the newspapers of Inspector DeBarry having stopped in Buffalo a Canadian mechanic who was on a visit to his uncle, and who had taken his kit of tools along with him, and inquired whether it was the intention of the Government to enforce a Canadian alien labor law.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that when the Anglo-American commission met there had been a sort of informal agreement made with respect to the alien labor laws of both Canada and the United States that their operation should be suspended until the commission had made its report. His attention had been called to the particular case referred to by Mr. McCleary, and he (the Premier) was at the moment corresponding with some influential gentlemen in Washington on the subject.

Inland Revenue Act.

The House then went into committee on Sir Henri Joly's bill to amend the Inland Revenue Act. The object of the amendment is to increase the amount of malt which may be used to the gallon in liquor. In the committee the bill was so amended as to make it retroactive to July 1, 1898.

It was then reported, read a third time and passed.

Sir Henri Joly's bill to amend the Weights and Measures Act, so as to provide a special barrel for apples, was read a second time.

Sir Henri Joly's bill to amend the act respecting the inspection of petroleum and naphtha passed through committee and stands for third reading. The bill changes the flash test, abolishes inspection in barrels, only permits sale from tank vessels and imposes fines and penalties for infringement of the act.

The Drummond Railway Bill.

After the usual recess, the House was about to proceed to the second reading of the act to authorize the acquisition by the Dominion of the Drummond County Railway, on the motion of Mr. Blair (Minister of Railways and Canals), when Sir Charles Tupper said there were resolutions upon the paper which ought to be dealt with before the second reading of this bill. The arrangements with the Grand Trunk Railway were an essential part of that measure and the House should not proceed to the second reading until they had agreed to the resolutions which were absolutely a part of that bill. He would suggest that, in order to get the matter fairly and legitimately before the House, the second reading of the bill should remain in abeyance until those resolutions had been carried.

Mr. Blair said that it did not occur to him that there would be any objection to proceeding to the further stages of that important bill. There had been no attempt to impose any restrictions whatever on the discussion of the Grand Trunk features of the resolution in regard to the Drummond County Railway. There had been no objection to a reference of the existing contract, or to any discussion thereon, nor had there been any absence of information, either as to the one agreement or the other. He took it that the present motion was largely a formal one. The House had practically adopted the principle of the measure by adopting the resolution in committee of the House.

After Hon. G. E. Foster had spoken to the question,

It Stands Over.

Mr. Blair said that under the circumstances he was perfectly willing the second reading should stand over.

Mr. Foster said they ought to have the original of the Grand Trunk contract laid on the table of the House, together with the plans which showed the connections they were buying and for which they were paying heavily.

Mr. Blair promised to produce the documents asked by Mr. Foster, and then moved that the order for the second reading of the Drummond County Railway Act be withdrawn.

The motion was agreed to and the House then proceeded to consider an act to amend and consolidate the acts relating to the harbor commissioners of Quebec. After discussion, the measure passed through committee, was reported for a third reading and the House adjourned.

20TH CENTURY FUND.

The Baptist Convention Resurrects the Scheme and Passes It.

Toronto, May 31.—The Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec yesterday afternoon resurrected the twentieth century fund. The committee, after three sessions, resolved to recommend to the convention a modified amount which, being $30,000 less than that rejected, carried unanimously. Briefly, $130,000 is to be raised within 18 months, which sum includes all moneys already voted for all Baptist purposes, including the wiping out of the present deficits. The result will be reported to the meeting of the convention at Woodstock in October, 1900.

THE ORANGE ORDER.

Annual Convention of the Grand Orange Lodge of B. N. A.—Ladies Elect Officers.

Toronto, May 31.—The annual convention of the Grand Orange Lodge of British North America began in County Orange Hall yesterday afternoon. Orangemen from all parts of Canada were present. About 500 delegates were present, and the city members have made every arrangement for their reception and entertainment. The Grand Master, Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, delivered his annual address, after which the Grand Secretary, in his report, gave in detail the figures of the growth for the year as follows: Initiated 3,958, joined by certificate 1,084, reinstated 947, withdrawn by certificate 1,420, suspended 2,638, expelled 108, died 387, real estate and other property $482,179.50, insurance $199,252. The treasurer's report showed receipts $6,-880,68, disbursements $2,681.25, leaving a balance on hand of $4,199.43. Committees were appointed and the meeting adjourned till 9 this morning.

Ladies Elect Officers.

The Ladies' Orange Benevolent Society met in Victoria Hall yesterday afternoon and elected these officers: Grand Mistress, Miss M. Cullum, Toronto; Deputy Grand Mistress, Mrs. William Hoey, Hamilton; Junior Deputy Grand Mistress, Mrs. E. M. McClelland, Ottawa; Grand Chaplain, Mrs. Olive Pearson, St. Thomas; Grand Treasurer, Mrs. Marion Yeates, Sarnia; Grand Secretary, Mrs. Maggie Longmore, Chatham; Grand Lecturer, Mrs. H. M. Ellis, Montreal; Deputy Grand Secretary, Miss Josephine Bassett, St. Thomas; Deputy Grand Lecturer, Mrs. Kemp, Toronto; Grand Director of Ceremonies, Mrs. E. Sissons, Chatham; representatives to Grand Orange Lodge, Messrs. William Hoey and Alex. Downey.

IT MERITS ATTENTION.

A NEW PREPARATION WHICH CURES DYSPEPSIA AND STOMACH TROUBLE.

Remarkable Curative Properties.

A new remedy, which may revolutionize the treatment of stomach troubles, has recently been placed before the public and bears the endorsement of many leading physicians and scientific men.

The remedy is not a wonderful secret discovery, nor a patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except indigestion and stomach troubles, with which nine-tenths of our nation are afflicted.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic pepsin (free from animal impurities) bismuth and Golden Seal; they are sold by druggists generally under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many interesting experiments made with these tablets show that they possess remarkable digestive power, one grain of the active principle being sufficient to thoroughly digest 3,000 times its own weight of lean meat, eggs, oatmeal, or similar wholesome foods; these tablets do not act on the bowels like after-dinner pills, nor in fact do they act upon any particular organ, but the manner in which they cure all forms of indigestion is this: They act entirely upon the food eaten, digesting it completely, nourishing every tissue and nerve in the body; they simply perform the work of digestion, thus giving the weak stomach rest and assistance sufficient to enable it to recover its normal strength. This is the reason so many pretended cures have signally failed; they do not furnish the digestive power, which is the one thing above all others that the stomach of the dyspeptic lacks, and unless that lack is supplied, it is waste of time to attempt to restore the enfeebled stomach by means of "tonics," "stomach bitters" and "pills"; no permanent good can result from their use.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover; this is the secret and the whole secret of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a year ago, and now the most popular, widely used dyspepsia remedy, everywhere a success, secured almost entirely on its merits, as it has never been extensively advertised.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are now sold by druggists everywhere at 50c. per package; if he hasn't them in stock he will order them for you from his wholesale house. They are made by the F. A. Stuart Co., chemists, Marshall, Mich., who will be pleased to send information and testimonials from every state in the union.

Train Left the Track and Several Persons Were Injured.

Winnipeg, May 31.—A South Edmonton despatch says the Calgary and Edmonton express, northbound, was ditched ten miles from there about 7 o'clock Monday evening. Several persons were injured, including Conductor Clark and Mail Clerk Minney. Both the baggage and mail cars were badly wrecked. Superintendent Osborne of the C.P.R. gave the following particulars of the accident to a Winnipeg reporter yesterday: As train No. 41 was running north one and a half miles south of Otoskwan, it left the track, and two of the cars rolled down the dump, which at this point is eight feet high. The train was a mixed one, having two colonist cars attached. These were occupied by Galician settlers, and it was those cars which rolled over. However, none of the occupants were seriously injured, and only seven were slightly hurt. Three trainmen were also slightly injured. All of the passengers arrived at Edmonton at 10.45 p.m., the accident occurring at 6.50 p.m.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practising. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practising; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1898 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. Water Pipes Burst.

Owing to some defect in construction the water pipes in Robert Fair & Co's store burst on Tuesday night and caused considerable damage to a portion of the stock. The dress goods section, as well as linens, cotton and towelling suffered the principal damage; and although the wetting will not seriously affect the goods, it will depreciate their intrinsic value and cause an unfortunate loss to the price. After the repairs have been made it is the intention to place these slightly damaged goods on sale for a per-emptory clearance.

Group Photo.

Green & Son, photographers, Hunter street, have generously consented to present a group photo of the members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, I.O.O.F., for hanging in the lodge room. Each member sits singly and the grouping will be arranged after. Several of the members have sat already, and the rest are requested to call at Green's studio as soon as possible, for that purpose. Members who are out of town can be included by sending their photo, cabinet size, to Mr. Green or to the lodge officers. The group photo, when finished, will be quite an attraction, and Green & Son are to be commended for their generosity.

WILL ASK FOR HALF HOLIDAY.

This was the Division Arrived at Last Night at a Meeting of the Clerk's Association.

A meeting of the Clerk's Association was held in the National Hotel last night, at which there was a good attendance. Rev. J. C. Davidson and Rev. J. G. Potter were also present, and spoke very encouragingly on the subject of better hours for employees. They also spoke in strong terms of the Saturday night late shopping and hoped that the clerks would take this issue up a little later on.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the Association to interview the merchants of the town with a view of obtaining their views on the matter, reported. The majority of the merchants were apparently in favour of a half holiday in preference to an early closing agreement. The largest business houses in town had expressed themselves in favour of closing at noon one day in the week, and only one merchant had given the committee a very discouraging answer. It seemed, however, that among the grocers a certain amount of distrust existed. Each one was afraid that the other would not live up to the agreement.

Considerable discussion followed as to which concession to ask of the merchants, a half holiday, or an early closing each night in the week except Saturday. By almost a unanimous vote the former scheme was adopted.

A large committee, comprising many of the leading clerks of the town and several clergymen, was appointed to draw up the necessary petition and have same signed.

The meeting then adjourned.

DIDN'T KNOW HOW TO UNLOAD

A Slight Accident at the Snowden House Last Night.

Many, and of a more or less serious nature, are the accidents that from time to time happen from the careless use of firearms, and which are invariably assigned to the reason that "they didn't know it was loaded." Last night, however, an accident occurred at the Snowden House, not from the use of a firearm, but from the use of a fire extinguisher, and the cause may be assigned to the fact that the one who attempted to manipulate the machine knew it was loaded, but did not know how it was unloaded. The result was that Mr. E. H. Parshley, an American visitor at the house, had a new suit of clothes and an expensive umbrella considerably damaged.

One of the well-known local firemen dropped into the Snowden House last night about 12 o'clock, and grabbing hold of the chemical fire extinguisher attempted to show those present how to put out an incandescent lamp—so the proprietor of the house says. Of course the fireman didn't mean to let the machine off, although all present warned him that he might accidentally do so. It appears that the machine works on a slightly different principle from the one the local fire-fighters have been accustomed to handling, inasmuch that when turned bottom side up it does not require a sudden jar to cause the chemicals to do their work, but it instantly sends forth a stream of various chemical solutions. The American cousin, who was standing only a short distance from the nozzle taking in the sport, was amazed when a stream sufficient to extinguish a good-sized burning barn was directed upon him. Wherever the American went, the local fireman and the extinguisher seemed to follow, even out to Charlotte street.

Mr. Parshley was drenched through and through, and is this morning demanding a new suit of clothes from the fireman, while the latter calmly admits having last night learned something about chemical fire extinguishers.

I. O. O. F. NOTES.

FELL ON A BOTTLE AND CUT AN ARTERY.

DAVID BAILEY THE VICTIM OF A FATAL ACCIDENT.

He was Playing With Some of his Little Friends When the Injury was Received.

A very sad and peculiar accident happened last evening in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's yards, resulting in the death of David Bailey, the seven-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Bailey, No. 470 Donegal street.

The little fellow, in company with some children about the same age, including James McManus and his sister, and Jennie Stockdale, were playing in the yards of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, which are only a short distance from the deceased boy's home. David, the victim of the unfortunate accident, was climbing up an old wooden pulley, when he lost his grip and fell on the sharp point of a broken bottle, which entered the groin for a considerable distance, severing an artery and causing a violent hemorrhage. He became unconscious almost immediately, and while Joe McManus and his sister attempted to carry the injured boy home, Jennie Stockdale hurried to break the news to his father.

Mr. Bailey immediately hurried to the scene and met his son, who was being carried home by his playmates, and had him carefully conveyed to the house, when Dr. King and Dr. Moher were summoned.

The two medical practitioners were in constant attendance until about ten o'clock, when they succeeded in stopping the hemorrhage, but not before the boy had lost a great quantity of blood.

About 12 o'clock the hemorrhage again started and Dr. King was once more sent for, but death was close at hand and the child lived only a few minutes after the doctor's arrival.

Deceased was a regular attendant at the West Ward school, being a pupil in Miss Richardson's room.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock p.m.

JOSEPH WALL'S BODY FOUND

Picked up in the Little Lake last Night by the Boy's Father.

The body of little Joe Wall, who, two weeks ago lost his life by drowning at the Roger's dam, was found at half past seven o'clock last night by Cornelius Wall, the unfortunate boy's father, and Mr. George Wright.

The spot where the body was discovered was on the south side of Little Lake, between Little Lake cemetery and the lock's bridge. Mr. Wall brought the body across to his own boathouse and Coroner Bell was notified, but he considered an inquest not necessary.

Undertaker McFadden prepared the body, which was becoming quite decomposed, for burial, and the funeral took place last night at 11 o'clock to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

THURSDAY'S BARGAINS.

Watch the chances for the 1st day of June! We open the month with some startling Bargains for the first Thursday of "the leafy month." It has been gratifying to know that our weekly Special Bargain Day brings increasing crowds every week. As the prospects for more settled summer weather is now more encouraging we expect to have a still larger attendance of shoppers, for the reason, too, that we propose to offer still larger discounts during June. We mean to make things lively in every department To-morrow, and throw out such leaders as these to early comers:—

ISN'T IT FUNNY?

Nobody has Detected That the City Water is all Right Again.

It seems singular that the public has not detected the fact that the abnormal taste of the city water, recently observable, due to the high water flooding swampy reaches in the back country, has entirely disappeared. When it was noticed that the taste mentioned existed, and when the public expression of such a circumstance would tend to discredit the town and give it an undesirable reputation, many persons rushed into print and ambitious reporters were anxious to make "copy" by parading the affair. But now that the peculiar taste has vanished and the citizens enjoying one of the best city water supplies in Canada, nobody is seized with the cacoethes scribendi—nobody rivals the erstwhile correspondents in growing enthusiastic over what is to be regarded as a great boon, good water. Funny, isn't it?

THE NEW INDUSTRY.

The Exemption Proposition Considered by Council - The Question of New Buildings.

The Committee of the Whole Council met last night to consider the question of exempting the proposed new oil and varnish manufactury from taxation.

While the council it is understood looked favourably upon exemption no decision was arrived at, for the reason that the company had not yet come to a decision as to whether they would occupy the premises that were provisionally selected, or erect new buildings upon a lot belonging to the town in the southern district. In conversation with gentlemen connected with the company it is learned that the company is desirous of establishing the business here on a permanent scale, and as they have the capital available they would prefer to erect new buildings suitable to their purposes to occupying at less present expense an existing building which might in a few years prove too small for the purposes of the company.

THE TRACKMEN.

STATEMENT OF THEIR CASE BY A FOREMAN.

A Glance at the Hard Work and Scant Pay They Endure From Year's End to Year's End.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I beg you will allow space in your valuable paper for me to say a few words in favour of that much-abused class of men, namely, the Grand Trunk trackmen. Those poor fellows have at last made an effort to get their rights. Let us consider what their treatment has been up to the present time. I am qualified to know because I spent nine years in the employ of the G. T. R., six and one-half of that time as section foreman. I have risen from my bed numberless times, collected my men, generally in a rainstorm and spent the night endeavouring to save the road-bed from being washed away. I have stood along with my men in ice water up to my middle clearing ice from the ditches to keep the tracks from being washed away, and yet I dare not give myself or those men one cent more than the regular pay. Consider a man with seven or eight of a family to feed and clothe on one dollar a day. If he has the good fortune to be a sound man in every way and over 21 and under 45 he must pay at least two and a half cents a day insurance; if not entirely sound one cent a day. He must arise Sunday morning in his turn and inspect five to nine miles of track, making a distance of from ten to eighteen miles for 50 cents, less the one cent insurance. If he live in a section house he must have his cook stove (no matter how hot the weather might be) in the house, as the company would not allow any building to be erected outside for that purpose. He must not smoke on duty. He must not go in shelter in a rainstorm, and furthermore, he must exert his strength along with two mates and his foreman to handle eight hundred pound rails, put in twelve cross ties at least, and try like a good, faithful man to earn one dollar a day. Now, sir, I ask you or any other fair-thinking man is that justice? Can we not between man and man take him by the hand and say, brother, hold out for your rights, you are classed as humble labourers, but you hold the lives of the travelling public in your care? A very little mistake in leaving out a few spikes on a curve in one spot when putting in new cross ties, taking out a rail and forgetting that a train is due, not having a careful lookout when raising track and reballasting it, how many lives might be lost? That reminds me that no men as yet have replaced the striking trackmen in this district. Now, general roadmasters, do you dare to allow passenger trains, or in fact any trains, to run over the road without the same being properly inspected or repaired. Are you not aware that on a curve the rails sometimes force the spikes out, causing the guage to widen? On cool nights the contraction of the steel rails causes the joint bolts to break. Will the travelling public take a word of warning? All these things are liable to happen, and I challenge anyone who knows these dangers to refute the statement. Be of good cheer, men; force these unjust companies to allow you to make enough to exist on, and I have no doubt in my mind but that you will succeed. Surely no human being would degrade himself by replacing you until the company comes to terms. Let the people at large refuse to ride on trains thereby risking their lives to uphold this grossly unjust corporation.

A FORMER TRACKMAN.

Peterborough, May 29.

G.T.R. TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—If you will kindly allow me a little space in your valuable paper I would like to say a few words in reference to the strike of the G.T.R. trackmen. Perhaps General Roadmaster Harry Ferguson forgets the strike of the G.T.R. trackmen about eighteen years ago. Mr. Ferguson was foreman of a gang at that time, and was one of the chief agitators in the strike, and was dismissed by the company. But the trackmen got up a petition and signed it and sent it in to the company asking to have him reinstated. Now Mr. Ferguson is hiring scab Italians to fill the places of the very men who were so willing to help him some seventeen or eighteen years ago; also Mr. Ferguson was getting far better wages at that time than the striking foremen are getting at the present time, and the hardships the men have to contend with at the present time under the new management are more than double than what they were at the time Mr. Ferguson was on strike. Perhaps Mr. Ferguson will know the feelings of the men if scab Italians are allowed to take the bread and butter away from the trackmen and their families as he most surely remembers the feelings that kindled in his own breast when outsiders were being installed in strikers' places some seventeen or eighteen years ago. But the G.T.R. trackmen are better organized now, and more sure of success than they were at that time. I am sure the Examiner has made many warm friends by giving such impartial rsports of the strike. Thanking you for your kindness, I remain yours truly,

G.T.R. TRACKMAN.

Peterborough, May 30.

STRIKES! STRIKES!

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Now, Mr. Editor, there's quite a difference in strikes. For instance, Mr. A. is running a large mill in cotton goods, employs a thousand hands and they strike. Well, if he sees fit to employ green hands and so spoils his goods why that is his loss. The material is cotton or wool as you please, but here is another strike and what's the material? Why men, women and children that must travel, yes, and must go by the Grand Trunk and they are taken just as they take horses, cows and sheep, no difference whatever. Eighteen hundred men that should be employed every day for the protection of said material, are off from duty and the said Grand Trunk Co. cares not about it atall, why should they? They are saving $1800 a day by so doing, yes and boast they can run two months or mroe just using the material as common stock—so many dollars and cents. They are sure of a certain amount of material that must go. Now, sir as a part of the material, I call a halt at once right sharp.

I call on the Dominion Government to drop everything else and take hold of this matter and give the said Grand Trunk Co. notice that they can't go on a day longer. Either set the men in their places again or stop running passenger cars. It is a grand way of making money, saving $1800 a day for some 50 days, a nice little sum indeed. Now, sir, what we, the material, must have is a stringent law, regulating railroads, street cars, steamboats, etc. When section men engineers, conductors, or telegraph operators are going to strike, they should notify the Premier of the Dominion, when the said road runs through the Dominion. Street car employees should notify the Provincial Premier in order that the said Premier shall at once issue a proclamation to the said strikers to stay on for one month and they shall receive what they demand and then if we have railroad commissioners they shall at once meet at the Capital, Ottawa, and summons the parties to appear and so settle the strike by so doing. Then you see the material runs no risk of being killed or smashed up. And if they have no railroad commissioners, whose business it is to settle strikes, its time they should. Now if any reader can devise a better plan I shall be glad to hear of it and I hope and pray that every editor in this Dominion will take this matter up and forever put an end of allowing the men, women and children of this Dominion to be at the mercy of any man or company. Let us demand the very best protection and security that money and intelligence can secure. We have been used as common stock long enough on the railroads and also street cars and steamboats.

Now sir, if you can insert this in your excellent paper, I shall on behalf of the said people of the Dominion, thank you very much.

Respectfully yours,

PART OF THE MATERIAL.

BLOCKING RAILWAY CROSSINGS.

Trainmen Indifferent to Public Convenience.

To-day at about two o'clock a Grand Trunk freight train blockaded the Hunter street crossing for about ten minutes creating quite a congestion of traffic, pedestrian and vehicular. This was unnecessarily done. The train might have been left on the track this side of Hamilton's foundry, while the engine was uncoupled and run down to the station standpipe for water. It could then have returned and been attached to the train. This would have been a little trouble but not half the trouble it was to people who had business to reach and engagements to keep. The public have, legally, right of way, and the law allows trains to occupy crossings necessarily for only five minutes and it dosen't contemplate occupying crossings, unnecessarily, at all.

Trainmen should be a little more thoughtful of the rights of the public and reduce detention of the public to a minimum. We all should like to see the good old Grand Trunk so busy that it would have to block crossings many times a day; at the same time we should like to see trainmen refrain from blocking them unnecessarily.

The San Jose Daily Herald says: Henry Johnston of Hastings, Ont., one of Canada's millionaires is in town. He is here in the interest of his California holdings in Tuolume county. Rumour says he has greater interest in one of our wealthy widows.

Mr. W. E. Williams, representing the Messrs. Rylands & Sons, Limited, of Manchester, Eng., arrived in town this afternoon to take Robert Fair & Co's general autumn order. He has been invited to attend the Olympic excursion to Burleigh Falls tomorrow, where his many friends in Peterborough will have an opportunity of meeting him.

Mr. D. C. Irwin, of Rat Portage, brother of Mr. Wm. Irwin, was in town to-day. He was a member of a deputation that visited Ottawa yesterday to solicit a grant of $6,400 per mile for the Rainy River Railway. The deputation was much encouraged by the cordial reception their proposition received. The road, when completed, will open up a splendid agricultural country for settlement and give access, besides, to deposits of otherwise useless iron ore capable of unlimited development, and of supplying, it is claimed, all the needs of the country in regard to this metal. The other members of the deputation are in Toronto to day interviewing the C.P.R. authorities in regard to special rates to permit of the planting of the incoming Doukhobers, Finns and Gallicians in the district to be tapped by the proposed railway.

Exhibition of Painting.

Lovers of art will have the opportunity to-morrow and a few days afterwards of visiting at Belleghem's furniture store, 190 Hunter street, a collection of pictures painted by Henry Martin of Toronto, during his sketching trips in European cities. The collection is small, but the subjects are very interesting, including Westminster Abbey, The Market Place, Verona and many other such well known historic places, Venice not being forgotten. We advise everyone to visit these pictures and it would be well to retain some of them in Peterborough. 2d

Prof. Coleman Will Leave Shortly on an Important Trip.

Prof. A. P. Coleman, geologist to the Bureau of Mines, will leave Toronto about June 18, on an exploring trip to the north. Prof. Coleman will examine the country along the north shore of Lake Nepigon, including the islands in Nepigon Bay. The country west of the Nepigon river and Lake Nepigon, and the district southwest of Port Arthur, taking in the general area of Cambrian rocks in those localities which are known to carry copper, silver and iron. The professor will examine the country for iron and copper ores, for which at present there is a very extensive inquiry. He will also explore the country along the line of the Ontario and Rainy River Railway as far as any construction work extends, as the new cutting will afford very favourable opportunities for a study of the rock formation.

THE DYING SUN.

When Its Heat Becomes Extinct, the Earth Will Freeze Solid.

Our sun is now a yellow star similar to Capella, and hence it will eventually become bluish white like Sirius and Vega, says Professor T. J. J. See in The Atlantic. The secular shrinkage of the sun's radius will cause a steady rise in its temperature, and when the body has reached the stage of Sirius, where the temperature is perhaps doubled, the light emitted will become intensely blue. The temperature may be expected to go on rising till a small radius is attained, and finally, when the dense mass, intensely hot, becomes incapable of further shrinkage, on account of increase in the molecular forces resisting condensation, a cooling will gradually ensue, after which the body will liquefy and then rapidly decline in splendor. The sun will thenceforth be wrapped in everlasting darkness, and the chill of death will overtake the planetary system. A condition of darkness thus follows close upon a period of intense brilliancy, and hence the obscurity of such bodies as the companions of Sirius, Procyon and Algol. The most obscure satellites are thus associated with some of the brightest and most intensely luminous stars in our sky, and here the smaller of the two masses, as in the case of the planets of the solar system, have developed most rapidly.

In view of this approaching extinction of the sun's activity it becomes a matter of interest to inquire how long its heat will sustain life upon the earth. Though it is difficult to submit the subject to accurate computation, it is easy to see that the exhaustion of the sun's light and heat certainly will not occur for several hundred thousand, and perhaps not for several million years. Thus the ultimate doom of our system need occasion no anxiety among those now living, but the result is philosophically interesting to those who look several million years into the future.

As experiment has shown that the sun's vertical rays falling continuously upon terrestrial ice would melt a layer three centimeters in thickness per day, it follows that a similar shell of ice would form over the earth in case the sun's light and heat were cut off. Thus in a month the whole earth would be frozen like the polar regions, and only the deeper bodies of water, containing a great amount of heat, would remain in a liquid state. The oceans themselves would freeze over within a few years at the latest, and the winds and even the tides would cease to agitate the terrestrial globe, which would henceforth spin in its orbit as a rigid, lifeless mass.

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

There is Really a Lull in the G.T.R. Situation.

STPIKE PRACTICALLY ENDED.

Trains Between Guelph and Hamilton Said to Have Been Stopped for Examination of the Tracks—A Station Agent Discharged — The Engineers to Meet With Superintendent McGuigan.

Brockville, May 30.—The position of the trackmen's strike is unchanged, though it would not be surprising to hear of a wider strike if this trouble is not soon settled. A meeting of the brotherhoods took place here on Saturday, and a resolution was passed and sent to the general manager expressing sympathy with the trackmen and stating that the road was not in a safe condition.

Working to Prevent Accidents.

Toronto, May 30.—The trackmen are endeavoring to avoid any accident on the line. At many points they are still lighting the lamps, for which they receive a small reward. This, so they say, is being done only to help the engineers and firemen to safely carry the travelling public.

The local members of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen have not as yet made any effort to take action. They are waiting for news from headquarters, which will govern their movements.

The officials at the Union Station still continue to take a cheerful view of the situation. Walter White, representing Mr. Jones, said that a number of the old hands had returned at the old scale of wages, and at some points new workmen had been engaged. He was informed that the road was being properly patrolled and that "everything was running smoothly."

"The Strike Was Practically Ended."

London, May 30.—There was a crowded attendance yesterday at a special general meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railroad of Canada, who unanimously adopted the Central Vermont Railroad agreement. An announcement made by Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, president of the Grand Trunk, that the strike was practically ended, called forth much cheering.

Trains Stopped.

Hamilton, May 30.—There is no change in the situation locally. A traveller to the city yesterday morning from Guelph reported that the train was stopped at frequent intervals, while train hands ran ahead to examine the tracks.

Station Agent Discharged.

Kingston, May 30.—Yesterday morning a young man named William Jackson of Gananoque, one of the striking sectionmen, was struck by the G.T.R. local train as it pulled into the station from Brockville. He received a severe cut on the back of his head, and was badly bruised.

The Grand Trunk authorities have discharged Station Agent Hickey, Malloytown. They accuse him of giving away information to the striking sectionmen.

A number of laborers sent up here from Montreal to look over the tracks of the G.T.R. Company met with a hot reception. They took a "pumper" and started east. At Young's Mills, near Brockville, farmers and others turned out and made the men decamp, leaving their track tools behind them. Trains were delayed between Kingston and Brockville yesterday by a loose rail.

In Montreal.

Montreal, May 30.—There is nothing new to report re the Grand Trunk strike. The men appear to be crowding the papers with their side of the story, while the company's officials still decline to be quoted.

Engineers to Meet.

Montreal, May 30.—The Grand Trunk engineers have a meeting appointed for to-day with Supt. McGuigan.

Toronto Petitions the Government.

Toronto, May 30.—Last night the Council resolved to respectfully petition the Dominion Government to take such steps as they may deem necessary to terminate the G.T.R. trackmen's strike on an equitable and fair basis.

Volcanic Eruptions.

Are grand, but skin eruptions rob life of joy. Bucklen's Arnica Salve cures them; also Old, Running and Fever Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Corns, Warts, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Chapped Hands, Chilblains. Best Pile Cure on earth. Drives out Pains and Aches. Only 25 cents a box. Cure guaranteed. Sold by James Lynch, Druggist.

There Will Be No Retaliation.

New York, May 30.—The Journal of Commerce has the following from Washington: "There will be no action taken regarding bonding or transit privileges between Canada and the United States with the purpose of retaliation against Canadians for the present prohibition upon export of logs."

The Dummy Line Sold.

Hamilton, May 30.—The purchase of the Hamilton & Dundas Electric Railway by the Cataract Power Company was completed yesterday. The price is private, but it is said the stock was bought at a large premium. E. B. Osler of Toronto formerly had a controlling interest in the road.

Coming Up for Their Money.

Havana, May 30.—Yesterday 300 privates arrived during the day to apply for payment. Many who brought arms were not on the rolls at all. Ninety-nine rifles were surrendered, most of the applicants declining to take any chances in turning the weapons over to the Mayor of Havana.

Was Fooling With a Cartridge.

London, Ont., May 30.—Fred. Terry, 17 years old, was hammering a revolver cartridge Sunday, when it exploded, the bullet entering his leg. The ball was located by the aid of the X-rays and extracted. The wound is not serious.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

OLD-FASHIONED WOMEN.

Have a very natural prejudice against anything that offends their fine sense of delicacy. And for that reason numbers of such women have suffered in secret and in silence the pangs and pains consequent on the derangement or displacement of the delicate organs of sex. Any suffering to them was better than the shame of questions and examinations which probed modesty to its very core. But while they could hide their suffering they could not conceal its ravages. The darkening circles beneath their eyes, the sallow skin, the cheek robbed of its roundness, the body shrunken by wasting flesh, all these signs marked the presence of disease.

To every suffering woman who values modesty Dr. Pierce's method of treatment is a boon beyond price. His remarkable remedy for all female disorders and diseases, "Favorite Prescription," cures ninety-eight out of every hundred cases, no matter how obstinate or complicated the disease may be. Any woman who needs more help may write to the Doctor for his free counsel and advice. Such letters come from thousands and are treated with absolute privacy.

"I write these few lines hoping that some other suffering woman will try Dr. Pierce's medicines, as I did," writes Mrs. O. S. Adams, of Fargo, Cass Co., N. Dak. "I had female weakness very badly; so I had to be in bed part of the time. I was tired and sick all the time, could not do my housework: had fainting spells, nervous headache, backache and pain in my left side when I would lie down; I had pains and aches all over. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and had not taken two bottles when I was able to be around again and do my work, with no pain. I have taken five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two of his 'Compound Extract of Smart-Weed,' and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am feeling better than I have for a great many years. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines are the greatest in the world."

When the bowels are obstinate, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They don't gripe.

THE MUSES.

Of old the muses sat on high
And heard and judged the songs of men.
On one they smiled who loitered by;
Of toiling ten they slighted ten.

"They lightly serve who serve us best,
Nor know they how the task was done.
We muses love a soul at rest,
But violence and toil we shun."

If men say true, the muses now
Have changed their ancient habitude
And would be served with knitted brow
And stress and toil each day renewed.

So each one with the other vies
Of those who weave romance or song.
"On us, O muse, bestow thy prize.
For we have striven well and long!"

And yet methinks I hear the best
Come murmuring down from Helicon.
"They lightly serve who serve us best.
Nor know they how the task was done!"
—Edith M. Thomas in Dial.

The Brother Qualified It.

At a Georgia camp meeting a good brother continually repeated in the course of a long prayer

"Lord, send the mourners up higher! Send 'em up higher right away!"

A storm was brewing outside, and as the hurricane swept down on them the brother qualified his closing petition with

"But not through the roof, Lord! Don't send 'em through the roof! It would be too high!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The Danger of PILES

Too frequently overlooked, Dr. Chase's Ointment a Prompt and Positive Cure.

The suffering caused by the intense itching and burning sensations of piles is only one of the horrors of this disease, for there is always great danger of piles developing into fistula, one of the most disgusting diseases imaginable.

Even the great danger and expense of an operation are preferable to running the risk of contracting this most loathsome of diseases.

But there is no necessity for a surgical operation for piles. Dr. Chase's Ointment is guaranteed to cure any case of piles, no matter of how long standing, or how aggravated the case may be, so long as piles have not become fistula.

It is only by rare chance that internal treatment will cure piles. But it matters not from what cause they arise, Dr. Chase's Ointment will at once stop the itching and burning, and soon effect a perfect cure.

You can use Dr. Chase's Ointment with fullest assurance that what has cured scores of thousands of cases of piles will cure you. For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE ROYAL BOX.

Both Mary, queen of Scots, and George III were buried at midnight.

When the empress of China travels, she carries with her 3,000 dresses, filling 600 boxes, in charge of 1,200 coolies.

The German emperor is a careful diary keeper, and he scrupulously calculates and enters up the total of his journeys every week, whether within or without the confines of his empire.

It is said that England's queen shows great sympathy for the blind; that, while "she reigns over an empire on which the sun never sets, she does not forget those of her people for whom the sun never rises." The college for the blind at Norwood has just received from her a check for £100.

Not a Faith Cure.

Faith never worked a miracle in the case of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. It is the wonderful curative properties of the remedy that does the work. Mr. S. O. Taylor, Charlecote, Ont., suffered with rheumatism in the back (Lumbago) for four years. Five bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure completely cured him. He has been free from pain since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, 50 cents a bottle. For sale at all drug stores.

Braun Killed His Wife.

Sing Sing, N.Y., May 30.—Adrian Braun was put to death by electricity here yesterday for the murder of his wife. Braun killed his wife in Sing Sing Prison on March 5, 1898. His wife visited him in prison and she carried him some delicacies of which he was fond. Braun, who was employed in the prison as a potato peeler, went to the visitors' room to see her with a knife secreted in his clothes. The two conversed together in the most friendly terms until the prison detective told them their time was up. Braun stood up with a long, sharp-pointed potato knife in his hand. He brought it down with fearful force against the left side of his wife's neck, severing the jugular vein and the main artery in the neck.

BRAIN FAG

Is the result of Overwork and an Exhausted Nervous System. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates New Brain and Nerve Tissue.

Business and professional men, accountants, stenographers, teachers, students and all brain workers know only too well what it means to have the brain so tired out that concentration of thought is almost impossible.

One-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless the blood is pure and rich the brain becomes exhausted for want of proper nourishment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Blood Food creates new brain and nerve tissue, and produces rich red blood, "the vital fluid" of the body.

All brain workers quickly recognise the merits of this great food cure, and after a few doses enter on their work with new energy and ambition.

Brain fag is unknown to persons whose brain and nerve have been invigorated by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, which is for sale by all dealers at 50c. a box.

"CARTHAGINIAN OF MAINE."

How Hannibal Hamlin Won the Title in the Maine Legislature.

Among the many stories of Hamlin's early experiences in the Maine legislature none is more animated than his tilt with John Holmes, interesting, besides, because it gives the origin of "the Carthaginian of Maine," a name that stuck to Hamlin through life. Holmes had been in the United States senate, and at this particular time, writes General Hamlin, a member of the state house of representatives, was endeavoring to domineer over it.

Hamlin disputed the leadership with him, and Holmes attempted to crush his young opponent by coarsely ridiculing his swarthy complexion. Instantly Hamlin jumped to his feet and, pointing his finger at Holmes, retorted: "If the gentleman chooses to find fault with me for my complexion, what has he to say about himself? I take my complexion from nature. He gets his from the brandy bottle. Which is more honorable?" This retort was greeted with great applause and cries of "Go on!"

Hamlin then continued, pointing his finger at Holmes: "I will also tell the member from Alfred that he is more conspicuous for trying to run dryshod over young men than for trying to encourage them. But as long as they are true to themselves and to nature and as long as the member from Alfred sticks to the brandy bottle they need not fear him." As soon as the cheers of the house could be sufficiently silenced Holmes retracted his words and made a manly apology. "The young Carthaginian routed the old Roman" was one humorous comment on the incident, and from that time Hamlin was thus frequently characterized. —Lewiston Journal.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at James Lynch's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Paderewski Again Married.

New York, May 30.—A Paris despatch to The World says that it is learned on unimpeachable authority that Ignace Paderewski, the great pianist, was secretly married last December to Mme. Eilena Gorski, the divorced wife of Ladislas Gorski, a well-known violinist, formerly a member of the Lamoureux Orchestra. Mme. Gorski, when in Geneva recently, signed herself "Eilena Paderewski" on the register of the Casino there. Mme. Gorski and Paderewski are now living quietly in Paris together, awaiting the Pope's dispensation before having an ecclesiastical marriage.

In case of an ecclesiastical marriage Gorski will probably give his wife away, as was done by Ruskin to Sir John Millais.

HE STILL LIVES.

A Case Where Medical Science Made a Little Miscalculation.

"Medical science occasionally makes a grand miscalculation," said an old citizen. "I never pass a certain house on lower Prospect street without remembering that 28 years ago a certain noted doctor of this town—he died recently—condemned me to death. 'You have but a week to live,' he said.

"This was information of somewhat serious import to me, although, at that time, I didn't much care whether it was a week or a month. But I went to another doctor. 'Are you really frightened?' he asked. 'No,' I said; 'I've got beyond that.' Then he remarked, 'You can't last a month.' Somehow this corroborative testimony didn't satisfy me. Before I got through my search for information I consulted eight doctors. And, by the way, I was bunting through the second week before I made the rounds. Of course they all agreed pretty well. The most liberal man of the lot said I might pull through for a year, but he greatly doubted it. The other medicos gave me from a week to three months.

"Well, sir, I've attended the funerals of five of those doctors, and, please God, I'll see the other three under the sod before I quit.

"Understand me—I was a pretty tough object at that time. A bronchial trouble had worn me to skin and bone. I walked with a crutch and a cane. I could scarcely talk. All the doctors agreed that my lungs were past mending. Five of them said I had but one lung left, and that, they claimed, was on its last legs.

"Well, when I went to the ninth doctor, I was mad clear through. I knew he didn't have a blessed idea concerning my case. But he tried hard to look knowing and went back to his little drug tank and presently returned with a neat package wrapped in white paper. I handed him the $2 he demanded and walked away. 'Here,' he said; 'you've forgotten your medicine.' I turned back. 'No, I haven't,' I said hotly; 'I left it there purposely. Give it to the next credulous fool whose case you don't understand.' Say, it did me good to get mad. I went home, chucked every drug into the ash barrel, staid out in the open air all I could, wasn't the least bit careful about myself, worked about the house every day until exhausted and began to get better. By George! Inside of a year I was in tiptop condition! Look at me now! Sound as a dollar! Yes, sir, science does occasionally slip up with considerable unanimity."

WOODSTOCK WONDER.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

He Defined the Word.

A correspondent of the New York Times, referring to a discussion on the merits or demerits of the word "transmogrified," says a characteristic anecdote concerning the late Rev. Dr. Coxe, father of the late Bishop Coxe of western New York, may be of interest. The writer's good friend, the late Rev. Dr. John Ireland Tucker of Troy, an old Brooklyn man, told him that he was once present at a funeral in Brooklyn where Dr. Coxe, although a Presbyterian, used the Episcopal burial service. After reading the words "we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed" the doctor looked up in evident doubt as to whether his hearers understood the sense of that great phrase. After a pause he said, "Transformed, my brethren," and then, still evidently in doubt, he added, with great solemnity, "Transmogrified."

Now, Will You Be Good?

The average man is a hypocrite in his relations with his wife, because his wife forces him to be. His wife has a lot of foolish notions about men, and the husband, in his early enthusiasm, tries to live up to them. He cannot do it and becomes a sneaking hypocrite. After he is charged with being a sneaking hypocrite a few times and convicted he becomes surly, and trouble results. A wife who expects a lot of foolish things of her husband is simply putting out a trap in which he will surely be caught, and after he has been caught he will be found an ugly customer. If a woman will treat her husband intelligently and fairly, she will find him a good fellow, and he will be of great assistance to her.—Atchison Globe.

The Star's Salary.

"Your salary, I believe, is $250 a week," said the caller.

It so happened that the star was in a confidential mood, and she replied:

"Well, one of them is."

"One of them?"

"Yes. The salary I advertise is $250 a week, but the salary I get—well, that's another story."

A Relief For His Friends.

"Something is the matter with Eagan's brain."

"What a relief that must be to his worrying friends!"

"A relief!"

"Yes, to know he has any brain."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Example is Better than Precept.

These sententfous proverbs, or old saws, which are used as prefixes to all of the Hood Sarsaparilla advertising in thousands of papers throughout the country, are evidence of a new and original style of display advertising both pleasing and effective. The Hood firm is to be congratulated on so cleverly adapting such wisdom as has filtered down through centuries. Another charming thing about this Hood advertising is the unique type they are using.

FAULTLESS GRINDING.

THE TURF REVIEW.

Walter Vail is laying plans to build a new track at Norfolk, Neb. He will get a stable together a little later.

That fast Iowa stallion, Aragon K, 2:13¼, by Adrian Wilkes, has wintered well and bids fair to be faster than ever.

F. E. Hyde of Hartford will campaign the fast green horse Queckendorf, by Paola, 2:18, brother of Palo Alto, 2:08¾.

Sidney Pointer, 2:14½, the son of Star Pointer, that W. J. Andrews tried to lease, will be raced by the veteran New York state driver, W. Van Valkenburg.

It is reported that the Oregon pacing stallion, Del Norte, 2:08, brother of Chehalis, 2:04¼, who has a "guideless record" of 2:04¾, will be shown in the east.

The Maine trotter Haley, 2:17¼, by Nelson, 2:09, holds the track records of the Acton, Fryeburg, Pittston, Readfield, Topsham and Windsor half mile rings.

The iron sided Sable Akyoner, 2:22½, of three races in four days celebrity, has been purchased by C. H. Kerner of New York city, as a pole mate for Bush, 2:09¼.

George Spear will try to get Margaret (4), 2:18½, to the races this year, and if she should stay sound she may prove a great breadwinner for the N. W. Hubinger stable.

Trainer Davis, Norfolk, Neb., has commenced jogging Billionaire, by Millionaire, 2:26, at the pace. He was worked a little last fall and showed extremely creditable speed.

Temper, 2:18¼, matinee wagon record 2:18¼ at Cleveland last summer, will probably prove a sharp factor in the 2:16 classes on the grand circuit, where she is being entered.

May Day, 2:18¼, by Abdallah Mambrino, who will be returned to the turf by Joseph H. Thayer this year, has raised foals by Directum and Bow Bells during her retirement.

Gamelio, by Gamaleon, 2:25¼, dam Vixio (dam of Maideno, 2:14¾), is almost faultless in trotting conformation and a speedier yearling at the halter has seldom been seen. She is owned by J. W. Edwards, Norfolk, Neb.—Horseman.

Will Meet in Woodstock.

Toronto, May 30.—The Ontario and Quebec Baptists yesterday disavowed the twentieth century fund, the announcement of which they cheered on the previous Friday night. Delegate after delegate told of financial stress, and the project was abandoned. It was resolved to hold the next convention in Woodstock in October of 1900.

Montreal Conference Opened.

Brockville, May 30.—The Montreal District Conference opened here yesterday in Wall Street Methodist Church. There are about 300 delegates present.

THE HONEY MAKERS.

Division boards should be used in all weak colonies.

Empty combs should be given good care so as to save them.

A south or east slope is always the best location for an apiary.

Alsike, alfalfa and white Dutch clover are good honey plants.

The space in the hive should be contracted to suit the swarm.

Any colony of bees will be capable of turning robbers if proper inducements are offered.

Comb when filled with honey is never brittle. It is only when empty and dried out that it becomes so.

There is hardly any question but that bees will generally store more honey in old combs than in combs that must be wholly built while the storing is going on.

If you destroy the queen cells of a colony ready to swarm and divide the colony into two, completing both hives with empty combs, both will construct queen cells again.

Bees do not swarm until the hive is well populated and honey coming in from the fields; hence if combs are put on they should be put on before any preparation for swarming is made.—St. Louis Republic.

A PORT HOPE GROCER

Tells how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cured him of Shortness of Breath, Dizzy Spells and Nervousness.

People from all parts of Canada are gladly coming forward and telling other sufferers how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure diseases arising from disordered nerves, weak heart or watery blood, when all else has failed.

One of these is Mr. W. A. Carson, the well-known grocer, Port Hope, Ont., who made the following statement:

"For a length of time I was seriously troubled with my heart, causing shortness of breath, nervousness, dizziness, debility, etc.

"I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at Deyell's drug store here, and am very much pleased to tell you that after using them a short time I was entirely cured of my troubles. Not only that but I feel thoroughly built up and restored to health and vigor.

"I can highly recommend these remarkable pills to those afflicted with heart or nerve trouble in any form as I believe them to be the best remedy in existence."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure palpitation, dizzy or faint spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, weakness, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, tobacco heart, anæmia, pale and sallow complexion, female complaints, general debility and all diseases arising from a weak or run down condition of the system.

Price 50c. a box or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists, or sent by mail. T. MILBURN & Co., TORONTO, ONT.

Made to be Walked On

Ordinary paint will not do to paint floors. It will neither look well nor wear well. A special paint is needed. It must be ready-mixed, ready for use. It must flow easily, have a bright, glossy finish, dry quickly and must not blister, crack, peel or rub off. It must have a hard surface combined with unusual elasticity, to stand being walked on—the hardest kind of wear. Just such a paint is

THOUGHT
WOULD DROP OFF

Body and Head Mass Bleeding Sores. Suffered Beyond Description. Physician Could Not Even Relieve. Had to be Put Under Opiates.

Father Gives Up Utterly Discouraged. Read CUTICURA Testimonial and Got CUTICURA Remedies. Cured in Seven Weeks.

My infant boy was afflicted with a terrible skin disease. The upper part of his body was one mass of bleeding sores which extended to his head, and one of his ears was so affected that we thought it would drop off. His sufferings were beyond description, and he had to be kept constantly under the influence of opiates. Our physician did everything for his relief; but instead of the child getting better, the disease seemed to become more aggravated every day, until I became utterly discouraged. I could find nothing that would even relieve my child till one day my attention was called to a CUTICURA testimonial published by you. I bought the CUTICURA remedies, using the CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT. The result was simply marvellous. After the third day the opiates were discontinued, the child was free from pain and the terrible itching sensation. From day to day improvement progressed, and in seven weeks from the day we started on the CUTICURA remedies the child was cured, the scabs falling off, leaving a clear, smooth baby skin in their place.

WANTED TO MARRY HIS NURSE

A Discharged Hospital Patient Writes an Unusual Love Letter.

Perhaps more good-looking, well-bred, intelligent and earnest young women are going into trained nursing nowadays than into any other business to which the sex has turned its attention. It would be mean and also untrue to intimate that they were taking up nursing in the hope of getting a husband. As a matter of fact, many of them take up the work for the very reason that they wish to "walk softly" all the rest of their lives. And yet, curiously enough, no class of women receive so many proposals of marriage. There are several reasons for this. In the first place, many of these nurses are attractive enough to please any man, no matter how fastidious in the matter of refinement, education and physical beauty. Then too, the nurse's costume is the perfection of neatness and cleanliness, and much more becoming to many women than their ordinary dress. But the secret probably lies in the circumstances. We all know that propinquity has much to answer for, and it is especially powerful at a time when man instinctively yearns for sympathy and tenderness.

To many a sick man his kindly, light-footed, good looking nurse, in her spotless costume, is no doubt a revelation. To others, for a thousand one reasons, she may appear a veritable angel. Here is a case in point. A young widower from the country was in a Chicago hospital. He was rough, uneducated, uncouth, but he was genuine after his kind. He fell violently in love with his nurse, and, though he said nothing to her except with his eyes and probably resolved never to break his silence, a week after he was discharged he wrote her this letter:

"dear miss—i sot down to tell you that ive arove hum an wish i was somewhere els ive got 3 bully boys an they are helpin about gittin the garden sass in the ground but they haint got no muther an ive got a horse an a knu an i thout youd be kinder handy to take care of em if you'd stupe so much ive thout of you ever since i cum from the horse pittle an how Jiminy you ust to walk up an down them wards you had the best gate i ever seen an my first wife steped just so an she paid her way i tel you i like to work an the boys like to work an i kno you do an so ide like to jine if you haint got no objecshuns an now ive made so bolde to rite sich but i was kinder pushed on by my feelins an so i hope youl excuse it an rite soon i shant be mad if you say no but its no harm to ask an as i say i cant help ritin an the boys names are peter Zebulon an John an they want to see you as does your respected friend which owes his present health to you.

JOSEPH C."

Of course, one's first impulse is to laugh. But, after all, the poor fellow's letter is rather a matter for tears than laughter. Will she accept? Probably not. The very truth of the missive paints too graphically the uniqueness of the suitor's surroundings and the narrowness of his horizon, even when expanded by the broadening influence of love.

RINGER BROS.

They Will be at Selwyn on the Week Following June 4th

Selwyn is to be afforded a chance to hear the well-known singing evangelists of Hamilton, the Ringer Brothers, who are being brought to that place by Selwyn Lodge of Good Templars.

The Templars have invited the co-operation of the churches, hence the committee in charge consists of representatives of the Templars and of the three churches at Selwyn.

Mr. Percy Wright was chosen chairman of the committee, and Mr. Wellington Manning, secretary.

The meetings will be held in the Temple building every evening of next week, commencing on next Sunday, June 4th.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

GOLF.

On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock a club match will be played between two teams, chosen by the president and captain, and drawn as follows:

President — Dennistoun, Burnham, Campbell, S. Ray, Smith, E. H. D. Hall, Francis, Lamprey, Houston, Wood, Morrow.

Captain—Hamilton, Napier, W. D. Parker, G. W. Hatton, McHarrie, C. Hall, Fred Hall, Skill, Poussette, A. G. Parker, Bradburn.

On Friday a team of eight men from Orillia will play a match with our local club.

Banker's Trophy.

The draw for the prizes offered by the bankers in Peterborough, was drawn for yesterday as follows:

A. St. A. Smith, scratch, vs. F. B. Francis — 6.

R. C. McHarrie, scratch, vs. C. Poussette, scratch.

W. D. Parker, —6, vs. E. H. Skill, x 6.

A. G. Parker, x 6, vs. J. H. Carter, scratch.

P. Campbell, —3, vs. A. S. Houston, x 3.

R. Myles Hamilton, — 9, vs. C. Bell, scratch.

F. C. Napier, — 6, vs. E. W. Lamprey, x 6.

Entrance fee for this competition is twenty-five cents. First round to be played off by Saturday, June 10. Three prizes will be offered.

BASEBALL.

The management of the local baseball club is bound to keep up the interest in the game throughout the entire season. It is the intention of the team to have a match on every Saturday afternoon with teams from the best ball towns in Ontario. This Saturday the Princess street nine, of Kingston, will appear on the local diamond, and one week later the Argyles, of Toronto, one of the best amateur aggregations in the province, will play the local boys. A pleasing feature of the game in Peterborough is the deep interest that is being taken in baseball by the young ladies of the town. At the game on the 24th of May morning great enthusiasm was shown by the ladies present, and they appear to be getting well up in all points of the game. The team for Saturday has not been picked yet, but there will not be many changes from the last game.

FOOTBALL.

The footballers were out in full force last night getting ready for their match to-night. The Y.M.C.A. team were out almost to a man and a number of the Inverleas joined in. To-night these two teams have a practice match at 7 o'clock. The Inverleas are an older team and ought to win. They have a number of good players. If their forward line show up as strong as their defence they will make it warm for the young men. Simpson and Burnham at back are both sure and strong kickers as well as good checks. The Y.M.C.A. team is not very strong at any point. They are not adepts at the game but make up somewhat in activity and condition. A good game will likely to result. Interest in the game is increasing and by fall Peterborough ought to be able to boast of a league and be able to pick a representative team that can compare favourably with teams from Toronto or any of the western towns.

YACHTING.

Amongst the capitalists who are furnishing the money to build the McLeod and Payne boats for the defence of the Canada Cup are Hon. Geo. A. Cox, Mr. J. W. Flavelle and Mr. Fred Cox, all formerly of Peterborough.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—All Saints choir will meet to-night for practice instead of Friday evening.

—The Wm. English Canoe Company received an order this morning from the Kingston Yacht Club for one of their celebrated war canoes.

—Two ladies who have lived in Ashburnham for many years, got lost in the outskirts of the village last evening and wandered around for an hour before they could get their bearings.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will be held to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon at 3.30. A large attendance is requested, as business of importance is to be discussed.

On Monday forenoon a young lady residing in this city purchased a bicycle from a local salesman. She rode it home at noon and everything appeared to be par excellence. While riding in the afternoon she was alarmed by a continual click, click, which seemed to proceed with some part of the wheel's mechanism. There being no let-up to the noise the lady took the wheel back to the agent and accused him of selling her a wheel which was not in good repair. She was quite indignant concerning the injustice she believed the salesman had done her. The man looked all over the wheel carefully and could find nothing out of order about it. The trouble was that the lady wore shot in the bottom of her skirt, and when riding the lead would regularly strike the framework of the bicycle, producing the noise she had heard. After finding out her mistake the lady did not blame the agent for it.

Great Excitement in Montreal.

When the people saw a guarantee given by Lyman Knox & Co., Kerry Watson & Co., Lyman Sons & Co., to all the retail druggists in Canada authorizing them to sell Smith's Indian Rheumatic and Kidney Cure and Smith's Indian Cough Syrup and Grippe Killer to all of their customers, and guarantee to cure or refund the money, then all the druggists in Ottawa, Toronto, and all other smaller cities and towns came out in the papers offering to guarantee these wonderful remedies to cure or refund the money. KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

We are pleased to learn that Will McCauley captured the 2nd scholarship of his year at Trinity Medical College.

Mr. David Eason leaves to-day for the remote tributaries of Ottawa, where he will spend the summer in the survey.

Quite an exciting and altogether unexpected race was run by some of our local sports and the fishery inspector on the morning of the 24th. Constant practice on the river and lake has developed two of the sports wonderfully and they came out way ahead. One of the contestants was badly handicapped by a troll, on which some say was a 15 lb lunge. It is a shame that all spectators were so rigidly excluded from such sights on legal holidays.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on the 23rd, when the societies of the Presbyterian church treated their friends to a social tea in the Town Hall.

The ladies of the Methodist church celebrated the 24th of May by holding an apron fair in the Town Hall. Those who attended, expressed themselves as being well pleased with the entertainment.

Our village school came to the fore and celebrated in grand style, Empire Day. In the morning, the pupils and visitors were given a talk about the British empire with reference to maps which the children had drawn on the boards. At 2.15 the following programme was given to the parents and friends:

Drill.....Raising the Flag
Chorus.....Story of the Flag
Address.....Chairman
Chorus.....Land of the Maple
Address.....Rev. Mr. McCauley
Recitation—For King and Country
Alex. McGregor.
Chorus.....Soldiers of the Queen
Address.....Rev. F. Andrews
Chorus.....Rule Britannia
Short addresses by Messrs. G. Reid R. Skinner and A. Shearer
Club Swinging.....Seven girls
Chorus.....The Maple Leaf Forever
God Save the Queen.

Mr. Thos. Laing, Secretary-Treasurer occupied the chair and spoke to the pupils in a very appropriate manner imparting some very good advice.

Rev. McCauley in his address emphasized the importance of duty to ourselves to our country and God. His address was such as children should often hear.

The Rev. Andrews, in his usual genial way, encouraged the pupils and complimented Miss Campbell and Mr. Wallace on the success of the celebration. His address was listened to with the usual pleasure.

Thanks are due Miss Bryce, who so carefully trained the pupils in the chorus.

Dr. Shaw photographed the entire group of pupils, teachers and trustees, and a splendid picture is the result. The doctor has promised a speech for next Empire Day.

Misses Mamy and Kate Doris are home for a few weeks.

Mr. Robert English shipped on Monday to Sugar Island a large number of young cattle and horses.

The Laing football team went to Campbellford on the 24th and took part in the tournament. They were drawn against Brighton and although they played 55 minutes each way neither sides succeeded in scoring. They left it to a toss and Keene lost it. They expect to meet Campbellford here on Saturday next.

Mr. Ed. Porter has returned home after passing a very creditable examination in his 2nd year at Victoria.

Mr. Jas. Ashburn's landing, "The Mounds" is extremely beautiful at present. Mr. Ashburn is working at his new house, which he hopes to have completed early in the summer.

Mr. Will Quinn of Rochester, N.Y., paid a flying visit to his parental roof on the 24th. His many friends were highly pleased to see Will look so well. He says it did him good to hear God Save the Queen sung for the first time in three years. A Canadian still and not ashamed of it.

Bismark's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health. Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25c at James Lynch's drug store.

EMERGENCY SALE OF

WATER-DAMAGED GOODS

At the GOLDEN LION.

By the bursting of a water-pipe on the night of the 30th, ultimo., a large quantity of our Reserve Stock in the second, first and basement stories were damaged by the flood of water. These goods consist principally of

400 yards of Dress Goods and Dress Linings,

1500 yards of Towelling,

Together with Quantities of

Towels, Skirtings, Linens, Shirt Waist Silks, Etc.

A considerable portion of these goods are only slightly damaged by moisture, and sustained little or no damage for general utility or wear.

As it is imperatively necessary that an immediate disposal of these goods must be made, we have decided to make a quick clearance by holding an EMERGENCY SALE, which will be continued during

FRIDAY, SATURDAY and MONDAY,

JUNE 2nd, 3rd and 5th.

This means that about HALF PRICE will have to be accepted in many instances and that we must be content to stand the loss ourselves. We can't afford to hesitate about the sacrifices that must be made in prices, no matter how serious the loss, in order to make a swift clearance, as crowds are sure to take advantage of this sale. Capital chances for early buyers.

MISS RUDKINS'

—STORE NEWS—

The Day

Has nothing to do with the Price of Goods at this store.

Come any day of the week and you will find stacks of Bargains rolling in and out.

You needn't be afraid of having to pay any more on Friday than on Thursday. You get Bargains the one day as well as the other.

If we sell you a Dress or a Blouse at a Bargain Price on Monday, you will find it the same price on Tuesday, and the other four days of the week.

We have never yet resorted to the plan of selling goods at a great reduction on a certain day, and then make enough on the other days for the come-down.

PLANNING FOR PEACE.

Italy, United States and Great Britain Submit Proposals.

THREE ARBITRATION SCHEMES.

Great Britain's Plan for "the Permanent Court for International Arbitration"—The Signatory Powers to Establish a Permanent Council of Five Members—Details of the American Amendment.

The Hague, June 1.—The amendment of Count Nigra, head of the Italian delegation to the peace conference, to the Russian arbitration scheme, proposes the following article:

1. In the event of the imminence of a conflict between two or more powers, after the failure of all attempts at conciliation by means of indirect negotiations, the contending parties shall be obliged to have recourse to mediation or arbitration of cases indicated by the present act.

2. All other cases of mediation or arbitration will be recommended by the signatory powers, but will remain optional.

3. Each of the signatory powers not involved in the conflict has in all cases, even during hostilities, the right to offer the contending parties its good offices for mediation, or propose that they have recourse to the mediation of another power equally neutral, or to arbitration. This cannot be considered by either of the contending parties as an unfriendly act, even in a case where mediation or arbitration not being obligatory, is would be rejected.

4. A demand for or offer of mediation takes precedence of a proposal of arbitration but arbitration may or must be proposed, according to the circumstances, not only when there is no demand for or offer of mediation, but also when mediation would have been rejected or would not have led to conciliation

5. A proposal of mediation or arbitration, until formally accepted by all the contending parties, cannot, unless there be a convention to the contrary, have the effect of interrupting or delaying impending mobilization or other preparatory measures or military operations.

6. Recourse to mediation or arbitration, in conformity with article 1, is obligatory in the cases of——

The blank after the words "cases of" is to be filled in later on.

The British Proposals.

The British arbitration proposal is as follows:

"The court shall be called 'The Permanent Court for International Arbitration.' Its object will be to facilitate arbitration in nations whenever they fail to adjust their differences by diplomatic means.

"The court may be summoned at any time, its rules and procedure being established by a convention, which shall not override any special arrangements made by the litigants. A permanent bureau shall be established at Berne, at The Hague, or at Brussels, where the archives shall be kept, and whence all communications shall be dated.

"A permanent secretary and clerk, with the necessary staff, shall reside on the spot. Their duty shall be to summon the court whenever litigants demand it.

"As regards the choice of arbitrators, each of the signatory States shall be pledged to submit to the approval of the other States the names of two persons, with the necessary qualifications. These shall be ex-officio members of the tribunal.

"In case of a vacancy owing to demise or to other causes, a successor shall be appointed in similar manner.

"An application from litigants for the summoning of the tribunal must be sent to the secretary at the central bureau, who will communicate to the litigants a list of judges from which each litigant shall select as many judges as may be provided under the arbitration compromise. They shall have the further right of nominating one or more judges whose names are not on the list.

"The tribunal thus formed shall meet at a date appointed by the litigants. The court will hold sittings in the permanent bureau, with the option of removing its sessions to any other place according to the wishes of the parties or to circumstances. Parties not signatories of the convention may nevertheless obtain the services of the court under conditions established by the convention.

"The signatory powers will establish a permanent council of administration of five members and a secretary. The council shall enact the bylaws of the bureau and shall have cognizance of all the questions relating to the bureau.

"The council shall have unlimited power for the appointment or dismissal of officials and fixing salaries, and it shall appoint a president, having a casting vote. Its resolutions are to be carried by a majority.

"A contribution from each state to the expenses of the council shall be fixed by the same from time to time by agreement with the signatories."

Uncle Sam's Proposal.

The drafting committee of the arbitration committee made some advance in the afternoon. The American delegates submitted their scheme, relating to an arbitration tribunal. The plan differs from the British proposal. It provides that each country shall appoint a single arbitrator to be selected by the Supreme Courts of the signatory powers. The tribunals shall have a permanent central seat and be composed of at least three judges, who shall not be natives or residents of countries belonging to the powers in disacord. The general expenses shall be shared proportionally. In the event of new facts arising within three months of a decision, the same tribunal shall have power to try again the question in dispute. Recourse to the tribunal to be optional for the signatory powers. The tribunal shall not take cognizance of any dispute until assured that the parties concerned will accept its decision. The convention shall come into force and the tribunal be established when nine powers, eight of whom shall be European or American, and four of whom shall be signatories of the declaration of Paris of 1856, shall have adhered to the convention.

Scheme of Mediation.

Apart from the above project, the Americans proposed a special scheme of mediation, providing that, in the event of a difference arising between two powers each shall choose another power to act as its second. The powers thus selected shall do all they can to reconcile the opponents. These seconding powers shall, even when war has broken out, continue their efforts with a view of ending hostilities as soon as possible.

Disarmament Committee Disagreed.

Both sections of the disarmament committee met yesterday and failed to agree with regard to the question of new inventions in armaments.

UITLANDERS' DEMAND.

President Kruger and Sir Alfred Milner at Bloemfontein.

Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, June 1.—President Kruger, on his arrival here yesterday to attend the conference with Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa, arranged for the purpose of considering the demands of the Uitlanders, was received by a guard of honor at the railroad station, which was decorated in his honor. He was welcomed by the President of the Orange Free State, M. T. Steyn, and the Cabinet. Salutes were fired and the Transvaal national hymn was played.

Replying to an address, President Kruger said he had come here to work for the welfare of the whole of South Africa, and to discuss all questions, except the independence of the Transvaal.

Sir Alfred Milner arrived last evening. President Steyn and members of the Cabinet of the Orange Free State were at the railway station to welcome him Salutes were fired, and the British national anthem was played. An address of welcome was delivered, to which Sir Alfred made a brief but cordial reply.

TEN DAYS OF STRIKE.

No Sign of Settlement Between Trackmen and Company.

SOME TROUBLE AT KINGSTON.

Sympathisers of Strikers Attack a Car Containing Men From Montreal—The Moulders' Strike at Montreal Settled—DeBarry Makes a Statement—The Freighters at Buffalo Again Go Out.

Montreal, June 1.—The strike of the G.T.R. trackmen has reached its tenth day, and there is no sign of settlement yet. The Grand Trunk officials refuse to discuss the situation, simply saying that there is nothing to discuss. The system is running as usual, and the officials who have charge of the matter are getting all the men they need to replace the strikers.

Mr. Lowe's Statement.

Mr. Lowe, the organizer of the Trackmen's Union, returned to the city yesterday morning from a flying trip to Ottawa, and reiterates his statement that the strike is still on as firm as ever and that the prospects of success were never brighter. Practically all the old men are out, he says, and offers of $2.50 a day for foremen and $1.50 for trackmen find no takers.

Rioting at Kingston.

Kingston, Ont., June 1.—Shortly before midnight Tuesday night a crowd of about 50 citizens, sympathizers of the striking trackmen, attacked a car at the outer station here, containing ten "scabs" and two special constables. After a fight, in which revolvers were used on both sides, two freight trains arrived in the yards, scattering the attacking force and allowing the besieged to seek the shelter of the passenger station. The police were called out, but could not do anything against such a large force.

At Lansdowne the people refused food to the new men, and the company withdrew them.

The Napanee gang received similar treatment and were sent on to Belleville.

At Montreal.

Montreal, June 1.—The interest now centres with the Grand Trunk engineers, and although they are not inclined to talk, it has leaked out that there is a strong section of the committee of forty who favor aiding the trackmen, but it is not presumed they would go so far as to strike.

At Toronto.

Toronto, June 1.—Trackmen think the strike is almost ended. Freight is being shipped with all possible speed in all directions. It was spoken in railway circles yesterday that the engineers and firemen would soon join hands with the strikers, and a general strike be precipitated. The drivers will meet next Sunday to discuss the situation.

The officials of the Grand Trunk are growing more reticent every day. They refuse to give any information, but always say that everything is running smoothly."

DEBARRY SAYS IT'S NOT SO.

He Denies Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Alien Labor Law Statement.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 1.—Inspector DeBarry was asked yesterday concerning the rumors in Canada that the alien labor law has been suspended. He stated most emphatically that the law was still in force, and that so far as he knew there had been no thought of suspending it. "I have heard the rumor from several sources," he said, "but there is not the slightest truth in it. The law has not been suspended. It could not be suspended except by a two-thirds vote of both Houses of Congress and the signature of the President. I do not know that there has been any talk of such a move in the country, and presume that the rumor started from the statement of some one in Canada, who might be interested in getting laborers over here to work. I understand from the labor people of this city that a bill is now being prepared, and will be sent to Congressman Alexander for introduction next session, making even more stringent the alien contract labor law."

2,500 Freight Handlers Quit Work.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 1.—The trouble on the docks here has broken out again. Last night at 6 o'clock 2,500 freight handlers quit work, claiming that the contractors were violating the contract which was signed when the men resumed work last week. The strikers held a meeting at 8 o'clock last night and it was announced that the grain shovellers would quit work to-day if the freight handlers' grievances were not remedied. Judging from the different stories told by the strikers they really do not know what they are striking for. The contractors claim that they have not violated their agreement, and that the men quit work just because it has become a habit with them.

Tiber Ran Down a Schooner.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., May 31.—The steamer Tiber, Montreal to St. John's, via Halifax, ran down and totally wrecked the schooner Janie M. in the harbor yesterday morning. The Tiber was not injured, and Capt. Delisle places the blame on the schooner. The Tiber gave bonds of $8,000, and sails this morning for St. John's.

What of West Huron?

Toronto, May 31.—Monday afternoon at 5, the particulars in the West Huron election protest against Hon. J. T. Garrow were due for filing at Registrar Grant's office at Osgoode Hall. But they were not filed. Neither were those of the counter-protest. It looks as if the two parties in West Huron have agreed to shake hands and smile.

The Trackmen's Strike.

Toronto, May 31.—There is nothing new to report in the Grand Trunk trackmen's strike. The telegrams received at the men's headquarters from other points are all calculated to maintain the belief of the strikers that they are sure to win. The officials have nothing to say save that the trains are running on schedule time without accidents.

"Welcome, Evil, If Thou Comest Alone."

One evil that cannot come alone is impure blood. If this is allowed, it is attended by kindred ailments galore. This condition means that every vein and artery of the body, instead of carrying to the organs a health-giving flow of life, is laden with a slow and impure fluid that is harming instead of healing.

It is unfortunate when there is "bad blood" between people. It is worse when it is inside of you. Hood's Sarsaparilla will not make enemies friends, but it will make "bad blood" good blood, and blood should be of the best quality. Hood's never disappoints.

Pimples—"My face was covered with pimples and blackheads but after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time, I was entirely cured, and my skin left smooth and clear. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla very highly." MAY RYAN, North Street, Chatham, Ont.

Erysipelas—"I would strongly urge the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla for erysipelas or any scrofulous disease. I have received great benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla for the former complaint. It is an excellent blood purifier." MRS. H. D. WEST, Church Street, Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

Tired Feeling—"I had no appetite and experienced a tired feeling. Different medicines did not help me. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time I was enjoying perfect health. Since then we always take Hood's Sarsaparilla when we need a blood purifier or tonic." MRS. S. KNOX, Beatrice, Ont.

Stomach Trouble—"I had pains in my sides and kidneys. Stomach and liver troubles caused my distress. I had doctored without avail and used many medicines unsuccessfully. My sister advised Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time it cured me. I am now stronger and sleep better. I shall never be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house." MRS. FRANCES, 209 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

COLONIAL INFLUENCE IN IMPERIALISM.

Canada is the talk of the hour in the highest diplomatic circles of the world, and the favour she enjoys in England, the solicitude shown for her rights and the respect paid to her reasonable demand shows how greatly this country has gained in national standing and prestige. All this demonstrates the strength of British imperialism, and, when it comes to the point, how greatly John Bull values his colonial possessions. A London correspondent shows how British imperialism is wont of late to melt in the "sunny ways" of Canadian officialism. The recent Pacific cable incident illustrates this power of the colonies over British administration. Permanent officialdom fought against the cable tooth and nail. The great Pender cable monopoly, with its tentacles all over the empire, opposed by every means in its power. The Chancellors of the Exchequer, sitting tight always upon the Treasury chest, frowned upon it, one after another; yet no sooner had the Laurier Ministry proclaimed its intention to join in the scheme than these seemingly insuperable British obstacles vanished from the British Cabinet. At the bidding of Canada and Australia, and because they knew it would be a popular move they coerced permanent officialdom and Chancellors of the Exchequer into compliance, as they did last year, in the matter of Imperial penny postage, also at Canadian bidding; and to-day the British ministry stands pledged to the cable scheme. But that is not all. The British ministry, in giving its pledge, did not give it exactly in the form Canada and Australia desired, namely, in the form of State-owned and State-maintained cable. Again, at the bidding of Canada and Australia, the British Cabinet undertakes to re-consider the matter, with a view of meeting colonial wishes as far as possible. Thus, under the new imperialism, the colonies, when they have a reasonable case, and insist upon it, dominate British policy.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Annexation of Canada to the United States is becoming so ridiculous and utterly discredited that even Goldwin Smith, its apostle and prophet has got sick of it and is giving it the grandiloquent "throw-down."

In the States Canada is being called "the spoiled child of the British Empire." We don't know about that, says the Hamilton Herald, but we do know that Canada has in the past been the despoiled child of the empire, and that she has been despoiled by American diplomats and governments with the knowledge and consent of British statesmen. But that time has passed, never to return.

Frequent gibes are directed at the Globe re the Redistribution bill. It is suggested that the attitude of the Globe towards the Redistribution bill is inconsistent with its brilliant advocacy of representation by population in the time of Hon. George Brown. How many times must it be explained that the representation by population discussed in those days referred exclusively to the relations of the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, now Ontario and Quebec, and had no reference to the balance of population as between constituencies. It ill-becomes Conservative journals, whose politicians and party fought the principle of representation tooth and nail, till it became embodied in the Confederation compact to simulate hypocritical interest in representation by population.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Building operations hav eagain commenced in Havelock. Mr. Joyce is erecting a beautiful residence, Mr. W. Cole another, and Mr. W. Coulter, of Toronto Junction, two residences of spacious dimensions.

Mr. John Hill is ornamenting his house with a verandah.

Dr. Jeffs has gone to spend a couple of weeks in the Southern States, attending the medical convention of Railway Surgeons. Mrs. Jeffs accompanied him.

Miss Davidson, of Campbellford, is visiting at Mr. H. B. Morrison's.

Miss Deans has gone to Orangeville to spend a few well earned holidays.

Mr. Robert Johnston has secured a position in Madoc. He will be much missed by his many friends here.

Mr. Almore Haig is now engaged in Mr. Andrew's grocery.

You may see Teddy Pace's pleasant face in Thompson's place.

Master Ross Webb fell off the platform at the ice house recently, and has since been in a dangerous condition, but through the careful treatment of Dr. Holdcroft, is now improving.

Mrs. Mann, who fell down stairs a few weeks ago, is still dangerously ill through the effects of the fall.

On the 24th many of our citizens went to Madoc, some to Norwood, and others to Campbellford.

Mr. Code, section foreman here, left one week ago to fill the position of foreman in the C.P.R. yard at Owen Sound. Mr. Code was very popular here and will be much missed by all. Mr. Tansley, of Owen Sound, takes Mr. Code's position.

On Monday evening of last week the Methodist church choir had a very successful concert in the church, consisting of singing, readings, recitations and instrumental music. Proceeds to purchase books for the choir.

The Ladies' Missionary Convention of Campbellford District held their annual convention in the Methodist church here on Thursday of last week. Some excellent addresses were given by visiting ladies. Also an address of welcome by Mrs. A. C. Denike, of town.

Mr. W. Rundle, of Sonya, has been visiting friends in town.

On Friday evening of last week, the adherents of the Methodist church assembled in the basement and presented Rev. Mr. McQuade and Mrs. McQuade with two beautiful easy chairs, a purse and the following address which was read by Rev. Mr. Stillman:

To Mr. and Mrs. (Rev.) H. McQuade, Havelock.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McQuade,—We regret that your pastorate among us is ended. As you look back over the past four years in which you have laboured here you will see much to encourage you, as you go forth to new fields of labour; yet we feel it our privilege to express to you our deep appreciation of your untiring Christian zeal and self-denying service on our behalf for your words of counsel, and the faithful expounding of divine truth.

We cannot repay you the blessings you have brought us, but we ask you each to accept these chairs as a slight token of the esteem in which you are held.

Our prayers shall go with you in your future work, that it may be abundantly blessed of God, and though we must separate here we look forward to our home beyond where parting is unknown.

Signed on behalf of the congregation,
Mrs. James Mark,
Mrs. Firman Haig.

Mr. McQuade made a very feeling reply and thanked the kind friends of Havelock for their generous gift. After the reply a sumptuous repast was partaken of which had been prepared by the ladies, then followed games, vocal and instrumental music.

"A DREADED CURSE."

Formerly Incurable, Bright's Disease Was the Stumbling Block of the Medical Fraternity.

Mr. R. F. Colwell had Bright's Disease and Tried Many Remedies But Only one Cured him—Dodd's Kidney Pills

Walkerville, May 31.—It is a singular fact, but it was not thoroughly understood here until elicited by discussion following the publication of Mr. Colwell's case, that before Dodd's Kidney Pills were put on the market there was no known cure for Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. That such a fact attaches a remarkable value to Dodd's Kidney Pills in the minds of Walkerville people nor is their opinion of this great medicine weakened by the knowledge that there is still no other remedy for either Bright's Disease or Diabetes.

Walkerville being so closely connected with Windsor, Mr. R. F. Colwell, the Jeweller, of No. 9 Oulette Street, in the latter city, is naturally well known here.

It will be remembered that Mr. Colwell stated: "I have endured for two years the greatest torture from backache and pains in the loins. A puffiness appeared under my eyes, my limbs bloated, and my urine was of a dark, unnatural colour, and bad odour. I tried many remedies, but all failed to help me. When I ascertained that I had Bright's Disease, I became thoroughly alarmed. I was told of the efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills in all kidney diseases and commenced to use them. After the first few doses, I began to improve. The pains left me, my sleep became sound, puffiness and bloating vanished, my urine resumed its normal condition, and my health gradually became all I could wish it to be. I used only a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, but they cured my system thoroughly of that dread curse—Bright's Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are equally sure in all other cases of Bright's Disease, and in Diabetes, Dropsy, Gout, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Diseases of Women—in fact [illegible] arising from disordered [illegible]

APSLEY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

As I proceeded up through the north end of the township of Anstruther I passed through about 8 miles of very good land. It is clay loam and very heavily timbered. I measured some maple stumps over three feet in diameter and some beech trees, two feet, six inches across.

The land is rolling. I could see forty rods on each side. In some places one could drive a load of hay between the big maple and beech trees. There are nice spring creeks of water in it. I saw some rolling stone. Mr. Cavanaugh of Dummer, is living beside Monmouth Lake. He has about 30 acres cleared. His land is very clear of stone. There is a number of settlers in there, but they are only squatters, as the land is not in the market yet.

There are about 40 children, but they cannot get a school, as they are not paying any taxes. The Government got four miles of road chopped out four years ago, but it was not grubbed or leveled or crosswayed. If Mr. Blezzard could get a few hundred dollars to lay out on the road, it would be a great advantage to the settlers. Mr. Cuckel, Jr., is in there. He moved in from Monmouth. He has the best fall wheat I have seen this year any place.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at James Lynch's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Hairene for the Hair

Mrs. Mary Wright, Berlin, says:—"My hair was coming out very fast, in fact it combed out by the handful. Nothing I used did any good until trying Hairene, from the first application of which I noted an improvement, and less than one bottle entirely stopped the falling. It is a clean preparation to use, and a valuable acquisition for the toilet."

GRAND ORANGE LODGE.

The Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year—Entertained by Toronto.

Toronto, June 1.—The 70th annual meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge of British America closed yesterday. Several grants were made as follows: Five hundred dollars to the True Blue Orphanage, $100 to Rev. R. Coburn, the blind preacher of Toronto, and $50 to the fund of St. James' Methodist Church of Montreal.

A resolution was passed which enacts that no man who is engaged in the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors is eligible for membership in the Grand Lodge.

The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year: Most Worshipful Grand Master, Hon. N. C. Wallace, M.P., Woodbridge; Deputy Grand Master, Major A. J. Armstrong, St. John, N.B.; Grand Chaplain, Rev. W. F. Wilson, Hamilton; Grand Secretary, W. M. Lockhart, Alliston; Grand Treasurer, W. J. Parkhill, Midland; Grand Lecturer, Frank Schultz, Baldur, Man.; Grand Director of Ceremonies, R. H. Watson, Toronto; Deputy Grand Chaplains, Rev. Charles E. Perry, Toronto; Rev. R. P. Jones, Avening; Rev. J. C. Madill, Toronto; Rev. D. Wright, Springhill, N.S.; Rev. H. C. Dixon, Toronto; Rev. C. J. Wilson, Toronto; Dr. Sproule, M.P., Parkdale; Rev. W. Walsh, Brampton; Rev. W. C. Depraus, Consecon; Rev. H. A. Thomas, Lucan; Rev. A. B. Chambers, Toronto; J. J. Haylock, Baldur, Man; Deputy Lecturers, W. M. Fitzgerald Toronto, Western Ontario; W. J. Wright, Brockville, Eastern Ontario; J. M. Mason, Montreal, Quebec.

The next meeting of the Grand Lodge will be held in London.

The City of Toronto entertained the delegates at a banquet in the Pavilion in the evening.

Junk Shop Millionaire.

Victoria, B.C., June 1.—Junk-dealer Hobbs, formerly a poor man, is now a millionaire. Hobbs has carried on his calling here for some time past, but prior to this he had some call upon lands which ultimately fell into the hands of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway. These lands involve the Wellington extension coal mines. Hobbs instituted a suit in the courts here, and has just been successful in his action, so that to-day, instead of being poor, junk-dealer Hobbs, he finds himself owner of the mines, and a millionaire. The case is causing much excited comment, and is expected to be the cause of further litigation.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Why let your neighbors know it?

And why give them a chance to guess you are even five or ten years more?

Better give them good reasons for guessing the other way. It is very easy; for nothing tells of age so quickly as gray hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

is a youth-renewer.

It hides the age under a luxuriant growth of hair the color of youth.

It never fails to restore color to gray hair. It will stop the hair from coming out also.

It feeds the hair bulbs. Thin hair becomes thick hair, and short hair becomes long hair.

It cleanses the scalp; removes all dandruff, and prevents its formation.

We have a book on the Hair which we will gladly send you.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily removed. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

THE ALIEN LABOR LAW

Mr. J. Ross Robertson Wants It Enforced in Canada.

HE ATTACKS THE GOVERNMENT.

The Premier Speaks Against Hasty Action as Unwise—The Men Not Heard From—Mr. Blair Points Out the Necessity for Being Just to Both Sides—Ministerial Responsibility.

Ottawa, June 1.—The Grand Trunk strike again formed the subject of debate in the House, and the question of the enforcement of the alien labor law was also introduced into the discussion. Mr. John Ross Robertson brought the matter up, and blamed the Government for not enforcing the alien labor law. The Premier suggested that if Mr. Robertson had not been too anxious to make political capital at the expense of the Government he would have taken the precaution to see whether any demand or complaint had been made by the men who are on strike. As a matter of fact down to the hour at which he spoke, Sir Wilfrid said, no demand had to his knowledge been made by the men who are on strike upon the Government to enforce the alien labor law. He deprecated the inflammatory language which had been used by the member for East Toronto, and counseled patience until both sides were heard. Later in the day Sir Charles Tupper moved a resolution placing upon record the opinion of the House respecting the responsibility of Ministers, which was accepted by the Premier, who found in it a condemnation of the action of Sir Hibbert Tupper in reference to the Yukon charges and a justification of the course which the Government has taken upon that and other questions. In supply several items were passed and the House adjourned at 12.18.

Mr. Blair, in answer to Mr. Borgeron, said that no companies in the United States are making cars for the Intercolonial Railway.

Sir Louis Davies, in reply to Mr. McDougall, said that the new regulations respecting the lobster fishery would not be put in force in such a manner as to affect this year's fishing.

Alien Labor Law.

Mr. John Ross Robertson asked whether the Government intended to enforce the alien labor law as regards the importation of aliens from the United States to take the place of strikers on the G.T.R. He then read Inspector DeBarry's statement telegraphed in the afternoon from Buffalo.

Mr. Robertson, continuing, said that this showed that the understanding which the First Minister spoke of yesterday as having been made at Washington for the suspension of the alien labor law on both sides of the line, was not being acted up to on the American side. He thought the Government should take some steps to prevent the Grand Trunk Railway from importing foreigners and aliens.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier regretted that the member for East Toronto had used intemperate language while the strike was going on, and was afraid his hon. friend was looking for party advantage more than the interests of the strikers. He deprecated a discussion of the question without the side of the Grand Trunk having been heard, and said that while one's sympathy was naturally diverted towards the strikers, it was only fair that the other side should be heard before judgment was rendered. He thought before blaming the Government the hon. gentleman ought to have ascertained whether the men had made any application to the Government to put the alien law in force, and said that up to this afternoon no such application had been made. With regard to the law itself, he repeated what he had said the day before, that an agreement had been come to by the commissioners, and he believed that the law had been generally suspended in the United States, although there had been some exceptions like Mr. DeBarry at Buffalo.

Sir Charles Tupper defended Mr. Robertson, and said that he had only done justice to himself and constituents.

Mr. Taylor in his remarks said he would hold the Government responsible if there were accidents. He thought the Grand Trunk should be asked to report if the lives of passengers were safe.

Mr. Blair went on to say the Government did not require to be dragged on to do their duty by gentlemen on other side. It might fairly and reasonably be taken for granted, if there were any way in which they could be satisfied they could effectively interfere in that matter, that they would only be too anxious to do it. He had not received any appeal from the Grand Trunk men to interfere, and he did not know it would be possible for him to interfere at the present juncture, except he could proceed in a friendly way to say to those people: "You ought to bring this controversy to a friendly and amicable end." In concluding, he protested against members making political capital out of such a question.

The debate was continued by Messrs Montague, Ives, McCleary, A. T. Wood, Bertram, Craig, McGregor, Ingram and Logan, the latter suggesting that the Minister of Railways and Canals offer his services as mediator.

Mr. Robertson's motion to adjourn was then withdrawn.

The bill to amend and consolidate the acts relating to the harbor commission of Quebec was read a third time and passed.

The act respecting the inspection of petroleum and naphtha passed through committee.

Sir Henri Joly's bill to amend the Adulteration Act passed through committe and was reported.

Ministerial Responsibility.

On the motion to go into committee of supply, Sir Charles Tupper, after a few remarks, moved the following amendment:

This House is of opinion that it is required by our Parliamentary system that every branch of the public service should be represented, directly or indirectly, in the Houses of Parliament, and this House is further of the opinion that the political heads who perform their duty are themselves solely responsible for every act of administration, down to the minutest details of official routine.

This House is further of the opinion that the Ministers of the Crown, having entire control over the public departments, are bound to assume responsibility for every official act. This House is further of the opinion that Ministers of the Crown should not permit blame to be imputed to any subordinate for the manner in which the business of the country is transacted, except only in cases of personal misconduct, for which the political heads have the remedy in their own hands. If Ministers find that the permanent officers of the department do not work well under them, then it is their duty to provide a remedy for this inconvenience; but the responsibility should not be divided; it should be imposed upon those who are able to answer for themselves in the Houses of Parliament.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he was both pleased and surprised to find that when his hon. friend the leader of the Opposition had a really sound proposition to make to the House he could do it in a few words. He had no fault to find with the proposition, but could not see the utility of adopting it unless the Opposition intended to live up to it. He would not, however, oppose it.

After a few remarks from Sir Hibbert Tupper, the motion was passed unanimously, and the House went into supply. After passing a few items, the House adjourned at 12.18.

THE SENATE.

Hon. David Mills Brings Down and Explains His General Bill Respecting Loan Companies.

Ottawa, June 1.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon a number of bills from the Commons were received and advanced a stage, after which Hon. David Mills introduced a bill respecting loan companies. This bill, he explained, was much the same as the bill introduced last session, and gives the Governor-in-Council power to incorporate loan companies by letters patent on the application of five persons. The bill provides that there must be a provisional board of directors, three of whom must be mentioned. It provides that a company may be formed by the amalgamation of one or more corporate companies in existence, and in all cases where sufficient capital has been subscribed the company shall organize and elect or appoint a permanent board of directors. It specifies the mode in which loan companies may invest, giving them wide latitude, but providing that no one loan company shall invest in stock of another loan company. It provides that loan companies may issue preference stock, but if so the stock must be charged as debentures; and contains provisions for the amalgamation of two or more loan companies established under the act, and for an increase or decrease of the capital of the companies. There had, he said, been some improvements suggested since last session. In the bill, and the provincial authorities had objected that their rights might be interfered with by the legislation. He had altered the bill in this connection. It was a proper thing to corporate loan companies, as they were allied to the banks on the one hand, and to trade and commerce on the other. If the bill became law he thought it would lessen the necessity for individual acts of incorporation.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked if the proposed bill would affect companies now in existence, or only those to be incorporated.

Hon. David Mills said the bill would affect companies incorporated under it, and those already in existence which chose to come under its operation.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell pointed out that several loan companies took deposits. How would that be affected by this act? Would the claims of depositors take preference?

Hon. David Mills said that the bill did not interfere with that.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell judged from what the Minister had said that it was provided in the bill for the amalgamation of several companies without their coming to Parliament. This he believed was a power claimed by the provinces. No doubt the Government had considered the question well. The bill was read a first time.

Hon. David Mills asked that the bill to amend the criminal code—Mr. Charlton's bill—be allowed to stand, as he expected to introduce a bill to cover that point. The two bills would be considered together.

The Dowling divorce bill was read a third time.

Hands and Arms Covered with Salt Rheum.

No rest night or day for those afflicted with that terrible skin disease, Salt Rheum, or, as it is often called—Eczema.

With its unbearable burning, itching, torturing night and day, relief is gladly welcomed.

There is no remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers.

Apply it externally and it takes out the stinging, itching and burning and promotes healthy healing. Take it internally according to directions and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood and completely and permanently drives it out of the system.

Hundreds of permanent cures of this severe skin disease by B.B.B. have been reported to us during the past year.

One of these is that of D. A. McLellan, Pelee Island North, Ont., which is as follows:

"I wish to bear testimony to the good I have received from Burdock Blood Bitters.

"About 8 years ago I was troubled with Salt Rheum.

"My hands and arms were covered with sores to the shoulders.

"I took three bottles of B.B.B. and it made such a complete cure that I have never been troubled with that disease since."

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

Struck by Lightning.

Paris, Ont., May 31.—Yesterday afternoon lightning struck the chimney of Mr. Sam Lane's confectionery store and partly demolished it. Mrs. Coulthard's house on the flats was struck, the bricks in the chimney flying all over the yard. The plaster on the walls was knocked off in many places. Miss Coulthard, who was in the house at the time, received a severe shock in one of her arms.

Two Cobourg Boys Drowned.

Cobourg, Ont., May 31.—About half-past 6 yesterday morning Gordon Wilson, son of ex-Mayor Wilson, and Willie Floyd, son of W. H. Floyd, shoe merchant, went out for a sail in a canoe. When only a short distance out the canoe capsized, and before assistance could reach them both were drowned. The boys were about 15 years of age.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practising. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1898 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

The Train Made a Stop.

One day lately it was discovered htat a rail had spread on the Grand Junction road, about five miles west of Campbellford, and a passenger train was brought to a standstill until the defective place was made safe. There has been more or less danger attending the running of every train after the section men ceased work, and the wonder is that an accident has not occurred somewhere along the line.—Campbellford Herald.

Built for Business.

Splendid values, like spokes of a revolving wheel, ceaselessly follow one another at Gough Bros., the alert and enterprising clothiers. Mr. R. J. Gough returned from Montreal on Wednesday, where he successfully negotiated another lucrative deal in summer suits and other lines of clothing. He asserts that "it was the very best clothing transaction the firm ever secured since they have been in business." The [illegible] of this deal will be told in the columns of the Examiner next week. Eternal vigilance, and a good bank account go a long way in saving a merchant a long toll when business slumps occur; and it is [illegible] that has made and kept the George Gough firm fashionable, attractive and successful in the front rank of business.

Grafton & Co. Fine Clothiers.

Never before in our business history were we taken more by surprise than this season by the unprecedently early and emphatic response to our announcement of new summer goods. As a result of such heavy sales so early in the season we are compelled to duplicate many of the lines of goods, both domestic and foreign, and have had our hundreds of busy employees working day and night to keep our stock fully assorted. As is usually the case in such emergency, buyers are apt to overstep the mark and buy too largely of some of the leading lines; however, you will find on perusal of our list that we have placed them at such marvellously low prices for such high class up-to-date goods that an inspection of our stock will make buying simply irresistable.

To those who have already patronized us this season we extend our hearty thanks. You have responded to our advertisements because you believed them. We are proud of our reputation in this respect, its foundation is as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. Honesty, our standard for the future—the verdict on our past.

Our Clothing goes direct from our factory to the consumer. That enables us to SELL CLOTHING at close wholesale prices. GRAFTON & CO., Manufacturers of Fine Clothing, 387 George street, Peterborough.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE.

A CRISES IN DR. WORKMAN'S CASE.

Dr. Carman Rules Out the Report of the Committee - First Draft of Stationing Committee.

The ministerial members of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church, met in Belleville on Wednesday morning.

On the submission of the report of the committee in the Dr. Workman case, rD. Carman, the General Superintendent, refused to have it presented. It was an extra judicial committee. Charges should have been laid in a disciplinary way. Dr. Burwash dissented and appealed from the superintendent's ruling to General Conference Court of Appeal.

Dr. Workman spoke briefly and said he had been misrepresented for eight years, while at the same time he was loyal to the doctrine of the Methodist church and he asked conference, not for a trial, but for an investigation.

The first draft of stations was presented, those for this vicinity being:

WILL GO BY BOAT.

The 3rd P. W. C. D. Receive Their Route.

Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers, commanding the 3rd Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons, has received the necessary orders from Ottawa for the transportation of the regiment to Niagara-on-the-Lake, on Tuesday next.

"D" squadron from Wellington, Prince Edward County, will leave by boat very early in the morning. "A" squadron, at Colbourne, will be then picked up.

"B" squadron from Millbrook, will ride from their local headquarters to Port Hope, where they are to report at 10 a.m.

"C" squadron, Peterborough, will leave here by train and arrive at Port Hope about 10 o'clock.

It will be noticed that the members of the Millbrook squadron have a nineteen mile ride ahead of them before they take the boat. The entire regiment will then be conveyed by boat from Port Hope to the magnificent camp ground at Niagara-on-the-lake.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL.

David McCallum was Drunk and Disorderly Yesterday.

At the police court this morning, David McCallum was charged with being drunk and disorderly, and using profane language on the streets yesterday. He put up the defence that he was drunk and did not know what he was doing.

A couple of witnesses testified to having seen prisoner conducting himself in a very disorderly manner near the Montreal House.

The magistrate gave him three months at hard labour in the county jail.

Prisoner, who claims to come from London, Ont., and is a married man, felt his sentence quite keenly.

PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

A Meeting of the Directors was Held Wednesday Afternoon—Date of Show has Been Changed.

The Directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition met in the Town Council Chamber Wednesday afternoon, those present being G. W. Fitzgerald, president, in the chair, and Messrs. George E. Elliott, R. Vance, J Davidson, H. C. Garbutt and Jas. Baptie.

After the minutes of last meeting had been adopted, the question of the date of the annual exhibition was considered. It was decided to change the date and hold the exhibition this year on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 26th, 27th and 28th of September. This change was considered to be advisable on account of the anticipated late harvest.

Mr. Terrill, secretary of the Peterborough Kennel Club, urged the advisability of holding a dog show as one of the attractions. The Board decided to do so, and the Kennel Club are to take the responsibility of making it a success.

The prize list of the previous year was accepted with the exception of an exhibitor showing two ewes instead of one.

The committee on the annual picnic interviewed Mr. H. Calcutt, when it was decided to hold the annual farmers' pic-nic at Jubilee Point, on Thursday, 15th of June. Further particulars will be announced in a few days.

The Directors are determined to make the show of 1899 the most successful on record, and no pains will be spared to accomplish that end.

MR. MARTIN'S WATERCOLOURS

A Splendid Display at Belleghem's Furniture Store.

Mr. Henry Martin, A.R.C.A., of Toronto, has on view in the show room of Mr. D. Belleghem, 190 Hunter street, twenty-four excellent water colours of European cities. They are indeed excellent specimens of the work of art, and at the very moderate price at which Mr. Martin is offering them, should create a large demand. Mr. Martin says he has received much encouragement already, and will be pleased to show and explain to anyone the details connected with the artistic tratment of magnificent subjects of historic interest.

The pictures include the passage under the ampitheatre at Verona, the church of Salute, Venice; the Church on the town wall at Oberwesel-on-the-Rhine, and, many other similar subjects.

A picture of Canadian scenery, Moonlight on the St. Lawrence, is a very pretty thing, and Mr. Martin by his work in these proves himself to be an artist worthy of the prominent position he has taken amongst Canadian artists.

Exhibition of Painting.

Lovers of art will have the opportunity to-morrow and a few days afterwards of visiting at Belleghem's furniture store, 190 Hunter street, a collection of pictures painted by Henry Martin of Toronto, during his sketching trips in European cities. The collection is small, but the subjects are very interesting, including Westminster Abbey, The Market Place, Verona and many other such well known historic places, Venice not being forgotten. We advise everyone to visit these pictures and it would be well to retain some of them in Peterborough. 2d

THE STRIKE OF THE TRACKMEN.

When the underpaid trackmen over the whole of the immense line of the Grand Trunk Railway system struck for living wages it was thought by the Examiner that, their demand being so reasonable, the strike would be of short duration. But it seems that the railway company has turned a deaf ear to their demands, which one must admit are such as should not be denied. There does not seem to be any reason why, in the midst of good times, when wages are generally stiffening, a great corporation should ask its employees to work for a net sum of 98c per day, which, the work of railway trackmen being arduous and 10 hours a day—with extra hours on occasions—are too little for honest men to subsist upon and maintain families. On many occasions trackmen are sent out with ballast trains at 5 o'clock in the morning, or possibly earlier, and sometimes they do not reach home till 10 o'clock at night. Here we have trackmen on duty fifteen or sixteen hours, without extra pay, so it is said, working for six or seven cents an hour. Rain or shine the men have to be on duty. Then the trackmen have a grave responsibility resting upon them; the safety of the property of the company and of the people who use the line for freight, the lives of the millions of passengers carried, depend upon the faithful performance of their duties by the trackmen. And the rule is that responsibility is considered in the matter of wages. A foreman of a gang gets more for less work than the men under him chiefly because of his responsibility for the proper performance of the work in hand. On this principle railway trackmen are entitled to more wages, though they ask no more, than the ordinary labourer whose responsibility is confined to his running a straight trench. Then the trackman is to be counted a skilled workman. It is very easy for the railway company to talk of supplying the places of the strikers with green hands. But experience proves that a man to be an efficient trackman must serve a considerable apprenticeship under careful instruction before he can be trusted to keep a track in order. It often happens that an inexperienced man undertaking to repair a track that is out of order, leaves it in a worse condition than when he began his work. For this reason the men are encouraged to hold out. If the railway company persists in holding to the starvation scale of wages it stands to lose more than it would by paying the wages demanded. Its tracks will detoriate, public confidence will be shaken in the safety of the road bed, costly accidents may happen, and the probability is that traffic, especially passeager traffic, will be diverted to other lines, and it will take a long time to lure it back. The trackmen, in addition to the absolute low wages they receive, have just reason to be aggrieved because they are subjected to unequal treatment. It is said that the company, while denying the demands of their trackmen for $1.25 per day—trackmen who know their work and have in the past served the company faithfully— are paying, or offering to pay, that amount to the "scabs" that are asked to take their places. Again, the Canadian Pacific Railway pays its trackmen for the same work, under the same conditions, $1.25 per day. And it cannot be claimed that the C.P.R. overpays its men—that's not the way of corporations. The Grand Trunk is ready enough to come to the same mark as the C.P.R. in the matter of freight and passenger rates, and it is felt by the striking trackmen that it is a special grievance that they have to accept 25 cents a day less than the trackmen of the C. P. R., who do the same work and do it no better. The railway company may claim that it has to economize; but it is poor economy to do injustice and cut down wages in a department that lies at the bottom of the safety of their line, and this is the foundation of a railway company's success. It is a gratification to know that public sympathy is with the striking trackmen, and apart from the merits of their cause, they are further entitled to sympathy for the patient and orderly bearing they manifest under strong provocation. Their strength lies in their continuing to thus earn public sympathy. Railways are entirely dependent upon the public, though in their dealings with the public one is not always able to think so, and public opinion, favourable as a sentiment to the striking trackmen, can be easily crystallized into action in fixing the relations of the public to a railway that runs counter to the trend of public feeling. The men are instructed by the central committee to be orderly and on no account to interfere with or injure the property of the railway. This position strengthens them. The situation seems to be this — the company can settle with the strikers any day by acceding to their reasonable demand for living wages, or as the strikers are willing to do, by leaving the settlement to the arbitration of three disinterested persons. From every point of view the strikers seem to be in the right—they make a reasonable demand in the matter of increased wages, they are temperate in their language and orderly in their actions, they are not asking for favours, only for justice—only for a fair wage for a fair day's work. They are ready to give, as they have always given, a fair day's work. Will the Grand Trunk Railway give them a fair day's wage?

GOLF.

The annual match President vs. Captain will take place on Saturday afternoon. The players are requested to be on the links as early as possible in the afternoon.

The draw is as follows:

President — Dennistoun, Burnham, Campbell, S. Ray, Smith, E. H. D. Hall, Francis, Lamprey, Houston, Wood, Morrow, Francis, Houst, Rodgers, Ritchie, Burnett.

Captain—Hamilton, Napier, W. D. Parker, G. W. Hatton, McHarrie, C. Bell, Fred Hall, Skill, Poussette, A. G. Parker, Bradburn, McGill, Carter, Garvin, Nichols.

LACROSSE.

The practice last evening brought out almost all of the first team and about twenty juniors. It was about the first really good practice of the season, and the players took full advantage of it, and were "on the go" continually for over an hour.

The touring 'Varsity team was defeated by the Crescent A. C. team of New York on Tuesday by a score of 8—6.

There are five or six of the junior team, who if they had as much confidence when a man is chasing them as they have when they are after a player, would be fast enough for senior company. By a little attention and regular attendance at practices they are going to keep some of the older players busy to get a place on the team.

A full practice is called for to-morrow night. Every player is expected to be out.

The game with Markham on the 22nd of this month is the first league game the home team will play, and it is expected that the best exhibition of lacrosse ever seen in town will be given on that day.

King and Hobart will both be home and should be in good condition.

BASEBALL.

Let every member of the baseball team turn out for practice, and get in shape for Saturday's game with Kingston. Should the weather prove favourable there will certainly be a large attendance to cheer the local boys on to victory. The Kingston team is a strong one and will most likely give the Peterborough men a good game.

The Hastings Star refers to the game on the 24th as follows: The game throughout was fast, the ball being kept going from one goal to the other. Our defence put up a good stiff game while the home showed up brilliantly at times while at other periods they seemed as if they were lost.

The grounds which the game took place on are small and were a great disadvantage to our boys. Both teams were dressed in red and a lot of checking and passing was done to the wrong person which could have been avoided had one team been in a different colour.

The boys were well used, no pains being saved to give them a good time, and the Peterboroughs can expect the same on a return game.

BASEBALL.

The team which will play the Kingston nine on Saturday afternoon will be picked after practice to-night. There will be a practice to-night and to-morrow afternoon.

THE BABY WENT TO BOYLAND.

He sat on my knee at evening,
The boy who is "half past three,"
And the clear blue eye from his sun browned face
Smiled happily up to me.
I held him close as the twilight fell
And called him "my dear little son."
Then I said: "I have wondered for many days
Where it is that my baby's gone!

"I'd a baby once in a long white gown
Whom I rocked just as I do you.
His hair was as soft as yellow silk,
And his eyes were like violets blue.
His little hands were like pink tipped flowers—
See, yours are so strong and brown.
He has slipped away and is lost, I fear. /
Do you know where my baby's gone?"

Did my voice half break as the thoughts would come
Of the sweet and sacred days
When motherhood's first joys were mine?
Was a shade of regret on my face?
For close round my neck crept a sturdy arm,
And the boy who is "half past three"
Said, "The baby—he went to Boyland.
And—didn't you know?—he's me!"

CUTTING THE WIRES.

After his long illness Gray has so far recovered that we have brought him from Williams down here to Albuquerque, and today I have kept him for hours on the sunny side of an adobe hut, where the warm sunshine and pure air seem to bring back to his cheeks some of the old color which suffused his handsome face when we first went into camp last May.

His wounds have apparently healed, though he still complains of the sore places under his arms, and on chilly nights when he coughs so terribly we are fearful that the wound will break out afresh.

Today he seemed to want to talk of Cuba the first time since his delirium left him, so I let him lead the conversation as he seemed inclined. Glancing up at the mountains, he remarked, "Captain, the clouds floating over those hills remind me of the day we moved up toward San Juan."

"Can't you tell me something of that campaign?" I asked.

"Well, I was thinking of it, and I might as well talk as to think. I still dream about it, or rather I live it all over in my sleep, and I begin to think it will be my nightmare as long as I live.

"I always begin my dreams when we laid down in a little open space in the jungle to let the rough riders and the colored regiments pass. I stretched out on my back and watched the clouds float in from the ocean and roll up the hill till they were lost in the forest.

"Capron's battery came by and turned to the left to take position. I watched the horses straining at the collar, the drivers cursing and the cannoneers jolting on the caissons, and it flashed through my mind that they would soon be 'in it,' and here we lay like drones. Why didn't the call sound?

"Up ahead I could hear the continuous 'crack' of the Krag-Jorgensens, and, gripping my old Springfield tight, I breathed a silent prayer that I might use it.

"I think we must have laid there a full half hour. To me it seemed an eternity before the welcome bugle call 'Fall in!' put us all on our feet. We dropped down into the ditch called a road, and moved forward until we came to a stream. No one thought of taking off shoes or rolling up trousers, but with blanket roll and rifle held at the shoulder we plunged in.

"I heard the 'ping' of a spent rifle ball, and saw the splash as it struck the water. This was the first intimation I had that we were within range of the Spanish rifles.

"After crossing the stream we obliqued to the right, through the chaparral, and I could hear the bullets singing their songs of death as they passed over our heads, clipping leaves and twigs. I am sure I was not frightened. Fear had given place to the intense desire to get into the fight.

"When we reached the open, the order to lie down was repeated, and down we went in the tall, wet grass. The first of the wire entanglements was about 800 feet ahead of us.

"A rough rider passed us, going toward the rear. He said not a word, though his right arm hung limp and the blood dropped from the ends of his fingers.

"At that moment a battery opened to our right in the rear, but we heard no response by artillery.

"The bullets seemed to rain down on us like overripe fruit from a tree that had been jarred by some heavy blow. The enemy evidently had the range of that hill and had seen us lie down, for they were shooting low and the bullets were hissing their way through the grass. Corporal Butler lay beside me, and, leaning over, he said, in his rich Clare county brogue 'Sargint, do yez hear thim grasshoppers? Well, mebby there won't be miny a poor divil that'll wisht he'd niver bin so clost while they wuz singin.' Poor fellow! Hammond writes me that a 'grasshopper' found him not 20 minutes after I left; not a groan or a quiver, his head simply dropping on his hands.

"While the bullets hunted for us the sun found us. The very earth steamed, and we almost gasped for breath. My thirst became something terrible.

"It makes me thirsty now to think of my awful desire for a drink of water at that time.

"As we lay there a lieutenant of the signal corps, a tall chap, who, as I remember him, looked like you, came out of the jungle and, walking erect, went about 50 yards in front of us, where he coolly adjusted his fieldglass and inspected the works on the crest of the hill. What a target he was for those Spanish sharpshooters! Yet the shower his action called forth did not seem to disconcert him in the least, and when he had finished his survey he returned the glasses to their case, swung on his heel and walked back.

"How I envied him! He was doing something, while there I lay, doing nothing but await orders.

"General Wheeler came by as unconcerned as though on the parade ground. Looking along our line he saw my chevrons and said, 'Sergeant, you take ten men and remove that entanglement!' Here was my chance. I sprang to my feet and, selecting the designated number (I say 'selecting,' because every man wanted to go) we started on the double quick, keeping our bodies bent as low as possible. We were provided with wire cutters, and I set the men at work as soon as we reached the entanglement. Seeing another one about 200 yards farther on I crawled toward it. The fire was getting fiercer and fiercer. I looked back just in time to see one of my ten throw up his hands and fall. I waited a moment to see what the rest would do, but they worked on, paying not the slightest attention to their fallen comrade, and I turned to my self imposed duty. It was no light one either, for the enemy had stretched and woven wire into that tangled mass. They had plenty of time, and their work was well done.

"All of their wires but one were within my reach as I knelt there, and I spent about 20 minutes cutting them. To reach the top one I had to stand. I never cut it. In fact, I had just placed my pliers on it when I felt a blow on my hip and a sharp pain under my left arm, and down I went. Just how long I was unconscious I don't know. When I came to, Colonel Patterson was standing beside me. He asked what was the matter. I started to tell him that I was wounded in the hip, but the blood choked my speech. I was breathing with difficulty and then understood the meaning of the sharp pain under my arm. As you know, the ball entered my left side, passing through both lungs.

"The colonel turned to two men and said, 'Here, take this man to the rear,' then stumbled and fell. Getting up again, with the exclamation, 'Confound it, I've got it myself,' he limped off.

"One of the men wrapped the first aid bandage around my hips and then began the march to the rear. Stretchers there was none, and I was carried by the knees and under the arms to the field hospital. I shall never forget the sights I saw—men lying in all positions as they had fallen. Poor Kelly lay with his head in a ditch, his eyes staring up into the cloudless sky. Staggering boys in blue passed with bandages around their heads or their arms in slings. I felt a sudden tightening of the heartstrings as I bitterly thought: 'So this is war and the path to glory! For this the girls kissed us goodby with tears of pride in their eyes!'

"I felt no special pain. The only trouble was my throat would fill with blood.

"'For 12 hours I lay in the grass before a surgeon attended me. They were very busy, stripped to the waist or with their sleeves rolled up and smeared with blood. I seemed to be paralyzed; perfectly conscious, able to hear and see, though I could not speak.

"All around me lay the wounded, some of whom awaited the end with calm, firm faces. Their worst pain was over, and in a short time inevitable death would place them beyond all pain.

"One I remember distinctly. He was only a lad of not more than 17, with curly brown hair and big blue eyes. I imagined that he had been rosy cheeked and full of life, but now the pallor of approaching death overspread his features, which wore the strained appearance you so often see on the face of a wounded soldier who suffers and will not cry out.

"A hospital steward came by and stopped to give him a drink. He asked if there was any hope. The doctor shook his head, and, passing his hand gently over the boy's brow, asked if there was anything he wanted, and the poor fellow whispered, 'Write.'

"As near as I can remember he said:

"'Darling Mother—I have done my best and have laid down my life for the old flag. I had hoped to come back to you with the straps you were so sure I would win, but it can't be. Some had to go, and it has fallen to my lot. Don't grieve over me, mother, dear. Tell father how I loved him. Kiss Rose and little Tom for me. Oh, mother, mother, I love you so!' That was all, captain. His pain was over, and another mother's heart was doomed to breaking.

"A short time after this came unconsciousness. I awoke under the surgeon's probe. Then followed the weeks of burning fever when it seemed to me that the Spaniards were crushing my bones.

"I saw them murdering women and children. Sister was among the victims, and I could see her with outstretched arms begging me to come to her, yet I could not. Then the devils stood around and taunted me, twisting my bonds tighter and heaping fire on my head.

"When I awoke, mother was sitting by the bed. Sister Jennie was there too. Was I dreaming?

"I tried to take mother's hand, but was so weak—could barely move. She saw the movement, and in a moment was on her knees, her arms around my neck and crying and talking as only a mother can. No, I was not dreaming. It was mother, and I was—well, I was too tired to try and think where I was. But here she comes! No, mammy! I don't feel the least bit chilly. The captain and I have been gassing away here for an hour. But I—was wondering where you were."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

VIGILANT DETECTIVES.

When a crime is committed, no matter in what corner of the earth the criminal tries to hide, he knows that probably somewhere or other on the look-out is a detective waiting to lay his hand on him.

When any disease attacks mankind and hides itself in the human system, no matter how obscure or complicated the disease may be, Nature among her great force of detective remedies has one that will eventually hunt down and arrest that particular disease.

Lung and bronchial diseases are among the most baffling complaints which doctors have to deal with; because it isn't the lungs or bronchial tubes alone which are affected, but every corner of the system furnishes a lurking place for these elusive maladies.

They change and reappear and dodge about the system under numberless disguises. They are almost always complicated with liver or stomach troubles, nervousness, neuralgia, or "general debility."

The best detective remedy which Nature has provided to search out and arrest these perplexing ailments is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It lays an arresting hand directly upon the poisonous, paralyzing elements hiding in the liver and digestive organs.

It gives the blood-making glands power to manufacture an abundant supply of pure, red, highly vitalized blood which reinforces the lungs with healthy tissue; feeds the nerve-centers with power, and builds up solid muscular flesh and active energy.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. While it promptly cures the severest cough it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

"I feel very grateful for the home-treatment given me by the World's Dispensary Medical Association," writes Mr. T. J. F. Brown, of Sands, Watauga Co., N. C. "I had catarrh for several years, then took grip, also had hemorrhage from the lungs. I had the best of medical attention but only to bring partial relief. I got up for a few months but had more hemorrhages. I took Dr. ————'s Discovery, (twenty-five or thirty bottles) but in a few months I had more spells of bleeding. I wrote to Dr. Pierce and received directions what kind of medicine to use; I commenced taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I had only taken one bottle when I could see I was improving. I used three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and five bottles of the 'Discovery.' I have been able to do any kind of labor for more than twelve months. Well I just simply owe my life to the World's Dispensary Medical Association."

"I was first taken (nearly two years ago) with choking and aching in my throat, and I suffered dreadfully," writes Mrs. D. Z. Moore, of Deming, Grant Co., N. Mex. "I took everything I could think of, and spent a great deal of money. Had three doctors treating me. My throat ulcerated, and I lost my voice. Could scarcely talk so a person could understand me. The doctors called the trouble bronchial affection; said the larynx was badly affected. I was almost dead when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. My neighbors thought I would not live a month. I was almost in consumption, but thought I would try the 'Discovery.' From the first I commenced to improve. I have taken it right along and with a few more bottles think I will have as good health as ever. I owe my life to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I have been the cause of several friends down being cured by it."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser [illegible] of 1,008 pages and over three hundred illustrations, some of them colored, all fully explained. This book is free. It has been selling for $1.50. Now you may have it in all its usefulness, and in strong paper covers, for 21 one-cent stamps, which pays the cost of customs and mailing only, or in cloth binding for 50 stamps. It is a veritable medical library all contained in a single volume.

INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION.

Mr. James Grigg, West Devon, P. E. I. writes:—"I am glad to say that the supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I procured from you was very effective in restoring the health of my son Robert, who is now thirteen years of age. He was taken sick in the fall of 1897 with a severe pain in the right side, and a bad cough. He lost his appetite and was running down very fast. The doctor told me his trouble was turning to consumption. We had some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on hand and began to give them to him. They helped almost at once. His cough became less frequent, the pain left him and his appetite returned. A second lot of pills completely restored his health and he is now as well as ever and has been for the last three months. I think your valuable pills should be kept in every home."

SISTERS OF CHARITY.

The Sisters of L'Assomption, Onion Lake, N.W. T., who are doing a noble work among the Indians of that section write: "It affords us great pleasure to bear testimony to the beneficial effects of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in each case a cure resulted. We distribute a great many boxes to cure scrofula, consumption, and anæmia, and always with the happiest results. We recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as the best preventive of consumption we know."

THE CAUSE OF CONSUMPTION.

Too little blood is, as a rule, the first cause of consumption—Thin, bloodless, anaemic people lack power of resistance. They catch cold easily, get a cough and cannot throw it off. Then the lungs give way; they lose more blood, and give the fight for life up as hopeless.

CONSUMPTION IS CURED

by increasing the blood supply and making it richer, so that it may feed and fortify the weakened lungs, throw off the distressing cough and put an end to the debilitating night sweats.

TRICKS OF WRITERS.

A Ruse by Which Kipling Piqued His Readers' Curiosity.

"When I first began to read Kipling," said a New Orleans admirer, "my curiosity was immensely piqued by the scraps of verse with which he usually headed his early stories. They were all credited to poems I had never heard of in my life and were just such salient, striking fragments as would naturally whet one's appetite for the remainder. For over a year I tried hard to locate those mysterious poems and enlisted half a dozen book dealers in the search. At last one of them wrote me that I was wasting time and that the alleged quotations were merely Mr Kipling's little joke.

"In other words, he manufactured 'em to order and stuck them at the top of his tales for the sake of the odor of erudition they lent to the production. I was mad for awhile, but when I cooled off I had a good big laugh. Of course you know Scott used to do the same thing, and so, for that matter, did Edgar Allan Poe. Poe was really the worst quotation fakir of the lot.

"He would write wise sounding detached sentences and credit them to imaginary German philosophers with long, outlandish and impressive names. However, I don't know why the thing should be punishable. The business of a writer of fiction is to create an illusion, and as long as he does it I for one am not particular what means he employs to contribute to the end."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Medical Students' Primer.

What place is this? This is the Pathological society. How does one know it is the Pathological society? You know by the specimens and the smells.

What does that gentleman say? He says he has made a post mortem. All the gentlemen make post mortems. They would rather make a post mortem than go to a party.

What is that on a plate? That is a tumor. It is a very large tumor. It weighs 112 pounds. Was the tumor removed from the patient? No; the patient was removed from the tumor. Did they save the patient? No, but they saved the tumor.

What is this in the bottle? It is a tapeworm. It is a long tapeworm; it is three-quarters of a mile long. Is that much for a tapeworm? It is indeed much for a tapeworm, but not much for the Pathological society.—Indiana Medical Journal.

Hebrews and Fish.

Concerning the alleged fondness of the Jews for fish, The American Hebrew says: "In the middle ages the Jews, for the most part, denied their religion to those about them and practiced it in secret. Openly they lived a Christian life apparently—they had to, if they would exist—and as those about them abstained from meat on Friday they perforce did likewise and partook largely of sea food, which the Jewish housewife learned to prepare to perfection. The use of fish on Friday became a custom with them, and, like other ingrained customs, was kept up when the moving cause had long passed away."

Quaint Sayings.

It is interesting and instructive to read bright and well constructed advertisements. Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co., of Sarsaparilla fame, must have been at a great feast and taken everything home with them. They are using a bright selection of quaint old sayings and proverbs as the starters in a series of clever advertisements, wherein the proverbs are neatly turned and paraphrased to fit the subject matter. The public like this breezy advertising, as it reminds of other proverbs and opens up discussion.

Burr's Fierce Retort.

Aaron Burr at one time attended a church in Albany where all the aristocracy of the town was to be found on each Sunday. Soon he fell into the practice of being late, and finally the wardens of the church asked the minister to reprimand him openly. On the next Sunday, when Burr entered late as usual, the minister stopped in the middle of his sermon and said, "Sir, I shall appear at the judgment seat against you!"

Burr gazed at him placidly and answered, "Sir, in all of my practice I have found that class of criminals that turns state's evidence the most to be despised." There were no more public reprimands in that church.

GRASSES.

Are these the fairy hosts,
The million marching men,
Who after fogs and frosts
Sprang up in glade and glen?

Their spears were silver gray,
Their javelins gold and green,
That like a fountain's spray
Shattered the light between.

Their banner the wild rose
Or honeysuckle bright,
Terrible to their foes
When they went out to fight.

Now sweet, so sweet, in death
They lie, like autumn leaves.
With all their golden breath
Gathered in golden sheaves.

Now sweet, so sweet, they lie
With all their comely length;
Piled high in heaps so high
And withered all their strength.

Alack, that goodly show
Of spears and glaives and swords,
That Maytime long ago,
When these were belted lords!

An All Around Calamity.

A gentleman invited some friends to dinner, and as the colored servant entered the room he accidentally dropped a platter which held a turkey.

"My friends," said the gentleman in a most impressive tone, "never in my life have I witnessed an event so fraught with disaster to the various nations of the globe. In this calamity we see the downfall of Turkey, the upsetting of Greece, the destruction of China and the humiliation of Africa."

Doctors said Incurable

But the Notary, Mr. Lemire, was cured of Kidney Disease in two months by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is only when thoroughly convinced of the superior merit of a remedy that public men will give their sanction.

Mr. E. H. Lemire, Notary Public, 169a Notre Dame Street, Montreal, tells of his remarkable recovery from a severe attack of kidney disease. When doctors had failed, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills saved his life. He writes: "I give this statement, first because it is only just that the merit of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills should be made known, and again in order that others may profit by my experience. For years I suffered with kidney disease which doctors pronounced incurable. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have used for two months, I am completely cured. They helped me from the first, and the cure is now perfect."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, and through their combined influence on the kidneys and liver, cure the most complicated diseases of these delicate organs. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MARKET REPORTS.

Wheat Futures Up Two Cents—Both Liverpool and Chicago Futures Are Very Strong—The Prices.

Liverpool, June 1.—Wheat futures yesterday advanced strongly, closing 1¼d to 2d per cental above Tuesday's final figures.

Chicago, June 1.—Wheat futures yesterday were strong, on the strong cables, the good decrease in the American visible supply, and the continued blue reports from the crop belts. The July and September options advanced 2c a bushel yesterday over the previous final figures, and closed with a net gain of nearly 1⅝c for the session.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 1,276,000 bushels; that of corn has decreased 8,243,000 bushels, and that of oats has decreased 140,000 bushels. The visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 65,392,000 bushels, against 66,548,000 bushels a week ago, and 67,272,000 bushels a year ago.

NOTHING PER CENT.

The house in which Mr William Johnson carried on the business of money lender and financial agent was in no way different from those surrounding it, save that the down stairs front window bore the legend. "Loan Office." in large black letters on a white ground. A quiet, orderly, middle aged man was Mr Johnson, and people who met him in the street and did not know him would have taken him for anything rather than a man who put out his money to usury

Certainly there was nothing of the Shylock about him as he sat one spring morning in his dingy office going over a much thumbed account book. He was a tall, spare, loosely built man, with a pale face and a thin, straggling crop of beard and whisker that always looked as if it had grown in patches. Usually when he was not talking to his clients he carried a quill pen in his mouth. There was something in this habit which gave him the appearance of an abstracted poodle carrying a stick.

Mr Johnson was deeply engrossed in the consideration of a certain entry in his account book when the door of the loan office opened very suddenly and set the bell ringing with sharp dissonance. He heard a light step in the little lobby which was partitioned off from the rest of the room. For a moment he did not answer the summons of the bell. It was never wise to be in too much haste to welcome callers. But presently he rose and opened the door, the quill pen still retaining its horizontal position in his mouth. He lifted his eyes carelessly from the little swing counter to the person who stood behind it. He was not easily surprised, for he had seen many strange things in his time, but what he now saw surprised him into a vague, uncomfortable silence.

Behind the little counter stood a young lady—nay, a girl of some 18 or 19 years, fashionably dressed, evidently of good position and palpable refinement. Her pretty, fresh face, revealed itself to Mr Johnson's astonished eyes from beneath the raviahments of a much bellowered picture hat and seemed strangely out of keeping with the dingy color of his little lobby

"Oh—er—you are Mr William Johnson?" she said.

"Yes," answered Mr Johnson.

"I—I want to borrow some money," she said, looking out of half averted eyes at the money lender

Mr Johnson's first impulse was to stretch out his hand for one of the application forms which stood ready in a small box on the counter, but upon reflection he lifted the swinging shelf and asked this new client to step inside. When she had passed into the office, he closed the door and joined her, and from sheer force of habit he restored the quill pen to his mouth. The girl saw the resemblance to the abstracted poodle, and a smile rippled over her face. Mr. Johnson did not observe it. He indicated a chair at the side of his desk, and when the girl had taken it resumed his own seat and looked at her

"What amount did you wish to borrow, ma'am?" said Mr. Johnson.

"Wh—ah—well, £20."

"Now"— said Mr. Johnson. "I suppose you could furnish good security?"

"I thought that you—it says in your advertisement, you know, that you lend money on borrower's note of hand alone—I think that's how it's put, isn't it—and no inquiries and no sureties—isn't that it?"

"To approved borrowers—yes," answered Mr. Johnson.

"Oh," said the girl. "Oh, then you"—

"We don't lend money without security," said Mr Johnson. "Of course if we know the party and know that it's all right and safe, why, of course, in that case"—

"I see," said the girl. "Yes—of course you don't know anything about me. How silly of me! I thought one had just to come and get the money and sign a paper or something."

The girl looked up from her parasol, with which she had been tracing imaginary patterns on the floor

"Perhaps I'd better tell you all about it," she said. "Of course you won't tell anybody, will you?"

"Never divulge professional secrets," said Mr. Johnson.

"Well, I want to borrow £20 to buy a bicycle. There!" said the girl, with a decisive tap of the parasol upon the floor. "You see, I've spent every penny of my quarter's allowance, and there's still a month before I've any more due—and I simply must have that bicycle, and I looked over all the advertisements about money and I saw yours, and so I came to you."

"Might I inquire what name, ma'am?" said Mr Johnson.

"Oh, I'm Miss Lattimer! Of course you know my father, Mr Robert Lattimer?"

"Certainly," replied Mr. Johnson.

WOODSTOCK WONDER.

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

RATTLESNAKES

are not more deadly than the millions of disease germs that are floating in the air we breathe and in the water we drink—germs of typhoid fever, malaria, consumption. Compared to a disease germ, a rattlesnake is a gentleman. He is a fair fighter. He tells you to look out. He rattles before he strikes. You have a chance to fight or run. The disease germ sneaks in. It comes while you are sleeping. It gains an entrance to the blood. It propagates there. It multiplies. In a few hours, or days, your blood is full of its children—millions of them. They go all over your body seeking a weak spot. They don't rattle—they strike. You feel listless, nerveless, sluggish, feverish, and maybe you're flat on your back before you really know there is anything the matter.

The only way to keep out disease germs—to keep from being sick—is to keep your blood pure and rich, and your liver active and healthy.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the greatest tonic in the world, will do it.

Charles H. Sargeant, of Plain City, Madison Co., Ohio, writes: "During the summer and fall of 1896 I became all 'run-down,' nerves were out of order and stomach out of order. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He said I had general debility, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Since I stopped taking it about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and have been able to work every day. My appetite is good, I can eat three square meals a day, and I do not feel that miserable burning in the stomach after eating. My blood and nerves are in good shape."

Company to Work in Brazil.

Xavier Larouche Drowned.

Ottawa, May 31.—Xavier Larouche of Hull, who left to work in McLaren's Mills at East Templeton Monday afternoon, was drowned shortly afterwards in the Ottawa River. Larouche and Boult started to make the trip in a canoe. When opposite East Templeton the canoe upset. Boult, being able to swim, escaped, but Larouche, not being able to swim, was drowned. The late Mr. Larouche leaves a widow and five children, the eldest of whom is 13 years.

Marks Gives Up the Ship.

Montreal, May 31.—Deputy U. S. Consul Godman returned from Valleyfield last night, whence he was in connection with the case of Capt. Marks of the Helvetia, who has been holding his vessel against the demands of the owners. Mr. Gorman succeeded in making a settlement, Capt. Marks agreeing to give up the vessel in consideration of his claim for $690 for wages being settled.

Ask your doctor how many preparations of cod-liver oil there are.

He will answer, "Hundreds of them." Ask him which is the best. He will reply, "Scott's Emulsion."

Then see that this is the one you obtain. It contains the purest cod-liver oil, free from unpleasant odor and taste. You also get the hypophosphites and glycerine. All three are blended into one grand healing and nourishing remedy.

METHODIST WOMEN'S MISSIONARY WORK.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT SOCIETY.

Prosperous Condition of the Work—Good Attendance—Much Enthusiasm Manifested—Excellent Papers Read—Reports Presented.

The Methodist Women's Missionary Society of the Peterborough District held its annual meeting in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday. There was a good attendance of delegates, and much enthusiasm in the work of the society characterized the gathering.

The following delegates were in attendance:

George street, Peterborough—Mrs. James Kendry and Mrs. Turner.

Charlotte street, Peterborough—Miss Sherlock and Miss Madden.

Mark street, Ashburnham—Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Matchett.

Ballisboro—Mrs. F. Dawson and Mrs. J. Dawson.

Bridgenorth—Miss Udy, Mrs. Milburn and Miss Elliott.

Lakefield—Mrs. Sherin, Mrs. Madill and Mrs. Rogers.

Millbrook—Miss Pendrie and Miss Cade.

Warsaw—Miss Wason.

The morning session opened at 9 o'clock with Mrs. James Kendry presiding, and Mrs. Lightfoot acting as secretary.

The reports from the branches throughout the Peterborough District were read, and showed the society to be in a prosperous condition. The membership of the local societies is good and the financial report was quite up to the mark.

A discussion on proportionate giving was taken part in by Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. Sherin, Mrs. Dawson and Miss Udy.

The delegates from Millbrook and Lakefield read very interesting and able papers.

The morning session concluded with a memorial service, being a tribute to several deceased members. Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. Sherin, Mrs. Dawson and Mrs. Shorey made suitable references to the departed members.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises by Mrs. Shorey and Mrs. [illegible]art.

Minutes of last session read and adopted.

The roll call showed a good attendance present.

The following papers were read: "How to Conduct a Watch Tower," sent in by the Pontypool Auxiliary; "Special Hindrances in Carrying on Auxiliary Work," by Miss Wason of Warsaw, the discussion being taken part in by Mrs. Sherin, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Aylmer and Mrs. Kendry; "Proportionate Systematic Giving" by Miss Udy, of Bridgenorth, discussion by Mrs. Platt, Mrs. Jory, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter and Mrs. Matchett.

On motion of Mrs. Kendry, seconded by Mrs. Lightfoot, Mrs. Yelland, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Wood and Miss Cade were appointed a courtesy committee.

Miss Udy, of Bridgenorth, rendered a solo, "Never Alone," which was highly appreciated.

"How to Get Members of the Auxiliary Interested" was the title of a paper by Mrs. J. Dawson, of Ballisboro, the discussion being taken part in by Mrs. Platt, Mrs. Sherin, and Mrs. McHarry.

The afternoon session was brought to a close by singing "Nearer My God to Thee."

THE EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was opened with [illegible] at which Mrs. [illegible] gave an address of welcome, to which she [illegible] be made to the [illegible] four years in a Chinese home for girls in British Columbia, gave a very interesting address on the Character of the Chinese People. The speaker gave a very amusing description of the superstition that existed amongst Chinamen, and the very easy manner in which they could be influenced. This was particularly so as to their food and the girls who come out from China are told that the people out in the home in British Columbia, gave them food to eat which took away any desire they at one time had to return to their native land. The result of this was that many of the young girls that come out from that country starved themselves almost to death before they would consent to eat their meals. The speaker asked those present to consider the great ignorance and superstition, those people suffered from, and asked if it did not rest with us to impart to them some of the knowledge we are possessed of.

Greetings from sister societies was the next number on the programme.

Mrs. Dr. Hunter of Murray street Baptist church expressed the pleasure it gave her to be present and extend the sympathy of the church she represented to the society which was now in session. The speaker claimed while there might be independent missionary societies, still they were all employed in an earnest work, to forward one common cause.

Mrs. McPherson, of St. Paul's church missionary society, also replied. She had, the speaker said, been much interested and profited by listening to the proceedings and extended the heartfelt sympathies of her church.

Mrs. Platt, the branch president, was called upon to give an address, and in doing so claimed that on account of there having been so much ground covered, that there was little left for her to say. She however, gave a report of her visits to the various district meetings, including Whitby, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Madoc, Campbellford, Cannington and Lindsay, all of which were in an exceedingly healthy condition. The speaker claimed that of all the district meetings she had attended, the meeting of the Peterborough district was much in advance in the matter of free and intelligent discussion. After making an urgent appeal to the members to offer many prayers in the cause of missionary work, Mrs. Platt proceeded to answer a number of questions concerning the work of the society and gave much valuable information in this regard.

The choir of Charlotte street Methodist rendered several excellent selections throughout the evening.

The convention was brought to a close with appropriate devotional exercises.

CONFERENCE OF CHARITIES.

Methods of "The Greatest of all These" Under Discussion at Toronto—Begining to-day

The second Canadian Conference of Charities is being held in the Normal School, Toronto, to-day and to-morrow.

The programme has been arranged as appended:

Thursday, June 1st.

2 p.m.—Enrollment of members.

2.15.—Opening address by the President, Judge McDonald of Brockville; Addresses by Hon. E. J. Davis, Hon. G. W. Ross, Mayor Shaw. Papers on "Charity Organization" and "Prison Reform" by J. J. Kelso, James Massie, etc. Appointment of Committees.

8 p.m.—Addresses—Dr. J. T. Gilmour, on "Some Phases of Delinquency"; Inspector Stark, of Toronto Police Department, on "How can Children be Saved from Criminal and Wasted Lives"; Hon. Chas. Drury on "County Goals." General discussion.

Friday, June 2nd.

2 p.m.—Five minute address on Child-Saving, touching upon such subjects as the Home Finding System; The Improvement of Family Life Among the Poor; The Day Nursery; Public Play Grounds; Orphanages and Reformatories.
Election of officers and deciding of next meeting.

8 p.m.—Rev. Morgan Wood will give an address on the "Church and Charity." Dr. W. Oldright will open the discussion on "The duty of the Government to Pauper Inebriates," and Dr. A. MacKinnon, of Guelph, on the "Custodial Care of Epileptics."

This Conference has been organized for the purpose of holding a yearly meeting of those who, either as students, philanthropists or practical workers, are interested in the promotion of philanthropic work among the dependent, defective and delinquent classes. Membership fee, $1.00.

CHEMONG PARK HOTEL.

How This Hostelrie Dispenses Hospitality.

A few days ago a party of ladies and gentlemen paid a visit to Chemong Park and the rain preventing a return as arranged, the company concluded to take pot-luck for dinner with the Chemong Park hotel, which had no previous intimation of the presence of soo many distinguished guests, but which under the new manager, Mr. George Brown, extended a most hospitable and much appreciated welcome. In fact, so pleased were the guests with the appetising menu provided that one of them brought away a copy of the dinner bill of fare, which is here reproduced:

Soup, Macaroni; fish, fresh water, salmon, white sauce; entrees, lettuce salad; boiled, leg of mutton, caper sauce; roast, beef, brown gravy, baked heart, dressing; vegetables, boiled potatoes, mashed potatoes, string beans, radishes, green onions; pastry, etc., deep apple pie, with cream, rhubarb pie, cranberry tart, tapioca cream; dessert, oranges, black and green tea.

The proprietor, Mr. George Brown, though not related to one of the great "Fathers of Confederation," of that name, is certainly aiming to be the father of a first-class reputation as a caterer to the public in one of the most pleasantly situated and popular summer hotels in the district. Mine Host Febert's mantle has fallen on worthy shoulders; the good reputation for management given the Chemong Park Hotel is being perpetuated by his successor, and one may expect an increasing influx of summer visitors to the most accessible of the summer resorts that surround the town.

Topics of the Day.

Every one is surprised at the rapidity and efficacy with which Nervoline [illegible] pain, toothache, neuralgia and rheumatism. Nervoline is a specific for all nerve pains and should be kept on hand by every family.

TRACKMEN'S STRIKE.

LINDSAY BRIDGE CARPENTERS DISMISSED

Because they would not act as Track-Repairers—Bad Wash-Out at Orillia.

(Lindsay Post.)

The discontent of the Lindsay G. T. R. trackmen has been accentuated by the attempt of the management to compel the bridge carpenters to perform their duties.

On Saturday the Lindsay men under Foreman John Rear, received instructions to patrol the line from Lindsay to Whitby, going one day and returning the next. They demurred, stating that they were willing to do anything connected with their own department, but they knew nothing about track repairs, and did not wish to assume the responsibility. Yesterday morning Messrs. M. Mulvihill, Adam Switzer, W. Gannon and Geo. White were notified by Mr. E. Brown, the local superintendent, that their services were no longer required. Their dismissal stirred the railway men to white heat, and they have the sympathy and warm approval of the Lindsay business men and citizens generally.

Last evening a bad wash-out about two miles northwest of Orillia delayed traffic for over six hours. No No harm was done on the Haliburton, Coboconk, or Whitby divisions.

NOTE — Station Agent Sandy, of the Grand Trunk Railway, was seen by a representative of the Examiner this morning, and says the statement that the carpenters at Lindsay were dismissed because they were asked to do trackmen's duties and refused, is incorrect. Mr. Sandy has made inquiries and finds that the carpenters were not asked to do trackmen's work, but that owing to a slackness in their own department, the men were laid off for a day or so. They are, Mr. Sandy states, back at work this morning. The local station agent also says that the road is in good shape, and those who have patrolled the lines find no dangerous places.

SITUATION AT BARRIE.

Barrie, May 30.—At a meeting of the Brotherhood of Trackmen, held here this afternoon, a resolution was passed ordering that a subscription list be opened to give citizens an opportunity of showing their sympathy with the strikers in giving contributions to assist them in awaiting the company's compliance with their demand. The trackmen have been relying on the drivers for assistance in bringing the company to time, but it is not thought that the sympathy of the engineers, who are already well paid, will reach the striking point. It is whispered to-day that as long as the trainmen stay at the brakes the drivers will stay at the throttles and the firemen at their shovels. The trackmen are more hopeful and determined than ever, and certainly have public sympathy in these parts on their side. They believe the crisis will not come until the road gets so badly out of repair that only competent trackmen can repair it. That time, they say, is near at hand, and has been helped on by the heavy rains of yesterday.

There were several minor washouts on the road north of here, the only trouble so far being at Silver Creek, on the Midland branch. Superintendent Tiffin, official roadmasters and such men as could be spared from the other departments of work were up there to-day getting the track in shape.

Unless the strike is settled this week it will likely interfere with the entertainment of a large excursion of ticket agents from the entire Grand Trunk Railway system, who will spend next week in Lake Simcoe and Muskoka districts. They will arrive here with District Passenger Agent Dickson on Monday noon from Toronto via Jackson's Point. The Town Council will entetain them to dinner and a drive about town prior to their leaving at 3 o'clock for Orillia and the north.

SHALL WE HAVE A "FIRST OF JULY?"

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—What is the matter with the people of our town? They do not seem to make any effort to get up any sports to keep the money in our own town on public holidays. So far this year on all the holidays the majority of people have left town to enjoy themselves. Now, Mr. Editor, we have a good town and lots of good hotel accommodation for any number that may come and we want to bring people into the town instead of letting them go out of town to spend their money. We have good bands here and I hope that they or the firemen or some of the different societies will take the matter up at once and let us have a celebration on the 1st of July that will be a credit to the town and also a standing advertisement.

Thanking you for the space I remain.

Yours truly,
CELEBRATION.

Summer HATS

The proper thing for Summer wear this season in Hats is light coloured soft and stiff felts. Not so many years ago the weight of the average felt Hat was such that it could not be worn with any degree of comfort in hot weather—now it is different—the weight of summer felts is less than the Straw Hat. We are showing the very newest and most fashionable blocks in—

Stiff Hats.

Weight extra light and well ventilated.

Colours—Fawn, Tan and numberless shades of brown.

Soft Hats.

Pearl, Drab and Fawn Fedoras, regular "2 oz." Hats.

EMERGENCY SALE OF

WATER-DAMAGED GOODS

At the GOLDEN LION.

By the bursting of a water-pipe on the night of the 30th, ultimo., a large quantity of our Reserve Stock in the second, first and basement stories were damaged by the flood of water. These goods consist principally of

400 yards of Dress Goods and Dress Linings,
1500 yards of Towelling,

Together with Quantities of

Towels, Skirtings, Linens, Shirt Waist Silks, Etc.

A considerable portion of these goods are only slightly damaged by moisture, and sustained little or no damage for general utility or wear.

As it is imperatively necessary that an immediate disposal of these goods must be made, we have decided to make a quick clearance by holding an EMERGENCY SALE, which will be continued during

FRIDAY, SATURDAY and MONDAY,
JUNE 2nd, 3rd and 5th.

This means that about HALF PRICE will have to be accepted in many instances and that we must be content to stand the loss ourselves. We can't afford to hesitate about the sacrifices that must be made in prices, no matter how serious the loss, in order to make a swift clearance, as crowds are sure to take advantage of this sale. Capital chances for early buyers.

DR. AUSTIN DEPOSED.

Sensational and Exciting Heresy Trial at Windsor.

BELIEVES IN SPIRITUALISM.

A Frank Avowal of His Adherence to the Doctrines of Modern Spiritualism by the Ex-Principal of Alma College, St. Thomas—An Unsympathetic Hearing—The Trial Concluded.

Windsor, Ont., June 2.—The trial of Rev. Dr. B. F. Austin, ex-principal of Alma College, St. Thomas, on a charge of heresy, before the London conference, in session at Windsor yesterday, proved to be very sensational. Dr. Austin threw a bomb into the conference by declaring himself in unequivocal terms an ardent believer in modern spiritualism. Four charges of heresy were some time ago preferred against Dr. Austin by Rev. A. H. Going of Port Stanley. The most important charge was upholding a fraudulent system of spiritualism, and on this and two others Dr. Austin was found guilty by a committee of the St. Thomas district, and suspended until the next meeting of conference. Dr. Austin did not appear before this committee, but sent a brief written defence.

Yesterday's session he was on hand, and delivered a three-hours' address in his defence. He dismissed with a few words the minor charges brought against him, and proceeded with an elaborate explanation and defence of modern spiritualism. He quoted authority after authority in support of his plea that spiritualism is sanctioned by Bible teaching. He gave a number of his own personal experiences, which he claimed had converted him to the doctrine.

He had, he said, visited a woman mindreader in Detroit, and the information she gave him concerning himself convinced him that the science was not to be lightly treated. "You may say that spiritualism is the work of the devil," said Dr. Austin. "That's an easy disposition to make of the matter, but it does not prove anything."

His concluding words were: "I may fall in this fight, I may have to abandon the old religion for a broader one, but the truth that I advocate will soon be recognized by the world."

Throughout his address Dr. Austin was continually interrupted with words of ridicule by some brother minister, and several attempts were made to have him discontinue his remarks. The chair had a difficult time maintaining order, so great was the opposition to the speaker. When he had finished, one or two ministers, personal friends of Dr. Austin, started a mild applause, but were met with loud hisses and cries of "Shame!" from all over the building.

After some deliberation the conference, with but two dissenting votes, passed the following resolution, proposed by Revs. J. R. Gundy and Joseph Deacon: "That the charges preferred against Dr. Austin, having been sustained and proved, that he be deposed from the ministry of the Methodist Church."

Dr. Austin made a brief address, in which he said he had but voiced the convictions of an honest man. He declared that he had no enmity against any member of the conference, and wished Methodism every success.

MOTHER KILLED BABY.

Mrs. Jewitt of Toronto Junction Committed Murder and Then Suicided.

Newmarket, Ont., June 1.—Mrs. S. Jewett of West Toronto Junction has been in bad health for a length of time, and, with her three children, has been visiting with her brother, Mr. Bert Starr, living near Pine Orchard, about five miles east of Newmarket. On Thursday morning the sister, Miss Starr, went to the cellar to attend to her ordinary duties, and left Mrs. Jewett washing her baby. When Miss Starr came out of the cellar she went into the woodshed, and was horrified to find the body of the child, which was about six months' old, lying with its head crushed. The blow had evidently been given by the axe, which lay near by. Miss Starr immediately ran to her brother in the barn, and found that Mrs. Jewett had sent the other two children to the barn to hunt eggs, saying that she would soon follow them. Search was then made for the mother, but it was not until noon that her body was found under a bridge over a small creek behind the barn. She had drowned herself in a few inches of water. Temporary insanity is supposed to be the cause of the tragedy. Coroner Scott of this town has received instructions to hold an inquest on the body of the child to-morrow.

Who Mrs. Jewitt Was.

Mrs. Jewett was the daughter of the late James Starr of Pine Orchard. She had been married about 12 years, and was Mr. Jewett's second wife. She had three children, all girls, the eldest being five years old. Ever since the birth of the youngest child Mrs. Jewett has been very melancholic. She was known to sit for hours and gaze intently into the child's face.

In the House of Commons on Thursday Mr. William St. John Broderick said the Anglo-American commission had adjourned until August, and that the negotiations are proceeding.

On Thursday afternoon Loretto, aged 6 years, twin daughter of Dr. Lanthier, dentist, fell over the cliff from the ramparts opposite Laval University into the rear of Sault au Matelot street, Quebec, some 75 or 80 feet. The unfortunate girl lived but a couple of hours.

One of the oldest preachers of the Presbyterian Church in Canada died on Thursday at Toronto in the person of the Rev. Robert Dowie Mackay. He was born in Thuso, Scotland, in 1807, and educated at St. Andrew's and Edinburgh. In the early fifties he came to Canada.

Marion Clark, the 21-months-old infant kidnapped from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark of New York City, on May 21, has been found two miles south of Sloatsburg, a village about eight miles from Garnersville, N. Y. She was found at the farm house of Charles Youmans, and was in the custody of Mrs. Jennie Wilson, who was arrested for the abduction.

Major Marchand, the little Frenchman so prominent in the Fashoda incident in Egypt, arrived at Lyons, France, on Thursday on his way to Paris, and was received with immense enthusiasm. He arrived in Paris later, and was given a reception worthy of a Bonaparte. He was dined at the Military Club and made the recipient of medals, swords of honor and decorations. The Chamber of Deputies, too, adopted a resolution of thanks to the Major.

CARMAN'S RULING RE DR. WORKMAN.

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT'S VERSION OF THE WORKMAN CASE.

Dissent Expressed—Dr. Carman's Comments upon Prohibition, Sabbath Observance and Dancing in the Public School

Belleville, June 1.—Last night the session of the Bay of Quinte Conference was largely confined to the passing of the minutes of the afternoon's proceedings. Dr. Carman's ruling in the matter of Doctor Workman's case was written out during the interim of the sessions and read at this one. Its wording, in the estimation of most, as was indicated by the vote, was hardly an exact recital of the facts in the case. After much debate the minutes were passed. The following is the exact wording of the General Superintendent's ruling:

Dr. Carman's Ruling.

"In the ministerial session of the annual Conference, when this question was under consideration, viz., 'Are there any objections or charges preferred against any of our ministers or probationers?' on the call of the Cobourg district the Chairman and Secretary of the district stated and attested there were no such charges or objections. Call was made from the floor of the Conference for the report of a committee that had been appointed at the annual Conference of 1898, as follows, as per the journals of that Conference: 'Moved by Rev. J. C. Wilson, seconded by Rev. W. R. Young, that whereas many persons have affirmed and many others have believed that the teaching and preaching of the Rev. Dr. Workman are not in harmony with our doctrinal standards, therefore, at the request of Dr. Workman, with a view of justice to our brother and to the satisfaction of the mind and of the church, it is hereby resolved, that the following be appointed a committee to call for evidence and investigate the questions raised and to report their findings to the next Conference, viz: Revs. W. R. Young, S. J. Shorey, Dr. Crothers, T. Manning, Dr. Dyer, Dr. Lambly, and W. J. Jolliffe.'

Report Not Received.

"On the proposition to have the report of said committee read as bearing on the case of the Rev. Dr. Workman of the Cobourg district, the General Superintendent in the chair ruled that by the proper court and legal processes of the discipline the brother in question stood clear, and no report of an extra-disciplinary character, as was this proposed report, could be admitted as either inculpating or exculpating a brother; that the discipline had its processes of determining such matters, and to keep ourselves safe we must keep within the bounds and measures prescribed by discipline. Wherefore the chair decided that this extra-disciplinary report could not be admitted on such cases of character. The chair further ruled that the existence and action of such a committee holding over a man's character for the whole year from one Conference to the other without charges and trial is ultra vires of the Conference, and therefore null and void, and its report inadmissable at any stage of the proceedings of the Conference. (Signed) A. Carman, General Superintendent."

The whole matter was disposed of until the sitting of the General Conference Court of Appeal by the following resolution: Moved by Rev. S. J. Shorey, seconded by Rev. W. R. Young, B.A., "That the minutes of the afternoon session be confirmed with the understanding that the General Superintendent alone is responsible for the statements contained in his ruling."

Dr. Carman's Address.

The Conference proper opened today at 10 o'clock. Before the roll-call Dr. Carman addressed those present in his characteristic way. There are social, spiritual, moral and political relationships. The ministry had high credentials from the court of heaven to touch all these, and save them from a more mighty disintegrating force than frost. Iniquity in any form must be resisted and aggressive warfare prosecuted. As to the meeting of Conference in this old town on this historic bay, he would deplore if there should be any weakening of those early manifestations and strong currants and impulses of the early times that resulted in a large hearty hospitality.

Dealing with the question of Sabbath observance, Dr. Carman said that the Conference should organize for work. Force must be brought upon the rulers of the country. This would be legitimate political action. To-day there are organized anti-Sabbath elements. Shall Canada have in certain places the Buffalo Sunday, the German rationalistic beer-guzzling Sunday? Should this come across the Suspension Bridge? The matter of Sabbath-breaking is comparatively new. If we are quiet now in this business, in a little while we cannot shake off the coil of Sabbath desecration. All the legal enactments of Christendom will not make Sabbath breaking innocent for a Christian man or any man.

As To Prohibition.

Touching the plebiscite, Dr. Carman said "there may be room for a variety of judgment on this question, but on the British side, the side of government by majorities, there can be no question of what was the right thing to do. Sweeping, radical, universal and instantaneous prohibition may not be expedient, but the answer of the Premier has greatly grieved us. With magnificent majorities east and majorities here and west, it would not have been beneath the dignity of the Premier and his Government to have looked at both sides of the question. There would in his judgment be schools and schools of voters going off. It would be some satisfaction to make temperance power felt at the polls. If we rise above a contemptible party spirit, become so powerful as to put one party out and therefore put another party in we shall have prohibition. (Continued applause.)

EMERGENCY SALE OF

WATER-DAMAGED GOODS

At the GOLDEN LION.

By the bursting of a water-pipe on the night of the 30th, ultimo., a large quantity of our Reserve Stock in the second, first and basement stories were damaged by the flood of water. These goods consist principally of

400 yards of Dress Goods and Dress Linings,

1500 yards of Towelling,

Together with Quantities of

Towels, Skirtings, Linens, Shirt Waist Silks, Etc.

A considerable portion of these goods are only slightly damaged by moisture, and sustained little or no damage for general utility or wear.

As it is imperatively necessary that an immediate disposal of these goods must be made, we have decided to make a quick clearance by holding an EMERGENCY SALE, which will be continued during

FRIDAY, SATURDAY and MONDAY,

JUNE 2nd, 3rd and 5th.

This means that about HALF PRICE will have to be accepted in many instances and that we must be content to stand the loss ourselves. We can't afford to hesitate about the sacrifices that must be made in prices, no matter how serious the loss, in order to make a swift clearance, as crowds are sure to take advantage of this sale. Capital chances for early buyers.

DR. AUSTIN DEPOSED.

Sensational and Exciting Heresy Trial at Windsor.

BELIEVES IN SPIRITUALISM.

A Frank Avowal of His Adherence to the Doctrines of Modern Spiritualism by the Ex-Principal of Alma College, St. Thomas—An Unsympathetic Hearing—The Trial Concluded.

Windsor, Ont., June 2.—The trial of Rev. Dr. B. F. Austin, ex-principal of Alma College, St. Thomas, on a charge of heresy, before the London conference, in session at Windsor yesterday, proved to be very sensational. Dr. Austin threw a bomb into the conference by declaring himself in unequivocal terms an ardent believer in modern spiritualism. Four charges of heresy were some time ago preferred against Dr. Austin by Rev. A. H. Going of Port Stanley. The most important charge was upholding a fraudulent system of spiritualism, and on this and two others Dr. Austin was found guilty by a committee of the St. Thomas district, and suspended until the next meeting of conference. Dr. Austin did not appear before this committee, but sent a brief written defence.

At yesterday's session he was on hand, and delivered a three-hours' address in his defence. He dismissed with a few words the minor charges brought against him, and proceeded with an elaborate explanation and defence of modern spiritualism. He quoted authority after authority in support of his pleas—that spiritualism is sanctioned by Bible teaching. He gave a number of his own personal experiences, which he claimed had converted him to the doctrine.

He had, he said, visited a woman mindreader in Detroit, and the information she gave him concerning himself convinced him that the science was not to be lightly treated. "You may say that spiritualism is the work of the devil," said Dr. Austin. "That's an easy disposition to make of the matter, but it does not prove anything."

His concluding words were: "I may fall in this fight, I may have to abandon the old religion for a broader one, but the truth that I advocate will soon be recognized by the world."

Throughout his address Dr. Austin was continually interrupted with words of ridicule by some brother minister, and several attempts were made to have him discontinue his remarks. The chair had a difficult time maintaining order, so great was the opposition to the speaker. When he had finished, one or two ministers, personal friends of Dr. Austin, started a mild applause, but were met with loud hisses and cries of "Shame!" from all over the building.

After some deliberation the conference, with but two dissenting votes, passed the following resolution, proposed by Revs. J. R. Gundy and Joseph Deacon: "That the charges preferred against Dr. Austin, having been sustained and proved, that he be deposed from the ministry of the Methodist Church."

Dr. Austin made a brief address, in which he said he had but voiced the convictions of an honest man. He declared that he had no enmity against any member of the conference, and wished Methodism every success.

MOTHER KILLED BABY.

Mrs. Jewitt of Toronto Junction Committed Murder and Then Suicided.

Newmarket, Ont., June 1.—Mrs. S. Jewett of West Toronto Junction has been in bad health for a length of time, and, with her three children, has been visiting with her brother, Mr. Bert Starr, living near Pine Orchard, about five miles east of Newmarket. On Thursday morning the sister, Miss Starr, went to the cellar to attend to her ordinary duties, and left Mrs. Jewett washing her baby. When Miss Starr came out of the cellar she went into the woodshed, and was horrified to find the body of the child, which was about six months' old, lying with its head crushed. The blow had evidently been given by the axe, which lay near by. Miss Starr immediately ran to her brother in the barn, and found that Mrs. Jewett had sent the other two children to the barn to hunt eggs, saying that she would soon follow them. Search was then made for the mother, but it was not until noon that her body was found under a bridge over a small creek behind the barn. She had drowned herself in a few inches of water. Temporary insanity is supposed to be the cause of the tragedy. Coroner Scott of this town has received instructions to hold an inquest on the body of the child to-morrow.

Who Mrs. Jewitt Was.

Mrs. Jewett was the daughter of the late James Starr of Pine Orchard. She had been married about 12 years, and was Mr. Jewett's second wife. She had three children, all girls, the eldest being five years old. Ever since the birth of the youngest child Mrs. Jewett has been very melancholic. She was known to sit for hours and gaze intently into the child's face.

"Like Diamonds Raindrops Glisten."

Drops of Hood's Sarsaparilla are precious jewels for the blood which glisten in their use, and, like the rain, disappear for the good of humanity. Each dose when taken is in a very short time thoroughly mixed with the blood and actively getting in its work of purification. Hood's never disappoints.

Running Sore—"My mother was troubled with rheumatism in her knee for a number of years, and it broke out into a running sore. She took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is now well. Hood's Olive Ointment helped to heal the eruption." MRS. JOHN FARR, Cloverlawns, Ancaster, Ont.

Dyspepsia—"My wife suffered from rheumatism, dyspepsia and pains in her stomach. She had medical attendance but did not get relief. She read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and tried it. Three bottles entirely cured her. She is now a well and hearty woman." T. W. COVERT, Cape Sable Island, N. S.

Eczema—"I was run down with complaints peculiar to my sex. Large sores broke out on my body head and limbs. I could not do any work on account of the itching. My trouble was termed eczema and I doctored for it for a long time. I then tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and several bottles effected a cure." MRS. J. G. BROWN, Brantford, Ont.

Swellings—"I had a swelling on my chest. It caused me great pain and many sleepless nights. Physicians advised an operation but my daughter urged that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla instead. I did so and after using six bottles, the swelling went away and I have not had any more pains." MRS. J. W. C. CRONKWRIGHT, 422 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

Organs Affected—"I was run down in health and had spells of coughing which left me prostrate. My lungs, heart and kidneys were affected. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla upon advice and soon felt better. I continued the treatment and now feel like a new woman." MRS. SUMMERVILLE, 217 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

RAILWAYS AND CANALS.

A correspondent questions the accuracy of our statements as to the relative cost of carriage by rail and water. "Some roads," he says, "are now hauling 2,500 to 3,000 tons of freight per train, one engine and five men. All trunk lines will soon have to reach this or go out of the competition It will cost a day's pay to each of these men, and, say, eight or nine tons of coal to haul this load 150 miles, say $45, or 2 1-4 cents per ton. Could any steamboat carry a like load at a less cost?"

Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, some time ago appointed a commission to inquire into the question, "What shall the State of New York do with its canals?" The Engineering News has replied, and has apparently come to the conclusion that the railway will become a more and more formidable rival of the canals. The railways have already made rates of two mills per ton per mile, and the News thinks it not improbable that a rate of one mill per ton per mile may be reached:

"If it be granted, as we think it must be, that any future artificial waterway from Lake Erie to the Hudson may have to face railway competition at one to two mills per ton mile, the serious question for the state of New York is whether any waterway can be made which will meet such competition. The figures assumed by the committee for the various waterways which they propose are: For a canal improved according to present plans, one mill per ton mile; for a canal with widened locks one mill per ton mile; widened locks and eight foot draught, 0.8 mill per ton mile; widened locks and ten-foot draught, 0.7 per ton mile; twelve feet barge canal, 0.6 mill per ton mile.

"These figures, however, represent the mere cost of running the boats. They do not represent the real cost of the traffic, for the cost of maintainance of the canal itself and the interest on the investment that must be made for its improvement are entirely omitted. To compare them with the railway rates we should omit from the latter all that part of the earnings which go to pay for maintainance for the roadway and interest on the bonds. If, on the other hand, we make reasonable assumptions for the volume of traffic on any of the proposed waterways, we find that when we include the cost of the investment the total cost is nearly or quite equal to what may be fairly assumed as the probable cost of carriage by rail."

But, having put the case for the railway thus strongly, The News puts the question virtually in this form: The railways can carry as cheaply as the canals, perhaps more cheaply; but will they do so? The canals in the United States, as in Canada, are national property, and the use of them is given to shippers at less than cost. The railways are seeking to carry at more than cost. They want to pay not only running expenses but interest on their investment, not merely the interest which has to be paid for a loan, but such profits as a business man expects to make on a business enterprise.

Now, for us in Canada there is not much use in calculating interest on our investment in the canals. The money is borrowed or raised by taxation, the canals are constructed, the interest must be paid whether the canals are used or not. With us, the difference between using the railways and using the canals is like the difference between living in a rented house and living in one of our own, which would otherwise remain empty. The rent may be less than the interest on the investment, but of what importance is that to the man who pays both rent and interest, and leaves the result of the investment useless? Supposing railways can carry as cheaply as canals or more cheaply, the canals belong to us and the railways do not. We have a double interest in the canals. We represent not only the customers but the shareholders and the bondholders; and it is a matter of indifference to us whether the money goes into one pocket or the other. It is the sum total of prosperity that we are thinking of.—Globe.

HOW TO DESTROY WILD MUSTARD.

The Newcastle, Eng., Courant of May 6 says—The Technical Educational Committee of the Essex County Council have been carrying out experiments in the destruction of charlock, (wild mustard) which have attracted wide-spread attention. Last week about 250 visitors assembled at Chelmsford to witness the demonstrations. On all the plots the crops were oats and beans. Plot 1 had been sprayed eight days before with a two per cent. solution of sulphate of copper at the rate of thirty-five gallons per acre. Rain fell three hours later, but the charlock was seen to be killed, whilst the crops were uninjured. On plot 2, sprayed 6 days before with a 4 per cent. solution of sulphate of copper at the rate of twenty-five gallons per acre, the charlock was killed, the oats slightly, but temporarily discoloured, and the beans were uninjured. Plot 3 had been sprayed six days previously with a two per cent. solution of sulphate of copper at the rate of fifteen gallowns per acre. On both plots the charlock was killed and the crops were not injured. Plot 5 had been sprayed three days before with a two and a half per cent. solution of sulphate of iron at the rate of forty gallons per acre; the charlock was seen to be dead, whilst the oats and beans were uninjured. The demonstration afforded much satisfaction to many who had travelled long distances in order to see it.

ICED CARS FOR BUTTER.

Signal Success of Arangement With Dominion Government for Transporting Butter in Ice.

(Montreal Herald.)

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company find that the introduction of iced cars for the transportation of butter to Montreal, the result of an arrangement made with the Dominion Government has been an unqualified success. So largely did the dairymen last season avail themselves of the facilities offered for the transportation of produce that they have season decided to enlarge the scope of their operations. This week they began to run iced cars from the following centres for Montreal:

Bedford, Wednesday a.m.; Sherbrooke, Wednesday p.m.; Megantic, alternate Wednesdays a.m.; Cookshire, alternate Wednesdays a. m.; (ex Maine Central R. R.); Masonville, Thursday a.m.; Warden, Wednesday, p.m.; Quebec, Wednesday a.m.; St. Gabriel de Brandon, Wednesday p.m.; Pembroke, Wednesday a.m.

The butter consignments are picked up and loaded into these cars at all intermediate points in the direct route to Montreal. When space in the iced cars will permit, cheese may also be loaded into these cars and transported to Montreal at tariff rates, without additional charges for icing, but the company reserve the right to remove the cheese from the iced butter cars to ordinary freight cars at any place between the point of shipment and Montreal when necessary to make room for butter shipments, which are to have preference.

The Company have issued a notice morning announcing that commencing to-morrow, and weekly thereafter, until further notice, an iced car for the transportation of butter will be run from St. Lin and intermediate points on the St. Lin branch to Montreal. Car will start Friday a.m., and butter will be delivered in Montreal same day.

Agents will advise shippers in their vicinity in order that they may have shipments on hand in time to go forward in this car.

HARVEY.

The Harvey Council met at the Town Hall on the 29th May for Court of Revision and road session after routine. Communications and accounts read from Mr. Byng, for coffin and robe for Lancefield; Mr. Conway, account for supplies for Lancefield; George Quibble, digging grave for Lancefield; advice, Stratton & Hall, re levy upon U. School sections; A. P. Poussette, Q.C., re suit, Smith vs. J. B. McWilliams; A. P. Young, for road work done in 1898 for Ontario Bank. On motion, the clerk was instructed to notify Lazarus Dunsford to cut the timber on the Deer Bay road across lot 10, con. 2, as the council wants to widen the road. On motion the council, after making the oaths required, formed a Court of Revision for hearing appeals against the assessment for Harvey for 1899, the reeve in the chair. The assessment of Mrs. St. George was lowered $100; Hugh Allen's was lowered $150; the assessment of Herchmer & Reid for cottage was confirmed at the assessor's valuation; Edward Earle was assessed for lot 26, con. 17 by request. On motion the Assessment Roll as revised, was passed, and the council resumed on general business. On motion $250 was granted for roads and bridges, $90 to be expended in South Harvey, James O'Weir, Commissioner; $90 in North Harvey, Jas. and Wm. J. Oliver, Commissioners, to expend the same; $70 in East Harvey, Thos. Flynn, Commissioner, to expend the same. On motion accounts passed, and orders drawn for payment: John Kreger, for keeping John Lancefield one year, $50; Geo. Bynge, for coffin and robe for Lancefield, $12; Hugh Conway, for supplies for Lancefield, $1.50; George Quible, digging grave for Lancefield, $2; C. E. Stewart, notice, 4 insertions, to pay up the Harvey taxes, $1.50; A. P. Young, for stature labour for Ontario Bank for 1898, $2; James Richmond, assessor, salary and postage, and equalizing U.S.S. No. 1, $39; John Smith, notifying parties regarding a dead horse, $1. On motion the council adjourned to meet at the clerk's office, on the 3rd day of July next.

GROWING GIRLS

Should Take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They Enrich the Blood, Strengthen the Heart, Tone Up the Nerves and Build Up the Health.

The young girls we see on the street every day—how many of them have pale, pinched, care-worn faces, dark circles under the eyes? How many complain of headaches, backaches, sideaches and weak, tired-out feelings?

There is not one of these but with ordinary care and the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills could soon be free from every pain, have cheeks like roses, eyes bright, step elastic and life joyous. These pills supply the very elements needed to build up and strengthen the nerves, enrich the blood and invigorate the heart. Every mother who has a daughter weak and nervous should read the following statement made by Mrs. A. M. Strongman, 564 Colborne Street, London:

"On account of close application to study my daughter Annie became much run down in health and strength.

"I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for her, and the results have been remarkable. Strength has been imparted to her physical and nervous system by their use, and I am highly pleased to recommend them.

"From the great benefit derived by my daughter from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I cannot do less than highly recommend them to those suffering from similar complaints."

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at James Lynch's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Young Woman Took Poison.

St. Thomas, Ont., May 31.—Hattie Grantham, a girl about 22 years of age, living with her parents at No. 78 Forest avenue, took a dose of aconite at half-past 2 yesterday. The girl had a quarrel with her father about going out to work in the morning. The girl's chances of recovery are doubtful.

SOME ADVICE

Hamilton Times.

In this age of dyspepsia, drugs and faith cures this advice of the Medical Record is worthy of being taken to heart: "Drink less, breathe more; eat less, chew more; ride less, walk more; clothe less, bathe more; worry less, work more; waste less, give more; write less, read more; preach less, practice more."

GETTING AFTER THE RAILWAYS

Toronto Globe.

The Michigan Legislature has a taxation bill to raise $500,000 a year by a tax on railway corporations. This will make the railways a part of the taxation machinery, but as they seem to be already exercising that function to their full capacity it may merely cause them to disgorge a part of the state.

A SAD DROWNING.

Fred Willis and Two Children Lose Their Lives at Little Current.

Little Current, Ont., June 2.—A boat containing Mr. Fred. Willis, his wife, two children and John Griffith capsized near the mouth of the Whitefish River yesterday morning, drowning Willis and both children. Griffith and Mrs. Willis clung to the upturned boat until the tug Maggie May picked them up, after being in the water an hour and a half. The children's bodies were found on the beach some time after.

The Kaiser Was Eloquent.

Kiel, June 2.—The German warship built to replace the ironclad Kaiser Wilhelm was launched yesterday in the presence of Emperor William, who in an eloquent speech named it Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. The Grand Duchess of Baden performed the christening. There was a brilliant gathering of Cabinet officers and others of high rank at the launch. In addition to the Emperor and the Duchess of Baden, the Empress of Germany, the Crown Prince of Germany, Frederick William, and the Grand Duke of Baden were present.

THE CLIMATE OF CHICAGO.

How Could the Poor Frenchman Tell What It Could Do?

While in Chicago M. de Monvel, the French artist, heard one story that puzzled him. It was told at a dinner party, and he smiled just as if he understood it. That night he thought it over, but the more he thought the less he comprehended it. Finally a fellow artist who had heard the story repeated it, drew pictures of it, and then a light broke on M. de Monvel, and he laughed.

"Ah, we Frenchmen are stupid when compared with the Americans!" he exclaimed. "I shall tell that story, and it will make Paris laugh."

The little tale was about a French carpenter who bought a saw from a Chicago manufacturer who made a specialty of advertising. Engraved on the tool was the assurance that "day in and day out this saw will wear longer than any other on the market." The Frenchman read the advertisement, and the day he bought the saw he put it carefully away. The next day he used it and left it out of doors in the pouring rain. A neighbor remonstrated with him for his carelessness, and he picked up the saw, pointed to its inscription and exclaimed:

"Does not le scie—no, I mean se saw—say un jour in et un jour out—one day in and one day out—and sis will wear longer than all se saws? I have left him in one day. Now I follow direc-she-ong—I leave him out one day. Ze climate of She-ka-go—how can I tell what she will do?"—Chicago Inter Ocean.

TUPPER AND FOSTER.

Baronet and Ex-Finance Minister Oppose Each Other.

AT THE OPPOSITION CAUCUS.

Difference of Opinion Regarding the Redistribution Bill—A Go-as-You-Please Deal, Wherein Each Member May Conduct His Own Campaign—Mr. Foster's Fears—No Trouble From Senate.

Ottawa, June 2.—The Conservative caucus yesterday morning was summoned to deal with the question of the party's attitude on the redistribution bill, and before the proceedings were finished it became evident that the Opposition is split into two sections, holding diverse views concerning the proper action in respect of the bill.

Sir Charles Tupper headed those who hold that protracted discussion, with, if necessary, a five or six months' session, would do the party most good, while Mr. G. E. Foster and nearly all of the Maritime Provinces Conservatives pointed out the mild character of the bill and the difficulty of making converts to Conservatism on the head of the present measure.

Mr. Foster went much further than this, and pointed out that the Government, if thwarted in carrying the present bill through Parliament, might next session introduce a much more drastic measure. The upshot of the discussion was that it was agreed that each member of the party in the Commons would be at liberty to conduct his own campaign in respect of the measure, the party as a whole taking no stand. It was noticed that the threats of Senatorial interference have come to naught. A single reference to the possibility of the Upper House's throwing out the measure was made by a Conservative Senator, but such strong sentiment existed against the idea that it is felt there need be no trouble expected from the Upper House.

Increased Trade Shown.

The customs receipts for May are stated by the Customs Department to have been $2,162,655, as against $1,797,867 last year. The receipts from customs for the 11 months of the fiscal year are given as $23,260,684, as compared with $20,182,728 for the same period last year, an increase of $3,127,754.

INTERCOLONIAL EXTENSION.

Mr. Blair Advocates the G.T.R. Bargain as the Best From Every Point of View.

Ottawa, June 2.—In the House yesterday afternoon Sir Hibbert Tupper moved that the returns recently brought down with reference to the Manitoba election case be referred to the public accounts committee. The Prime Minister thought that the papers might have been left with the public accounts committee last year, but promised to look into the matter.

A Canadian Major-General.

Col. Domville introduced his bill to amend the Militia Act of Canada. In explanation he said that the bill was a very simple one and merely provided for a slight change in section 4 for the purpose of settling the question as to the relative positions of the Minister and the Major-General, and to section 2 by adding the words, "or any lieut.-colonel of the Canadian militia," so as to admit of a Canadian officer being appointed to the command of the Canadian militia. The amendment did not make it compulsory to appoint a Canadian officer, but left it optional with the Government. The bill was introduced and read a first time.

Questions and Answers.

Hon. Mr. Tarte, in reply to Mr. Casgrain, who asked "Is the Government aware that Donahue contracted for the said timber for Roberval bridge at 10c per foot with one Larouche of Kenogami, and that the contract has been cancelled because the said Larouche is a Conservative?" said that the timber had been rejected because it was not good.

In reply to a question put fer Mr. Maclean, Hon. Mr. Blair said that the special mileage tariff on hay, straw and grain at present enforced on the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, had not been approved by order-in-council, as it was not necessary to do so, only maximum tariffs being submitted for approval.

Hon. Mr. Blair stated, in reply to Mr. Macdougall, that Frank A. Gillies, formerly station agent on the Intercolonial Railway at Truscadie, N.S., had been transferred from that station to another and subsequently dismissed because he was short in his cash.

Mr. Blair on the Bargain.

Hon. Mr. Blair laid on the table blue prints of the terminal facilities of the Grand Trunk Railway at Montreal covered by the arrangement recently made in respect to the Intercolonial having terminal facilities at Montreal, and other papers relating to the lease of a portion of the Grand Trunk to the Government.

The House went into committee on the resolution authorizing the loan of the Grand Trunk terminals at Montreal for 99 years at $140,000 a year.

Mr. Blair said it was impossible to give in figures an exact statement of the receipts and expenditures of the extension to Montreal. However, he could say that for the current year, estimating for the two months of May and June, the revenue of the I.C.R. would be $3,660,000. In the year ending June 30, 1897, the revenue was $2,860,000, a gain of $800,000, or 28 per cent., but, of course, allowance must be made for increased mileage. The receipts per mile were $2,740 and $3,490 respectively, or 14 per cents., due to the extension to Montreal. Receipts and expenditures for the ten months of the current year showed a surplus of $62,000, an improvement of $170,000 over the same period of 1898. This could only be accounted for by the extension. He said he considered the proposition now before the committee comprised the "very best, cheapest, wisest, most effective and most satisfactory" method of extending the I.C.R. to Montreal that could be devised. In acquiring a half-interest in the road between St. Rosalie and St. Lambert, the Government was getting half-ownership of a road 25 miles long, passing through the "most fertile, most productive, most thrifty and most promising piece of country in Canada, through which the I.C.R. would have equal rights with the Grand Trunk to pick up business. Moreover, it was one of the best pieces of roadbed on the continent, and the use was also secured of the Victoria Bridge, which cost $10,000,000, and of terminals in Montreal of simply inestimable value, because their value could not be estimated in dollars. It was objected that the I.C.R. could not use all the terminals. Of course they couldn't use them all at once, but it had the use of all for the receipt and discharge of freight. These terminals had cost $20,000,000. If the I.C.R. could not be got into Montreal in close connection with the C.P.R. and Grand Trunk he would not be in favor of getting them at all. It was necessary to get right into the centre of the city and work with other railways. Just now he was making arrangements so do passenger business right from Ottawa. His plan was to attach a Pullman to the Canada Atlantic train, so that a passenger for St. John or Halifax could get on board his car at Ottawa and go right through.

As to the charge that the Government had been extravagant in its lease, and that a new road could have been built at less capital cost, that was Col. McLennan's estimate. Where was that practical contractor who could touch the button and build cheap railways at will when the Conservatives were building their expensive roads. The Mail and Empire figured that $140,000 a year was equal to a capital of $4,500,000 paid up in 99 years. He thought that was an extraordinary calculation, but, nevertheless, $4,500,000 would not begin to build the line and give terminal facilities equal to what the I.C.R. will do have. As a matter of fact, to construct a railway from St. Rosalie to St. Lambert, 23 miles, would cost $1,500,000; to build another bridge across the St. Lawrence would cost, say, $6,000,000. But suppose it were even proposed to use the Grand Trunk bridge, it could not be had for less than on a traffic basis of $77,000 a year, instead of $40,000, under the present arrangement.

Then, when the I.C.R. did get to Montreal, how was it going to get terminal facilities in the centre of Montreal? The cost would be enormous. Supposing it were proposed to build a road from St. Lambert to Caughnawaga, bridge the St. Lawrence and come down to Point St. Charles, and thence into Montreal city, the cost would be simply stupendous, of not less than $5,250,000, without a station, shops or anything of that sort. Mr. Blair instanced the case of the Canada Atlantic and Grand Trunk, the former being desirous of making a bargain for a term of years to get into Montreal over the Grand Trunk, 25 miles, from Coteau to Montreal, without an expensive bridge to cross, and the best terms the Grand Trunk will give is $150,000 a year. In fact, he said in conclusion, so good a bargain was his with the Grand Trunk that he was sure it would be renewed at the end of the 99 years.

Mr. Hazzard said Mr. Blair's valuation of the property of the Grand Trunk was simply ridiculous; somebody had evidently imposed on him. In all his long speech Mr. Blair had not explained the vast difference between the present arrangement and the former bargain, a difference which at least showed the stupidity of the previous agreement. He would not charge corruption in connection with the Grand Trunk lease, whatever might be his opinion of the Drummond deal, but if this lease did not bear the marks of rascality, it certainly bore the marks of stupidity. This was a more hopeless case. A rascal might reform, but there was no remedy for stupidity.

Mr. Powell said that every dollar of additional traffic gained by the Montreal extension had cost $1.32. Even then the gain of traffic by the Intercolonial was not up to the growth of business of other roads in Canada. Then, when Mr. Blair said there was no general increase of trade in the Maritime Provinces, he was in conflict with the Finance Minister, who spoke only the other day of revival of business from one end of the Dominion to the other.

Mr. Fielding here stated that he had not claimed the same amount of prosperity in the east as in the west.

Mr. McMullen followed in support of the measure.

Mr. Gibson spoke at some length in support of the resolution, which was put and carried on division, and the House adjourned at 11.30.

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words: "After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used, Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. Never before in our business history were we taken more by surprise than this season by the unprecedently early and emphatic response to our announcement of new summer goods. As a result of such heavy sales so early in the season we are compelled to duplicate many of the lines of goods, both domestic and foreign, and have had our hundreds of busy employees working day and night to keep our stock fully assorted. As is usually the case in such emergency, buyers are apt to overstep the mark and buy too largely of some of the leading lines; however, you will find on perusal of our list that we have placed them at such marvellously low prices for such high class up-to-date goods that an inspection of our stock will make buying simply irresistable.

To those who have already patronized us this season we extend our hearty thanks. You have responded to our advertisements because you believed them. We are proud of our reputation in this respect, its

OLYMPICS EXCURT TO BURLEIGH FALLS.

GLORIOUS WEATHER FOR THE ANNUAL OUTING.

The Business and Professional Men of the Town Spend a Day at the Back Lakes.

Although rain has fallen almost every day for the last month, the sky cleared off yesterday and the members of the Olympic Club enjoyed glorious weather on the occasion of their annual outing.

The party, which was composed of about a hundred, was accompanied by the 57th Battalion Band of 24 pieces and also an Italian harp and violin orchestra. Music, therefore, of an exceptionally high order was furnished during the day.

The early morning train conveyed the Olympics, to Lakefield, where the band played a number of selections at the Craig House before all embarked on the Steamer Majestic for Burleigh Falls.

Whilst the steamer was being taken through the locks at Young's Point both the hotels were serenaded by the band, after which the Majestic steamed away for McCracken's Landing, where genial Fred Morgan threw the hospitable doors of wide open. After wandering around through the leafy groves, etc., for about half an hour the party re-embarked on the steamer, which was then headed for the Falls.

It is evident that already a large number of the cottage owners have visited their summer villas, as new paint was conspicuous here and there, and the flower gardens showed signs of cultivation. Bear Island already looks quite homelike, and as the two proprietors were left at their wharf, as the steamer passed they were met by their respective families, who have already taken possession.

Quite a number of strangers had been invited to join the party by members of the Olympic and they were delighted beyond measure by the beautiful scenery of the Kawartha Lakes. As four travelling passenger agents for American Railroad lines were amongst the guests, the number of visitors to the lakes from across the border will doubtless be largely increased this summer, as none entered more thoroughly into the pleasure of the day than the aforesaid four gentlemen.

On arriving at Burleigh Falls the boat was met at the wharf by Mine Host Gretton, and extended a hearty welcome to the far-famed summer resort, which never looked more attractive than at present. Special preparation had been made for the reception of the Olympics, and the hotel piazzas were gay with bunting and flags.

The sharp, bracing air of the lakes had given the excursionists rare appetites for dinner, and the appended menu received full justice:

Soup, rice, tomato and beef; Fish, white fish; Boiled, leg of mutton, caper sauce; ribs of beef, horse radish; Roast, roast beef, brown gravy; fillet of veal with dressing; turkey, cranberry sauce; cold ham; Entrees, pork and beans, macaroni and cheese; Relishes and Sauces, mixed pickles, pickled cabbage, tomato catsup, Worcestershire sauce, celery, pickled beets, lettuce and lettuce salad; Vegetables, mashed and boiled potatoes, tomatoes, French peas; Pastry and pudding, plum pudding, brandy sauce; lemon, rhubarb, cranberry tart; Dessert, oranges, bananas, crackers, tea, coffee, cheese.

After Dinner

a trip was taken up through the Lovesick fishing grounds to Buckhorn, where the excursionists received a hearty welcome from Tom Eastwood. On returning again to Burleigh, supper was served and whilst the guests sat around enjoying their cigars the band discoursed sweet music for almost an hour. At the conclusion of the musical programme a very pleasing incident occurred when His Honour, Judge Weller, in a few well chosen words, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. W. E. Sinclair, the indefatigable head factotum of the Olympics, to whose energy the success of this annual outing is [illegible] seconded [illegible] doing took occasion to express pleasure with [illegible] witnessed to the [illegible] rendered by

As may be supposed the vote of thanks was carried in the heartiest possible manner with three cheers and a tiger for "Billy." The band then played the National anthem which was sung with great zest and the Olympics embarked for home shortly after eight o'clock. The trip back through the islands was something to be remembered and as the song and story went round several hours slipped away very quickly.

An abundance of fireworks had been brought along and the effect on the water was very pretty.

The excursion party reached Peterborough again at about eleven and all voted the day the most pleasant of the long series of enjoyable outings which have been annually held for many years under the auspices of the Olympics.

The invitation which was issued this season, for the affair is unique indeed. It will be found appended:

WISH TO VISIT US.

Toronto's Civic Employees Would Like to Excurt to Peterborough on July 1st.

The civic employees of Toronto, who ran a big excursion to Peterborough in 1897, are desirous of again visiting the town on July 1st next and to-day Messrs. Hilton, Jordan and Hoplings, representing the employees, are in town making the preliminary arrangements.

On the occasion of their last visit to Peterborough 834 excursionists were brought to town, as evidenced by the fact that tickets to that number were sold by the C.P.R.

All the employees ask of the council is a grant of $50, to assist in defraying the expenses of the prize list. The programme of sports contains many open events and only a few are for the employees only. Permission has been obtained for the excursionists to utilize Nicholls Park for the occasion.

Exhibition of Painting.

Lovers of art will have the opportunity to-morrow and a few days afterwards of visiting at Belleghem's furniture store, 190 Hunter street, a collection of pictures painted by Henry Martin of Toronto, during his sketching trips in European cities. The collection is small, but the subjects are very interesting, including Westminster Abbey, The Market Place, Verona and many other such well known historic places, Venice not being forgotten. We advise everyone to visit these pictures and it would be well to retain some of them in Peterborough. 2d

Ninth place prize, by Peterborough Hardware Company, one pocket knife, value 75c.

A special prize in goods, value $2, is donated by Fairweather & Co. to the first rider in on one of their wheels.

Settled out of Court.

The Dunlop Tire Company announce a settlement out of Court of their action against the Goold Bicycle Co. of Brantford. They do not make public the terms of the agreement other than that the Goold Company cannot manufacture or use the offending tire on any but wheels of their own make. The settlement has been pending for some time. The Goold Company will abandon their appeal against the judgement of the Exchequer Court accepting the finding, which judgment awarded full protection to the Patent rights of Dunlop Detachable tires. "We are well satisfied," is all the Dunlop people will say.

MARKET SQUARE CESS POOL

Under the Form of a Cattle and Hog Pen.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Considerable indignation is felt at the action of the council in putting down next the market scales, two pens, about 12 feet square in such a manner as to make them equivalent to a cess pool. The excavation, fifteen or twenty inches deep is filled with stone below with broken stone on top and crushed stone for a surface, all solidly compacted by passing the town roller over it several times. While an excellent bed for a highway is made, the pens are actually stone sponges which will absorb a great amount of filth and give off noisome smells with a facility to create a nuisance of the first order in that vicinity. For an expenditure of between $15 and $25 the surface of the yard could be concreted and could then be cleaned off by using the hose and no nuisance would be created.

The town council's excuse for such a slop-work job as is being done, is that the present position of these stock pens is only temporary and they will be removed before long to a more suitable place, and it is further claimed on behalf of the aldermen that a scavenger has been employed to keep the pens clean. But it is probable that after the pens are in use a while, the usual delay that attends civic changes will result in keeping the pens in their present position for an indefinite time, especially, when the merchants about the market square strongly object to the pens being removed. But they as strongly object to a gigantic cess pool being created at their doors. It would not be a very expensive affair to have the pens properly constructed on their present site and connected with the sewer to permit of perfect cleanliness. When we are doing a thing it pays to do it right.

Yours truly,
"NEXT TO GODLINESS."

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

The Mayor of Brockville to the Mayor of Belleville re Water Works.

The great success that has attended the municipal ownership of waterworks in Brockville is very clearly set forth in the following letter from Mayor Downey, of Brockville, to Mayor Johnston, of Belleville:

Mayor's office,
Brockville, Ont., Dec. 23rd, 1898.

Brockville, Ont., Dec. 23rd, 1898.

J. W. Johnston, Esq., Mayor, Belleville.

Dear Sir,—In reply to yours of the 22nd inst. I enclose statement for 1897 and 1898 by which you will see this year we have a surplus of $8,799.87, which with $1,200 handed over to the Corporation would make surplus $9,999.87, and we have reduced price of water to consumers 15 per cent. Since we took over works from the company our surplus each year has been from six to eightthousand dollars after paying all expenses, interest on debentures and annual sinking fund. My advice is, own and control your waterworks.

Yours truly,
(Signed) D. W. DOWNEY,
Mayor.

Early Accidents

Cause Lifelong Suffering.
A Case that is Causing Talk.

When a lad about eight years of age I fell into a cellar a distance of ten feet, striking on my head, and causing concussion of the brain. I was taken to a London, Eng., Hospital, the first seven days not recovering consciousness. I am now 35 years old and from the time of my accident until I began taking Dr. Ward's Pills five months ago I had been subject to fainting spells, never being more than two weeks without an attack of fainting. As I grew older these spells became more frequent, lasted longer, and left me with less vitality. I was weak, had no strength or stamina, always very low-spirited and down-hearted; imagined that every thing and every person was going against me, and life only had a dark side for me. My appetite was poor most of the time, but I am now happy to say that, since taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, I have only had one fainting spell, shortly after I began taking them, so I have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Ward's Pills cured me. Before taking these pills I always looked for a fainting spell not more than two weeks apart; now, I would be greatly surprised at a recurrence of these spells. Life is now bright—the constant, morbid, down-hearted feeling is gone, being replaced by a contented, hopeful feeling. I feel like working. My appetite is good, and in every respect I have experienced the health and strength restoring properties of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. They certainly have proved a great blessing to me. Yours truly, (Signed), Thomas Stanton, Brighton, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Doctor Ward Co., Limited, Toronto.

A DIVERSITY OF TONGUES.

The Many Languages That Are Spoken in the British Isles.

Perhaps to many people it will be a great surprise to learn that a very considerable percentage of the native born inhabitants of the British isles cannot speak English.

Naturally, the vast majority do use it as the language of their birth, but in Wales there are as many as 508,036 persons who speak only Welsh, the mother tongue of the principality. Again, in the highlands of Scotland Gaelic is the colloquial language of 48,-738 persons, who are able to speak nothing else. In Ireland 32,121 sons of Erin can speak only Erse, the native Irish tongue.

That Erse is being displaced by the tongue of the sister isle is made evident by the fact that the Rev. Joseph Bosworth, writing in 1848, gave Irish as the commonly spoken tongue of nearly 8,000,000 inhabitants. At that time Welsh was spoken by 1,000,000 persons.

Strangely enough, while in Wales fewer people speak both English and Welsh than Welsh alone, in Scotland almost five times as many people use both languages as those who speak Gaelic only, and in Ireland the proportion is still greater, being 20 speaking both to one who is able to speak Irish only.

Manx is spoken in the Isle of Man. The population of the island is 55,598. The people are of Celtic extraction, with an intermixture of Norwegian. The island was under the rule of Norway from 870 to 1263 A. D. Both Manx and English are used in the promulgation of any new law in the island.

The Channel islands have a population of about 92,000, and the language spoken is French. Thus six languages are used in the British isles.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Morine Is Finance Minister.

St. John's, Nfld., May 30.—In a by-election just held in the Placentia District, Mr. McGrath, a member of the Opposition, defeated Hon. W. J. S. Donnelly, Minister of Finance and Customs, by 225 votes.

This will involve a rearrangement of the Cabinet offices Mr. Morine taking the Finance portfolio instead of the portfolio of the Fisheries Department, which he now holds.

Murdered Their Father.

Rapid City, S.D., May 30.—Little Lena Bouts, 14 years old, and her brother Nicholas, 10 years old, were yesterday brought here charged with the murder of Frank Bouts, their father. Bouts was a Burlington & Missouri River Railroad contractor. The little girl admits the crime, and the boy adds that he did what he could to kill his father. The father is said to have been cruel to the family, and this appears to have been the motive of the crime. The boy steadied a rifle while the little girl pulled the trigger.

OPENING LETTERS.

SOME SECRETS OF THE ENGLISH GENERAL POSTOFFICE.

Methods by Which the Officials Become Acquainted With the Contents of Suspected Communications. Private Tests Which Fail.

It is a somewhat remarkable fact that the general public of England knows very little concerning the secret service of the general postoffice, although the service is probably the most complete of its kind in the whole world. To the outsider the secret service is known as the postal secret inquiry branch, and not one in a hundred of those in the employ of the postoffice knows the exact workings of the secret service, as the department has the distinction of being in the charge of certain permanent officials, under the direction of the home secretary and the prime minister for the time being.

Once, and once only, in recent years has a minister of the government allowed himself to be drawn into making a statement which admitted that the secrets of the postoffice were used for political purposes.

Such an admission was made in the days of the first dynamite scare, when an Irish member made a general charge against the government of tampering with the correspondence of certain Irishmen. Lord John Manners, in reply, evaded the question in an ambiguous manner, but indiscreetly called attention to a clause in the postoffice act which empowers the postal authorities to open and even confiscate any letter or package which they might reasonably suspect covered some infringement of the rules of the department.

The secret service is divided into two distinct branches, the higher and the lower, and the duties of the latter are brought to the notice of the public very frequently, as it has to do with the prosecution of dishonest men in the employ of the postoffice. The great bulk of the robberies committed inside the walls of the postoffice is attempted by the younger hands and it is for that reason that every newcomer is occasionally subjected to keen watching from a quarter that he least suspects.

Quite unknown to him, he is kept under the observation of a keen eyed watcher, who is securely hidden from view in a secret alcove, almost within touch of the sorter, messenger or whatever the employee may be. Every movement is noted and analyzed, and it would take a very expert man to try on any underhanded game and escape detection.

On the continent the correspondence of private individuals is liable to the scrutiny of the police or other government agents, and no secret is made of the fact; but, on the other hand, our officials write indignant letters of denial and repudiation, while all the time they are perfecting the fine art of opening letters without leaving any traces of the operation.

Like most clever arts, that of opening a letter without causing suspicion is simplicity itself. A glance at the quality of the stationery decides the operator on the means to be adopted. Some kinds of paper will bear the steaming process without leaving any traces, and in that event the operation is very simple. The contents having been examined, and, if necessary, copied, they are restored to their envelope, which is regummed, the flap burnished with a bone instrument.

Contrary to general belief, the sealed envelope presents no difficulty to the expert. A piece of new bread, kneaded into a firm ball, is pressed on the seal and the facsimile is obtained. Various other methods have been attempted in taking the design of seals, but the one we have quoted has been declared to be far away the best for the purpose, the bread being clean and less liable to leave any trace of tampering behind. This dough matrix is hardened as soon as the seal has been modeled, and when the contents of the letter have been obtained the envelope is closed and resealed with the dough mold.

When it is deemed unsafe to moisten an envelope, it is cut open. The operation is a delicate one and to any but an expert very difficult to perform properly. One end of the envelope is held firmly between two flat pieces of wood, the edge of the paper projecting about the twentieth part of an inch. The expert passes the back of his knife rapidly over the end, roughening and flattening it, while an equally quick pass with the razorlike edge cuts the envelope open. When the contents are replaced, the edges of the envelope are stuck together with a hairline of powerful gum, submitted to pressure for a few minutes, and no one not in the secret would guess what had been done.

So long as the flap and seal appear intact the receiver is invariably satisfied. Now and then suspicious correspondents place sand, powder, hairs or other minute objects inside the envelope by way of test, but this does not trouble the expert a little bit. He is on the lookout for that kind of dodge, so is careful to open the envelope over a large sheet of pure white paper. When these "tests" fall out, they are carefully collected and restored.

The officials in the detective department can tell some funny stories of their own astuteness. When the charge of tampering was made by the Irish members, one of the Moderate party defended the government and declared that he had satisfied himself by a series of infallible tests that his correspondence was inviolate. He was blissfully ignorant of the fact, however, that he never received a letter that was not previously overhauled by the authorities.—London Letter.

Not His Style.

Teacher—One should be thoughtful in dispensing favors. For example, suppose your father, Johnny, was in a crowded street car and two ladies, one old and the other young, got in, which of them would he give his seat to?

Johnny—Guess you don't know dad. He wouldn't give it to either.

A Happy Woman.

All the world loves a happy woman—one whose smiles are an inspiration to others. We love the woman who laughs, whether she be in the household, behind the counters in stores, in the business office or in society. The happy woman, sad to relate, is rare. Where you find one, you find a score weighed down with sickness, weakness and woe that proceed from "female troubles." And yet there ought to be and can be a score of happy women to one who is unhappy. Those women whose lives are saddened by the drains upon the system, by prolapsus, by irregularities, by headache, nervousness and bearing-down pains, can be restored to happiness and health by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a medicine that is beyond question the best in the world for disorders of the womanly organs. Every ailment that besets the girl, the bride and the mother, between puberty and the "turn of life," is cured by it. It keeps the prospective mother in a happy frame of mind, and her good spirits are sure to be inherited by the little one when it comes.

The medicine dealer who urges some substitute for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is thinking of the larger profit he'll make and not of your best good.

Mrs. Orrin Stiles, of Downing, Dunn Co., Wis., writes: "I have been intending to write to you ever since my baby was born in regard to what your 'Favorite Prescription' has done for me. I cannot praise it enough, for I have not been as well for five years as I now am. In July last I had a baby boy, weight 11 pounds, and I was only sick a short time, and since I got up have not had one sick day. I have not had any womb trouble since I got up. I was not only surprised myself but all of my friends here are surprised to see me so well."

For 31 one-cent stamps to pay customs and postage, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., will send you his famous 1008 page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book that is easily worth $5 to any family. Cloth-binding 50 stamps.

U. S. OFFICERS CAPTURED.

They Were Out on a Pleasure Sail and the Filipinos Took Them.

Manila, June 1.—Details regarding the capture by Filipinos of two officers of the United States hospital ship Relief yesterday have just been obtained. The Relief lies in the harbor in front of this city. Third Officer Fred. Heppy and Assistant Engineer Charles Blandford rigged a sail on one of the ship's boats and went sailing along the shore, on the south, opposite the insurgent lines. The boat became becalmed near the shore and some native canoes with Filipinos on board put out and captured the two men, who were unarmed, and took possession of the boat. The U. S. turret ship Monadnock quickly sent a boat with a landing party ashore, under cover of her guns and shelled the shore briskly. The natives, however, rushed the prisoners into the woods before the Monadnock's boat reached land. Persons on board several other ships saw the affair through glasses, but were unable to prevent the capture of Messrs. Heppy and Blandford.

SEVERE FIGHTING.

Zamboanga, on Mindanao Island, Bombarded and Ruined.

New York, June 1.—A special to The Journal and Advertiser from London says: A special despatch from Labuan announces that severe fighting is reported between Americans and Filipinos on the Island of Mindanao. The principal city on the island, Zamboango, has been bombarded and burned and is in ruins.

The same despatch reports trouble in Sulu. The Americans have blockaded the port. A British steamer was denied admission and was escorted seaward by the United States gunboat Castine.

THE DUST OF DAWSON.

More Evidence of a Wonderful Output—Waiting for the First Steamers.

Seattle, Wash., June 1.—Advices from Dawson, dated April 29th, state that there are evidences of the most wonderful output recorded. Five thousand men are in waiting at Dawson to take the first boats up the river. Half of them are miners, who have from $1,000 to $50,000 each in dust. The White Pass & Yukon Railroad Company has issued bills of lading on more than a million dollars' worth of gold that is to come out on one of the first river steamers.

There is every indication that the river from Dawson to White Horse Rapids is now open. The lakes will be free from ice by June 4th. Fully 2,000 people and thousands of tons of freight are at Lake Bennett waiting for the first steamers.

Suffering caused by Piles

Is Quickly Ended when

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is applied

Besides the intense agony caused by the itching, burning sensations of piles, there are other symptoms which produce restlessness and at times excruciating pains known only to the victim of piles.

What would one give to be free of this terrible disease? And yet there is a cure—a positive cure—which does not cost much and is not painful or difficult to apply.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is, so far as is known, the only absolute cure for blind, itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It gives relief at the first application and affords a perfect cure in the most aggravated cases.

Mr. Isaac Foster, Enterview, Ont., says: "I was troubled with itching piles for two years and could not sleep at night. I was half crazed and tried everything. Finally seeing Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised I tried it and found it good. After a second application I found relief, and one large box cured me. Have never been bothered since, and I can recommend it to all suffering from the same trouble."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is for sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MANAU DEFENDS DREYFUS.

Declares His Belief That Devil's Island Prisoner Is a Martyr.

Paris, June 1.—The surroundings of the Palace of Justice were almost deserted yesterday when the Court of Cassation resumed hearing the arguments in the application for a revision of the Dreyfus trial.

The Procurator-General's analysis of the secret documents was very close, and he wound up with an emphatic declaration that there was nothing in the secret dossier to incriminate Dreyfus, saying: "We do not understand why there was any such delay in submitting them to investigation." This statement caused a sensation. Continuing, M. Manau remarked: "Of the three secret documents by which M. Cavaignac, formerly Minister of War, sought to justify the condemnation, two were forgeries, and the third did not apply to Dreyfus."

This declaration, uttered with impressive solemnity, had an immense effect upon the audience. In conclusion, M. Manau said: "We assert that several new facts exist of such a nature as to prove Dreyfus' innocence. Therefore, may it please the court to quash the judgment of Dec. 22, 1894, and send Dreyfus, as a defendant, before such court-martial as the court may decide." This statement caused applause, which the president suppressed by ordering the court to be cleared. Later the court adjourned.

Deroulede and Habert Acquitted.

Paris, June 1.—MM. Deroulede and Marcel-Habert, who have been on trial before the Assize Court here on the charge of inciting soldiers to insubordination in connection with the election of President Loubet, were acquitted yesterday.

Old maids can make a home of one little room and cook delicious meals over the gas jets in cunning little tin kettles, besides making all their own wardrobes.

Old bachelors need an army of tailors, waiters, cooks, distant relatives and hotel landlords to keep them comfortable.

When old maids are sick, they tie up their heads in pocket handkerchiefs, take homeopathy doses out of two bottles alternately and get well again.

When old bachelors are sick, they go to bed, send for four doctors, and the mantel is covered with black bottles. All the amiable married men who belong to the club stay up with them at night.

Doctors said Incurable

But the Notary, Mr. Lemire, was cured of Kidney Disease in two months by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is only when thoroughly convinced of the superior merit of a remedy that public men will give their sanction.

Mr. E. H. Lemire, Notary Public, 1692 Notre Dame Street, Montreal, tells of his remarkable recovery from a severe attack of kidney disease. When doctors had failed, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills saved his life. He writes: "I give this statement, first because it is only just that the merit of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills should be made known, and again in order that others may profit by my experience. For years I suffered with kidney disease which doctors pronounced incurable. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I have used for two months, I am completely cured. They helped me from the first, and the cure is now perfect."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act directly on the kidneys, and through their combined influence on the kidneys and liver, cure the most complicated diseases of these delicate organs. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WHEN ARTHUR WAS PRESIDENT.

He Once Had to Climb Through a White House Window.

An amusing story is told of President Arthur regarding an occurrence which happened during the last year of his occupancy of the White House. He was one of the most princely chief executives who have filled that high office. He entertained lavishly and dined out quite frequently. President Arthur kept late hours, and the ushers who were on duty at the White House at times went to sleep, depending on the noise of the carriage wheels and the horses' hoofs to wake them before the president could reach the door. One night a dinner was given in General Arthur's honor by the governor of the Soldiers' home, and it was 2:30 in the morning before he returned. The four ushers and policemen went to sleep, three of them in an anteroom just east of the private dining room and the fourth went to the basement to indulge in a short nap.

While the guardians of the peace were asleep snow began falling, and the president's carriage sped noiselessly to the mansion, and of course the ushers slept on. No footman was on the box, and, on finding the doors locked, the president rang the bell, but failed to receive any response. After trying for several minutes to arouse some one he raised one of the windows and climbed in. Finding the men asleep, the president took the carriage robes and spread them over the men and retired. Before daylight the slumberers awoke and were startled to learn the president had found they were negligent.

"The jig is up, boys," remarked one of them, as they anticipated dismissal when the president reached his desk. Finally they mustered up courage enough to apologize, to which General Arthur replied:

"Things are coming to a pretty pass when the president of the United States is compelled to climb in the window of his own house. Return to your duties and do not let it happen again." The fourth man, who wanted to square himself, entered the president's office with great trepidation and humbly apologized. "So you were asleep, too, were you? I did not know it, but as long as you are manly enough to confess I will overlook it this time."

New and Original Advertising

It is interesting to watch the new ideas to be found in the advertising of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The present line of advertisements is especially unique, each beginning with a familiar proverb and leading up to the good qualities of this famous medicine. The argument in every case is clinched by condensed testimonials from people the medicine has cured. It is gratifying to see the continued success of an article of genuine merit. While other preparations come to the surface and after a short time disappear, Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily maintained its place in public confidence.

He Got It.

He had the air of a man who was particularly well satisfied with himself.

"I tell you," he said, "there's nothing like having sickness in the family to convince a man that he can do a good many things that he never would have dared to attempt before. Now today I am going to buy a gown for my little girl. Her mother can't get out, you know, and so I am going to do it myself."

On the day following he had the air of a man who was particularly dissatisfied with himself.

"What's the matter?" he was asked.

"Couldn't you get that gown?"

"Couldn't I get it!" he repeated. "Couldn't I get it! Hang it all! The trouble is that I did get it!"

"Something wrong with it?"

"Something! If it was only 'something,' I wouldn't mind. My taste is wrong, my judgment is wrong, the color is wrong, the size is wrong and the price is wrong."

LOST A BIG FORTUNE.

THE STORY OF A NERVY BLUFF IN A GAME OF POKER.

The Southern Colonel Had the Eastern Plunger Sized Up Properly, but Lost Confidence In His Own Hand at the Wrong Moment.

Big games on the Mississippi river steamers, where poker flourished at its best, were by no means the only instances wherein fortunes were made and lost on the turn of a card. The record of the game wherein Pete Welch, a noted eastern plunger, met Colonel Wallace of South Carolina is regarded as one of the stiffest battles on the green baize ever fought in any land. Wallace was very wealthy, a heavy slave owner and an extremely lucky man at cards. He was, as every southern gentleman was and is, perfectly honorable, and his victories were the admiration of his friends. Pete was a gambler by profession, had plenty of money and was full of nerve; so a battle between the two was certain to be of absorbing interest.

When Colonel Wallace heard that Welch was coming to meet him, he calmly replied he would be ready. He said he had a limit fixed, and, if the gambler went beyond that, he would drop out and let the money go. Welch came on, the colonel was notified and the date set for the game. It was to take place in a club where no games were supposed to go on. The colonel drove to town, met the enemy and a number of friends, had drinks all around and the two men sat in for a single handed game. They commenced at $100 jack pots, and at first the colonel's luck stuck to him. He won steadily, but the gambler was game and met him.

At last the tide turned, and the cards began to fall to Pete. He won until all the gold in front of Wallace passed to his side of the table. Wallace became fierce and took all kinds of chances, losing his head in a manner, drinking heavily, while his opponent coolly played his hands for all they were worth. When Wallace had passed in his last stack, he pushed back his chair and said his pile was gone. Then he said:

"Welch, you've got an even $30,000 there if you will count it. I brought that much with me, and I may have been foolish. I believe if I had more I could get it all from you in half a dozen hands."

"I'll gladly give you a chance, colonel. Perhaps some of your friends here can accommodate you?"

Nobody spoke. The colonel rattled on the table.

"Welch," he said when the silence got oppressive, "I have no more ready cash, but I have property that is as good as gold any day right here in this town. I never did it before, but I will play you 24 of my best slaves against $50,000. The negroes are worth fully that amount, as these gentlemen will testify. The slaves are the best in the state, but if you think the value too high we can arrange it otherwise. Will you finish the game?"

"If these gentlemen say the slaves are worth that much, then fix your papers while I count this money. I never like to turn my back to a good thing."

Everybody got up and took a drink on the new game. When the papers were arranged, the players got a new deck of cards, and there was not a word passed while the cards were being shuffled. The sky was to be the limit until the $50,000 was reached. Wallace's sporting blood was up, and he seemed determined to lose all quickly or get it back in the same swift gait. He took desperate chances in drawing and accepted foolish bets.

The end was drawing near. Welch was dealing, and bad shuffling on the previous hands had left considerable money in the pot. Welch was ahead on the winnings. The colonel looked at his hand and opened the pot for $1,000. Welch stretched his eyes and then looked at his hand. He raised it $1,000. Without raising his head the colonel raised back $2,000, and Welch saw it. He went $1,000 better, and the colonel stopped raising. The players were less excited than any of the other men in the room. Pete took the cards and asked the colonel:

"How many?"

"Two cards," he said.

"None here," put in the dealer.

The colonel took the two cards and looked at them quickly. Then he stuck them behind the others. "I'll start this on $5,000," he said. Welch looked at his hand again and took the bet. He went $5,000 more. The colonel raised another $5,000. Welch saw it and raised another, and the colonel raised still another $5,000.

"Well, I've got just $10,000 here you can have if you can get it," said Welch, and he tossed in the chips. The colonel studied his hand.

"I've got only $5,000," he said, "and I think you've got me, even if it is a bad thing to say."

With that Wallace tossed the cards on the table, and Welch took the pot. It was a clean case of bluff on Pete's part, as the cards subsequently showed. The colonel had held up a pair of jacks, his openers, and an ace. On the draw he caught an ace and a seven of diamonds. Welch had only a pair of fives to start with, and he kept them with the rest of the hand. Wallace thought he was bluffing, but lost his nerve at the wrong moment. When the game ended, the colonel had barely $4,000. He bought back two of his slaves that were lost, and the 22 went to Welch. They were sold in the town a month later.—Exchange.

Elephants Hate Camels.

Elephants have the bitterest enmity to camels. When the camel scents the elephant, it stops still, trembles in all its limbs and utters an interrupted cry of terror and affright. No persuasion, no blows, can induce it to rise. It moves its head backward and forward, and its whole frame is shaken with mortal anguish. The elephant, on the contrary, as soon as he perceives the camel, elevates his trunk, stamps with his feet, and with his trunk thrown backward, snorting with a noise like the sound of a trumpet, he rushes toward the camel, which with its neck outstretched and utterly defenseless awaits with the most patient resignation the approach of its enemy. The elephant, with its enormous shapeless limbs, tramples on the unfortunate animal in such a manner that in a few minutes it is scattered around in small fragments.

IT STANDS

Any way you look at it, The Sherwin-Williams Paint stands. White lead paint covers well, but it cracks and peels off. Zinc paint spreads well, but it cracks and peels off. Neither one alone makes a durable paint. The Sherwin-Williams Paint combines the best qualities of both with the highest skill. It contains the best lead in the best proportion, the best zinc in the best proportion, and the best oil and drier and color, all in the best proportions. From every point of view it stands comparison with lead paint or zinc paint. It stands when exposed to the weather and hard wear. It stands alone—every can fully guaranteed, and behind the guarantee all the resources and the reputation of the Company.

IMPERIAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

OF CANADA.

Seven Cardinal Reasons for Insuring in the Imperial :

1. It Affords Unquestionable Security to policy-holders, by its large Capital Stock of $1,000,000, and its Dominion Government Deposit of $250,000, being the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian life insurance company.
2. Its Policy Reserves are held on the most stringent basis used in Canadian Actuarial calculation.
3. Its Policies do not Restrict the assured in respect to residence, travel or occupation, and are payable immediately on receipt of satisfactory proof of death.
4. Its Policies cannot be Forfeited after three annual premiums have been paid, but provide for surrender values by way of cash or paid-up insurance.
5. The Premium Rates Compare favorably with those of other insurance companies, and a grace of month is allowed in payment hereof, during which time the policy remains in full force and effect.
6. Its Policies are Automatically Continued in force after three years' premiums have been paid, for such time as the whole reserve is sufficient to pay premiums.
7. Liberal Cash Loans are granted under policies after three annual premiums have been paid.

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

The G.T.R. Trackmen Are Still Out—News Which Shows the Progress of the Fight From Various Points.

Toronto, June 2.—The striking Grand Trunk trackmen in Toronto say they are still confident of winning the fight with the company. Word was received by the men from Fort Erie to the effect that two men were engaged there to work on the tracks. When they learned of the condition, however, they refused to start. Two more men were secured later on, but they followed suit, and would not engage with the company.

A small accident was also reported from near Brighton. It is said three cars were derailed, and badly smashed up. A portion of the track near Port Perry has also been washed out, so the men say. Another small mishap occurred at Trenton last night, but only trifling damage was done.

Supt. Jones Is Satisfied.

Supt. Jones of the middle division, who has been out on his district since Sunday, returned to the city yesterday. When asked as to the condition of affairs since the strike, he said he was quite satisfied at the manner in which the road is being patrolled and kept by the men now in the employ of the company. The rains, he said, had not done any great injury to the tracks, and rather proved an advantage, as the warm weather would have made the rails warp, and also caused great danger from fire from the sparks from the engines.

Brotherhoods Kicking.

The local representatives of the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen have not as yet received any news from their committee in Montreal.

At a joint meeting held at York by the engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and telegraphers employed on the G.T.R. system, it was resolved: "That, owning to the dangerous condition of the tracks, that some steps must be taken by the company at once to put the track in a safe condition to run over, as we, the said employes, consider our lives and limbs and those of the travelling public to be in danger; also resolved: That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to General Manager Hays."

The Situation at Brantford.

Brantford, June 2.—The sectionmen of the G.T.R. now on strike at this point are determined that the plans they have formed to bring about a settlement with the company shall not be interfered with by outsiders. Wednesday a number of men belonging to Brantford were engaged by the Grand Trunk and went over the road to Paris, the strikers being ignorant of the move that was being made until later in the day. When the men returned to the city in the evening they were met by a deputation from the striking sectionmen and advised to leave the work alone. The men said nothing and did not heed that warning. They showed up yesterday again, but their determination was anticipated by the strikers, and being again warned they returned to the city, not caring to run the risk of being roughly handled. This is the first attempt of the G.T.R. to fill the positions of the sectionmen, and, as will be seen, it was unsuccessful.

Living on Special Trains.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 2.—At 8 o'clock yesterday morning a special train left for the east with 14 men from St. Thomas. Sixteen more men were picked up between here and Cayuga. It is claimed that all these men but four are former sectionmen. At 12.10 another special train went out, going out with six St. Thomas trackmen, and 20 more will be picked up between St. Thomas and Windsor. Three special constables went with this train, and the men will be in charge of John B. Minshall, former yard foreman of the G.T.R., who has been promoted to the position of assistant roadmaster over the division from St. Thomas to Windsor. These trackmen were engaged to work on extra gangs, and will be paid at the rate of $1.25 per day and foremen $2 per day. Unlike the ordinary trackmen, who were paid only $1 a day, they will have no regular beat, but will be called upon to work upon any part of the division for which they are engaged. It is understood that no sectionmen are working on regular beats yet. The men will live in boarding cars, which accompany each special train, especially for their accommodation. Special constables will be sworn in in each county to see that they are not molested at any point at which they may be sent to work.

Garment Workers' Strike Settled.

Hamilton, June 2.—The meeting yesterday afternoon resulted in a settlement of the garment workers' strike, and the various employes of the contractors will go back to work on Monday. Mr. Copley represented Mr. Calder at the meeting, and he agreed, on behalf of the firm, to give the eight contractors employing the strikers all the finer work and not to employ any imported foreigners. The Hebrews brought from New York last week are to be lived in separate shop and kept at inferior work, it also being agreed that the firm will not import any more foreigners. The contractors agreed to employ none but union hands. A meeting of the strikers will be held tonight to confirm yesterday's agreement.

The Local Situation

is without change. The men are still out and with no present intention of returning unless their reasonable demands are complied with. They are acting in the most orderly manner. The special G.T.R. constable, Mr. Harrison, has a very monotonous daily report to send in to Mr. Tiffin. He says he sees the strikers every day and that they "behave like gentlemen." Not a single drunken section man has he seen.

A wire was received here this morning from the headquarters of the strikers in Montreal, stating that the trackmen are still holding out and that not a single man of the 1800 has gone back or shows any sign of weakening.

It is also learned that the Grand Master of the Trainmens' Association, representing a membership of 35,000 is on his way to Montreal, and it is thought that his visit has something to do with the efforts to adjust the present difficulty and it is further thought in some quarters that if there is not a settlement before long, there may be a general tie-up. The different local Trainmens' Associations have been sending to the Grand Trunk authorities resolutions giving the company to the end of the week to effect a settlement and that in the event of a settlement not being arrived at by that time, the trainmen would then feel free to take whatever course of action the circumstances may demand.

An old railway employee, now on a train, talking this morning, says that when he began as a section man about twenty-five years ago, the wages paid were a dollar a day. At that time a driver got from $1.80 to $2.00 a day, a conductor $1.50 to $1.80 and a brakesman $1.10. Now, the wages of drivers have been advanced till they get $3.00 per day, conductors $2.65 and brakemen $1.65. But the trackmen instead of having their wages advanced as other employees have had, have actually had them reduced to 98c per day. This is a grievance of which the trackmen complain with, they feel, very good cause.

JUPITER IN VIEW.

Four of His Moons Will be Visible During June.

There will be fine opportunities during the coming summer for Peterborough amateurs in astronomy to view the planet Jupiter. In June, Jupiter, will be near the meridian, or noonline, about nine o'clock in the evening, and no star will equal him in brilliancy. Even an opera-glass will suffice to show one or more of his moons, when they are favourably situated, and a pocket telescope will occasionally show all four. An excellent opportunity of this kind will occur on the night of June 1st, about 10.30 o'clock, eastern time, when two of the moons will be seen, one above the other, west of the planet, while the other two are strung out, at a greater distance, on the east side. The very next night, at the same hour, a most interesting arrangement of the moons will be visible, for then all four will appear in a row east of the planet, standing in the order of their distance from Jupiter, beginning with number one at the inner end of the row and finishing with number four at the outer end.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's drug store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c and $1. Every bottle warranted.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Interesting Items of Local and General Interest.

GOLF.

The Orillia golf team arrived in town on the morning train and play began on the local links this afternoon at two o'clock.

A representative team of ladies from the Peterborough club are playing in Toronto to-day, having gone up to the city on the morning train.

The 3rd round of ladies golf handicap has been drawn as follows: Miss Miss D. Hamilton, scratch vs. Miss Boucher, scratch; Miss L. Hall, scratch vs. Miss Archer, 12; Miss L. Dennistoun, 9 vs. Miss A. Hamilton, 18; Mrs. Aylmer 3, vs. Miss Dennistoun 6; Mrs. Dennistoun 6, vs. Miss Fairweather 18. This round is to be played off by Wednesday, June 7th.

BASEBALL.

The following team has been picked to play against Kingston's to-morrow afternoon:

McCabe, Graham, Paxman, Melrose, Sheridan, Parnell, Donovan, Grady, Connors and DeRussia.

Kingston will be represented as follows:

McCrae 3b, Robinson 2b, Elliott c, Islin ss, Easten lf, Sullivan 1b, Tuttle p, Bennett cf, Younge rf.

All the members of the local team are requested to be on hand in uniform at 2 o'clock. The game is called for 3 o'clock sharp.

Secretary Hay, of the local club, has received a communication from John M. Bright, booking agent of the great Cuban Giants, asking for a game here on Friday, July 7th. The circular on which the terms are asked, contains much information concerning the make-up of the aggregation. A portion of it is as follows:

Incorporated October 1886. Re-incorporated August, 1888. The great, original and only genuine Cuban giants. Stronger than ever and always gentlemanly. Genuine coloured champions of the world. Defeating Cuban X Giants with the following scores: Sunday, Oct. 3rd, 11—9; and Sunday, Oct. 10th, 13—4.

They ask for a guarantee of fifty dollars and there ought to be little difficulty in the local boys making this amount. They purpose playing Kingston the following day. The local management will likely have the Giants here.

The local men had a good practice last night and are now in the pink of condition for their game to-morrow afternoon. There should be a big crowd present.

CRICKET.

The Trinity College school eleven of Port Hope will play the Millbrook team in the latter place to-morrow afternoon.

FOOTBALL.

A football club has been organized in Millbrook with the following officers:

President—Charles Needler.
Vice-president—A. A. Smith.
Secretary-treasurer—C. Tait.
Captains—L. Fleming and Herb Hegler.

Norwood has re-organized its town football team and issues a sweeping challenge to all comers for July 1st. A public meeting of those interested in Association Football is called to take place in the Y.M.C.A. hall Monday evening for the purpose of organizing a Peterborough team and considering the advisability of taking up Norwood's challenge.

EMERGENCY SALE OF

WATER-DAMAGED GOODS

At the GOLDEN LION.

By the bursting of a water-pipe on the night of the 30th, ultimo., a large quantity of our Reserve Stock in the second, first and basement stories were damaged by the flood of water. These goods consist principally of

400 yards of Dress Goods and Dress Linings,

1500 yards of Towelling,

Together with Quantities of

Towels, Skirtings, Linens, Shirt Waist Silks, Etc.

A considerable portion of these goods are only slightly damaged by moisture, and sustained little or no damage for general utility or wear.

As it is imperatively necessary that an immediate disposal of these goods must be made, we have decided to make a quick clearance by holding an EMERGENCY SALE, which will be continued during

FRIDAY, SATURDAY and MONDAY,

JUNE 2nd, 3rd and 5th.

This means that about HALF PRICE will have to be accepted in many instances and that we must be content to stand the loss ourselves. We can't afford to hesitate about the sacrifices that must be made in prices, no matter how serious the loss, in order to make a swift clearance, as crowds are sure to take advantage of this sale. Capital chances for early buyers.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

Canada Assured of British Sympathy Against U. S. Attacks.

NO DRAGOONING THE DOMINION

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Makes a Statement in Which He Informs the House That the British Government Is Keeping Fully in Touch With Ottawa—The House Proceedings.

Ottawa, June 3.—Fair progress was made with public business yesterday until Mr. Fielding moved the House into committee of supply, when Sir Hibbert Tupper took the floor, and held it until 10 o'clock, concluding with an amendment condemnatory of the action of the Government in directing an inquiry to be made into the conduct of Judge Spink of Yale, B.C. The amendment was lost on division, and the House went into supply at 11.30. Sir Charles Tupper again introduced the subject of the Alaskan boundary, and read a cablegram suggesting that the British public would like to know whether Canada was fully consulted in the negotiations, and expressive of the sympathy of the British public with Canada and of the opinion that the day is gone past when a British colony can be dragooned into a position in which it has no say. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in reply, expressed his pleasure in being able to inform the House that the British authorities have kept the Government fully informed of the negotiation. Nothing, he said, would give him greater pleasure than to give the Canadian public the whole story of the negotiations on all the questions referred to the commissioners, but he was not in a position to do so.

Sir Charles Tupper said that with the permission of the House he would read a telegram which had just been received from London on a very important question which he was sure would interest the House. He then read The Montreal Star's special cable from London.

Sir Wilfrid's Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—I am happy to say, and, indeed, I will surprise nobody in this House by stating that the British authorities, the Foreign Office, through the Colonial Office, has kept us fully informed of the negotiations between the Foreign Office and the American ambassador at the Court of St. James. Nothing would give me greater pleasure than to be in a position to place before the House and the Canadian public the whole of the negotiations and the views we have expressed upon the questions referred to us. But, as my hon. friend knows, I am not in a position to state anything at this moment. I noticed particularly the ending words of the quotation from The Star which has just been read by my hon. friend, that a full official statement coming from the Canadian side of this question would be much appreciated in England. I can fully reciprocate that sentiment, and wish we were in a position to make such a statement, and I believe if we were, a good deal of the anxiety which prevails in some quarters would be relieved at the same time. I believe, also, that a good deal of the clouds which apparently surround this question, and the sentiment more or less unfriendly which has been elicited in some quarters, would also be removed. But so long as the negotiations continue it is quite certain I will not be in a position to give out anything to the public. I may say, however, that, as the question of the Yukon boundary has been removed by the conference itself from the questions with which it had to deal, and referred to the respective Governments, British and American, and that, therefore, so far as the commission is concerned, that matter is no longer pending before the commission, I am not without hope, before the session is over, that the last protocol on the conference may be laid on the table. Of course, I need not remind the House, with all the other questions which are pending before the conference at this moment, it would not be possible to give in publicity what took place, but this one particular question, as it is no longer among the subjects to be treated by the conference, and, therefore, or so far as it goes, the negotiations are closed, that is so far as the conference is concerned, I may say, for my part, I have no objection. On the contrary, I see a good deal to be said in favor of having the true position placed before the public as it was when we adjourned the conference.

Col. Domville Explains.

Col. Domville, in denying that there was anything improper in the payment to him of $300 for the rent of the armory for the 8th Hussars, asked that the committee continue the investigation or acquit him.

Sir Louis Davies introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the protection of navigable waters. It was to protect harbormasters in the discharge of their duty, and was read a first time.

Drummond County Railway.

Mr. Blair moved the second reading of the bill to authorize the acquisition of the Drummond County Railway.

The debate was continued by Mr. Kaulback, who opposed the purchase of the road; Mr. Rufus Pope spoke in favor of the bill, and Sir Charles Tupper said he had agreed that the bill should be read a second time without division, the division to be taken on the third reading. The bill was read a second time, and the House went into committee on the bill.

After some discussion the bill passed through committee, was reported and stands for a third reading.

The bill founded on the Grand Trunk lease resolution was read a first time.

After a number of private bills had been read a third time,

The Judge Spink Investigation.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, on motion to go into supply, brought up the matter of the charges made against Judge Spink of British Columbia, and ordered by the Department of Justice to be investigated. At some length Sir Charles detailed the history and result of the case, which resulted in a report by the commission appointed to investigate "That although ample opportunity had been afforded, none of the charges had been substantiated by the evidence," and moved "That no charges against a judge of the County Court except such as those upon allegation of misconduct that would be sufficient if proved to justify his removal from the bench, should be entertained by the Government.

"That before providing for a commission of inquiry into the charges of misconduct on the part of a judge of the County Court, it is the duty of the Government to secure full and complete particulars of the same and to submit them to the judge for his consideration and reply; and this House is further of opinion that the action taken by the Government in the premises was ill-considered and injurious to the usefulness and dignity of the judiciary and involved a scandalous waste of public funds."

The Solicitor-General defended the appointment of the commission, as the investigation had cleared the character of the judge and restored public confidence in him. The money was, therefore, well spent.

After Messrs Bennett, Morrison and Bostock had spoken, the motion was lost on division.

The House then went into committee of supply, rose after some progress with the estimates, and adjourned at 1.10 a.m.

Verdict in Newmarket Tragedy.

Newmarket, Ont., June 3.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the inquest on the body of the Jewett child was: "The deceased, Edith Frances Jewett, came to her death from a blow upon the head with an axe in the hands of her mother, Eliza Jewett, while the latter was temporarily insane, and just a short time before her mother's suicide by drowning."

THE ADVANTAGE OF BUYING AT SUTCLIFFE'S.

There are marked advantages in buying at Sutcliffe's We believe that there is no more need for chicanery and falsity in the Dry Goods business than there is in one's own family, and the presence here of hundreds of buyers is evidence of general confidence in this ruling spirit.

THEY GO TO GERMANY

The Pathetic Announcement of the Queen Regent of Spain.

THE LAST ISLANDS OF SPAIN.

Rigid Policy of Retrenchment Needed—Must Make Both Ends Meet—Will Remodel the Army and Navy in the Near Future—The Cortes' Reopening Reawakens Sorrow.

Madrid, June 3.—The Queen Regent yesterday opened the Cortes with the usual ceremonial, and in the speech from the throne announced that the Marianne, Caroline and Palaos Islands were ceded to Germany by the late Spanish Cabinet.

During the course of the speech Her Majesty said: "At the opening of the Cortes all the sorrows which have wrenched our hearts, through the disasters which have visited our country, are reawakened. We must preserve sadness in order to derive experience therefrom, but the woes of our country are of such nature that reticence and silence avail better than complaints. When peace with the United States was concluded Parliamentary troubles caused a change of Cabinet, and the present Cabinet was formed. Under the constitution it belonged to me to ratify the treaty by laying it before the Chamber. There remained under our control the Carolines, Palaos and most of the Marianne Islands. But the former Cabinet believed it useless for Spain to retain such minor appendages of our ancient empire and signed with the German Emperor a convention offering to cede those territories under the law which will be submitted immediately to the Chamber.

"Our foreign relations are cordial and friendly. We specially owe to the Pope recognition of the many times he has given us his moral support.

"The most important, most urgent and most difficult task before you is to balance the budget and liquidate the debts resulting from the war, through ordinary and permanent sources of income. Thanks to the severely economic policy projected, the Government will not ask fresh sacrifices of the country, except such as can be equitably divided among all classes.

"With the ordinary budget will also be presented schemes to liquidate the charges created by the loss of possessions and colonial campaigns."

The Queen Regent then referred to the financial measures and expressed confidence that the nation would show the same resignation during peace as it showed during the war, adding: "For the times are critical and it is impossible during the present session to do all that is necessary, but during the next session there will be projects for the reorganization of the army and navy, based on obligatory service; for improving the public services, decentralising the provincial and municipal administrations, and reforming the penal code and electoral laws, etc., etc."

GORGEOUS FILIPINOS.

They Did Themselves Proud at the U. S. Ball at Manila—The War Is Not Yet Over.

Manila, June 3.—The United States Philippine commission last night gave one of the most brilliant balls Manila has ever seen. It was one of a series of entertainments intended to foster friendship between the Americans and the natives. The commission has the handsomest residence in Manila, overlooking the harbor. The grounds surrounding it were illuminated, while the house itself was decorated with the American colors. The newly-appointed judges, General Otis, a number of other American officers and many wealthy natives were present. There was a display of gorgeous native toilets and many jewels were worn, and the array of handsome women surprised the Americans. There was a long program and Filipino dances, followed by the rendering of several intrumental selections.

Wants $12,000 Annually.

Manila, June 3.—United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who came to the Philippines some time ago, has made a fortnight's trip in the southern islands, visiting Iloilo, Negros and Cebu. During his tour he talked with the chief of Jolo, who has 2,000 fighting men under his command and who professes friendship for America, which friendship, he hinted, might be strengthened by the continuance of the annual subsidy of $12,000 formerly paid by the Spaniards. Senator Beveridge will leave here on Saturday. He intends to travel in China.

The War Far From Over.

San Francisco, Cal., June 3.—Brigadier-General Charles King, who returned home from Manila on the transport City of Puebla because of ill-health, in an interview says: "The situation in the Philippines is most serious. The people of those islands will keep up a guerilla warfare and there is no telling when the hostilities will cease. When they are whipped they retire to the jungles. Subsisting on practically nothing, they have no need for a base of supplies. It will necessitate a large force of men to subjugate them completely. The war in the Philipines is by no means ended."

Canadian Conference of Charities.

Toronto, June 3.—The Canadian Conference of Charities concluded its sessions last night and adjourned until next June to meet in the same place. Hon. Charles Drury of Barrie was elected president. Representation will be made to the Minister of Justice that the conference endorses the indeterminate sentence and parole system, and requests that they be applied to the whole of the Dominion. Interesting addresses were given on "The Home Finding System," "Improvement of Family Life Among the Poor," "The Day Nursery," "Public Play Grounds," "Orphanages and Reformatories" and other topics. A strong plea was made for the establishment of a Home for Incurables in Toronto for children.

"A Good Paymaster Starts Not At Assurances."

There is one good paymaster who is around on time, gives full value, and never fails in his duty. It is your privilege to select him, and his name is pure, wholesome blood. This paymaster makes the rounds of the body, visits brain, stomach, kidneys, liver, heart and head alike. Hood's Sarsaparilla acts as guarantor that this paymaster will do his duty.

If the blood is impure, it cannot do its duty, and you are the sufferer,—but you need not be. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood. It never disappoints.

Scrofula—"An abscess on my hip was lanced and never healed. Another broke out on the other hip and the next year three more appeared. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped me. Since taking six bottles of the medicine I have not been troubled, and previous to this treatment one of the eruptions had discharged for seven years." Mrs. Franklin H. Teed, Freeport, N. S.

After the Grip—"Suffered from weakness after the grip. Began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and found it as recommended. It relieved my son of rheumatism." Mrs. R. Meyer, Zepher, Ont.

Blood Poison—"Was troubled with blood poison and pains in my heart. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla by advice of a friend and it gave me relief." Mrs. Lucy J. Cook, Windsor, N. S.

Rheumatism—"Pains in my limbs finally settled in my back. I was obliged to stop work. My blood was poor and I did not have any appetite. I could not sleep nights. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills and these medicines made me a well man. Others of my family have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla after the grip with good results." G. R. Rafus, South Waterville, N. S.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2, 1899.

WE MUST STRIKE OUT BOLDLY

The Weekly Sun claims that injustice is being done the eastern farmers by the spending of public money to fill the Northwest with settlers and "thus increase the number of the Eastern farmers' competitors." This seems a small view to take of a question that lies at the bottom of national progress and the development of the admittedly great resources of the country. In what way will the western farmer be a competitor of the eastern agriculturist? We in the east have almost ceased raising wheat as a money-making crop; so that the wheat, which is the staple product of the Northwest, cannot be regarded as an element in competition injurious to the farmers of the east. There can be no serious competition in dairy products, for if the Northwest farmer were as well situated (which he is not) to furnish as good and cheap dairy products as the Eastern farmer, the advantage in transportation rates and facilities possessed by the latter would pretty effectually neutralize the competition, if competition it could be called. Then the creation by settlement of a profitable home market would justify no little expenditure on the part of the Government. With the Northwest even half filled with population a tremendous demand would be created for the industrial products of older Canada, and increased employment by manufacturing establishments to meet the new demand. This would mean increased demand for the products of the eastern farmer, who would, all these things considered, stand to gain rather than lose by Northwest "competition." A country can never be built up to the measure of its capabilities if a halting, hesitating policy is pursued of bartering for a little present advantage, the great results that would flow from a bold, enterprising, aggressive, prospective policy. We must not admit the idea of permitting our waste lands to lie in pristine solitude and undeveloped waste simply because a new settler might raise better potatoes than a farmer in older Ontario. Such a lie-down, do-nothing policy would be a deadly brake on the wheels of the car of progress. We must strike out boldly if we would advance. This is Canada's growing time and we must set our sails to catch the favouring breeze of prosperity that is almost "blowing a gale."

THE REASON WHY.

The Examiner in commenting on the result of the North Waterloo bye-election, pointed out among the causes that contributed to Mr. Whitney's want of success in electing his candidate, the lack of a definite policy and his failure to show by his past record and that of his following that the Opposition could give a better Government than the Ontario Government had done and was doing. The Weekly Sun, professedly independent, but strongly "agin the government," in the following answer to a contemporary's question bears out the contention of the Examiner.

"Why," asks the Journal, "should the Conservatives have scored a victory in North Waterloo?" "True," the Sun remarks, "the Ontario Government did much at the last session of the Legislature to weaken its hold upon the people. It aided the corporations in securing excessive privileges at the expense of the public. It ran the Province still further into debt in making indefensible railway donations. But where was Mr. Whitney when all this was going on. His voice was not raised against the passage of the bills which sacrificed public rights to corporate interests, and when the final vote on the railway donations came on he kept his seat. If Mr. Whitney and the majority of his supporters," says the Journal, "showed no will or ability to strike out a resolute line for themselves in such matters, what assurance is there that in matters of Provincial finance or patronage they will be any improvement upon the present office holders?"

Mr Whitney and his followers must "show cause" why they should be trusted with the administration of the affairs of the Province. Mere declamatory claims to superior political virtue and political capacity to govern won't do. The people have been well governed so long that they are inclined to be exacting in the matter of successors to the present capable administration, which fortunately for the welfare of the Province, they show no desire to replace by even a strong administration, not to speak of an administration selected from a party, which, in addition to the intrinsic element of weakness, sympathizes with the general demoralization that affects the Conservative party under the present leadership, or, rather, leaderships, for every faction has a more or less recognized leader.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A quantity of tobacco stored in a barn near Chatham took fire from spontaneous combustion and was prematurely smoked. It would be a great economy of vestas if a brand of tobacco could be discovered that would light itself.

The Ottawa Journal says: General Manager Hays, of the Grand Trunk, who is paid about 97 cents for every five minutes he works, finds his time so valuable that he can't spare any to talk to the G.T.R. trackmen about their 97 cents a day.

An Ottawa alderman objects to a man who is "bossing" sewer construction wearing kid gloves while at work. Not so much harm in that. But it wouldn't be bad for corporations at times to have sewer contractors, other contractors, and even aldermen, bossed without gloves.

To pass sentence of death on a boy-murderer sixteen years of age sets one's feelings at revolt, but the carrying out the sentence would be a far harder thing. But why not? The murder upon which the conviction depends is said to have been premeditated and deliberate. It would not be safe to turn a youth with such strongly developed criminal instincts loose upon society, a course that would likely result in other murders. To commute the sentence of death for life imprisonment would mean three score years perhaps of terrible punishment, to which death would seem preferable. The only thing that remains is for the law to take its course.

YOUNG'S POINT.

Mrs. Walter Young is at present visiting friends in Montreal.

Mr. James Caroll's many friends will be delighted to hear that he has almost entirely recovered from his recent illness.

Mr. James McPherson of Peterborough has secured the contract of bricking the R. C. Presbytery. The work is to be completed by July 1st.

The genial proprietor of the Lakeview, Mr. J. E. Kearney, has left nothing undone to make his house the most attractive and comfortable of summer resorts. Everything is in apple-pie order, and a large contingent of Americans will be on hand by the middle of June.

Capt. Scollard and his able assistant, Frank F. Young, are again guiding the Majestic through our beautiful lakes. Stony Lake cottagers will find them as genial, kind and obliging as ever.

The Carleton House is at present undergoing complete renovation at the hands of Mr. Corkery of Peterborough and Mr. P. A. Kearney of the Point.

Mr. Corkery, of Harwood, has supplied a long felt want here, in the shape of a butcher shop, and Mr. R. Dener has opened up a barber shop. Both were much required, and both are highly appreciated by the inhabitants of our progressive little village.

Mr. Heard has secured fifteen acres of the beautiful pine grove to the north of the village, formerly a portion of the Cholmers' estate. Already several buildings are being erected, and among those contemplated, will be an Episcopal church and Presbytery.

Mr. C. Young has two large gangs of men at work, one on the drive, and the other in the mill. Con has a large summer's work before him. Orders for matched and plain lumber are constantly pouring in, and the difficulty is to supply the increasing demand.

The smiling countenance of our friend, Wm. McFarlane, is missed very much. In the solitude of Lovesick, he will find ample scope for the development of the higher faculties, and for more deep and profound meditation.

On May 31st, the football match between Young's Point and the Clear Lake team, resulted in a draw. Both teams are fast, sure kickers, admirable dribblers, and with more practice would prove a match for the best. The contest will be decided later on. In the meantime Mr. A. H. Stratton keeps the prize.

In our last letter we forgot to mention the heroic deed of one of our village boys. Early in May, when the river current was at its strongest, two men from Lakefield attempted to cross in a frail canoe. Scarcely had they reached the middle of the stream, than the canoe capsized, and both occupants were precipitated into the surging waters. Little Austin Walsh, a boy of fourteen years, saw the accident, and immediately secured a canoe and hastened to their rescue. They had floated about 500 yards before the boy could reach them. The current being strong, the canoe frail, and one of the men a stranger to boating, rendered the rescue difficult and dangerous. However he succeeded in getting both into his canoe, and in less than half an hour, two lives were saved by the courage and skill of our little hero. Such deeds as these are worthy of the consideration of the Humane Society.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at James Lynch's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

ALL HEADACHES,

HONEST WORK IS WELL-EARNED HAPPINESS.

BUT OVERWORK TAKES ALL THE JOY OUT OF LIFE.

If the Stomach is Overworked it also Becomes Unhappy—It sends Grumbling Telegrams by the Nerves all Over the Body These if Translated Would Read, "Send a Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablet with Each Meal."

No honest right-thinking man objects to work. There is a joy in working and in the result of work that amply repays a man for the trouble and pains he puts into it.

But overwork is a different thing. Overwork kills. It takes away all chance for proper rest and recreation, and rest is necessary for the proper performance of work.

All this is recognised and understood in the case of a man as aman. But does that part of a man that keeps him alive—the stomach—get a fair share of rest.

The stomach works on when he is sleeping. The stomach works when his mind is playing.

When we consider how much unnecessary work we give it besides, in the shape of unwholesome and harmful kinds of food, is it any wonder it suffers?

Dyspepsia is caused by an overworked stomach. The juices that digest the food run dry. There is either too great a bulk to digest or the materials of which the food is composed are too difficult of digestion.

Thus both the wealthy man who has on the table everything money can buy and the poor day labourer who has to subsist on poor wholesome food, are alike victims of Dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets take charge of the work of digestion and give the stomach a much needed rest. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Catarrh of the Stomach, Bilious Headaches, and all other stomach complaints.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale at all Druggists at fifty cents a box, or will be sent on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

ASSESSMENT SYSTEM.

I. L. B. C.

The Canadian Order of Foresters has a larger Surplus per head, and still larger for each $1,000 of risk carried, than any other Society of the kind in Canada. Surplus per member $21.82; per $1,000.00 of Insurance $20.96

C

All the money received from the monthly Insurance fees is placed into the Insurance Fund, and no portion of this fund or the interest accruing therefrom can be used for any purpose whatever other than the liquidation of death claim certificates. Not a fraction can be used for managing purposes.

O

All risks carefully selected. Being purely Canadian, we contract no risks in foreign countries, thus ensuring a low death rate. Our death rate of 5.44 of last year, and the average rate of 4.97 for the past nineteen years, speak for themselves.

BANKS PAY $1,400,000.

A NICE WAD OF MONEY PAID OUT IN DIVIDENDS.

Bank of Montreal Heads the List of Half Yearly Dividend Payers.

The banks Thursday morning—that is, about seven of them—started to pay out their half-yearly dividends, amounting in all to about $1,427,000. The Bank of Montreal heads the list with the enormous sum of $800,000, and the Merchants of Canada and Bank of Commerce are second. June 1st is one of the most popular days for half-yearly dividends, but many of the banks, and some of the larger ones, have various other dates. The names of the banks and amounts paid out are as follows:

Bank of Montreal	$860,000
Merchants Bank of Canada	210,000
Bank of Commerce	210,000
Bank of Toronto	100,000
Quebec Bank	75,000
Union Bank	59,934
Bank of Hamilton	50,000
Standard Bank	40,000
Banque d'Hochelaga	43,466

Ontario Bank	25,000
Total	$1,427,788

MAY WEATHER NOTES.

May had a considerably heavier rainfall than usual, the amount for the month being 4 inches and 18-100, this quantity falling on 16 days. During the latter half of the month there were showers on almost every day, with the exception of the 24th, when we had the proverbial "Queen's weather." May of last year had a rainfall to the depth of 2 3-4 inches; that of the year previous, 3 inches and 67-100.

The average daily temperature was 56 degrees, about normal. The warmest day was the 31st, 78 degrees; the lowest temperature on the morning of the 15th, 33 degrees.

HOME FRIENDS AND MONEY SAVERS.

Mrs. H. Birtz, of Winnipeg, Man., Says:— "Diamond Dyes are First and Best."

"Diamond Dyes have been our friends for many years. I have dyed dresses and suits for the children and myself, and have in this way saved considerable money, which we have used for other purposes. I find that Diamond Dyes give perfect colours; they are easy to use, and when the directions are observed there is no such thing as failure or poor work. I have tried other dyes, but the Diamond are first and best."

For over twenty years Diamond Dyes have been the standard dyes in every part of the civilized world. Their widespread popularity has brought imitations and crude package dyes on the market. These common dyes are composed of ingredients dangerous to the materials and to the hands of the dyer.

The Diamond Dyes are the only chemically pure and perfect dyes in the world and the only dyes fully guaranteed to the public.

As success in home dyeing is only assured when the Diamond Dyes are used, ladies should see that their dealers supply them with the "Diamond." Refuse all imitations.

STONY LAKE.

Train services commences June June 17. Cottagers will then begin to make daily trips to the lakes.

The Cottagers' Association has received word from the Grand Trunk Railway authorities that the summer service between Lakefield and Peterborough will commence on Saturday, June 17th. The visitors and cottagers will then be able to make daily connections between Peterborough and the lakes.

The Grand Trunk Railway authorities have also looked into the matter of running the trains from the Lakefield station to the wharf, where the baggage and passengers can be transferred direct to the boat, and it is expected that the president of the road to whom the matter has been referred, will authorize the necessary expenditure to complete the arrangements.

Eight Years of Rheumatic Torture—South American Rheumatic Cure Drives out the Torment in a Day.

Mrs. John Cook, of 287 Clinton street, Toronto, says: For eight years I suffered as no one ever did with rheumatism. For two years I lay on my bed and could not so much as feed myself—I was so helpless. The torture was indescribable. I doctored and tried every remedy I could hear of, but received no lasting benefit. I am grateful for the day when a lady friend recommended South American Rheumatic Cure. After three doses I was able to sit up in bed. I continued its use and to-day—look at me—I am as strong and active as ever in my life." Sold by H. S. Macdonald and Ormond & Walsh.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The Central Ontario Railway Company are advertising for tenders for the extension of their line to Bancroft.

The railways will run a weekly refrigerator car service for dairy products, commencing on Monday, May 29, from different points to Montreal for export to Great Britain. Similar arrangements for this service have been made with the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa as were made last year.

The employees of the various G. T. R. shops all over the system are now working full time, and in the larger centres additional men are being employed.

The promoters of the Lindsay, Haliburton and Mattawa Railway desire to send a strong deputation to Ottawa to impress upon the government the importance of granting aid to an extension from Haliburton to Mattawa on the Ottawa river.

LETTERS ON CHRISTIAN UNITY

THE THEORY OF CHRISTIAN UNITY.

Rev H. Symonds.

"The way of peace and reunion lies in getting nearer to our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ; in studying less of human systems and theories and more of His words; in putting from the spirit of contention that we may be joined to the Spirit which dwelt in Him; . . . for only thus shall we leave behind the dead theories which divide us, and find fresh vitality in the old truths which unite us."—Boyd-Carpenter, Bishop of Ripon.

* * *

In last week's letter on this subject it was remarked that all subjects have a theoretical and a practical side. In most things, too, the theoretical must be studied before the practical. The intending doctor studies the theories of the healing art before he is allowed to practice medicine. The lawyer studies law, and the clergyman theology, and the civil engineer mathematics, and having mastered the various theories of these professions, they begin to apply them in the pursuance of their life work. And it is equally true of the question of Christian Unity that it has its theoretical side as well as its practical side, and he who wishes to take a real interest in its promotion must seek to understand the principles and grounds which furnish the reasons why Christian Unity is to be desired.

* * *

The theory of Christian Unity has a double root. We may urge in its favour certain considerations based upon Revelation, i.e., the Bible, or we may find a strong argument in other considerations which the Reason furnishes from reflection upon the facts and phenomena of human history and experience. These two are not to be regarded as separate. Here at all events we shall find Revelation and Reason in full accord. In this letter the object will be briefly to marshall the testimony of Revelation upon this subject.

* * *

1. The reflective reader of the Bible must sometimes have been struck with the fact that the first part of the Bible, i.e., the book of Genesis (the word Genesis means beginning) deals almost entirely with the story of families. The Revelation it contains comes to us through the medium of family histories. The joys and sorrows, the virtues and vices recorded, are those that are incidental to family life. The sins of Jacob, his repeated deception of his brother Esau, are family sins, and if we are repulsed by these we notice that their swift and severe punishment is also of the nature of a family punishment. He is driven from his home. Then deceived by his uncle in the matter of his marriage and afterwards by his own sons. All these things are indications that the Bible never treats men as isolated units. They are always members of society, and their happiness depends upon their fidelity to the social responsibilities. And the first form of society, the first social circle, is the family circle. The family in the light of Revelation is seen to be a Divine institution.

The second part of the Bible is all about a people or nation. We are told how the family multiplied, how it became enslaved, how miserable became its lot, until it succeeded in escaping from its land of bondage and took its way to Canaan. On the road, through the medium of Moses a law is given to it; the law is God's law, the people promise obedience to God, not to man. "All that the Lord hath said will we do and be obedient." A solemn sacrifice constitutes the signature and sealing of this law, and the slaves of Egypt are by the law welded into a nation. The remainder of the Old Testament tells us of the national sins, backslidings, infidelities, failures, on the one hand and of repentance, new starts, reformations, on the other. God reveals Himself through a national history, and the nation, like the family, is seen to be a part of the Divine order of things. The family is the first circle, the nation is the second. The nation, however, does not destroy the family, it is a federation of many families.

* * *

The Israelite thus came to regard himself as the especial favourite of God. This was wrong, and bye and bye there arose the voice of prophecy, explaining the reason for this peculiar choice and calling of one nation. It was not, said the prophet, an act of favouritism, but in order that in due time, through the medium of Israel, all the world should come to the knowledge of truth. The prophet is like a man standing upon a mountain peak, who sees the coming dawn whilst those in the valley beneath are still wrapped in darkness. Hundreds of years before Christ, the prophets announced the advent of a society which should be wider than the family, wider than the nation, which should include and bind together all the races of mankind. When that day came, when their Universal Society was formed, when men understood its true significance; then cried the prophet, "they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks, nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

3. The third stage in revelation is presented in the New Testament. The significance of the Family and of the Nation as forms of Society having been thoroughly expounded, we should expect to find in the New Testament the last and perfect development of Revelation, regarding Society. And this is exactly what we do find. Our Saviour announces the Kingdom of Heaven. A kingdom, whatever else it may be, is a society, it implies common interests, and united action. If it did not mean this, then the choice of the expression is misleading.

And as our Saviour continued his teaching it became gradually clearer and clearer that when He spoke of the Kingdom of Heaven, he did not mean the Jewish kingdom, but something infinitely grander and wider. "The field is the world" He cried. And so, little by little, the truth was revealed until at last came the final charge, "Go ye into all the world and announce the good news."

But are there any signs that our Saviour contemplated an actual visible society to include all the world, an actual Universal Society? Surely there are. For we all believe that He instituted Baptism and the Holy Communion. The former is clearly a rite of initiation. An outward and visible rite of initiation must be into an outward and visible society. The latter is an outward and visible token of fellowship and brotherhood. The conception of a Divine Society has since the Reformation dropped into the background. Reformed theology has lost hold of the Scriptural doctrine of the Church in this regard at least. But there are many signs that this weakness and imperfection are about to be repaired. Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, the President of the Methodist Conference in England, who will not be accused of any undue "Churchiness," writes as follows, and he is writing too as the spokesman of the Free Church Unity movement in England. "The leaders of this movement," says he, "deeply realize that what the Evangelical Churches in this country need more than anything else in a definite, positive, and Scriptural conception of the Christian Church. "We hold," he continues further on, "as strongly as any, that Christ came into the world, not merely and not mainly to save individual men, but to establish a Church, and the Church He established is obviously a visible Church. Baptism, the sacrament of initiation, cannot be administered by or to an invisible Church. The Holy Communion, the perpetually renewed sacrament of membership is equally inapplicable to an invisible Church. We repudiate the modern dangerous delusion that religion is simply a matter between a man and his Maker. The Christian religion has at every stage relation to our fellow man as well as to God, our Saviour. The highest and richest blessings of personal sanctification are offered not to the individual who isolates himself from his brother Christians but to the Christian Church."

The writer of these letters will welcome the friendly discussion of any of the points raised therein.

To be Continued."

THE STRIKE SITUATION.

The Company Appeared to Have the Best of It on Friday—Are the Men Beaten?

Toronto, June 3.—Yesterday saw no change in the situation of the Grand Trunk trackmen's strike in Toronto. The men are still holding out, and continue in the belief that they will win in the end. Another circular letter was received from the executive committee in Montreal, calling on their men to keep up the fight, and victory will be theirs. The letter concludes with this sentence: "Stand to your guns; we think the end is in sight." Several of the local men have secured employment, and will not likely return to the company even if they do win.

It was the opinion of Superintendent Jones yesterday that the men were beaten. He was sorry for their wives and children, but would reinstate the men if they agreed to return to work. Detective Day said that 400 men are at work in the middle division, but he did not know how much they were being paid. The officials say that the road is still in an excellent condition, and has not suffered as yet from the strike.

Looks Bad for the Strikers

Windsor, Ont., June 3.—A special train, with nine men to take the places of the striking trackmen, arrived at Belle River yesterday afternoon.

Asking for Arbitration.

Montreal, June 3.—It is understood that a strong effort is being made to induce the Grand Trunk authorities to submit the question in dispute between the section foremen and trackmen now on strike to arbitration. Mr. A. B. Lowe, the organizer, is in Ottawa, and his mission is to endeavor to induce the Government to mediate between the strikers and the company with a view to having the differences referred to an independent tribunal for adjustment.

The Grand Trunk management, in answer to reports that have been circulated by the strikers, state that the line throughout is in excellent condition, and that it is thoroughly inspected every day by competent men. At present there are over 800 men at work on the line, and it is expected that within another week all of the strikers will have been replaced, not by foreign labor, the Grand Trunk management state, but with Canadians.

Supt. McGuigan appears to be sanguine of success over the strikers. He says that 900 of the 1,800 who went out have been replaced, and that at no time has the travelling public been in any danger, as the track has been well cared for. It does not look as if the trackmen would get any help from the engineers, as the latter's committee has adjourned for 30 days.

THE CHILD WAS DEAD.

Mother Plunged Into the Cistern and Lifted Him Out, But Too Late.

Tilsonburg, Ont., June 3.—A little boy aged 3 years, son of William Scott, one mile north of Tilsonburg, was drowned in the cistern yesterday afternoon. The child was playing in the yard when his mother missed him and went in search and found him in the cistern. She sprang in and managed to lift him out, but was unable to climb out herself, the water being up to her shoulders. There was no one near the house, but a gentleman driving by heard her cries and ran to the rescue and succeeded in getting Mrs. Scott out. When they picked the child up life was extinct.

Daniel Shaver Hanged Himself.

Brantford, Ont., June 3.—Daniel Shaver, aged 72, a retired farmer, living with his son near Onondaga, committed suicide on Thursday night by hanging himself in an outbuilding. Deceased has not been well for some time and became despondent. Sometime during the night he went out to the driving shed, took a rope, put it over a beam, placed it around his neck with a slip knot. His son found him hanging early yesterday morning. Life had gone some time.

BISHOP OF BURLINGTON

His Words Will Inspire Faith to Try Paine's Celery Compound.

Who will doubt the wonderful efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound in the face of the following endorsement from the Bishop of the diocese of Burlington?

Wells & Richardson Co.,

Gentlemen,—I have been asked why I recommend Paine's Celery Compound and I desire to put on record frankly my reasons for this endorsement, hoping that my words may inspire those readers who need health and strength with faith to try Paine's Celery Compound and prove to themselves its worth.

At the Fanny Allen Hospital, an institution in which I am deeply interested, Paine's Celery Compound has been used successfully.

The Sisters of Mercy at Mount St. Mary's Academy on Mansfield ave., rely upon Paine's Celery Compound as a tonic and strength-giver.

In my own household one of the domestics has taken Paine's Celery Compound for liver trouble of long standing, and says, "It has done more good than any other medicine."

Several priests have spoken to me in praise of this remedy, and I believe it has the confidence of my associates.

Even did I know from personal observance of the worth of Paine's Celery Compound, I should feel like praising it for the simple reason that it is prepared by the Well & Richardson Co., a firm whose members I have known for nearly a quarter of a century, and in whom I have perfect confidence.

Very truly,

JOHN S. MICHAUD,

Coadjutor Bishop of Burlington, Vt.

Father Michaud, one of the ablest priests of the Roman Catholic Church in America, was consecrated Coadjutor Bishop of Burlington in 1892 by the Most Reverend John T. Williams, D.D., Archbishop of Boston, assisted by Rt. Rev. H. Gabriels, D.D. The diocese then contained 87 churches, 64 priets, 15 convents, one college, 6 academies, one orphange, two hospitals, 18 parochial schools, and a Catholic population of 55,000. Father Michaud built the Providence Orphan Asylum, a commanding structure that is the source of much pride, the Fanny Allen Hospital at Burlington, and a church which is considered the finest in the State.

His kind-hearted desire to be of service to the people, and the great sincerity that breathes through every line of Bishop Michaud's recommendation of Paine's Celery Compound ought to leave no doubt in anyone's mind of the tremendous superiority of Paine's Celery Compound over all the remedies that have recently been clamouring for attention.

Paine's Celery Compound will make you well, and enable you to stay so!

The system strengthened, purified and regulated by this greatest of remedies will resist all invasions of disease!

There is no household that can afford to be without it. Its praises have been sounded by men and women in every walk of life—by the wealthiest, the most famous, and by the humblest, but equally grateful.

Paine's Celery Compound is within the reach of everyone. It is a simple matter to test its astonishing efficacy.

Victim of a Spree.

Vancouver, B.C., June 3.—Daniel Sullivan was found drowned at Cheam Slough on Thursday, and an investigation, which was held yesterday into the cause of the drowning, has revealed some startling facts. The man, who was working for a farmer at Harrison, went up to Agassiz, and it is thought he had several hundred dollars on his person. Here he fell in with five men from Chilliwack, all of whom went on a spree at the expense of the deceased. It is thought that the men, after relieving Sullivan of his money, took this means of getting rid of their victim.

Joss House in Montreal.

Montreal, June 3.—A Chinese Joss House has been opened in Montreal, much to the consternation of Christians, who are loudly protesting against the introduction of heathen worship. The Montreal Joss House is the first heathen place of worship established in Canada outside of British Columbia.

Pleasures Penalty.

When the doctor gives one up, most people lose heart, but it was not this way with the young society woman in a Western Ontario city who had contracted kidney trouble through lack of care in "wrapping up" after an evening's round of pleasure. She heard of South American Kidney Cure and pinned her faith to it to cure her and in an incredibly short time felt her health returning. Her suffering abated, and three months from the day her physician hinted her case was hopeless she presented herself to him a cured woman. Sold by H. S. Macdonald & Ormond & Walsh.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264 95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 15062 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334 80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

An Electric Fan.

As the hot, sultry weather approaches every one is anxious to get into cooler quarters, or move into some breezy spot. It is not necessary to go very far in Peterborough, but the whole town cannot be accommodated at once, however. In Ormond & Walsh's drug store is an electric fan, the only one in town, and the pleasure it is to do shopping and at the same time enjoy such a refreshing is great indeed. The machine is driven by the same amount of electricity that supplies an ordinary incandescent light.

Sutcliffe's Store Front.

The transformations which have been going on for some weeks past in J. Sutcliffe & Co's dry goods store, George street, were completed yesterday. Reference has already been made to the handsome interior fittings and furnishings which have invested the whole store with a newness and modern appearance creditable to the taste and good judgment of this enterprising firm. Reference is now specially called to the handsome store front, which possesses a distinct appearance differing from all other stores—a feature well worth aiming at. The iron and wood work are painted and grained in dark mahogany—the impress of Watson's artistic brush being easily discernable. A new and striking overhead awning in striped green and white duck, erected by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Co., completes the "dress out" and enhances the distinctiveness of this effective store front.

Bicyclists Must not use the Sidewalks

Notwithstanding the warning of the local police that they intended enforcing to the utmost, the by-law prohibiting the use of bicycles on the sidewalks, a few still persist in breaking the law. The result of this was that at the police court this morning one of our citizens was fined two dollars for using the Water street sidewalk for wheeling purposes. This should be a warning to others.

PERSONAL.

Mother's meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4.15. All are made cordially welcome.

Grafton & Co. Fine Clothiers.

Never before in our business history were we taken more by surprise than this season by the unprecedently early and emphatic response to our announcement of new summer goods. As a result of such heavy sales so early in the season we are compelled to duplicate many of the lines of goods, both domestic and foreign, and have had our hundreds of busy employees working day and night to keep our stock fully assorted. As is usually the case in such emergency, buyers are apt to overstep the mark and buy too largely of some of the leading lines; however, you will find on perusal of our list that we have placed them at such marvellously low prices for such high class up-to-date goods that an inspection of our stock will make buying simply irresistable.

To those who have already patronized us this season we extend our hearty thanks. You have responded to our advertisements because you believed them. We are proud of our reputation in this respect, its foundation is as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. Honesty, our standard for the future—the verdict on our past.

THE BAND IN THE PARK.

The 57th Batt. Band Give Their First Open air Concert.

The first of the series of band concerts to be given in Victoria Park by the 57th Batt. band, by permission of the officers of that corps, took place last night, and attracted hundreds of our townspeople, young and old, to that delightful spot. It was somewhat after eight o'clock when the band took its place in the stand which has been provided with incandescent lights, and rendered the first selection.

The following programme was run off, much to the enjoyment of those present:

March—Bay State Commandery... ....Burrel
Waltz—My Happiest Day in Berlin ... ...Guim'l
Selection—Plantation Echoes... ... .Coterno
Gavotte—Enamorita ... ... Coterno
Overture—Nebuchadnezzar... ... Verdi
March—Springfield Commandery... ... ...Hall
God Save the Queen.

The waltz, "My Happiest Day in Berlin," was a very pretty selection and was enjoyed much indeed, while the selection "Plantation Echoes" was highly appreciated. In included all the old favourite southern songs, and their rendering was very sympathetic.

Band concerts in the park will certainly prove to be one the biggest evening attractions this summer, and it is a treat indeed to have the privilege of listening to such high class music.

Several of the most pleasing numbers had to be omitted from the programme, as the wind interfered with the music stands. If lights could be placed in the lower band stand it would be a much more suitable place from which to hear the music, being not so much exposed as the upper stand.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's drug store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c and $1 Every bottle warranted.

Troublesome Foxes.

A Bethel correspondent writes: The foxes are proving themselves a great nuisance this spring and are not only thinning out hens, geese and turkeys, but have even abstracted several lambs from the farm yards. We are glad, however, that steps are being taken to exterminate them. One was shot last week by Mr. Wilson and a den was dug out by some of our leading farmers in which were found three young ones. It is unnecessary to add that they were at once disposed of. It is a pity that they were not hunted more in the winter, which would perhaps have prevented present trouble.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

The steamer Beaver made her first Saturday trip of the season to-day, when she arrived in port with a large number of passengers. The Beaver has been fixed up considerably and is now in first-class condition. She has an excursion on Tuesday from Bewdley to Hastings.

The steamer Eclipse brought up her regular Saturday cargo this morning, arriving at the wharf at 10 o'clock. During the week the Eclipse has brought up to town a scow load of cattle for H. P. Kennedy, a scow load of hogs for the Matthews Company, and a quantity of wood.

The Eclipse has an excursion on Thursday from Bewdley to Hastings, and on the following day from Smithson's landing on the river to Jubilee Point and Gore's Landing.

The North Star arrived in port at noon with an excursion of Canadian Order of Foresters from Webb's Landing, Robbins Landing and Curtis Point on the lake.

The Star will not commence her daily trips from Peterborough to Rice Lake until about the first of July.

Things are rather quiet at Gore's Landing at present, but it is expected they will be pretty brisk a little later on.

Commodore Calcutt is just at present considering the advisability of burning coal in the City of Peterborough this season. Owing to the great scarcity of wood, it would be much cheaper to use coal as fuel, but whether the furnaces of the City will consume the coal satisfactorily or not remains to be seen. The experiment will be tried, however, this week. The City has plenty of excursions booked already.

THE NOBLEST ROMANS OF THEM ALL

THE VETERANS OF '66 MET LAST EVENING.

The Annual Meeting in the S. O. E. Hall—A Pleasing Reunion Held Afterwards—Officers of the 57th Present.

The annual meeting of the Veterans of '66 Association was held last evening in the Sons of England Hall, with Mr. A. P. Poussette in the chair and over a score of members in attendance.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers.
President—A. P. Poussette, Q.C.
Vice-president—Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers.
Captain—J. B. McWilliams.
Lieut.—H. Rush.
Sgt.-Major—J. Irwin.
Sgt.—H. W. Watson.
Sgt.—H. J. Holmes.
Sec.-Treas.—J. D. Collins.
Executive Committee — George Brown, W. H. Anthony, Fred Mitchell, Fred McCorry, Geo. Rose.

A resolution was passed on motion of Mr. Fred Mitchell and Captain Miller amending the constitution by providing for meetings to be held on the first Mondays in September and June in addition to the annual meeting.

At the conclusion of business the meeting was resolved into a smoking concert and the doors thrown open to a number of invited guests, including the officers of the 57th battalion.

The Sons of England Band was in attendance, and during the evening rendered a number of selections in a most creditable and highly pleasing manner.

In the course of an impromptu programme, Rev. W. L. Armitage was called upon for a few remarks and delivered a most eloquent address. In opening he referred to the many stirring pictures of battle scenes hanging upon the walls, which made the hall a singularly appropriate place for the Veterans to meet, as did also the circumstance of the apartments being the property of the Sons of England, the Veterans having at one time been defenders of a part of the Great Empire. One of the proudest things, the speaker thought, for a man to be able to recall was the fact that he had at one time offered his service or his life, if need be, for the country of his birth or his adoption. A most pleasing reference was then made by Mr. Armitage to the Queen, whom he described as reigning, but not ruling, and as one whom her people loved because she first loved them. He instanced the messages which she sent forth to her soldiers after their battles—never forgetting the lowliest of the privates. Then Victoria's Royal Son was mentioned as a man who stands to-day one who can be admired and honoured by the whole estate, and especially by the army. He might have made mistakes in the past, but these mistakes always attracted more attention than they were deserving of when shown up in the fierce light which beats upon a throne. Gladstone received a passing tribute, as did the Queen's representative on this side of the water, who is in the course of a few days to receive the homage of Toronto. The Canadian militia, Mr. Armitage stated, was composed of members who had shown they could follow a noble example, but there was not enough sympathy and interest shown in the volunteers locally. In other places where the corps come forth they were cheered to the echo. Peterborough citizens were proud of their soldiery and proud of their appearance, but they did not encourage the men as they should. The speaker then passed on to mention the glorious heritage which the people of Canada enjoyed, the province of Ontario alone being one and a half times larger than Great Britain. If the land was divided equally each Canadian would receive 300 acres for his share. Was not this a grand heritage? Yes, but was it enjoyed to the full? We have forests that the eyes of the covetous have not seen, mines that the assayer has not touched, great lakes upon which to take pleasure and in whose watery depths are our great fisheries. Looking upon our resources from every standpoint we have a glorious heritage. Our governing bodies are composed of men in whom the country has every confidence and our acres are so broad that we have room for the oppressed of the world. With our laws and our legislatures vieing with each other to promote all that is right and is good, what a grand future Canada has before her, with the riches of the world at her doors. Under the hand of a loving Queen shall we not go on in this great work and make this still a greater Britain and more and more glorious.

Let.-Col. Bell followed with a short address in which he expressed his pleasure in partaking of the hospitality of the Veterans. It seemed a little odd to be present as a guest, being as a matter of fact a Veteran himself. He was one of the connecting links between the Veterans and the militia of to-day, having seen 33 years of service and being still connected with the force, as were Lt.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Major Langford, Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers and Capt. Miller. The speaker urged the Veterans strongly to use all their influence in encouraging the young men to identify themselves with the militia, as the local Battalion was not receiving the encouragement which was its due. If the citizens gave their loyal support and the young men of the town would give one evening a week to drill, Peterborough could possess one of the best battalions in Canada. His term of office expired this year and he asked the support of all for his successor.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, Chaplin of the 57th, on being called on for a few words referred in glowing terms to the pride which must fill the breast of the men who could walk beneath a flag on which "Ridgeway" was engrossed. As a Canadian he thanked them for the splendid service they had done the country and only hoped that the younger generation would do in their day what the Veterans had done in the past. They had been victors both in peace and war and a debt of gratitude was owing them. If occasion should arise, the speaker was assured, that a heartfelt enthusiasm and courage would be manifested and the sons and grandsons of these Veterans come forth determined to maintain the honour of their country. In closing Mr. Davidson dwelt upon the grandeur of the spirit which warlike in times of trouble yet in peace could turn its attention to the advancing of the country's welfare in other lines.

Several vocal selections were kindly given by Mr. John Crane during the evening and Capt. Miller contributed a well rendered recitation to the programme. Refreshments were served at the close and after loyally singing the National Anthem, the Veterans dispersed.

During the evening Mr. H. W. Watson showed a sash worn by him as Sgt.-Major during the troublous times of '66 and also a photograph of himself taken at that time. Lt.-Col. Bell exhibited a relic in the shape of an American tunic taken at Ridgeway. A bullet hole in the left breast told the grim tale of how it came into the possession of a Canadian. Mr. R. M. Roy's offer was received with many thanks when he asked the Veterans to drop into his studio and sit for a picture which he wished to take of them for presentation to the Historical Society. If the photos of deceased Veterans are forwarded they can be inserted in the picture.

VIOLENT

HEADACHES

Accompanied by Indigestion and Constipation cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

From Bath, Ont., comes the particulars of a remarkable cure effected by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Mr. Jos. Gardiner was for forty years the victim of indigestion, constipation, and violent headaches. Nothing seemed to have the desired effect until he began the use of Dr. Chases's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they effected a complete cure. Mr. Gardiner writes:

"I have been troubled for over forty years with indigestion and constipation, would go for two weeks at a time. At intervals I would be taken with violent headaches. I spent dollars and dollars in vain, and was finally advised to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and must say that they are the only remedy that gave me permanent relief. I would not be without them for anything."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose. 25c. a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DU PATY DE CLAM.

The French Officer Confined in Cherche Midi Prison Attempts Suicide.

Paris, June 3.—The Echo de Paris yesterday says that Gen. Zurlinden, the Military Governor of Paris, has consented to the provisional release of Col. Picquart, who is in prison on the charge of revealing documents concerning the national defence, on the demand of Gen. Marquis de Gallifet.

The Petit Republique has a report that Lieut.-Col. Du Paty de Clam, who was arrested and sent to the Cherche Midi prison on Thursday night, has attempted to commit suicide in prison.

Several papers announce that proceedings will be taken against Gen. Mercier, former Minister of War, and other officers.

The arrest Thursday evening of Lieut.-Col. Du Paty de Clam, who, in 1894, was charged with the investigation of the first charges made against Dreyfus, was ordered after the Minister of War, M. Krantz, had consulted with the Premier, M. Dupuy. The prisoner, who is confined in the military prison of Chechc Midi, is charged with forgery, and uttering forgery. It is not yet known whether he will be tried before a court-martial or a disciplinary court.

DOAN DOING IT

His Kidney Pills without Exception the Greatest Kidney Remedy of the Day.

Anyone who is suffering from kidney disorders of any kind, Diabetes Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Lame Back, or who is crippled with Rheumatism, Sciatica or Lumbago—has only to enquire from his neighbours and he will find many residents of Port Hope and surrounding country who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills—the conquerors of kidney ills.

Mr. J. W. Douglas, the well-known well-digger and a life-long resident of Port Hope, says that three years ago he had typhoid fever, which left his kidneys in a disordered state. He had severe pains in the small of his back and between his shoulders, and felt drowsy and tired out.

"My limbs were cramped and felt numb and cold nearly all the time," said he, "and I knew my kidneys were badly affected, because the urine was very dark-coloured and thick with sediment. Since taking DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS I have daily grown better.

"I have no pains of any kind now, sleep well, my appetite is good, the drowsiness all gone, and the urinary troubles have completely disappeared. I feel so different since taking Doan's Kidney Pills that I consider it my duty to make the statement of facts that those similarly afflicted may know the remedy that will cure them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or 3 for $1.25. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

"CANADA IS NO SERF"

British Journal's Reply to American Abuse of Canada.

DOMINION FULLY RECOGNIZED.

The Greatest Colony of Britain Cannot Be Dragooned Into a Settlement in Which It Has No Say—This Country Has a Junior Partner's Rights—Cable News.

London, June 3.—(Montreal Star Special.)—The Times and other New York and Washington telegrams continue to abuse Canada for daring to reject the agreement between Lord Salisbury and Mr. Choate regarding the Alaska boundary, after the rising of the joint high commission in February. What the British public would like much to know is whether Canada was fully consulted in the negotiation of this agreement. If not, Canada will receive much sympathy here. As The Outlook says to-day:

"The British public feel that the day has gone by when any self-governing British colony can be dragooned into a settlement in which it has no say. Canada is no serf, is not even a child. She is a junior partner and has a junior partner's rights, the last word being always with the senior partner.

"Mr. Smalley and his Washington friends would ignore this if they could, but it remains a central fact in the administration of the British Empire."

A full official Canadian statement is greatly needed to meet the allegations with which Washington telegrams are prejudicing opinion against Canada.

KNIGHTED BY HER MAJESTY.

A Chancellor of the High Court of Ontario Receives a Title.

London, June 3.—The Queen's birthday honors were announced yesterday.

Alma Tadema, the artist, and Hon. J. A. Boyd, chancellor of the High Court of Ontario, were knighted.

Henry M. Stanley, M.P., is made a Knight Grand Cross of the Bath.

John Alexander Boyd is the son of the late John Boyd, who was for many years principal of Bay Street Academy, Toronto. He was born of Scotch parents in Toronto on April 28, 1837. He was educated at Uppper Canada College and Toronto University, where he obtained a scholarship, and won the modern languages gold medal when graduating in 1860. He was for a number of years an examiner. He was called to the bar in 1863, practised for a time with D. B. Read, Q.C., and entered the Blake firm. He was appointed chancellor in 1881, and became president of the High Court of Justice in 1887. He received the degree of LL.D. from Toronto University in 1889. HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

WHAT TO DO WHEN SICK.

In case of weak stomach, disordered liver, impure blood, shattered nerves, bronchitis, lingering cough, or other affections which lead to consumption, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will ordinarily bring about rapid cure. If the trouble be deep-seated and chronic, you had better write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, himself, at Buffalo, N. Y., telling him about your sickness. He will give you fatherly, carefully-considered advice, and charge no fee at all. His practice has been so widespread, and has covered so many forms of disease, that his free advice is likely to do you more good than that of a physician who charges high prices.

Dr. Pierce is also the head of the famed Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., where hundreds of invalids and afflicted persons from all over the country go for treatment by the corps of specialists who are in constant attendance. It is because of his vast practice that the doctor is so well fitted to successfully treat every form of disease. Do not feel that you are imposing upon him when you ask for free advice, because he wishes all to know that his medicines only are to be paid for—not his advice.

"I have used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery since my correspondence with you and find great improvement in my case," writes Mr. A. F. Novotny, of New York, N. Y., (Box 1437). "I feel that I am in need of no more medical assistance. When I started to take your medicine I had a regular consumptive cough, of which I was afraid, and everybody cautioned and warned me concerning it. I was losing weight rapidly, was very pale and had no appetite whatever. Now I do not cough at all, have gained eight pounds in weight, have recovered my healthy color, and my appetite is enormous. I can and will recommend your medicine to everybody who may be in need of the same, as it is a sure cure, no humbug as are most other patent medicines, and is far superior to all similar medicines."

If the head aches, the trouble is pretty sure to be constipation or biliousness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure you.

THE HORSE REVIEW.

Russell B., 2:14¼, will be out on the turf again this year.

The 4-year-old colt Happy Sphinx is stepping fast and has been entered in several stakes.

Joe Thayer is reported to have refused $2,500 for his 2-year-old brother to Jayhawker, 2:14¼.

Dr. D. E. Kelley of Ashtabula, O., has entered him in the $3,000 2:15 pace for the grand circuit meeting at New York.

Millard Saunders has converted the black mare Derby Lass to the pace and predicts that she will reach 2:10 at that gait.

Charles Jeffries will campaign Brice McNeill in California. McNeill recently covered a mile in 2:16 and a half in 1:05¼ at Pleasanton.

C. H. Nelson, owner of the ex-champion stallion Nelson 2:09, predicts that Isle Dew, by Nelson, will get a faster record than his sire.

W. O. Foote is entering the hobbled trotter Sam Medium, 2:18, in the grand circuit this year. He took his record in 1896 at Ottumwa, Ia.

Piedmont Farm, Huntsville, Ala., has in Re-election, Sentinel Wilkes and Almont, Jr. (Bostick's), about the greatest trio of stallions owned in the far south.

The horses at Selma are stepping lively now. Miles in 2:16 and 2:18 for pacers and 2:28 to 2:35 for trotters and quarters in 33½ to 34 seconds are not uncommon.

Ed Smith of Chicago has sold a very fast green trotting mare, by Alexander Dumas, to Mr. DeGoff of the same city. She could show 2:20 and will be used as a pole mare.

George Starr's Director-Winifred colt is going great guns this spring at Terre Haute. Parties who saw him work recently say he will be a sensational trotter if he trains sound. He is given all his slow work at the pace.—Horse Review.

Great Excitement in Montreal.

When the people saw a guarantee given by Lyman Knox & Co., Kerry Watson & Co., Lyman Sons & Co., to all the retail druggists in Canada authorizing them to sell Smith's Indian Rheumatic and Kidney Cure and Smith's Indian Cough Syrup and Grippe Killer to all of their customers, and guarantee to cure or refund the money, then all the druggists in Ottawa, Toronto, and all other smaller cities and towns came out in the papers offering to guarantee these wonderful remedies to cure or refund the money. Since then the demand for these preparations have been so great that the proprietor has contracted with Park, Davis & Co., Walkerville, Ont., to manufacture thirty thousand as soon as possible. Any one troubled with cough or grippe or rheumatism write me and I will send them some free of charge. Wm. Smith, Coaticook, P.Q., proprietor and manufacturer of Smith's Indian Rheumatic and Kidney Cure and Smith's Indian Cough Syrup and Grippe Killer. Both remedies are sold in liquid and tablets. Sold by all druggists in Peterborough.

Hairene for the Hair

Mrs. Mary Wright, Berlin, says:—"My hair was coming out very fast, in fact it combed out by the handful. Nothing I used did any good until trying Hairene, from the first application of which I noted an improvement, and less than one bottle entirely stopped the falling. It is a clean preparation to use, and a valuable acquisition for the toilet."

A DOCTOR'S TRICK.

Mr. R. Smith, Toronto, Points out a Fact that is Extremely Noticeable in Dealing with Doctors.

He Suffered From a General "Run-Down" of the System—Dodd's Kidney Pills Built Him up.

Toronto, June 2. — There is one thing the most inexperienced physician never forgets—his fee. He may fail to cure, but he charges just the same. It is this piece of professional etiquette that makes a doctor one of the most expensive luxuries we have. Mr. R. Smith, a well-known commercial traveller for a glove house, with headquarters in Toronto, says in this connection:

"I had been feeling very weak and losing flesh, and the doctors could do nothing for me, but charge fees. I decided to try a box of your Pills, having heard of them as a blood purifier, and if I found no relief from them to give up all hope of ever feeling well again. After the first box I found that I could both eat and sleep well, and after three boxes I was as strong as ever. I am glad to testify to the genuine worth of your Pills. Have many friends who have been benefitted by them through my recommendation.

"Sincerely yours,
"R. SMITH."

Mr. Smith's letter brings out the point where the doctor's differ from Dodd's. The former while failing to cure charge a stiff price. The latter, which are only fifty cents a box, never fail to do the work for which they are intended—strengthen the kidneys and by this means banish all impurities from the blood. Thus we get at the cause of, and when used, invariably cure Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Gout, Heart Disease, Paralysis, Dropsy, Stone in the Bladder, Urinary Troubles and Female Complaints.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, or will be sent on receipt of price, by the Dodd's Medicine Company, Limited, Toronto.

The Power of Shakespeare.

An old Latin saying, Laudant quod non intelligunt (They praise what they do not understand), was once illustrated by an English tourist who happened into the Lutheran church at Elsinore one Sunday morning. The tourist did not know a word of the Danish language, but he wrote: "The clergyman had a quiet earnestness of manner and a persuasive eloquence that pleased and attracted. I admired the discourse, although I did not understand a word of it." The book from which we have copied this illustration of a common practice tells the following amusing story of a Dutch audience listening to one of Shakespeare's plays:

I will tell you, such is de powers of de Shakespeare, that I vunce saw a play de great man acted in Anglish, in Holland, where der vas not vun person in all de house but myself could understond it, yet dere vas not a person in all dat house but vat vas in tears—dat is, all crying, blowing de nose and veep very mouch; couldn't understond vun vurd of de play, yet all veeping. Such was de powers of de Shakespeare!

What He Opened On.

"Brothers and sisters," began the old parson, "I shall not choose any particular text this morning, but shall preach from where I open the book, and, no matter where, I shall find the wrath that is to come upon the wicked, who will be cut off when they have shuffled off this mortal coil. It is now open, and"—

Here the parson was interrupted by a deacon who had been asleep, and hearing the words open, cut and shuffle, forgot himself and cried out, "It's yours; what did you open on?"

The surprise of the good man in the pulpit was great, but the deacon collapsed when the reply came, "It is opened on Kings."—Atlanta Constitution.

A Curious Postal System.

In certain parts of Sweden, where the most absolute confidence is reposed in the honesty of the people, a very informal postal system is in vogue. As the mail steamer reaches a landing place a man goes ashore with the letters, which he places in an unlocked box on the pier. Then the passerby who expects a letter opens the box, turns over the letters and selects his own, unquestioned by any one.

SURF SLIDING IN HAWAII.

An Old Time Incident of the Indulgence In It of Royal Dames.

The old practice of surf sliding—"hee nalu"—upon surf boards was magnificent sport. It has fallen almost entirely into disuse since 40 years ago, when horses became numerous and cheap. Before that date I used frequently to see it at Lahaina as well as earlier at Kailua. I believe some adepts still practice it at Hilo. The board used in surf sliding is from 5 to 8 feet long and 10 to 15 inches wide, rounded at the ends and sharpened at the edges, very much like a paper cutter. The rider swims out with the board under one arm, diving under the rollers until outside where the surf is just beginning to break. There, by an adroit movement, he stretches himself upon the board just in front of a big roller, at the same time violently plying arms and legs to "get a move on," while the roller lifts him from behind. Once in motion the wave does the rest, although great skill is needed to keep the board poised precisely at the proper height and inclination upon the front of the violently breaking roller. The riders will thus shoot several hundred yards to the shore.

By early and long practice great skill was attained in this sport. The more expert would often rise to a standing posture, balancing their boards by their feet at the right point on the wave. I can remember in early boyhood daily watching from my home through the stems of the lofty cocoa palms scores of natives flying in together in the white roaring surf. Some were prone, others crouching on their boards and some standing erect. Both sexes participated, and modesty was much at a discount, except when the venerated missionary was in sight. The males wore the malo or breech girdle when disporting thus in our neighborhood. The females did not stand up on their boards.

Customs in those early days were Arcadian. At about 1824 the writer's young mother at Kailua once received in her thatched cottage a morning call from a bevy of royal dames with their attendants, all fresh from surf play. The maidens carried the garments while their mistresses stalked into the missionary's parlor in stately simplicity and proceeded to dress. All that was utterly innocent, and so in a certain sense was the nearly entire unrestraint of domestic morals in those early days. To infuse some degree of conscience on that point has been altogether the most difficult part of the missionary's task in Hawaii.

TEST THE KIDNEYS

And if they are diseased use the world's greatest kidney cure

Dr. A. W. CHASE'S Kidney-Liver Pills

It's a simple matter to test the kidneys. You need not consult a doctor. By asking yourself three questions you can determine whether or not your kidneys are deranged.

First: "Have you backache, or weak, lame back?"

Second: "Do you have difficulty in urinating or a too frequent desire to urinate?"

Third: "Are there deposits like brick dust in the urine after it has stood for twenty-four hours?"

In its earlier stages kidney disease is readily cured by a few boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, a preparation which has made Dr. Chase famous throughout the world for his wonderful cures of diseases of the kidneys.

If you have kidney disease you can take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with perfect confidence that what has proved an absolute cure in so many thousands of cases will not fail you.

So long as the cells of the kidneys are not completely wasted away, as in the last stages of Bright's disease, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will give them new vigor and strength and make them strong, healthy and active. One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE DYNAMITE MONOPOLY.

The Controversy Between Mr. Chamberlain and the Transvaal.

Bloemfontein, June 2.—Among the most important points that Presidents Paul Kruger of the Transvaal Republic and Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony and British high commissioner for South Africa, will have to discuss at their conference here in regard to the demands of the Uitlanders, will be the question of the dynamite monopoly, under which the Uitlanders are groaning, and which the British Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has used his utmost endeavor to remedy. But a blue book on the subject, issued last night, shows that matters in this connection have practically reached a deadlock.

The blue book opens with a letter from Mr. Chamberlain, dated Jan 18, reviewing the whole question and protesting that the monopoly was inconsistent with the London Convention. To this the Transvaal Government replied, under date of March 9, controverting the arguments of Mr. Chamberlain, and stating that Her Majesty's Government was not entitled to a protest.

Mr. Chamberlain, on April 21, however, renewed the British protest, adding that Her Majesty's Government reserved its rights. In answer to this the Transvaal Government replied, on May 22, with two curt sentences, to the effect that it abided with the views expressed in its communication of March 9.

WOODSTOCK WONDER

A Crippled Rheumatic Restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Unfortunate Simile.

There are times when a lawyer regrets the use of an illustration which a moment before has appeared especially felicitous.

"The argument of my learned and brilliant brother," said the counsel for the plaintiff in a suit for damages from a street car corporation, "is like the snow now falling outside—it is scattered here, there and everywhere."

"All I can say," remarked the opposing counsel when his opportunity came, "is that I think the gentleman who likened my argument to the snow now falling outside may have neglected to observe one little point to which I flatter myself the similarity extends—it has covered all the ground in a very short time."—Youth's Companion.

DU PATY DE CLAM ARRESTED.

The Lieutenant-Colonel, Seriously Implicated by Recent Proceedings in Court of Cassation, in the Cherche Midi — What the Italian Embassy Always Knew—To Take Dreyfus Home.

Paris, June 2.—Lieut.-Col. Du Paty de Clam, seriously implicated by the recent proceedings before the Court of Cassation as the probable instigator of some of the forgeries that have figured in the Dreyfus affair, was placed under arrest at half-past 7 last evening and taken to the Cherche Midi military prison.

A Steamer After Dreyfus.

New York, June 2.—The Journal's correspondent at St. Pierre, Martinique, telegraphs: "I am informed on the best authority that the steamer Lafayette, which arrived yesterday, brings officers and men who will take Captain Dreyfus home from his prison on the Isle du Diable, off French Guiana, to a new trial in Paris.

"The Lafayette will not go to Cayenne, the capital of Guiana, but will proceed on her usual course to Colon. The guards for Dreyfus, members of the Republican Guards and four gendarmes, will be transferred, I am informed, to the steamer Ville de Tanger for Cayenne."

WAR TO BE LESS CRUEL.

American Mediation Scheme Adopted—Explosive Bullets Prohibited—There Are Tangles.

The Hague, June 2.—The American mediation scheme was unanimously adopted at yesterday's sitting of the sub-committee, which embodied as article 7 the scheme prepared by the sub-committee, with few alterations.

The first commission, by a vote of 18 to 3, has adopted a resolution prohibiting the use of Dumdum (or flattened bullets). Italy, Austria and Great Britain formed the minority.

It was also resolved to prohibit the use of explosives from balloons and explosive bullets.

An agreement was found to be impossible on all the important proposals and the conviction is growing more than ever that the work of the first commission is doomed to failure.

The second section of the Red Cross committee is also encountering difficulties as the American and British members are opposing the proposed regulations as being too stringent.

"PIMPLY" FACES.

What a Bane—But Dr. Agnew's Ointment is a Sure Cure.

Charles H. Lilly, 412 Luzerne ave., W. Pittston, Pa., writes: "I am a barber and met many people troubled with pimples. I have tried many preparations claiming to cure such, and without success, until I used Dr. Agnew's Ointment. Within the last few weeks I have used it on three very stubborn cases, and in each case it has made a cure; has cleaned off all the pimples and blotches, and left the skin clear and soft. It's the greatest skin remedy I've heard of and a boon to 'pimply' faces." Sold by H. S. McDonald and Ormond & Walsh.

Little Boy's Fatal Fall.

Peterboro, June 2.—Seven-year-old David Bailey, son of Mr. Samuel Bailey, while playing in the yards of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, fell on the sharp point of a broken bottle, which entered the groin and caused violent internal hemorrhage. The bleeding was stopped by physicians, but after a lapse of two hours the blood began to flow again and the little fellow succumbed.

He Was Not Shot.

North Bay, Ont., June 2.—Herbert Macleod, son of Mr. M. Macleod of Barrie, Ont., was not shot in a street riot at Butte City, Montana, as erroneously stated in Thursday's papers, but was accidentally killed by a train.

YOU'RE COURTING CONSUMPTION.

If you neglect that Cough—Have it Cured by Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

"It's only a slight Cold, only a little Cough," you say—but it hangs on and on and won't leave. Better wake up to the fact before it's too late that you're on the highway to Consumption. Better have the Cough cured now, when you can—than wait a while longer when, perhaps, you can't. A bottle or two of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will promptly cure that Cough, and heal up the lungs so that not a trace of its effects will remain.

Mrs. Grace Lynch of Blackville, N.B., writes: "I have been troubled with Coughs, Colds and weakness of the lungs for a long time, and could get no relief until I took Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which made a complete cure in my case."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is sold by medicine dealers everywhere at 25c. and 50c. a bottle.

SCREAMED WITH ECZEMA

Baby's Skin Red and Raw. Doctor's Medicine was Painful and Useless. A Stranger Advised CUTICURA. Cured in a Month, with Skin Smooth and Fair.

My little daughter, when six months old, broke out with Eczema. I took her to a doctor and he pronounced it "Moist Eczema," and prescribed for her. She screamed when I put the medicine on her, and I stopped using it. It was indeed very painful. Her skin was all red and raw, and moisture coming from it all the time. A perfect stranger to me advised me to use CUTICURA remedies. I got CUTICURA SOAP and CUTICURA (ointment), and they entirely cured her within a month. She is twenty-three months old to-day, and her skin is like a piece of silk, and fair as a lily.

PIMPLES CURED BY CUTICURA SOAP

I commenced to get pimples and blackheads when I was fifteen years old. My face was covered. I spent about ten dollars for soaps, medicine, etc., but they never did me any good. I used CUTICURA SOAP for two weeks, the pimples and blackheads began to disappear, and it only took three cakes of CUTICURA SOAP to cure my face of those homely pimples. JOSEPH B. CLAMER,
Sept. 21, '93. 327 Court St., Elizabeth, N. J.

My face was covered with a pimply, ruptured, and itching skin. After using CUTICURA SOAP for six weeks, all the pimples went away, my skin getting as soft as velvet.

REV. E. W. STEVENSON IN ISLE OF WIGHT

HE WRITES AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM ABROAD.

Some of the Historic Spots Which he is Visiting—Isle of Wight an Ideal Spot.

The following interesting letter dated from the Isle of Wight has just been received from Rev. E. V. Stevenson by Rev. Mr. Symonds:

Shanklin, I.W., Whitsunday, 1895.

Dear Mr. Symonds,—While I bask in the sunshine of a most glorious day, I am writing you, so have patience with any difficulty you may experience in transcription. I was was very glad indeed to get your letters, to hear of the School, and a little of Peterborough news. It is the first news of Peterborough I have had since since leaving. I did not receive the papers to which you refer.

Do you know anything of the Isle of Wight? To my mind it is the most exquisite spot I have ever seen. I wish I could spend the remainder of my visit here. I came down from Exeter on Tuesday and remain till next Tuesday, and then proceed north to Oxford and Cambridge. Shanklin is on the east coast, and lies in a bay which land-wards ends in towering cliffs on either extremity. Culver House, where I stay, is directly on this bay, and while I write, look out upon the beautiful clear sea, with the sun shining bright and warm. It makes a perfect picture. I am quartered with some American people, friends picked up on board the ship, four of us in all. We have apartments and do our own catering with a separate dining room This morning I went to the early celebration, and returning the short walk was most pleasant. The trees and flowers are all in bloom, and the hedges are now growing white with May blossoms The whole atmosphere is fragrant with the perfume of flowers. Yesterday I "wheeled to Rutnor, a town more pleasantly situated on the side of the hills, than Shanklin. I fancy one might just as well make a wheeling tour through the Alps, for the roads though good, are all up and down, very steep hills. Returning I called in by the way, upon an eleventh century church now in disuse, but one of the places to be visited, Old Bondchurch. Here is the resting place of the Rev. Wm. Adams, author of "The Shadow of the Cross," and of John Stirling, friend of Carlyle's. I have a pretty picture of it which I shall be able to show you. Wednesday last we drove over to Newport and Carisbrook Castle, the place of detension of Charles I, and Princess Elizabeth. The supposed window, from which Charles tried to escape is still to be seen, with one bar restored. And we stood in the room where the poor child, Elizabeth died. Her monument erected by Queen Victoria in St. Thomas church, Newport, is a very beautiful piece of work in white marble. Thursday afternoon we spent in Ryde, making some purchases. These American people are great people for spending money, and they seem to have abundance. They bewilder me. The pawn shops were our special point of attack and they bought freely of some beautiful antiquities. I never saw such beautiful collections of old furniture, china, glass and jewels, as are found in these shops.

Last Sunday I spent in Exeter. At the 10.30 a.m. service, (in the choir) I presentedmyself for a sitting, and being properly adorned with clerical collar and silk hat, an usher escorted me to a stall near the priest vicars. The unaccompanied service sung by the choir was very beautiful. Canon Atherton preached a splendid, practical and up-to-date sermon. He is most popular in his mode of expression, and yet his choice of words is admirable. Again in the afternoon I attended service (Evensong) in the nave, well filled with people. About 5 p.m. I set out on my "bike" for Exmouth, where I made a short stay with some friends. The ride down was beautiful, it was such a glorious evening, sun on the wave, birds singing, and church chimes pealing from distant points. On Monday I made a closer inspection of the cathedral and was of course much taken. The defects indicated by critics were not apparent to my rustic eye.

Since beginning this "book" to you I have attended morning service at the old parish church, a big old-fashioned church, and service in keeping with the rest of the antiquities. They use the Hymnal Companions, and sing no "amens" to the hymns. As to church matters here, I have not yet had much opportunity to form an opinion. Carleton told me when I came that extreme Churchmanship was confined to a very small section. My first impression was that he was scarcely accurate, but I have pretty well altered my opinion. The great bulk of the churches have good services, but only the few advanced. Kensit does not appear to be placed at a very high value by anyone, and I should say that the present "difficulty" as viewed from Canada looks much worse than as viewed by the people here. I am anxious to see what the Archbishops will do in the cases of appeal recently tried before them. I forwarded you papers on the subject.

With best wishes to you, believe me to be ever yours,

Most sincerely,
E. VICARS STEVENSON.

THE WHEEL.

The first and second places in the C. G. E. road race this afternoon, were won by W. Peace and Geo. Hardill, on Winchester and Gendron wheels, respectively, which were purchased from J. J. Turner & Sons.

GOLF.

The Orillia Golf Team came to town yesterday to play their return game with the local men and were once more victorious, this time by a score of 20 to 17.

The following is the score:

R. M. Dennistoun, 1, vs. Dr. Gilchrist, 0.
F. C. Napier, 0, vs. John Scott, 10.
J. H. Burnham, 5, vs. Rev. N. W. Burns, 0.
F. C. Frances, 6, vs. Geo. Wilson, 0.
P. Campbell, 0, vs. Dr. Laidlaw, 9.
Fred Hall, 4, vs. T. J. Muir, 0.
H. Ritchie, 1, vs. Dr. Ardagh, 0.
Sam Ray, 0, vs. J. Wakefield, 1.
Total, Peterborough 17. Orillia, 20.
Majority for Orillia, 3.

Negotiations are on foot to have a team from Rochester visit Peterborough, as well as a team from Cobourg.

The Peterborough Ladies who played in Toronto yesterday were defeated by seventeen holes. Miss Boucher was the only local player who succeeded in defeating her opponent. This was the first out-of-town match that the Peterborough Ladies have ever participated in.

LACROSSE.

Hastings wants the seniors to go there for a game on June 9th, but the invitation cannot be accepted until the return of King and Bogart to town.

On Monday evening the seniors will play the juniors a practice game. As there are fully twenty juniors in good shape, the seniors will have their hands full with the bunch. Every man should be out in uniform as early as possible.

Reports from other teams state that the players invariably take a mile run after practice. The sooner the Peterboroughs give some one the authority to look after this part of the training, the better it will be.

The western trip has been abandoned as many of the team found it impossible to get away.

The juniors can stand more hard work than the seniors and come off the field fresher after practice. It will be quite a surprise to many when they see the team which will participate in the senior matches for Peterborough, this year, as the Executive states that there will be no hesitancy in replacing a senior, out of shape, by a junior who has been attending practices regularly.

The Lindsay team, which has been greatly strengthened since May 24th, will play the juniors here next week.

FOOTBALL.

The Y.M.C.A. Football team is away at Norwood to-day playing the return game. Two weeks ago the boys were defeated by 3—2. Since then they have had some good practice and expect to make it warmer for their brother kickers.

Norwood town team has re-organized and it looks like as if they were going to try and keep up their old record. They have good material for a team there and support is never lacking. It would be a good thing for the game if a couple of matches could be arranged between Peterborough and Norwood. A team could easily be picked from the Peterborough teams that would surprise Norwood.

Orders for Flags.

The citizens of Picton are presenting a new set of colours to Mr. A. W. Hepburn for the new steamer Argyle, which is to run between Toronto and Montreal and have given the order to Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, of this place. The flags will cost about one hundred dollars and will be made of the best English bunting. Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have also received an order from the Muskoka Navigation Company for one hundred life belts and a set of colours for one of the company's new boats. Messrs. Turner & Sons' business reaches all parts of the Dominion.

Hats that ARE Hats

There are all qualities of Hats—always have been and always will be.

But it is about GOOD HATS we want to speak just now—the high class hat that can only be bought in THE HAT STORES—the kind that never reaches the departmental or clothing stores.

Selling Hats is our Business...

We buy from the standard makers in immense quantities from two of the largest hat stores in central Ontario and control the most reliable, well known, world reputed makes of both English and American manufacturers, such as Youmans, Stetson, Hawes, Tress, Cooksey, and Christy, while others have got to be content with buying what is claimed to be "just as good."

It's reasonable to suppose that we can therefore give you the BEST HATS that the world produces at as close prices as it's possible to get such goods for—and a better class of goods than those houses that sell only "just as good" in a small hole and corner way.

Just to illustrate this we give Four Examples:

OUR 50c. FEDORA Is made of clear English wool felt and the quality brings 75c. from most dealers. We claim it is the best value in town. If you do not think so we will return your money. We guarantee this.

ENGLISH WILKENSON HATS $1.25 The "Favorite English Wilkenson Hat" made of fur felt, for which there is no special agency in Peterborough, and usually retails for $1.75 for $1.25.

OUR 50c. STRAW HATS We have the best 50c. straw hats in Canada, at least we think so. They come in plain split straw, Swiss, and notch straw, have silk bands, plain and fancy. If you can equal it in value elsewhere you can have money back. We guarantee this.

CRASH AND LINEN HATS Just now we are showing especial values in Mens' Boys' and Childrens CRASH, DUCK and LINEN HATS and CAPS and the prices begin at 20c. for Childrens' Tams and run as highs as 75c. for Mens' Linen Hats. These goods are particularly nice for summer wear.

CANADA'S OFFER OF ARBITRATION.

The British Government Makes Public Our Proposal.

THE VENEZUELAN PRECEDENT.

Rules Which Were to Govern the Arbitrators—An American Suggestion as to Their Appointment—Dominion Declined to Consider the Boundary Question Apart From the Other Questions at Issue.

London, June 5.—The Foreign Office issued a Parliamentary paper on Saturday night, giving in detail the proceedings of the joint high commission in Washington on Feb. 18 relating to the British proposals for arbitration on the Alaskan boundary. It says the British commissioners proposed the immediate appointment of an arbitral tribunal to determine the boundary between Alaska and Canada, from the southernmost point at Prince of Wales Island to Mount St. Elias, in accordance with the Anglo-Russian treaty of Feb. 28, 1825, the tribunal to consist of three jurists, one nominated by the Privy Council, one by President McKinley and the third to be selected by the two nominees.

The Three Rules.

The rules governing the arbitrators were as follows:

A. Adverse holding or prescription during a period of 50 years shall make good the title. The arbitrators may gain exclusive political control of the district, as well as settlement thereof, sufficient to constitute adverse holding or make prescriptive title.

B. The arbitrators may recognize and give effect to rights or claims resting on any other ground, valid according to international law, that the arbitrators may deem applicable to the case, which are not in contravention of rule A.

C. In determining the boundary, if the territory of one party shall be found by the tribunal to have been at the date of this treaty in occupation of the subjects or citizens of the other party, such effect shall be given to such occupation as reason, justice, the principles of international law and the equities of the case require.

The Other Articles.

The other articles provide for a meeting 60 days after the printed articles are submitted; that all questions, including the final judgment, shall be determined by a majority of all the arbitrators, the decision, if possible, to be rendered within three months of the close of arguments, and the employment of necessary assistance of scientific experts, each Government to pay its own expenses, and the other expenses to be equally divided.

The concluding article provides that the high contracting parties shall engage to consider the result of the proceedings as a full, perfect and final settlement of all questions referred to the arbitrators.

The American Proposition.

The Americans accepted the proposals as the bases of a re-adjustment, but proposed in addition to the Anglo-Russian treaty that the boundary should be defined in accordance with the Russo-American treaty of cession, or, as the same shall be established by the tribunal, under the rules hereinafter provided, the tribunal to consist of six impartial jurists of repute, three to be nominated by the Privy Council and three by the President of the United States. The Americans also proposed an amendment to rule C as follows: In considering the "coast" referred to in said treaties, it is understood that the coast of the continent is intended and that all towns and settlements on tidewater settled under authority of the United States and under jurisdiction of the United States at the date of this treaty, shall remain within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States.

The British Stand.

The British commissioners regretted that they were absolutely unable to accept the suggested modification to their proposition, because the suggested American tribunal did not provide a tribunal which would necessarily, and, in the possible event of difference of opinion, finally dispose of the question, and because the amendment to rule C was a marked and important departure from the rules of the Venezuelan boundary reference, which left all such questions to be determined by the tribunal, and because the words added by the United States claim that an effect should be given to their occupation of land in British territory, which justice, reason and the equities of the case do not require. The commissioners also objected that the language used with reference to the coast was open to misconstruction, and they were of opinion that it was useless to further press the negotiations at present, and that they must refer the matter to their Government for an exchange of views in respect to the constitution of the tribunal.

Who Shall Be Umpire?

The Americans inquired whether the British commissioners had considered the question of selecting an umpire from the American continent. The British members replied in the affirmative, adding that they thought it most objectionable, in view of the policy long maintained and recently reasserted by the Government of the United States towards other nations on the said continent. The selection of an umpire by any such nation would not offer a guarantee of impartiality, which was the first qualification requisite.

The Americans then proposed to proceed to settle the remaining subjects, as they thought it would be unwise to defer adjustments so nearly concluded. Several subjects were so far advanced as to assure the desirability of a settlement. If, then, all difference except one could now be adjusted, would it not be most commendable to advance neighborly friendship, and could not the respective Governments be trusted to settle the principal remaining difference by direct negotiation?

The British commissioners replied that all questions should be deferred until the boundary was disposed of, either by agreement or by reference to arbitration, because the manner in which they were prepared to adjust some other important matters must depend upon whether it would be possible to arrive at a settlement of all questions which might at any time occasion acute controversy

REPUBLIC ABOUT WIPED OUT.

Heart of the Mining Town Swept by the Fire Fiend.

Republic, B.C., June 5.—Early Saturday morning fire broke out in the Spiggle building. The wind was high and in a short time the buildings on the east side of the street were in flames. There was no water, and even if there had been it would not have availed much. For two hours the fire burned on both sides of the street. The open space below the Republic Trading Company's store was the only thing that saved the lower end of the town. All the saloons were closed by order of the sheriff. Banks and other business houses have started in temporary quarters. The streets are full of people and the ruins are still smouldering. The total loss is between $72,000 and $80,000; the total insurance is $20,000.

Treasurer of Howick Suicides.

Gorrie, Ont., June 5.—Some time during Saturday afternoon Charles Wilson, one of Howick's most respected farmers, committed suicide in James Galbraith's bush by cutting his throat with a razor. The body was found about 10 o'clock on Saturday night. No reason can be assigned for the rash act. Deceased was at one time first deputy reeve of the township of Howick, and only two weeks ago was appointed treasurer of the said township.

THIRTY MET THEIR DEATH.

Indians Drowned in Lake of the Clouds Near Laggan, Alberta, N.W.T.

Winnipeg, Man., June 5.—A Laggan, Albert, despatch on Saturday says: Between 25 and 30 Indians, men, women and children, were drowned yesterday in Lake of the Clouds, near the Canadian Pacific Railway, while coming to the reservation near this place to attend the spring "Potlatch." They were travelling in boats, rudely manufactured of cariboo and skins of other animals, when two long boats collided. Both vessels were rendered useless and entirely lost.

A Seaman Drowned.

Halifax, June 5.—The barque Charmian, which arrived here yesterday from Youghal, Ireland, lost overboard on the Grand Banks a seaman named James Meade, who fell into the sea by the breaking of a piece of rail on which he was working.

Last Wednesday the Charmian picked up two fishermen belonging to a Lunenburg schooner.

G.T.R. STRIKE IS ENDED

The Trackmen Have Agreed to Return to Their Work.

MEN TRUST TO THE COMPANY.

General Manager Hays Interviewed by M.P.'s—Says the Men Go Back Without Conditions—The Trackmen Satisfied to Have Their Case Arbitrated—What Chairman Pole Says of the Matter.

Montreal, June 5.—The Grand Trunk trackmen's strike is over. Mr. Pole, chairman of the men's executive, who, being seen, was asked if the company agreed to take back all the old men who were on strike. He said:

"Well, you can hardly say that we have an agreement yet, but we hope it will come speedily now. It is this way. Some members of Parliament, men used to action and to arbitration in cases of this kind, came down here especially to help us. We said all along that we wanted to submit our case to arbitration and they offered to take hold of it. There was Mr. Geo. Taylor, the Conservative whip, and member for Leeds and Grenville; Mr. Powell, Mr. Clarke, and some others. They were interested sufficiently in our case to come down here from Ottawa, and some of our men, who knew them, say that they are reliable, and so on. They saw Mr. Hays and Mr. McGuigan and these gentlemen finally told the members that they would discuss the merits of the case and discuss the propositions of the men through them. In other words, they consented to deal with the men's demands through the members of Parliament, who interested themselves, and in the meantime consented that the men should go back to work at once."

The Grand Trunk officials will not make a statement till the men make a formal request to be taken back. As a matter of fact, it looks as if the members of Parliament had asked the men to go back unconditionally and that they have agreed to do so. There has been arbitration, and it is probable that the men will return to work, relying upon the generosity of the company to improve their positions. The men say their places were being taken by others and when the engineers left for home the trackmen had little else to do but to get back to work. The general impression is that Mr. McGuigan will take back the best of the men and will do all he can to improve their positions.

Ottawa, June 5.—George Taylor and Henry A. Powell, M.P.'s, have returned from Montreal, where it is said they successfully interviewed General Manager Hays in regard to a settlement of the G. T. R. trackmen's strike on a basis of an advance of 10 cents a day within ten days and a subsequent reference to arbitration if necessary.

ARBITRATION.

The Peace Conference at The Hague Will Surely Agree Upon It.

The Hague, June 5.—The drafting committee of the peace conference on Saturday held an important meeting, at which M. de Staal, head of the Russian delegation; Sir Julian Pauncefote, chief of the British delegation, and Count Nigra, chief of the Italian delegation, were present. Articles 7 to 12 of the Russian proposal, bearing on arbitration, were agreed to almost without modification, though the American delegates declared that they could not admit the provisions of article 10, that monetary questions and questions concerning interoceanic canals should be compulsorily submitted to arbitration tribunal.

The entire committee on mediation and arbitration will meet to-day to review the work accepted by the drafting committee. The latter will take up on Wednesday the most vital question of all, article 10, which deals with the establishment of an arbitration court. It is expected that the American, British and Russian proposals will be welded into one; and there is every indication of a universal desire to reach the establishment of a system of permanent arbitration, the German delegates whose opposition was formerly feared, declaring themselves as desirous as the other members of the conference to arrive at such a conclusion.

JOHANN STRAUSS DEAD.

The Famous Composer Passes Away at Vienna—Sketch of His Career.

Vienna, June 5.—Johann Strauss, the famous composer, is dead.

Johann Strauss, known as "The Waltz King," and composer of the "Gypsy Baron," "The Beautiful Blue Danube" and many other popular waltz melodies, was born in Vienna in 1825. His father was a well-known composer of dance music. Strauss made his debut as an orchestra conductor at the age of 19, selecting his father's "Lorelei" and a composition of his own. On the death of his father he assumed the direction of the latter's orchestra, and continued giving concerts in Vienna until 1859. He then travelled in Russia, Germany, Italy, France, Great Britain and the United States and became orchestra leader of the court balls at Vienna, giving up this position to his brother Edward in 1870. From that time on Johann Strauss devoted his time exclusively to composition and produced the works that made him famous.

GERMANY'S ACQUISITION.

She Pays Spain 25,000,000 Pesetas for the Caroline Islands.

Madrid, June 5.—Germany pays 25,000,000 pesetas for the Caroline, Palaos and Marianne Islands. Spain retains three coaling stations, one in each group, and Germany undertakes to defend these stations in case of war. Germany, in addition, grants Spain the most favored nation treatment in Germany and in the colonial islands.

Success of German Policy.

Berlin, June 5.—The announcement of the cession of the Caroline and other islands to Germany met with a most favorable reception here. The arrangements, however, require the sanction of the Reichstag, which will fix the price.

A Dozen Little Things

Count in the jauntiness of a Shirt Waist yet most makers think them insignificant---if they think of them at all.

We see to it that the little things are neither skipped nor slighted. We buy of makers whose reputation has grown on careful, painstaking work, whose patterns are up to the hour---whose choice of materials is in the line of the best taste and the best style.

No; not a cent more to pay because these Shirt Waists are just right---not a cent more than you'd be asked for the baggy, sloppy kinds in the stores that keep them. Very likely our prices are lower. EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Conservatives were in office for almost twenty years, during which time there was no insolvency law on the statute books. The Liberals have been in office scarcely three years, yet the Conservative press are beginning to accuse them of negligence of the commercial interests because this confessedly complicated question has not been dealt with.

We are told, says the Montreal Herald, that at Friday's Conservative caucus at Ottawa "great indignation was expressed at the carving up of Ontario" by the new redistribution bill. The fact is that the carving up was done when the original county boundaries were defined. The new bill simply reverts to these boundaries in every case, and where a county must be divided, the "carving" will be done by a commission of judges.

Such a report as Commissioner Ogilvie makes regarding the official troubles in the Yukon would be a crusher against the charges of maladministration if made by an independent judicial tribunal. Made by a government representative, the report will hardly by many be thought so conclusive, even though the representative, be Mr. Ogilvie, in whom we have all confidence.—Ottawa Journal.

This is mere quibbling about terms. If "we all have confidence in Mr. Ogilvie," why should not his "report be thought conclusive."

The whine of the Conservative press and parliamentarians over the "gerrymander" of Laurier's Government is in exceedingly bad taste. Conservatives instituted and defended the system. If they are true to their principles they should be satisfied with the hand they get when the other fellow "strips the cards," and deals himself a royal flush, as they did when it was their deal. They "marked the cards," and have no right to squeal it beaten at their own crooked game, especially as it is played much more straightly than they played it.—Toronto Star.

The Star's hypocritical case does not apply to the Liberal Redistribution Bill. It is not anything in the nature of an attempt to get back in kind at the Conservatives. It is aimed to restore the proper principle of county boundaries and equalize the representation within these bounds. It is an act of justice, not retaliation.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Annual District Convention Held at Havelock on Thursday Last

The annual convention of the Womans' Missionary Society was held in the Methodist church at Havelock on Thursday, May 25th. There was a goodly number present, representing nearly all the Auxiliaries on the Campbellford district.

The delegates were most cordially received upon their arrival by Mrs. Dr. Jeffs, president of the Havelock auxiliary, and several of the members, and at the close of the morning session were billetted at the different homes where they received a kindly welcome.

First Session.

The morning session opened at 10 a.m., Mrs. T. M. Campbell, of Campbellford, President of the District occupied the chair and conducted the opening devotional exercises, following which reports from several of the auxiliaries of the district were read.

The afternoon session opened at 2.30 p.m., with singing, followed by a Bible reading and prayer.

Mrs. Platt, of Picton, President of the Branch, gave an interesting account of the progress of the work throughout the Conference.

Mrs. McCamus of Norwood, gave an excellent paper on Japan, using a map and pointing out the different stations of the W.M.S. as she referred to them.

Mrs. Ashton, of Campbellford, rendered a pretty solo, "I'll Tell Jesus, He Will Know."

Reports from auxiliaries were then given, followed by singing, and prayer by Mrs. Redner.

The election of District Organizer was then proceeded with and resulted in the election of Mrs. T. M. Campbell, of Campbellford.

Mrs. Ashton of Campbellford, gave a splendid paper on Mission Band work.

Miss Seany, of Havelock, read a well prepared paper on "The work among the Indians."

Miss Brooks, of Percy, gave an interesting paper on "The work in China."

Mrs. Harrison of Keene, sang a beautiful solo.

Invitations for the next convention were received from Keene and Campbellford. The latter place being the most central, was chosen.

Mrs. Phillips, of Campbellford, then read a paper on "The French Work," and Mrs. Platt followed with an address on the same line, both of which were listened to with interest.

The advisability of combining the "Monthly Leaflet" with the "Outlook" was considered favourably.

The meeting then closed and all present were invited to the basement of the church where an excellent tea was served by the young people of the Havelock congregation.

There was a large attendance at the evening session.

Rev. Mr. McQuade conducted the opening exercises, the choir leading in the singing of the familiar hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name." Rev. Mr. Johnston of Hastings, led in prayer, followed by music by the choir.

Mrs. Campbell then took charge and conducted the Bible reading.

Mrs. Denike, on behalf of Havelock Auxiliary, read a very pleasing address of welcome to the visitors, to which Mrs. Johnston, of Hastings, replied.

The choir rendered a choice selection, after which Mrs. Redner, late of Port Simpson, B. C., Indian Mission, gave a most interesting address on the work that is being carried on among the Indians of the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Harrison, of Keene, in her usual pleasing style, rendered a solo, and Miss Lawrence, of Campbellford, gave a recitation which was well received.

The collection was then taken up by the ladies.

Mrs. Platt, of Picton, gave a brief address, and the choir rendered another selection. Votes of thanks were passed and the meeting was closed in the usual way.

RUBBING IT IN.

A wholesaler in Montreal had one of the brightest and most impressive lectures on advertising read to him by a country merchant the other week that he has ever heard in his life. This country merchant is one of the ordinary merchants. He is a character in his way, a Hibernian, and with his full share of the proverbial wit. He was on a buying trip, and, passing a wholesale house, he observed paper napkins in the window. He went in to look at them, for he had sale for such things in his store.

"An' do ye have paper napkins to sell? he asked of the wholesaler.

He did have them he said.

"An' how the devil do I be knowin' that ye have paper napkins to sell if I don't come down here and happen to see them in the windy? Why don't ye tell a man you have paper napkins? Why don't ye advertise in the Witness? Thin we'd know what ye had to sell."

The merchant told him that he did advertise in the Witness, which was true.

"Ah, yis," said the merchant, "an' how do ye advertise? Ye put a cut of yer buildin' in the paper. Now what the devil do I be wantin' to see a cut of yer buildin' for? I don't care for yer old buildin'. It's what's in yer buildin' that interests me. If you have paper napkins, say ye have paper napkins, and don't be a showing us a picture of yer big store. That's the way I'm a-goin' to sell these paper napkins I am buyin' of ye. I put an advertisement in me paper at home to tell the people of me town that I have paper napkins to sell and the price they have to pay for them, and be the powers they come and buy them."

This wholesaler told me he had more good advertising sense rubbed into him in ten minutes by this merchant than he had found in books in the past ten years.

Jacob Smith's barn at Queensville, Ont., was struck by lightning and totally destroyed on Sunday. The contents, consisting of 800 bushels of oats, 1,000 bushels of wheat and a clover mill, with five horses and two cows, were burned to a cinder.

The Newfoundland Government declines to re-enact the legislation extending the French shore modus vivandi beyond the close of the present year, thus throwing the onus of passing the objectionable enactment to coerce the colonial fishermen upon the British Parliament.

Advices from the Island of Montserrat of the Leeward Group, British West Indies, report that 45 earthquakes occurred in a period of five hours on May 17, and that these were followed by frequent isolated shocks. Much damage was done to buildings and growing crops and a few fatalities occurred. The population is demoralized.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at James Lynch's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

THE TRANSVAAL.

The Pall Mall Gazette Says Kruger Will Make Further Concessions as to Term of Residence.

London, June 5.—The Pall Mall Gazette makes a forecast of the negotiations between President Kruger and Sir Alfred Milner at Bloemfontein, which is based upon information obtained from a high official at Pretoria. President Kruger was prepared, with the concurrence of the burghers, to reduce still further the term of residence necessary to the qualifications of a voter, but on an inconsiderate vote the Upper Raad allowed the Uitlanders to make a compromise on the education question, which will give an improved municipality to Johannesburg and grant to the Uitlanders a fuller measure of control over the police. Still, the declaration in regard to the Cape boys and natives will hold good, and President Kruger can impose upon them differential laws, which he says the London convention gives him the right to do. The question of the dynamite monopoly, The Gazette says, will prove the hardest to settle in the conference.

Germany Warns the Boers.

Berlin, June 5.—It is reported now that the interview between Mr. W. J. Leyd, the minister of the Transvaal here, and Baron von Buelow, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, was not of a very cordial nature. The Foreign Minister emphatically told the Transvaal representative that the wisest and best course for the Boer Government was to make peace with Great Britain, and, above all, to speedily grant reforms. This did not leave a doubt in Dr. Leyd's mind that Germany also wishes to see the reforms introduced.

HAS HE BEEN CROOKED?

John H. Henderson Said to Have Falsified Union Bank Books.

Montreal, June 5.—On Monday of last week John Hatley Henderson, accountant of the Union Bank of Canada in Ottawa, mysteriously disappeared and has not since been seen. On that day he left his house at 9 o'clock and stated that he would be back at noon. He did not, however, turn up at the bank; he did not return to his home, and all information regarding his movements since is a blank. Much speculation has been indulged in as to Henderson's disappearance, chiefly on the ground of some misadventure having occurred to him, for the bank officials strenuously denied that, so far as their institution was concerned, there was any reason why he should leave Ottawa.

Detective John A. Gross has returned to Montreal from Ottawa, and it is quite clear that John Hatley Henderson, accountant of the Union Bank of Canada in Ottawa, is an absconder. The amount of his defalcation is put at at least $80,000, and a thorough examination of the books may reveal an even larger amount than this. Henderson, it is claimed, has fled to the United States, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest by Magistrate O'Gara of that city.

Henderson, as accountant, did not have the direct handling of the funds of the institution, but, nevertheless, he was able to so manipulate matters by false entries, that the large sum mentioned, and probably more, was diverted from the funds of the bank before the method was discovered.

John Hatley Henderson is a son of City Clerk Henderson of Ottawa. He has been in the employ of the Union Bank of Canada for ten years.

Henderson is a married man, and resided on Lisgar street, in a comfortable home, with a wife and two children.

Admit $25,000 Gone.

Ottawa, June 5.—Inspector Billet of the Union Bank is reported to now admit that J. H. Henderson, the absconding accountant of the bank here, has $25,000 of the funds of the bank.

Hamilton Firemen Hurt.

Hamilton, Ont., June 2.—At 12.40 this morning a disastrous fire started in the stables of Charles Swenzer, which were destroyed. While endeavoring to cope with the blaze, five firemen fell from the second story of the stable—which is a three-storied structure—to the ground floor. Their names are John Woods, Sam Brewster, T. Glover, Hilyard Walsh and Theodore Smith. Brewster's right eye was gouged out and his head badly cut. The others were more or less injured, some of them badly. The injured firemen, when they fell, were promptly dragged out of danger by their comrades.

Leg Broken in Five Places.

Pine Grove, June 3.—Mr. Thornback of this place, whilst returning from Schomberg, had a serious runaway soon after leaving Kleinburg and was thrown out of his buggy in such a way that his leg caught in the spokes. As the spokes came round his leg kept breaking, so that it was broken in five places before he freed himself from the rig.

NERVOUS... DEPRESSION

Means Impoverished and Exhausted Nerves – Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food Restores and Revitalizes the Nerve Cells.

People who suffer from Nervous Depression and Exhaustion frequently look healthy and strong. They alone know the thousand distressing symptoms which make their lives miserable.

The lack of nerve force results in a slow and sluggish action of the heart, impaired digestion, headache, despondency, and a fear to venture, loss of energy, sleeplessness, incapacity for mental labor or business.

With these symptoms there is usually melancholy and fear of death, which tends to increase nervousness, but there is every reason to be hopeful if the right treatment is used. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food contains all the nutrition required to create new brain and nerve tissue. It imparts to the nervous system that life-giving principle which sends a thrill of new strength and vigor through the system.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food will cure by the building-up process, which enables the body to laugh at disease and weakness. Full cut and fac-simile signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on every box of the genuine. 50c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MOBBED AT AUTEUIL.

M. Loubet, the President of the French, Attacked.

HEAD OF THE STATE INSULTED.

Former Miss Anna Gould of New York, the Countess Castellane, Heads the Jeunesse Royalists and Marching on the Lawn Shouted "Vive l'Armee!" — One Hundred and Thirty Arrests Made.

Paris, June 5.—President Loubet, accompanied by the Premier, M. Dupuy, and the Chief of the Military Household, General M. C. Bailloud, drove to the Auteuil races yesterday afternoon, closely followed by Madame Loubet in a second landau. As they drove along the Avenue des Champs Elysees the crowd bowed respectively, but, on arriving at Auteuil, they were met by a violent demonstration. During the Grand Steeplechase many blows were struck and several policemen were injured in their endeavors to prevent an invasion of the Presidential stand. At the crisis of the excitement, while shouts of "Vive l'Armee!" and "Vive Deroulede!" were heard on all sides, Count Christiani rushed toward the President, brandishing a stick, and directed a blow against him, striking his hat. The crowd rushed upon Christiani, who only escaped severe handling by being taken under police protection. President Loubet remained all the while quite unmoved, talking to the Premier, while the officers of his military household were defending him against violence.

The principal leaders of the demonstration were M. Joseph Lasies, anti-Semite and Nationalist Deputy for Gers, and M. Firmin Faure, anti-Semite and National Deputy for Oran, Algeria.

Police Inspector Grilliere had his head seriously wounded in the melee and President Loubet has since decorated him with the cross of the Legion of Honor, in recognition of his devotion to duty. He is still unconscious from the blow.

The whole race course, particularly the enclosure, witnessed scenes of the wildest excitement. Comtesse Boni de Castellane, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York city, placed herself at the head of the Jeunesse Royalists and marched up and down the lawn, shouting "Vive l'Armee!" Comte Boni de Castellane and his brother Jean were arrested, but soon liberated. Comte de Dion, when arrested, resisted and fought with his cane, causing the jewelled top to fly off, striking a journalist. He was detained in custody.

Altogether about 150 arrests were made, one being that of M. Dansette, Deputy Mayor of Armentieres.

Demonstrations and counter demonstrations continued until M. Loubet left the race course at 4.30 p.m.

Count Christiani was thrown, trampled upon and severely bruised in the melee. He is a grandson of a general who was well known during the Empire.

The race course company apologized to M. Loubet, who replied that he could not think of holding them responsible. He remarked to an important personage that he did not intend being intimidated into resignation.

A special Cabinet Council has issued a semi-official note, which says: "The Government will act with the greatest energy and will impose respect for the President and for the state."

RETRIAL AT RENNES.

Text of the Verdict of the Court of Cassation—Sweeping Verdict for Dreyfus—He Will Be Brought Home.

Paris, June 5.—When the doors of the Court of Cassation were opened on Saturday an immense crowd of people attempted to rush through the entry, and for a time there was great confusion and uproar. The session opened at 8 o'clock, when the president of the court, M. Mazeau, after reminding the audience that all demonstrations were interdicted, gave judgment in the following tenor: The court, after hearing the report of the premier president of the Civil Chamber, the prosecutor-general's finding, and the application of Maitre Mornard (counsel for Madame Dreyfus), to the effect that a revision of judgment can be demanded when new facts are produced, or unknown documents showing the innocence of the condemned, and in view of the presentation to the court-martial of a secret document bearing the words "Ce canaille de D—," which was capable of influencing their minds, and which is not now regarded as applicable to Dreyfus, constitutes a new fact calculated to establish the innocence of Dreyfus; and seeing that two authenticated letters, written on the identical paper dated contemporaneously with the bordereau, were discovered in the house of Esterhazy, the writing upon which experts have declared to be the same as that of the bordereau, which facts were unknown to the court-martial, and tend to establish the innocence of Dreyfus; and seeing that the allered confessions of Dreyfus to Captain Le Brun-Renaud are disproved, in view of these arguments and without submitting others, the court quashes and annuls the verdict of condemnation of Dec. 22, 1894, against Alfred Dreyfus, by the first court-martial of the military government of Paris, and sends the accused before a court-martial at Rennes, to be specially appointed to conduct the new trial.

This judgment is to be printed and transcribed on the dockets of the first court-martial, alongside the decision which is annulled.

The court then adjourned.

Premier Dupuy then summoned the Ministers of Interior, Justice, War and Navy and the Colonies to meet on Sunday morning in order to confer upon the measures to be taken to bring Dreyfus back to France.

The Government commissioner charged to prepare the case against Dreyfus will be Major Garrier, a Catholic, and Captain Jacquet, a retired officer, will report on the evidence at the court-martial. General Lucas, of the 10th Artillery Corps, is a Jew, and will choose seven officers for judges. He has seven infantry regiments, two cavalry and two artillery brigades, one battalion of engineers and cavalry regiment to select from; but the general feeling throughout Brittany is hostile to Dreyfus. However, acquittal is certain, since there was never any case against him save the bordereau and the "Canaille de D—" letter. We know now that the documents are inapplicable to Dreyfus.

Dreyfus to Go Home.

Paris, June 5.—The Cabinet Council yesterday morning decided that the French second-class cruiser Sfad, now at Port de France, Martinique, should proceed immediately and bring Dreyfus from the Devil's Island to France. The cruiser is expected to arrive at Brest about June 26, when Dreyfus will be handed to the military authorities and lodged in the Military Prison at Rennes.

Madame Dreyfus Jubilant.

Paris, June 5.—It is rumored that the Government will ask the postponement until Friday of all interpellations in the Chamber of Deputies on the Dreyfus case, in order to allow the Ministry to deliberate on its course of action.

Mme. Dreyfus is overjoyed at the decision of the Court of Cassation. She has received messages of congratulation from all parts of the country and abroad.

Of the 47 daily newspapers which appeared yesterday in Paris only six opposed revision.

Zola Is Delighted.

London, June 5.—M. Emile Zola, who is now living in strict retirement near the Crystal Palace, but who proposes to return to Paris early next week, was naturally overjoyed at the outcome of the Dreyfus revision proceedings. He said that "Armel with the truth, I knew all must come right."

Town Clerk Arrested.

Orillia, Ont., June 5.—There is trouble in municipal matters in Gravenhurst. On Friday the town clerk was arrested at the instance of the Town Council on a charge of being $3,700 short in the funds of the municipality. He was released on $4,000 bail until to-day, when the matter will be further considered. The shortage seems a mystery.

His Life was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the quickest and surest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1. AGED MRS. THOMAS KILLED.

Fatal Runaway Accident on the Waterdown Road.

Hamilton, June 5.—About 5.30 Saturday morning a fatal runaway accident occurred on the Waterdown road, a short distance west of the Valley Inn, when a number of farmers were driving into the city to attend market. On one of the wagons were John Thomas and his mother, 72 years old, whose home is near Lowville. Their team was just crossing the railway bridge when the newspaper train from Toronto passed beneath and frightened the horses, which dashed down the hill at a terrific speed. Mrs. Thomas was thrown out with great force on the road. When Mrs. Thomas was picked up it was found she was very badly injured, and she was taken to the Valley Inn, where she died almost immediately. Both her legs, her shoulder bone and several ribs on the left side were broken. Mrs. Maurice Roberts of Carlisle received a broken left elbow and several bruises from the collision of the Thomas horses with her wagon.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's drug store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c and $1. Every bottle warranted.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

IMPERIAL LIFE INSURANCE CO.

OF CANADA.

Seven Cardinal Reasons for Insuring in the Imperial:

1. It Affords Unquestionable Security to policy-holders, by its large Capital Stock of $1,000,000, and its Dominion Government Deposit of $250,000, being the largest Government Deposit of any Canadian life insurance company.
2. Its Policy Reserves are held on the most stringent basis used in Canadian Actuarial calculation.
3. Its Policies do not Restrict the assured in respect to residence, travel or occupation, and are payable immediately on receipt of satisfactory proof of death.
4. Its Policies cannot be Forfeited after three annual premiums have been paid, but provide for surrender values by way of cash or paid-up insurance.
5. The Premium Rates Compare favorably with those of other insurance companies, and a grace of month is allowed in payment hereof, during which time the policy remains in full force and effect.
6. Its Policies are Automatically Continued in force after three year's premiums have been paid, for such time as the whole reserve is sufficient to pay premiums.
7. Liberal Cash Loans are granted under policies after three annual premiums have been paid.

His Leg Broknen.

In a football match between Campbellford and Keene, at the latter place on Saturday, a son of Rev. Mr. McAuley had both bones of his leg broken in the game. It seems that in going to kick the ball he missed it and his leg came into violent contact with the knee of an opponent with the above stated result.

The Advanced Guard.

Capt. Garvin, Quartermaster of the 3rd Dragoons, accompanied by his sergeant, Ed. Goldy and two fatigue men, both from the Millbrook and the Peterborough squadrons left this morning per G.T.R. for Niagara-on-the-Lake, where they will have the tents pitched and other preparatory arrangements made for the regiment which goes into camp to-morrow.

The instruction will be given each day at 2 p.m.

Grafton & Co. Fine Clothiers.

Never before in our business history were we taken more by surprise than this season by the unprecedentedly early and emphatic response to our announcement of new summer goods. As a result of such heavy sales so early in the season we are compelled to duplicate many of the lines of goods, both domestic and foreign, and have had our hundreds of busy employees working day and night to keep our stock fully assorted. As is usually the case in such emergency, buyers are apt to overstep the mark and buy too largely of some of the leading lines; however, you will find on perusal of our list that we have placed them at such marvellously low prices for such high class up-to-date goods that an inspection of our stock will make buying simply irresistable. To those who have already patronized us this season we extend our hearty thanks. You have responded to our advertisements because you believed them. We are proud of our reputation in this respect, its foundation is solid as the rock of honesty, and our standard for the future is based on our past. Our clothing goes direct from our factory to the consumer. That enables us to SELL CLOTHING at close wholesale prices. GRAFTON & CO., Manufacturers of Fine Clothing, 387 George street, Peterborough.

CELLARS FLOODED.

The Water Again Invades the Premises of Ormond & Walsh.

Last night's rain again flooded Ormond & Walsh's cellar. The gratings at the corner are of the worst possible shape, the waste paper and rubbish float down the ditches and the water holds this rubbish down on the grating and the surplus water rises and floods the cellar.

The attention of the council has been drawn this evil several times. Lawyers letters threatening damages have been sent them, yet nothing is done. A big action for damages will be the next thing in the wind. This is a small matter easily remedied and there is no excuse for having at this important corner of the streets these antiquated and useless gratings.

The use of birdcage gratings would entirely remedy the present nuisance.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. B. Oke is in Port Hope to-day on business.

Miss Lily Smith was in Millbrook over Sunday.

Dr. Ivory left Peterborough for Belleville to-day.

Mr. J. W. Smith left for Gelert today on business.

Mr. S. R. Armstrong, town clerk, has returned from Belleville,

Mr. Harold Nelles, of Toronto, spent Sunday in town renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Grant, Downie street north, has been quite ill for the last few days.

Mr. John Crowe, who is studying medicine at Chicago University, is home for a holiday.

Mr. Lionel King has returned from a tour in the United States with the 'Varsity Lacrosse team.

Mr. Victor McWilliams returned from 'Varsity on Saturday. He leaves on Tuesday for the camp at Niagara-on-the-lake with the Dragoons.

Mr. Waldo Poussette, of the Imperial Bank staff, Ingersoll, is home for two weeks' holidays, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Poussette.

Mr. H. McCrum, representing Paul's Ink Company, of Toronto, who has been in Peterborough for some time took his departure from town to-day. During Mr. McCrum's stay in town he made many warm friends.

Dr. P. G. Goldsmith, of Belleville, is in town for a day or two as the guest of Mayor Davis. Dr. Goldsmith leaves in a few weeks to take a post graduate course in the English hospitals.

Lieut. W. Hall, of town, and Lt. Gerald Hayward, of Lakefield, who hold commissions in "B" (Millbrook) squadron, 3rd P.W.C.D., left on the noon train for the headquarters of their squadron from which place they will march to Port Hope to-morrow morning, taking the boat at Port Hope for Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Mr. George Boucher, who has been home from Ungava, Labrador, spending the winter with his parents, leaves again to-morrow to resume his duties in connection with the Hudson Bay post in the far north. During the curling season George played with the Colts here, and his presence assisted them not a little in again winning the championship. His absence from town for the next three years will be generally regretted by his host of friends.

THEIR SPRING ROAD RACE.

The C. G. E. Bicycle Club's First Race of the Season Held on Saturday.

The annual spring road race of the Canadian General Electric Bicycle Club was held on Saturday afternoon and was keenly contested. The starting point was at the corner of Smith and Water streets, and the run to Nassau and back, finishing on the Nicholl's Park.

There was a big crowd of people at the finishing point, and the riders were wildly cheered as they shot by the finishing line. The only matter to be regretted about the affair was the retiring of Moesh at the last minute owing to some difference of opinion as to his handicap. It appears that Moesh wanted to go back to scratch from the one-half minute limit, which the handicappers had arranged, and not being allowed to do so he dropped out entirely.

The time prize was won by R. Sheppard on a Brantford Red Bird, who made the distance in 19—21, with W. Lankin a close second at 19—22. The best time made over the course before was 20—30, by Milne last year.

The first placce prize was won by W. Peace.

The following is the official score:

Finish.	No.		Time.
1	2	W. Peace...	20—55
2	1	G. Hardill...	21—22

VULCANISER EXPLODES.

Dr. Morrow has a Narrow Escape From Injury in his Dentistry Parlour

An explosion took place in Dr. Morrow's dentistry parlours this morning, which shook all the buildings in the vicinity with the force of the concussion. It was occasioned through the fastenings giving way which held on the top of the vulcanizer and as the doctor was standing within a few feet of the place, his escape was a hairbreadth one.

To thoroughly understand the nature of the accident it is necessary to explain that when hardening the rubber for the plates of artificial teeth the soft plastic material is placed in plaster of paris moulds with the teeth. The molds are then enclosed in an iron "flask" which in turn is placed inside the vulcanizer, about a cup full of water being placed in the latter. Heat being applied to the vulcanizer the water inside is converted into steam and heats the rubber to the extent necessary to harden it to the required degree.

The explosion this morning was caused through the steam forcing off the top of the vulcanizer, which was driven up to the ceiling with such force as to leave an imprint half an inch deep in the boards. Ricochetting off, it fell in the opposite corner of the room, fortunately, as if it had fallen on the doctor it would certainly have inflicted serious injuries, being heavily constructed. The flask containing the plaster of paris moulds struck just over the window and was driven so firmly into the wood as to remain fixed there whilst the artificial teeth flew out into the street.

The force of the explosion appears to have been directed downward as well as upward, as the drawers of the table on which the vulcanizer stood were forced from their fastenings and fell to the floor.

The Steamer Sunbeam will run to Stony Lake in connection with the Grand Trunk on Tuesday, 6th of June, returning in the evening. 2d

WORD OF HERMAN CROWE.

As is said to Have Been Seen in the Vicinity of Warsaw.

Word has reached town from Warsaw, that Herman Crowe, who was reported missing since May 25th, has been seen in the vicinity of the village since that time. At a choir practice held about four miles from Warsaw he was seen about the place and rode at night in a carriage which was being used to take some of the young ladies home. As the lad's father was arrested on suspicion of having made away with his son, this report if found to be true, will relieve all from a great deal of anxiety. It is also said that Mrs. Archibald of Warsaw, was talking to the boy since, asking him about his mother, who recently died.

A telephone message from Warsaw states that search parties are still endeavouring to find a trace of the lad.

MINING NOTES.

(Marmora Herald.)

More definite information as to the sale of the Gatling Five Acres is at hand this week. Messrs. C. A. Britton, of Cleveland, Ohio, and W. A. Hungerford, manager of the Cleveland Company, were in Marmore Friday and the papers were signed by Mr. A. W. Carscallen. The price paid was $25,000 The company have 600 acres for building purposes and intend erecting a ten-stamp mill at once.

There is serious talk of the Ledyard Co. selling to an English company shortly. In the event of another company buying the mine no doubt a large number of men will be employed.

A specimen of rapid loading was done last week when five cars were loaded by Messrs. Beatty, Mix, Quackenbush, Vanvolkenburg and McDonald in a little less than one hour. One was loaded in less than thirteen minutes. The cars were loaded with samples of iron ore and shipped.

CANADIAN FORESTERS AT DIVINE SERVICE.

Rev. J. G. Potters Interesting Sermon to Them.

STATUTES OF THE ORDER.

The Past Year Shown to be the Most Progressive in the History of Canadian Foresters - A Total Membership of 30,789.

The members of the local courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters turned out last evening to the number of several hundred and attended divine service at St. Andrew's church, when the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter addressed them, delivering with great fluency a sermon particularly apropos to the occasion.

The text was taken from St. Matthew, 18th chaper, 11th verse: "For the Son of Man is come to save that which was lost."

The speaker prefaced his sermon by extending a welcome to the Foresters in the following words.

Brethren—As a congregation we extend to you a very hearty welcome to St. Andrews church. We realize the honour you have done us on this occassion, and our earnest hope is that you will thoroughly enjoy this season of devotion as you meet to-night in annual session to express to our Heavenly Father your hearty thanksgiving for His constant blessings, as you seek to gain and zeal in the duties and privileges your obligations imply, and as we supplicate a throne of mercy for a Father's goodness for the year to come.

On glancing over the work of the past year, said he, we find that it has been the most successful in the history of the Order in point of increase of membership, no less than 5,686 new members having identified themselves with the Canadian Foresters. Never was the order in better condition, either, financially, and during the year insurance claims to the amount of $143,937.00, and sick benefits amounting to $83,858.65 have been paid, making a grand total of $227,795.71 paid out for the assistance of those in need. We are assured, therefore, that the work undertaken by the Foresters is a great and blessed one. Forty-seven new Courts were organized during during the past year, making a total now of 661, embracing a membership of 30,789 men who are banded together in this work of benevolence. The increase in the surplus is $108,407.24, being $25,000 in excess of the amount of any previous year, encouraging the members to enter into their work with even greater enthusiasm and zest.

It will be noticed, continued Mr. Potter, that the work of the Order is not with the text of the evening, as in the chapter from which the verse is selected as a basis for the sermon, reference is made to the benevolent work of Jesus Christ when he came to save that which was lost. The disciples were discussing as to their place in the Kingdom of Heaven, as many do in the present day, who should stop and think whether they are entitled to enter it at all. We are apt to mistake the entrance for the inner circle. Jesus says 'unless ye are as a little child ye cannot enter in." A child in this instance is not supposed to be typographical of ignorance, but rather we are led to reflect on the many lessons child life teaches us in truthfulness, lack of hypocrisy and the living out of principles that we live under.

There is no glory in doing good to those who do good to you. Jesus came to hunt the tenth piece that was lost. He sought after the hundredth sheep. He would take the despised and make it honourable. The great achievement of life is the use of all our powers, energies and talents for the object which enlarges our soul and draws out our heart. Our sympathies should only be extended to those in need of them. Men become great as they recognize the gifts which God gave them for the benefit of those who are in need. God asks us to remember that it is the lost which must be found; and this is the great object of these benevolent organizations which are founded on His teachings. They recognize as the object of their charity those who are or will be in need.

Christ once asked His Disciples to learn that in every man there is a truth and purity. How deeply sunken in sin had the age become, that the teaching of Christ caused His disciples to marvel, and yet it is the Christly teaching and principles which have made the world the mighty force it is to-day.

Messenger of Light,

Many men have drifted off from adherence to Christ and have become boastful and proud of their talents or means, but let us ever remember that all things are from Him. Some men's greatness keeps others aloof from them. They are almost unapproachable, but Christ came and revolutionized the whole world, yet none need keep aloof from him and the benevolences which flow from the hearts of men, have come from their knowledge of Christ. The Orders which have done the most good have contained nobler souls than the others. Jesus came for others. His life was a continued expression of God's great goodness, and an order which has for its motto Liberty, Benevolence and Concord must perforce be following in His footsteps by assisting and sympathising with the sufferings of humanity.

During the evening special music was rendered. The choir sang the anthem, "Hark, Hark, My Soul" — Shelley, in which Mrs. T. H. Martin and Miss Falconer took the alto and soprano solos with splendid effect. Miss Falconer also sang "A Dream of Paradise" in excellent voice.

On re-assembling in their hall the Foresters passed a most cordial vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Potter, the officials of the church and members of the choir.

CHIMES FROM THE CHURCHES

SPECIAL REFERENCES MADE BY REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

Other Notes of Interest From the Different Local Pulpits - The Music Which was Rendered.

AT ST. JOHN'S.

At both morning and evening services at St. John's church yesterday members of the congregation were confronted by a table on which was a plate, inviting contribution on behalf of the Grand Trunk Railway trackmen.

At the evening service Rev. J. C. Davidson referred to the matter. While everyone disliked the coercion and other features of a strike, and the unfortunate results upon commerce, manufacturers and public harmony, at the same time there did seem to be occasion when a strike was the only remedy against an injustice. It seemed to him that this was undoubtedly the case in regard to the G.T.R. trackmen, and he believed the whole community agreed in this respect. The answer of the Grand Trunk Railway Company showed that it was taking all the advantage of the congested condition of the labour market. It was time for the Christian church to assert and reiterate the principle that whatever might be the condition of the labour market, an honest day's labour was entitled to honest pay—pay that is to say, that was fairly proportionate to the amount of work done, and not to the number of men who happened to do the work. But this sound principle could be better emphasized by deeds than words, hence with every approval of the officers of the church a collection was being made in behalf of the trackmen. The men had not suggested or thought of this, but their position in needs after two week's idleness can easily be imagined. A liberal response was made to this appeal and had previous notice been given, the response would have been much larger. The rector also took occasion to refer to another matter in the same line. The clerks of the town were moving for a half-holiday or some other breathing space, during the two hot months of July and August. Their case was different from the previous one, inasmuch as the employees showed a different disposition in regard to the request and it was only a matter of arrangement and careful consideration as to what would not interfere with the business interests of the town.

The rector closed an excellent sermon by asking the sympathy of the people in the matter as well as careful consideration and private discussion with him in regard to the affair.

GEORGE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Montier of Prince Edward county, occupied the pulpit in the George street Methodist church yesterday evening. He took for his text, "Thou hast made him a little lower than the angels."

The speaker dwelt on the Psalm where the Psalmist, speaking of the glory and wonder of creation, was naturally led to ask, "what is more than Thou hast given him?" Then after further thought the Psalmist realizes that God has made him a little lower than the angels or as the preacher said, a little lower than God Himself. The speaker dwelt upon the magnitude of the work of creation and stated that all the Bible says about the wonders of creation is contained in one or two verses of Genesis. God simply said, "Let it be" and it was, but with regard to the salvation of man the Bible from one end to the other is taken up with the account of the plan of salvation, thus dwelling upon the importance of man in view of his creation, and the sacrifice that was made that this last and greatest creation of God might enjoy the destiny that God in His love desired for him. Yet while God could with a word create a world, all the omnipotence of God could not save a soul. Man could defy his creator and without the deliberate exercise of his own will he could not be saved. It was then for man to consider if he dare take upon himself that responsibility of refusing eternal life. The preacher urged his hearers to consider well the high place that God had given them and the higher destiny offered them, and further, their duty of making a wise choice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Yesterday was Mr. C. J. Rogers' first Sunday as organist at St. John's church. Owing to the change and the want of practice the choir was not in quite as good condition as usual, but it is expected that it will be rapidly improved.

At St. John's church yesterday afternoon a public baptismal service of a very solemn and impressive nature took place. Six cerements were baptised and one received into the church.

The Hymn Anthem entitled "To Prayer" was excellently rendered in George street Methodist church on Sunday evening.

The solo "Home at Last" durng the offertory by Miss Bertha Parnell was sweetly sung.

The solo and chorus "Something for Thee" was rendered in George street at the morning service by Mr. Mulligan and the choir.

The solo was very pleasing, being rendered with much expression and distinct enunciation.

At the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning the anthem "That I May Dwell," was rendered, the obligato solo being taken by Miss Hall. The offertory hymn, "Lead Me, My Saviour," was well rendered. The evening anthem was "Come Unto Me," Mr. J. Steers taking the solo and Mrs. Pearch and Mr. Steers the duet.

TWO INTERESTING TALKS ON HEALTH.

Mrs. E. J. Hoskin, of Toronto, speaks in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The first of a short series of lectures of great interest and importance to ladies was given at the Y.M.C.A. hall Friday afternoon by Mrs. E. J. Hoskin, Toronto, under the auspices of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Viavi Co. There was an enthusiastic and appreciative audience and after the lecture many showed their appreciation by going forward and shaking hands with Mrs. Hoskin and expressing their intention of hearing all the health talks.

The second of the series was given on Saturday when even more interest was shown by a number staying to converse with the lecturer and Miss Braden, manager Peterborough branch. The third and last talk of the series will be given on Tuesday evening, 6th inst. at 8 o'clock in the same hall.

READ THE PROOF!

GENTLEMEN,—I have for a long time needed something to make blood and build up my system. My blood was watery and thin, lacking strength and vitality. Last January a friend said:—"Why not try Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills? They will supply the oxygen your blood needs and give you health and strength." I told him I was very skeptical as to any benefit that could be derived from any proprietary medicine and had no faith in them. There the matter rested until four months ago, when reading so much about what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have done for so many people with impoverished blood, I concluded to give them a trial. I have taken four boxes and my unbelief so far as Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are concerned has been entirely removed. They are a splendid blood builder and strength restorer, and an invaluable medicine for weak, enervated people. This has been my experience, they having given me strength of body and strong healthy blood.

Woodstock, Ont., May 22.—Never in the social history of this town since the Birchall trial, has such great interest been shown as the "Cutmore Case" has caused.

Mr. C. J. Cutmore, 90 Main street, was crippled by Rheumatism and Lumbago during five years. He couldn't stand straight and had to be helped from his room.

To-day he is straight and strong; sound in every limb, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. Other remedies were used, but did no good. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

The Indian Casimir Hanged.

Victoria, B.C., June 3.—The Indian Casimir was hanged at Kamloops yesterday morning for the murder of Philip Walker on Saturday, April 15.

The last rites of the Roman Catholic Church were administered to the condemned man on Thursday by Rev. Father Lejeune, and he was resigned to his fate. Casimir made a full confession of the crime, and stated he was sorry that he killed Walker. About 50 Indians were admitted to the jail office yesterday, and Casimir advised them to take warning from his fate, leave whisky alone and to lead better lives. The rumor that the Indians would try to rescue Casimir seems to have been pure fiction, as the Indians now admit that Casimir is only getting "white man's law."

WHEN HE COURTED YOU

He didn't complain if you were a little despondent or irritable at times. Now he does. He's the same man. He didn't understand then. He doesn't now. Then he thought it was caprice and liked it. Now he thinks it is caprice and doesn't like it. But now he's busy getting money.

If he realized the full truth he would be more than anxious to have the wife he loves take the right remedy to restore her to true womanly health. Most men don't know that when a woman is weak, nervous, irritable and despondent, there is invariably something radically wrong with the delicate feminine organs with which her entire physique is in sensitive touch. There is one, and just one remedy, tried and proven, that will put things right when the feminine organism is weak or diseased. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It restores perfect health to the weakened organs, and makes them strong, clean and virile. It makes wifehood happy, and motherhood easy. It banishes morning sickness and all other discomforts that precede maternity. It makes labor light, short and almost painless. It helps to make real "new women." An honest druggist won't urge upon you a substitute.

Mrs. Emerson Allen, of Dorset, Ontario Co., Ont., writes: "I can truly say that I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best I have ever used. I was in very poor health for a long time, dating from the birth of my little girl. I tried different doctors and different medicines. I derived very much more benefit from your medicines than from any other I have ever used. I took four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I always keep the 'Pellets' in the house."

Fair as any vernal flowers
That illumine a woodland way
With their brilliancy of color
On a Maytime's perfect day
Are the maidens now before us,
With their wealth of tangled curls,
Whom we designate with justice
Springtime's lovely shirt waist girls.

Man might lose his faith in summer
Were it not for such as these,
Harbingers of rosy Junetime,
With its fragrance laden breeze.
When he sees them come, as blossoms,
On the street, away he hurls
'All his doubts of coming mildness,
And his blesses shirt waist girls.

Woman has more trust than man has,
For she'll wear a fine new straw
Ere the last white flake of winter
Has decided when to thaw.
Thus they ever lead men onward
(Those who won't be led are churls),
So at least these maids answer
Who are known as shirt waist girls.

Be the skies or fair or cloudy,
They will somehow look the same,
Just a sight to cheer a fellow,
Be he losing at life's game.
And if I'd a choice between them
And the choicest of choice pearls
I had rather see before me
Half a dozen shirt waist girls.

The CHARM OF BEAUTY

Not in the Features so much as in the Grace and Vitality of a Healthy Body--Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve and Blood Pills make Women Beautiful.

There's a certain charm of beauty in the graceful, elastic movement and clear complexion of a healthy woman in which the features do not play an important part.

The pale, sallow complexion and dull leaden color of the skin, dark circles under the eyes, headaches, pains in the back and sides, dull eyes, weakness, nervousness, despondency and low spirits are symptoms of weak, watery blood and improperly-nourished nerves.

No woman can be beautiful until the blood is enriched and the nerves strengthened. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a food for the blood and nerves.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food restores the energy and strength to a run-down system. Note your weight before using them, and the increase week by week as the brightness returns to the eyes, the color to the cheeks and the form rounds out with firm, healthy flesh, the natural result of rich, pure blood and a healthy nervous system.

Face cut and facsimile signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on every box of the genuine. 50c. a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CHARITY IN HOLLAND.

How to Aid the Poor Without Pauperising Them.

The difficult problem of assisting the poor without pauperising them seems to have been successfully met by the Dutch. A model in miniature exists of a community where those who have lost their hold on prosperity are restored at least a semblance of self support, family ties are preserved, education is afforded the young, and, in short, the utmost possible is made of the most unpromising material.

The poor colonies of Holland, four in number, are not, as might be supposed, a government institution, though at one time co-operation with the government was attempted which resulted quite injuriously to the undertaking. These colonies owe their origin entirely to a Society of Beneficence ("Maatschappy van Veldadigheid") organized in 1818 to meet the exigencies of destitution entailed on Holland in common with the rest of Europe by the wars of the Napoleonic era.

The necessitous individual forced to enter on life as a beneficiary of the society is provided with a home for himself and his family; also with the immediate necessities of living and, above all, with work, from the proceeds of which he begins to repay in small weekly installments the advances made to him. Wages such as are current at the time in the neighborhood are paid weekly, and there is deducted from them as an installment on the debt house rent not exceeding 20 cents, 1 cent infirmary fee for each inmate of the home, 4 cents for a clothing fund and a sum amounting to 10 per cent of the gross earnings for a reserve fund against family emergencies. A valuable contribution to each household is the ewe sheep provided by the colony and also to be paid for by due economy. Its milk, equal to goat's milk in quality, supplies food, and its wool is woven into garments.

The family, it will be observed, is always maintained in its entirety, the importance of the family life being, as is known, ever highly esteemed in Holland, while the large infusion of Jewish blood into the Dutch is believed to have also a strong and favorable influence upon the system.—North American Review.

No Limit to Happiness.

There is no limit to earthly happiness after a rheumatic sufferer has once used Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mr. John Clarke, Pittsburgh, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism in his legs for ten months. He tried doctors and numerous patent medicines without relief. One bottle of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured him completely. He has not suffered with the disease since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, price 50 cents. For sale at all drug stores.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago Wheat Futures Rose Quickly and Then Reacted--Liverpool Higher--The Latest Quotations.

Liverpool, June 3.—Wheat futures yesterday advanced, closing ½d to ⅝d per cental above Thursday's final figures.

Chicago, June 3.—Wheat market partially recovered yesterday from Thursday's set-back, but reacted again before the close. The July option advanced 1⅛c per bushel and closed ⅛c higher than Thursday. The September delivery rose 1⅛c and then lost ⅛c. The firmer cables and buying by commission houses and foreigners helped the market.

POLITICAL QUIPS.

Princeton is to have a professor of politics. An Ohio college would think such a teacher superfluous.—Pittsburg News

After the primaries have been reformed something might profitably be done in the way of reforming men that do not attend the primaries.—Detroit Tribune.

Admiral Dewey thinks that politics is largely a question of geography. It certainly keeps a good many politicians guessing where they're at.—St. Louis Republic.

There are a great many statesmen who would be in a bad way if it were not for their fool friends. Fool friends manage to assimilate a great many mistakes in the course of a year.

A Purely Personal Fire.

There was a smell of fire in the house, the deep gray odor of burning cloth. The man of the house began nosing about to find out what caused it. He prides himself upon his keenness of scent. He went across the room.

"Hum! It grows stronger," he said. When he had his nose flat up against a brick and plaster wall, it was stronger than ever. He backed off. "No; it's somewhere over here." At the door to the hall the odor was very pronounced. He rushed down stairs into the dining room. The odor was there too. He hurried down cellar. It was overpowering.

He put his hand into his coat pocket for a match. He found the fire by his sense of touch and went up stairs and poured a glass of water into his pocket. Since then he carries his matches in a box and is disposed to be incredulous when stories of incendiaries are narrated. He says conflagration, like charity, begins at home.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Storming the Winning Post.

William IV of England, who was bred to the sea, had no particular predilection for horse racing, but he so far interested himself in the sport as to take up his brother's stud to run out the engagement of George IV. Just previous to the first appearance of the royal stud in his name the trainer sought an interview to know what was the royal pleasure—how many horses the king would send down. How the trainer must have stared when he heard the sailor king, as if giving a command for a three decker to fire a broadside, order the whole stud—upward of 100 horses—to be let off at one shot for a single race!

"Send down the whole squad!" said the king. "Some of them, I suppose, will win."

WIRELESS TICKS.

If the wireless telegraph will insure the harless dispatch, there will be a great gain indeed.—Pantagraph.

Wireless telegraphy may be the first step to communicating with Mars.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

It doth not appear which we shall have first—a wireless telegraphy or a stampless telegraphy.—Detroit Free Press.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Possibly Speaker Reed has come to the conclusion that the house is fit for self government.—Detroit Tribune.

It would be too much to expect the next speaker to take up the cuar business right where Mr. Reed left off.—Washington Post.

It is curious how many men are willing to sacrifice their political futures by becoming speaker of the house of representatives.—Albany Times-Union.

General Grosvenor of Ohio says that if the west votes solidly the next speaker of the house will be a western man. General Grosvenor is a western man.—Brooklyn Citizen.

There is a demand for Reed's old shoes, but not for his scepter. There is nobody with the nerve to play czar over the house of representatives as he has done.—Washington Times.

Having dropped the speakership ball right in the center of the field, Mr. Reed has wisely gone far enough out of the way to keep clear of the ensuing scrimmage.

From the Roman Senate.

"How long, O Catiline, wilt thou continue to abuse our patience?" spouted Cicero.

"Oh, I don't know," replied Catiline, with a sneer. "I guess my little eccentricities of conduct don't make people any more tired than your speeches do."—New York Journal

LOCAL SPORTING PASTIMES.

SATURDAY'S BASEBALL GAME WAS WON BY KINGSTON.

BASEBALL.

A fair sized crowd attended the second baseball game of the season, which took place on Saturday afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds between Kingston and Peterborough, resulting in favour of the former by a score of 6 to 3.

The day was ideal one for baseball and the game as might be inferred from the score, was close and exciting throughout. While the local men did not come out on top, their playing was such as to convince everyone that we have an aggregation that can reflect credit on the town. McCabe at his old position in the box showed up in fine form and retired no less than nine men. His batting was excellent and when he sent a right fielder over the fence and made a home run in the fifth innings, the crowd went wild with delight. Graham who played behing the bat, played a faultless game, and held Dan down in good style. Paxman at first put up a very good game but his batting was miserably weak. Parnell at short stop and Sheridan at 3rd gave a good account of themselves and for juniors did remarkably well. Of the other members of the team it cannot be said that they were at all weak, and Conners particularly, who played right field covered himself with glory.

For the visitors Tuttle in the box was a tower of strength, and succeeded in striking ten of the local men out. The notorious "chick" McRae was on the team and held down 3rd. He made a few errors and more than once struck in vain at McCabe's curvers. The visitors are a much heavier lot of fellows than the local men but do not know a corresponding amount more about the game by any means.

Lionel King who acted as umpire in a most satisfactory manner called the game at about 3 o'clock, and the home team went to bat. They were soon retired without a run to their credit.

The visitors went in with McRae to bat. "Chick" sent a nice one out to left field and reached second. Robinson reached first on a pretty hit and brought McRae in at the same time. Elliott knocked out a dandy to Parnell who threw to Melrose on second, making a good double play. The side was retired with one run.

In the second innings the local men were again whitewashed while the visitors ran up three. In the third innings McCabe scored Peterborough's first run. Two whitewashes in succession were administered to Kingston, and in the next they got two runs which proved also to be their last. Dan McCabe and Conners each scored a run in the next couple of innings.

The ninth game was very short. Tuttle sent three lobs in succession to Conners, Grady and Sheridan, who batted nice flys out to second and third thus putting an end to the game.

The following is the score:

Struck out by Tuttle, 10.

Notes.

Peterborough was very weak in batting and as soon as they give this a little more attention, the better.

McRae did the coaching for the visitors in his old time manner.

Elliott, of the visitors was laid out for a few minutes in the fifth game.

Kingston was somewhat surprised at Peterborough's aggregation.

The next match will be on Saturday next with the Argyles of Toronto.

GOLF.

On Saturday afternoon the finals in the spring handicap were played off, the very exciting match between Mr. G. W. Hatton and Mr. [illegible], the latter winning by two holes.

Some claim that Mr. Holst must have charged his balls with electric fluid, his driving being almost phenomenal. Mr. Holst, however, positively denies that he brought into play any external force in accomplishing his victory.

The following is the result of the second draw in the competition for the two prizes offered by Mr. R. C. McHarrie, manager of the Bank of Commerce to those beginning the game after the 15th of September of last year.

E. W. Lamprey beat A. St. A. Smith by 5 holes.
E. W. Holst beat G. W. Hatton by 2 holes.
J. H. Carter beat Fred Hall by 2 holes.
E. H. D. Hall beat H. Ritchie by 5 holes.
C. Poussette beat R. C. McHarrie by 2 holes.
C. McGill beat H. S. Nicholls by 3 holes.
A. Morrow beat R. E. Wood by 1 hole.

Third draw, to be played off by Saturday, 10th June.

J. H. Carter vs. E. W. Holst.
E. H. D. Hall vs. C. McGill.
C. Poussette vs. A. Morrow.
E. W. Lamprey a bye.

CRICKET.

All Cricketers are called out for a practice match on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. sharp.

FOOTBALL.

There will be a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. rooms to-night to see if a team can be picked from the town sufficiently strong to play Norwood's crack town team. All those who are interested in football, whether members of the Association or not, are asked to be present. The meeting is called for 8.30.

Peterborough made a good start at Association football. Two weeks ago they were defeated by Norwood in an even game; last Wednesday they played a draw with the Otonabees, and Saturday they scored their first victory when they met the Norwood High School team in their return game. The boys have been practising as much as weather would permit, and have made good progress. The High School did not play as well at home as away, and this accounts for the difference in the score.

Peterborough got choice of goals and kicked with the wind. Norwood pressed for a while, then Peterborough took a turn at it and scored. Shortly after they scored again. Then came Norwood's turn. A good combination on the part of their forwards and some careless play for the Peterborough backs gave the opportunity and Mathieson took it promptly. Both scored again in the first half. After half time the home team pushed matters harder, but their shooting was wild. Pettingrew went back into goal and managed to keep the visitors from scoring more than one more. This finished the scoring on both sides, leaving the Y.M.C.A. team winners by two goals and winners of the round by one goal.

For the High School Pettigrew in goal, O'Brien at half, and O'Leary and McNulty on left wing did the best work. The Association boys all played a steady game. More combination was noticeable on the forward line, while the defence played a good, open, steady game.

This is very creditable for Peterborough. It is the first time that the High School boys have been defeated, and they have met teams from all the towns in the neighbourhood. If the Association team hold together there is no reason why they cannot make a first-class team.

There will be a light practice to-night at 7 o'clock. All are asked to turn out.

CHALLENGE.

I hereby challenge F. Mosier, of town, to race me from 10 to 20 miles on the road or from 10 to 20 miles on the track in a pursuit race for the sum of $25, or the value of the above. I have nothing more to say, so put up or shut up.

R. H. SHEPHERD.

Mr. Mosier accepts Mr. Sheppard's challenge to race, but limits the distance to the course followed by the road racers last Saturday, viz., to Nassau and return. He is willing to race for any amount named by Mr. Sheppard, and names Saturday next as the date for the trial of speed.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We have had considerable rain, but now we have the appearance of more settled weather.

Rev. Mr. Kirkpatrick returned home on Thursday from the Baptist Convention in Toronto.

The Methodist ministers are away attending their conference, which is held this year at Belleville.

Mr. Fisher is vacating his house, which has been rented to Mr. Blacklock.

There is considerable change in our village this year. About two years ago Dr. McKee bought out Dr. Gray. Recently, on account of failing health we understand that Dr. McKee has sold out to Dr. Montgomery, who takes possession at once.

Dr. McKee purposes moving to Toronto and resting for a time. Our village has had two doctors for some time. We wait anxiously to see who will be next.

NEW METHODIST MINISTERS.

NINE YOUNG METHODIST CLERGYMEN ORDAINED.

Bay of Quinte Conference Spends a Busy day—Civic Courtesies—Missionary to be Supported.

Belleville, June 2.—At the opening of the morning session of the Bay of Quinte Conference the report of the Nominating Committee was read by Mr. G. D. Platt. Among the committees is one for the settlement of St. James' Church matters in this Conference. The badge of office, a gold-headed staff, from the wood of the old Hay Bay Church, was handed to the new President by Rev. T. W. Joliffe, retiring President. Several rings thereon contain the names of the Presidents for some years. One brother feared the stick might be annihilated. A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Mr. Joliffe. Members of Conference were invited to visit the Belleville Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, and see the 262 occupants enjoying and expressing life.

Miscellaneous Business.

The presentation for an account for the expenses in connection with the case of Dr. Workman, led the Conference to question their validity, as the committee could legally have had no existence. But the expenses of their sitting was ordered paid, as usual in a case of any interim committee of Conference. On the question of the number of minutes of Conference to be published an hour or more was spent in discussion, more prominent men than usual, both clerical and lay, taking part. It was finally determined to order such a number as would bring each copy to a price not exceeding fifteen cents. Rev. N. D. Drew was appointed Journal Secretary and Rev. G. W. McColl, B.A., B.D., and J. S. I. Wilson, B.A., B.D., Conference letter writers. The work of the latter began at once, as they extend the sympathy of Conference to Rev. E. E. Howard, who had been dangerously ill here, but is now convalescing. The Statistical Committee presented an elaborate report through Rev. T. S. McKee. There are 259 less members than last year. There is, however, an increase of $20,000 on the sum total of church funds. The Belleville welcome, voiced by Mayor J. W. Johnston and Aldermen Doyle, Bogart and Jones, was happily given and felicitously received through Rev. E. Roberts and Mr. W. H. Reid, M.P.P.

The report of the Billeting Committee through Mr. W. H. Gordon, showed a splendid handling of the matter and fully demonstrated that there would be no doubt but that Belleville had the old-time hospitality. Next year billets will cost $2 each, if an hotel is desired $4 will have to be paid. Cobourg, where the Conference goes for 1900, is very limited in accommodation for such a body.

Rev. T. M. Campbell read the report from the Superannuation Fund Board. He very ably answered all questions put to him in the absence of the Treasurer of the fund. A strong resolution was carried deprecating any unnecessary expense in management, while at the same time loyally recognizing the able administration of the fund.

The Laymen's Convention.

A meeting of great interest to the laity of the church is the Conference of Lay Delegates to the Annual Conference. The members of this convention are representative men from nearly 200 fields of labour and represent all departments of work in the church. The first session of this convention opened yesterday afternoon. In the absence of His Honour Judge Dean, the President, Mr. R. Moment, Vice-President, occupied the chair. The devotional services were conducted by Mr. Wm. Johnston. The first business was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, R. Moment, Orono; Vice-President, Wm. Johnston, Belleville; Secretary, R. W. Clarke, Millbrook. After the routine business discussion was entered upon relating to the billeting of Annual Conferences, one delegate suggesting that the presence of the laymen was not really necessary to the business of the Annual Conference. This was not the prevailing opinion, but while appreciating the marked and kind hospitality of the Conference towns it was agreed that they should not place too heavy a burden upon the people. The meeting was adjourned to the call of the chair. About one hundred members were present.

Nine New Ministers.

An overflowing audience greeted the nine young men who were received into full connection with the Conference. They are Thos. H. P. Anderson; A. M. Irwin, B.A.; H. T. Lewis, B.A.; E. B. Cook, R. Emberson; A. J. Terrill, B.A.; S. C. Moore, B. A., B.D.; R. F. Stillatan, George McConnell. Their reception was moved in a most able and deeply fervent address by Rev. S. J. Shorey, and seconded eloquently by Rev. R. Cade of Millbrook. The President followed with strong words of counsel. Belleville and Picton Districts and the missionary laity of Albert College have undertaken the support of a missionary. It is expected that Horace Winch, M.D., medical missionary, will soon leave for the mission field as the representative of and supported by these districts and the college.

DEADLY LIGHTNING

Kills a Fourteen-Year-Old Boy on Hamilton Beach Road.

A MOTHER AND SON KILLED.

The Fatal Electric Fluid Entered Wm. Ladouceur's House at Penetanguishene Through a Stovepipe, and Killed His Wife and Son—Charles King Killed at Burlington—Damage at Galt.

Hamilton, June 6.—A severe thunder and wind storm struck the city about 4 o'clock yesterday, and considerable damage was done. The storm proved to be a fatal one, Willie Lawry, 21 King William street, being struck by lightning on the Beach road. His body was found under a tree in front of Tuckett's farm soon after the storm passed over. His face was burned and the right side of his body scarred. One of his shoes was burst in the back, where the electricity passed out of his body. Lawry, who was 14 years of age, took refuge under the tree during the storm. It is supposed. Alex. Murray, the well-known bicyclist, saw the body while riding home from the Beach. He notified the police, who brought the body to the city morgue. No inquest will be held. The unfortunate youth was the only son of Simeon Lawry, furniture dealer.

Two People Killed by Lightning.

Penetanguisheno, Ont., June 6.—During a very severe thunder-storm, which passed over here last evening, lightning struck a small log house about two and a half miles out, killing the wife and son of William Ladoucer, and shattering the house, stove and pipes and the wife's eyes. The lightning came down through the stovepipe.

Struck by Lightning at Galt.

Galt, Ont., June 6.—A very heavy rainstorm, accompanied with hail, wind and lightning, passed over Galt about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The stables belonging to the Baker House were struck by lightning and burned. The horses were rescued, but the hay and other contents were destroyed. Loss estimated at about $3,000. The dwelling house of William Mogg, St. James street, was struck by lightning early Sunday morning.

Struck by Lightning.

Burlington, June 6.—During the heavy thunderstorm which visited this section Sunday morning Mr. Charles King, a young man of about 25 years, was struck by lightning while in his barn, and was paralyzed from his waist downwards. He is a well-known and popular young farmer, and a fancier of horses.

Barn and Stable Destroyed.

Windermere, Ont., June 6.—The barn and stables owned by Thomas S. Aikin, about a mile and a half from here, were struck by lightning and destroyed early Sunday morning. Everything was saved except a quantity of hay, some poultry and a cutter. The place is insured.

The Heat at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., June 6.—At 1 o'clock yesterday the thermometer registered 91 degrees, the highest of the season. Christian Hoelzler, aged 75, was prostrated by heat, and is in a critical condition. Two unknown men were overcome.

TOMMY ATKINS' BANGS.

They Cause a Military Disturbance in the Royal Regiments at Halifax.

Halifax, June 6.—It was stated last night in army circles that there are between 100 and 150 soldiers belonging to the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal Artillery, confined to barracks on account of their refusal to obey the order of General Lord William Seymour, forbidding them to wear bangs on their foreheads and commanding them to cut their hair short, divest it of fancy curls or frills, wear gloves in the city streets, walk more than two abreast on public sidewalks and keep their watches and trinkets out of sight. Of the large number held in confinement less than a dozen are prisoners in the guard-rooms, these being the men who were the principals in the disturbance at the Citadel Saturday night, following the attempt of a score of more to pass the sentries without having conformed to the General's order. The order has caused a tremendous amount of dissatisfaction in the garrison. No serious trouble is anticipated.

BAYONETS USED AT BELFAST.

Nationalist Procession With Display of Banners—Several Conflicts.

Belfast, June 6.—There were exciting scenes here yesterday afternoon in consequence of a Nationalist demonstration, headed by Mr. William O'Brien and accompanied by bands of music and the display of banners. The Protestants threatened trouble, with the result that large bodies of police and military were stationed in the streets. Several conflicts took place, and the infantry charged the crowd with fixed bayonets. Several persons were injured.

A MANIACAL HUSBAND.

James Mallough of Dixie Attempts to Murder His Wife.

Cooksville, June 6.—In a fit of maniacal frenzy, James Mallough, a gardener, residing at Dixie, two miles from this place, attempted to murder his wife Sunday morning—pounded her in the face and jumped on her, and when the woman attempted to escape dragged her back to the house by the hair of the head.

Mallough had the hallucination that he heard voices telling him to do things, and in that condition Dr. Sutton did not think him a safe man to be allowed at large.

Believing his wife to be dead, Mallough went out into the yard to get a drink of water, for Mrs. Mallough states that she could hear the pump working. Seizing this opportunity, she managed to get out of the house by the back door and reached the farm of Robert Hale, where she was taken in and cared for.

The Cooksville Tragedy.

Brampton, Ont., June 6.—Nothing new has been developed in the Cooksville tragedy. Word has been received by Crown Attorney McFadden that the condition of the injured woman was not improved yesterday, although she states she will be all right in a few days. She thinks she will be able to give evidence to-day before Justice of the Peace Shaver.

DRIVEN FROM MORONG.

U. S. Troops Landed Under Cover of a Heavy Fire.

Manila, June 6.—Two battalions of the Washington troops, under Colonel Whalley, on board cascoes, were towed from Pasig to Morong on Sunday, and landed under cover of a well-directed fire from the "tin-clad" army gunboats Napidan and Covadonga.

The rebels, who were entrenched in the outskirts of the town, reserved their fire until the troops were ashore and in the open. The American artillery opened fire on the insurgents and drove them from their positions, killing nine of them and wounding five. The Washington troops then took the town, the rebels fleeing to the hills.

While the Americans were on their way to Morong, the insurgents opened fire from a shore battery at Ancona, their first shot striking the Covadonga's awning aft, at a range of 3,500 yards. The Napidan was also fired at.

Legs as Digestive Organs.

A Dozen Little Things

Count in the jauntiness of a Shirt Waist yet most makers think them insignificant—if they think of them at all.

We see to it that the little things are neither skipped nor slighted. We buy of makers whose reputation has grown on careful, painstaking work, whose patterns are up to the hour—whose choice of materials is in the line of the best taste and the best style.

No; not a cent more to pay because these Shirt Waists are just right—not a cent more than you'd be asked for the baggy, sloppy kinds in the stores that keep them. Very likely our prices are lower. There is no percentage of loss from bad bills or bad methods that we are forced to sprinkle over the goods that are paid for. We will mention but one thing here, but its to your interest to see them—and others—of our family of Blouses.

A small lot of designs in Blues, Helios, Pinks, Fawns, etc. Some are effective chain stripes, others broken line stripes, others broken checks and plaids, pointed yokes, and pleated backs and double-stiched. Materials are American Percales that will wash, our price for this lot is - - - 75c

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

The Story of the Negotiations in the House of Commons.

SIR WILFRID FULFILS PROMISE.

Brother Jonathan Wanted to Drive a Hard Bargain, With Everything in His Own Favor—An American Umpire—Their Settlements to Be Maintained Even if in Canadian Territory.

Ottawa, June 6.—In accordance with the promise made last week, that as soon as he was at liberty to do so he would place the House in possession of all the facts respecting the negotiations by the Anglo-American commission upon the subject of the Alaskan boundary, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, having on Saturday last received the sanction of the Imperial authorities, yesterday afternoon submitted to the House the last protocol of the commission in reference to this question. The nature of the information was such that Sir Charles Tupper afterwards frankly admitted that the position of affairs and the action of the British commissioners appeared in a stronger and better light than when viewed in the light of the information which was made known when the commission adjourned. The protocol as read by Sir Wilfrid Laurier has set at rest the question of responsibility for the failure to arrive at an agreement upon the boundary question.

The Premier's Statement.

The Prime Minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier laid on the table protocol 68 of the Anglo-American conference, which was published yesterday. After reading the portion relating to the offer to refer the Alaska boundary to arbitration, the Premier continued:

With regard to the rest of the proposal of the United States commissioners, I need not go into them just now, because they are purely formal, but I want to call the attention of the House at once to the difference existing between the proposition made by the British commissioners and the proposition made by the American commissioners.

The first difference of opinion was with regard to the composition of the tribunal. The tribunal proposed by the British commissioners was a tribunal of three jurists of repute, one to be selected by the Judicial Commissioners of the Privy Council for Great Britain, the other to be selected by the President of the United States, and the third to be selected by the two, or, in the event of a disagreement, to be selected by a friendly power, the friendly power, however, not being named. With regard to the possible question which might arise on account of occupation, the British commissioners proposed to follow identically the rule laid down by the Venezuelan treaty. The rules laid down by the Venezuelan treaty were in substance the following two: That adverse possession of 50 years, or the equivalent of possession, should constitute a title.

Mr. Foster—National?

The Prime Minister—A national title; that is to say, if territory were to be found, say, occupied by the United States, which, under the terms of the treaty, would rightly belong to Great Britain, possession of 50 years would constitute a title; possession of less than 50 years would simply constitute an equitable title, which was to be referred altogether to the arbitrators to determine what, in their opinion, law, justice and equity might require.

Sir Charles Tupper—May I ask my hon. friend just here, as it is a very interesting point, would the adverse possession by Russia, as well as by the United States, in this case count on behalf of the United States contention?

The Prime Minister—I would suppose that, under such circumstances, the arbitrators would decide in the affirmative, but I am not here to lay down exactly what would be the interpretation. We simply thought, under the circumstances, without going minutely into the law or ethics of the case, that all the law and ethics of the case would be amply met and amply provided for by adopting the very rules which had been adopted by the two powers—Great Britain and the United States—in the case of the Venezuela difficulty.

The American proposals differed from this. On the first point, as to the constitution of the tribunal, while we proposed, as I said before, a tribunal of three, one arbitrator to represent Great Britain, another to represent the United States, and an umpire, the American proposal was that the tribunal should be composed of six eminent jurists, three to be appointed by the British authorities and three to be appointed by the American authorities. With regard to the rules proposed by us, according to the precedent of the Venezuela case, the Americans adopted the same rules, rule A, rule B and rule C, but with this important rider, that all towns and settlements on tidewater, settled on the authority of the United States and under the jurisdiction of the United States at the date of this treaty, should remain within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, no matter whether within British territory or not.

To this proposition the British commissioners answered in the terms of the protocol, which the Premier read, and concluded by moving that the rules be suspended and the papers printed forthwith.

Sir Charles Tupper said: "I will, in the first place, ask my right hon. friend if he is not able to carry us further. This leaves us where the commission adjourned until Aug. 2, but it would be interesting, after the discussion that has taken place and the statements given to the press in the United States—statements, in fact, I may say, semi-official—to know whether my right hon. friend is in a position to take the House into his confidence as to the fact of an agreement or arbitration having been arrived at, or, at all events, for a modus vivendi pending arbitration, or as to whether arrangements for an arbitration having been arrived at between the United States and Great Britain, that arrangement was prevented by the fact that the Canadian Government were not prepared to agree to the modus vivendi as proposed? I do not

LUTHER ON FAITH ALONE.

The Catholic Record of May 27th contains the following reference in regard to certain passages in the sermon of Rev. Principal Grant on the occasion of the Presbyterian anniversary here. The Record, after a few introductory remarks, continues.

The Professor said:

"Becoming humble and righteous the Church triumphed over the Roman Empire, but in the fifteenth century the people of God again became as self-righteous as the Pharisees, and the institutions of the Church were of external merit only. Men began to store up their merits as treasures until the Church was again awakened by the trumpet call of Luther. He went into a monastery, doing penance to gain peace with God, but there was no peace to be gained that way, and his sins pressed upon him till he learned the truth that God loved sinners, and that His blood washes sins away. Luther then went forth to preach the doctrine that we are purified, not by our own works, but by faith in Jesus Christ."

Surely in thus insinuating that the love of God for sinners, and that our redemption by the blood of Christ, which washes away sins, was a new doctrine discovered by Luther, and unknown in the Catholic Church until Luther preached it, the Rev. Professor must have known that he was misrepresenting facts. Is he not aware that the Catholic doctrine is the same now as it was in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, and that Luther must have known it as a Catholic priest?

Centuries before Luther's time the doctrine of the Church was perfectly defined on these points, and we need only quote the teaching of St. Thomas Aquinas to show what that doctrine was and is:

"Though God, the three divine persons, is the efficient principle of our salvation the sufferings of Christ are the efficient means of salvation." In proof of this the Angelic Doctor cites 1 Cor. i, 18. See Summa iii, 49, and again:

"The sufferings of Christ were a more than abundant satisfaction for sins, and the cause of the forgiveness of the sins on account of which man deserved punishment, and therefore by those sufferings we have been delivered from the guilt of sin."

It is clear, then, that if Protestants know anything of the nature of our redemption by the blood of Christ it is because they have learned of it from the Catholic Church, and it is supremely ludicrous for them to pretend that they have been the teachers in regard to this matter.

The Professor is right in his insinuation that the Catholic Church requires penitential and other good works to be performed by the sinner to atone for his sins; but he is wrong in stating that these works are believed by us to have any value independently of faith in Christ and love [illegible]. Here, again, we may quote from the same chapter of St. Thomas, as cited above:

"The passion (sufferings) of Christ produces its effect in those in whom it is applied, through faith and charity and the sacraments of [illegible]."

It is therefore, according to the Catholic doctrine, through faith, charity and good works and not through mere "external means merit" that [illegible] are obtained, as [illegible] by the Professor.

Let us now see what Luther's teaching on this subject. It is true that Luther taught, as the Professor says, that "we are justified not by works done in Jesus Christ," but this teaching was simply a part of his system of [illegible] from this manner of reasoning it followed that good works were not necessary to salvation, as another article of Luther's creed was that faith alone is sufficient for salvation. Hence, as an obstacle thereto and sinful acts, and on this he harps so much as even to say: "Provided one have faith, adultery is no sin, but should one be destitute of faith, even though he honour God, he is guilty of a wholly idolatrous act." (Sermon on God's love.) So resolutely did he maintain this doctrine, that he corrupted the text of Romans iii, 28, to read, "A man is justified by faith alone." When charged with this corruption he said, coarsely and blasphemously:

"Should your Pope give himself any useless annoyance about the word alone, reply promptly: It is the will of Dr. Martin Luther it should be so. He says that Pope and jackass are synonymous words."

Dr. Grant does not attempt to maintain these teachings of Luther. In fact he requires good works equally with Catholics, for he says "not the hearers, but the doers of the law will be saved."

We rejoice to see that a Presbyterian divine thus abandons Luther's absurdity to accept the Catholic and Scriptural truth; but it looks very like an attempt to deceive the public when he tries to make us believe that this is identical with Luther's teaching.

COUNTRY IS GROWING.

Immensity of the 4-Paw-Selle Consolidated Shows Prove that Fact.

Historians have said that the last decade of every century is marked by great activity, social upheavals, wars, pestilence and other unusual things being bound to occur. The world is growing better, and only dyspeptic pessimists will attempt to maintain that it is not. Improvement is the order of the age, and reverence for established things outside of religion is almost a thing of the past. As it is in other walks of life, so it is in the amusement world. Theatres are now built at an expense which would have made the managers of twenty-five years ago stand aghast. Shows are conducted upon plans of such enormous magnitude that anyone who would suggest a possible future existence, under the present size and shape, only a very few years ago, would have been regarded as a visionary dreamer.

Perhaps there could be no better illustrations of these deductions than the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. great consolidation of circusses, which will exhibit here on June 24. Until two or three years ago each of these shows was considered large enough in itself to be exhibited in any city in the country. The growth of the country, however, has been so rapid, particularly in the urban centres of population, that many sites have been built up that have grown so large that they demand shows in keeping with their size. It is only a few years since the cities west of the Mississippi river could be counted on two fingers of the hand—St. Louis and San Fransisco. Now there are nearly a dozen cities that are quite as much a metropolis as New York was twenty-five or thirty years ago. They, too, demand entertainment on a massive scale. It is for the purpose of providing circus diversions for these larger cities, both East and West, that the consolidation of these two shows was effected. The Barnum and Bailey show, which so long reigned supreme in the Eastern country, is now a fixed British institution and it is not likely that it will be seen in this country again for a period of several years, if ever. Mr. James A. Bailey, its owner, is one of the directors of this new consolidation, and it is his purpose as well as that of the other operators to make this consolidation take the place in the Eastern country, of the Barnum and Bailey show. That it has been properly equipped for such a purpose there can be no question. Its owners are business men who would not take any sort of chance by placing an inferior show before the country. When such men state that their enterprise is the largest ever known, their word may be taken by the public in absolute reliance. So it is that there is more than ordinary pleasure aroused in the announcement of its coming here, and it ought to be, and doubtless will be, favoured by one of the largest crowds that has ever been seen in this city.

FAMILY REUNION.

A most pleasant time was spent at the home of Messrs. Wm. and James Fowler, sons of Mr. James Fowler, Sr., of Smith, on the Queen's birthday. About forty relatives were present and the event proved a big success. Mrs. Wm. Fowler had prepared a bounteous repast for the occasion, and all were loud in their praises of her ability in this line, and after having done ample justice to the many delicacies, a most pleasant time was spent in conversation, games, etc. The National Anthem was then sung and three rousing cheers were given for Her Gracious Majesty, Queen Victoria, and after thanking the host and hostess for their kind hospitality, all repaired to their different homes at an early hour, having enjoyed the outing immensely. It will be well to mention that Messrs. Wm. and James Fowler purchased the farm on which they live about ten years ago, and have since paid for it by their industry and strict attention to their labours. They also own the Trewern cheese factory, situated on the premises and have it rented to a Mr. Chittick.—Omemee Mirror.

THE KITCHENER GRANT.

Mr. Balfour Proposes a Vote in the House of $150,000—Bannerman Supports and Morley Opposes.

London, June 6.—Mr. Balfour, in introducing the vote of $150,000 for Lord Kitchener in the House of Commons, said the fact that the power of Mahdism was crushed was due to the genius of the man they desired to honor and reward. The Government leader expressed the hope that those who objected to the policy of the Soudan advance would not think that was a reason for resisting the vote, as such a course would be introducing politics into military matters. He then dwelt with admiration on the way the Sirdar had surmounted difficulties and organized victories by "his unswerving and almost superhuman industry." He deserved a signal mark of gratitude and honor, and he (Mr. Balfour) believed that in proposing the vote he was only carrying out the wishes of the House and the country.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Opposition leader, cordially supported the motion, while expressing regret at the treatment of the Mahdi's body, which he regarded as an error of taste and judgment.

Mr. John Morley, the former Liberal Chief Secretary for Ireland, opposed the vote on the ground of the treatment of the Mahdi's head, to which Mr. Balfour replied that he did not believe the element of vengeance had influenced General Kitchener in the smallest degree, pointing out that he had treated the Mahdi's family with the utmost consideration. The removal of the body, he also said, had been public, as publicity was an essential part of the policy dictating the act. It was the first duty of the man responsible for the safety of the men and officers left in charge of Omdurman to root out the fanatical superstition which had been the strength of Mahdism for years.

Lord Kitchener, General Lord Roberts Kandahar and the Duke of Marlborough were in the gallery of the House of Commons during the debate.

The House then voted General Lord Kitchener a grant of £30,351.

Henderson Was Slick.

Ottawa, June 6.—John H. Henderson, the absconding accountant of the Union Bank, was an adept in so manipulating accounts as to cover up his methods. Although the books have been under examination for a week, it is as yet difficult to say how Henderson managed to raise the money. Mr. Billett, the acting manager, referred The Journal to the solicitors, Messrs. Lewis & Smellie, for any information that is to be given out. The solicitors state that as yet they cannot fathom Henderson's methods.

Russian Proposals Rejected.

The Hague, June 6.—The naval section of the armament committee has unanimously rejected the Russian proposals.

THE SECRET DOSSIER

Will Give Esterhazy a Turn on the Spit of French Justice.

COURAGE OF THE PRESIDENT.

Strong Steps Are Taken by the French Government—Generals Mercier and Pellieux Are Now Both in Danger—Col. Du Paty de Clam Now Accused by Major Esterhazy.

Paris, June 6.—The papers yesterday praise the calmness of President Loubet throughout the demonstration against him on Sunday. In replying to the stewards of the Auteuil races, the President remarked: "You are in no way responsible, and to prove that I have no anger with you, if there were races to-morrow I would attend them. I am invited to witness the Grand Prix on Sunday next, and you may be sure I will be present." On his return to the Elysee M. Loubet said to those who accompanied him: "All of my family opposed my becoming President, and I had no desire to remain at the Elysee, but, now that it is dangerous to be the chief [illegible] of state, my duty is clear, and I will let my enemies, if I have any, be convinced that I shall accomplish my mission to the end." Of the 120 persons arrested in connection with the demonstration, 48 are still held in custody.

Esterhazy Accuses Du Paty de Clam.

The Matin publishes an interview with Major Esterhazy, in which the latter accuses Lieut.-Col. Du Paty de Clam of having, for safety, placed in his mother-in-law's house at Brussels extraordinary documents which protect them both, notably, a long report by General Gonse, discussing the plan to be followed in order to screen Esterhazy. The Matin's correspondent at Brussels confirms the statement that Du Paty de Clam left documents in the possession of the d'Ursel family. Du Paty de Clam's wife is a daughter of the Duchesse d'Ursel, grand mistress of the Queen's household and Queen's god-daughter.

Will Indict Esterhazy.

The Minister of War, M. Krantz, has ordered proceedings to be taken against Esterhazy for obtaining and using documents connected with the so-called "secret dossier," and the Minister has also issued instructions that proceedings be taken against General Pellieux for the manner in which he conducted the Esterhazy case.

Gen. Mercier in Danger.

The Minister of Justice, M. Lebret, has written to the president of the Chamber of Deputies, M. Deschanel, calling his attention to the reference in the decision of the Court of Cassation to General Mercier's showing documents connected with the Dreyfus court-martial, in order that the Chamber may decide whether Mercier is to be proceeded against for an unlawful act committed while he was Minister of War.

M. Lombart Removed.

Paris, June 6.—The Ministers met yesterday morning, President Loubet in the chair, and decided to remove the advocate-general, M. Lombart. The Minister of Justice, M. Lebret, was directed to begin proceedings against M. Tardif, president of the Assize Court, before the Council of Magistracy, for the way in which they conducted the case against MM. Deroulede and Marcel-Habert, who were acquitted Wednesday last of the charge of inciting soldiers to insubordination at the time of the election of President Loubet.

Does Your Head Ache?

Are your nerves weak? Can't you sleep well? Pain in your back? Lack energy? Appetite poor? Digestion bad? Boils or pimples? These are sure signs of poisoning.

From what poisons?

From poisons that are always found in constipated bowels.

If the contents of the bowels are not removed from the body each day, as nature intended, these poisonous substances are sure to be absorbed into the blood, always causing suffering and frequently causing severe disease.

There is a common sense cure.

AYER'S PILLS

They daily insure an easy and natural movement of the bowels.

You will find that the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

with the pills will hasten recovery. It cleanses the blood from all impurities and is a great tonic to the nerves.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

know whether my hon. friend is free to make any further communication, but, if so, should be glad to have them made now."

The Prime Minister—There is no proposal whatever, I am at liberty to say, for a modus vivendi pending the negotiation. What was proposed was the terms of an arbitration for a permanent settlement of this boundary, and these are under negotiation at this moment. I am not in a position, and regret it very much, as the negotiations are still pending, to give to the House a communication of what is taking place. There have been communications in the American press imputing one thing and another to Canada, but so long as the negotiations are pending I have no authority from the Imperial Government to make any communication to the House. With regard to a modus vivendi, I may say there has been no proposal to have one, but a proposition was made to have a permanent boundary established on the Lynn Canal. For the last two years we have had a provisional boundary, accepted by both countries, on the summit of White Pass and the summit of Chilkoot Pass, and a proposal was made a few days ago to have a provisional boundary put up on the Dalton Trail. We have sent a proposition in accordance with that, and I believe I will be in a position very soon to lay it before the House.

Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper—I may say the full statement of the protocols, what they really are, as they exist between the two parties, were pretty fairly understood before, and this brings me to the conclusion that the position I took was the correct one, namely, that the statement of the difficulty or impulse at which the commissioners had arrived with regard to the boundary question and the remission of that for diplomatic treatment between the United States and Great Britain virtually amounted to a suspension of the proceedings, and that the British commissioners ought not to have adjourned the proceedings of the commission, which practically were arrested until the question was disposed of. As the case was stated by the communication made to the public under the authority of my right hon. friend and the Hon. Mr. Fairbanks, the leader of the American commission, it appeared that although this difficulty had been reached in dealing with the question of the boundary, notwithstanding that they had adjourned, after having remitted that question to their respective Governments, to the 2nd day of August, and without stating that the meeting on the 2nd day of August would only take place in case this subject in the meantime were referred to arbitration and the question practically settled by an international arbitration agreeable to both countries. I think, therefore, that the position taken by the Government on that occasion, as now explained by this protocol, and the statement with which we are now favored, brings us very much to the same conclusion, that the action taken, and I think taken very properly, by Her Majesty's commission on this question was that until the Alaskan boundary question was absolutely removed by settlement or by arbitration being arranged for no further proceedings should take place. I merely mention that in passing, because it, to my mind, presents the position taken by Her Majesty's commissioners on that occasion in a stronger and better light than I viewed the fight on the information we had when the commission broke up. I say that I called the attention of my hon. friend some time ago to what I regarded as a question that might assume a good deal of importance, and that was the adoption of the Venezuela question as the one to be followed in the case of the Alaskan boundary.

How the United States of America could for a single moment raise the question or any controversy upon a proposal such as the British commissioners made, that the Venezuela precedent should be taken and adopted in the case of the Alaskan boundary, I am entirely at a loss to imagine. Because, as all knew, the Foreign Secretary and Prime Minister of Great Britain, Lord Salisbury, receded very much from the position he originally took in regard to the question, a compromise was arrived at by which Great Britain agreed not to press her claim in any territory which was shown had any adverse possession for over 50 years. This was a great concession. What I feared was that the adoption of that reference in the case of Alaska might raise a very important question. It is true that it is only about 27 years, I think, since the United States of America came into possession of Alaska, making their purchase from Russia and acquiring the rights of Russia as they were under the treaty of 1825. But the treaty of 1825 between Russia and Great Britain carries away back for over 70 years, and we remember that my right hon. friend, and also, and more especially, the Minister of the Interior (Mr. Sifton), notwithstanding a very strong caution from this side of the House, made a declaration on the floor of Parliament that adverse possession had been along that coast from time immemorial. That is the term used, I think, by the Minister of the Interior, meaning that it had been in possession of Russia and afterwards the United States, the purchaser of Russia's claims.

I want to draw my right hon. friend's attention before it becomes too late, and until the matter is finally closed it is not too late, to the fact that, so far as the Venezuela boundary was concerned, it was a matter of comparative indifference to Great Britain whether this settlement or that settlement along the line in controversy should fall to one country or the other, but it is a matter of immense importance to Canada that adverse possession should not establish a title to anything that was not included as belonging to Russia under the treaty of 1825. That treaty between Russia and Great Britain established an actual line of demarcation as well as could be established on paper.

It provides that the boundary should be a certain parallel of longitude, until you come to Mount St. Elias, and from Mount St. Elias down to Prince of Wales' Island the coast line is the matter in controversy.

The great point of contention between Great Britain and the United States is what was meant by the "coast line," whether it should follow the general coast line, or whether it should include the upper waters of the indentations or inlets, the contention of Great Britain always having been that the coast line should follow along the general contour of the sea coast, not regarding the inlets, or not following these inlets to their upper waters. The point I wish to call special attention to is whether Russia might not set up a claim that she has been in possession of that territory, and that, under the reference in which the Venezuela precedent was followed, the international experts would be precluded from declaring this to be territory belonging to Canada; so, it might become a matter of the most vital importance to establish how far back the United States or the Russian claim of possession adverse to Great Britain could go, so far as to affect this line from Mount St. Elias to Prince of Wales' Island. I did not intend to raise any controversy or discussion, further than to draw my right hon. friend's attention to that, as it might be an important point to consider before matters are concluded, and to express the confident hope that under the arrangements that appear to have been pretty well arrived at by the peace conference, this matter will undoubtedly be settled at no distant day by a reference to an international board of arbitration.

The Premier's Reply.

The Prime Minister—If my hon. friends in the House will permit me, I desire to make only one or two observations upon the lines he has advanced. We came to the conclusion, after giving the matter our best thought, that the only rule which could be adopted in the position of things which existed in that distant part of the country, were the rules so recently adopted for the settlement of the Venezuelan difficulty. With regard to the occupation of Russia, I do not know how far it is a matter at the moment affecting the case. Supposing it to be true that Russia had, at the head of the Lynn Canal, for instance, such possession or occupation as would constitute a title under the terms of the Venezuelan treaty, still the fact remains that under our construction of the treaty the line crosses the Lynn Canal at a point which would leave those settlements clearly within Canadian territory. If it be determined by the arbitrators that is the real line under the treaty of 1825, then Russia, by recognizing that line as the boundary, clearly governs her claim to the territory on which those settlements were, notwithstanding that she had those settlements, and was, in that sense, in possession.

I will not follow the argument further, I hope, with my hon. friend; in fact, I feel sure, with him, that we shall have the question referred, and I hope before long, to arbitration. The experts and lawyers will find abundant work in the settlement of the questions involved, and I do not know that any discussion in Parliament to-day can throw more light on the subject.

Only One Question to View.

Mr. N. Clarke Wallace—The Prime Minister has stated that the British blue books contain the information he has imparted to us in those protocols. I would like to ask if the British blue books contain information about the other subjects that were under consideration by the commissioners.

The Prime Minister—No; they contain no information on the other subjects. This subject of the boundary was referred by the commissioners to their respective Governments, the Government of Great Britain and the Government of the United States. Therefore, the question is no longer within the jurisdiction of the commission, and that is the reason why it has been given to the public now. The other matters are still under consideration, and within the jurisdiction of the commission.

The motion was agreed to.

WORKED TWO HOURS.

The Grand Trunk Trackmen Still Out of Work—Read Between the Lines of These Despatches for the Causes.

Toronto, June 6.—The G.T.R. trackmen went out again yesterday, and the strike, according to present prospects, is still unsettled. Acting upon the instructions received by the strikers from the committee in Montreal, work was resumed yesterday morning at 7 o'clock. Everything went smoothly until 9.30, when the men were requested to return their tools to the toolhouses and apply to Mr. O'Dell, the local roadmaster. They were informed that they were no longer employes of the road, and if they desired work must apply for it individually through the proper channels.

What the Company Will Do.

Montreal, June 6.—The fact of the matter is the company will not take back all of the men, as they declare that it would be unfair to dismiss men who had stood by the company while the others were out on strike. Yet about three-quarters of the 1,800 men will be taken back. The officials state that the process of taking back will begin when the men make a formal request to be restored to their former places.

Men's Executive Meets.

The executive committee of the Grand Trunk trackmen and Organizer Lowe held a conference last night in regard to a large number of complaints that had been received, stating that the men would not be taken back to work.

The executive committee having brought on the strike, and it having failed, are evidently unable to meet the men's demands.

Blame the Committee.

Hamilton, June 6.—There is much consternation among the local trackmen of the G.T.R., who have refused to make personal applications for their positions, and will not return to work. They speak harshly of the committee for ordering them back without a word of explanation, and suggest that the committee and Organizer Lowe have been "fixed."

One trackman said he would lynch Lowe if he could lay hands on him. All the men in this district are still out and the secretary last night sent a telegram to the Toronto union, asking that another committee be formed to carry on the strike.

Are You Still in Suffering and Misery?

HAVE CONTINUED DISAPPOINTMENTS MADE YOU DESPONDENT?

Paine's Celery Compound

Guarantees Safety and Good Health.

There are thousands of well meaning people in our Dominion who are either adding to their burdens of physical sufferings, or who are making so little progress in banishing disease from their bodies that they are continually despondent and miserable.

The people we refer to are the men and women who are placing their confidence in the many advertised pills, tablets, sarsaparillas and nervines that have little or no medicinal value to commend them.

The tens of thousands in Canada who are at present using Paine's Celery Compound for the banishment of blood diseases, nervous affections, rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, liver and kidney complaints, are the wise and prudent. They have been guided by the advice of relatives, friends and neighbours, who have found new life, health and strength from Paine's Celery Compound.

The continued flow of testimonials from cured people is the strongest proof that Paine's Celery Compound is the only salvation of the sick, the one true friend that never disappoints when disease threatens life.

Are you, dear reader, one of the many disappointed ones, still in the death grasp of some serious ailment? If you are, we would counsel you to throw aside the useless medicines you are now using and give Paine's Celery Compound an honest trial.

The great medicine is a prescription of one of the ablest medical men that ever lived, and is endorsed by the highest practitioners. You must use it if you would have a new and happy lease of life.

The Opposition Leader.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at James Lynch's drug store as their giving away to their many customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable remedy, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis, croup, and all throat and lung diseases are quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 50c and $1. Every bottle warranted.

BASEBALL.

It is much to be regretted that the baseball match on Saturday last was not a financial success. The expense of bringing a team here like Kingston is certainly great, and the style of baseball that is put up is well worth more consideration than that it is receiving. The coming Saturday will see another fast game, when the Argyles of Toronto, senior amateur champions of that city, will play the local men. The management is at considerable expense in bringing the team here, and the citizens of the town who enjoy a good game of ball, ought to turn out in large numbers to see the match.

YESTERDAYS STORM.

Considerable Damage Done Throughout the Town.

Peterborough was yesterday afternoon visited by a terrific thunder storm, which continued for about one hour during which time it caused much devastation.

Those who saw the rush of water down George street, between Brock and Simcoe streets say that it was the worst in many a year. The grates at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, became clogged up and would not allow the water to pass down into the sewer. The result was that the water accumulated to such an extent that it flowed over the pavement into Ormond & Walsh's cellar causing a great deal of damage.

In other parts of the town it was as bad. The dam at G. Walter Green's foundry broke away, letting an immense quantity of water rush down, bringing boards, cordwood, logs and such stuff with it. The water flooded several streets in the vicinity of the creek including Brock and McDonnel streets. Down at Dalhousie street, where the workmen are engaged making the approaches for the new bridge, a great deal of the bank was torn away, a temporary bridge carried off, and for a while it resembled a drive of logs coming down the Otonabee.

At the bay where the creek enters there is a great quantity of debris which came from various points along the banks of the stream.

But the destruction was by no means confined to the rush of water, for throughout the town fallen trees show signs of the violent wind which accompanied the hail and rain. At Mr. E. B. Edward's sixteen large pine trees fell victims to the wind storm, as did also Mr. Edward's windmill.

SMELL OF COAL OIL.

It Comes Strongly From the Sewer Manholes - Has a Well Been Tapped?

Town Engineer Hay reports that the sewers are giving forth odours which are strongly redolent of coal-oil. An examination shows that the waste water, etc., which runs through the sewers is impregnated with the oil, especially in the lower part of the town, and the river at the mouth of the sewer's outlet gives evidence of a vast amount of oil being discharged into it.

The Town Engineer cannot determine whether a coal oil tank has burst in some cellar, or whether the sewer taps a coal oil well, but the fact remains that from every manhole in the centre of the town comes the odour of coal oil.

AT THE POLICE COURT.

Two Cases Came up Before Magistrate Dumble this Morning.

At the police court this morning Benjamin Hobson, alias Andrew Phillips, was up on a charge of representing himself as one Andrew Phillips, and obtaining the sum of five dollars from Mr. G. W. Hatton, to which charge he pleaded guilty, and on the request of County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood, was remanded for one week, when he will face a second charge of forgery.

It appears that Hobson, who is a stranger in town came to Mr. Hatton on Saturday last, representing himself to be Andrew Phillips, and requested to be paid for some wood which he claimed he had piled, but which account was disputed by Mr. Hatton, as the man Phillips claimed that he had piled more wood than Mr. Hatton had been billed for from the wood dealer. Mr. Hatton asked the man whom he supposed was Phillips, if he had not offered to settle the account at one time for $5 to which Hobson replied that he had, and would do so now. Mr. Hatton therefore gave him a cheque for five dollars to which Hobson forged Phillips name and received the money. On Monday he came back to Mr. Hatton and asked to be given two dollars and a half, to get out of town as he had very foolishly spent the $5 and wanted to get away. Mr. Hatton, knowing the Phillips' family to be very honest and respectable people gave the villian the money when he got drunk again.

Mr. Hattoo on making enquiries found out that the man was not Phillips at all and had him locked up with the above mentioned result.

Jas. Ellis, a tough looking character appeared before Magistrate Dumble charged with entering upon a car of the Canadian Pacific Railroad without the knowledge of the company. Prisoner made a humble plea for his liberty, claiming that he was on his way from Toronto to Montreal and that being an American he was not aware of the law in regard to travelling or on railroads. The magistrate pointed out to him that ignorance of the law excuses no person and subjected him to a fine of five dollars or ten days in jail. He went up.

IN THE COUNTY POLICE COURT

Two Cases Came up Before Magestrate Edmison.

At the county police court yesterday before Magistrate Edmison, Christina Doin, of Ashburnham, was brought up on a charge of insanity and remanded again until Thuraday. The prisoner at times appears to be all right and since she has been confined to jail showed no signs of insanity. Before she was taken in custody however, she had been an inmate of the House of Providence, where she became quite vicious. She has a brother in an insane institution and her mother is also demented.

A young man from the country pleaded guilty to driving furiously over the locks bridge on Saturday and was fined five dollars.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. H. G. DENNE, Chairman.

The report was adopted after clause 2 was amended to read that the Battalion Band receive $300 instead of $250.

Ald. Hall moved that the grants to the Salvation Army Band and the Sons of England be struck out of the report. Ald. Best seconded the motion, which was lost.

APPOINTMENTS AND LICENSES.

Committee reported as appended through its chairman, Ald. Corkery.

1. That the contract for a summer uniform for each member of the police force be given to W. J. Green at $13 per suit, to be according to sample submitted and the instructions given when tenders were asked for.

2. That licensed carriers be permitted to use a second truck to deliver parcels after 10 o'clock on Saturday nights for the purpose of having their work completed before 12 o'clock.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN CORKERY, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

PROPERTY, HEALTH AND MARKET committee reported as follows through its chairman, Ald. Sawers.

Your Property, Health and Market committee beg leave to report that they gave instructions to have the stock pens on the market square cleaned under the supervision of the Town Engineer, and made a contract with T. Williams to keep them clean at $12 for the season, to the satisfaction of the chairman of this Committee and the Town Engineer, and recommend that this be confirmed and that Mr. Williams be paid monthly on the certificate of the Chairman or Engineer.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. SAWERS, Chairman.

In amendment to the report it was moved by Messrs. Denne and Neill, that the Town Engineer be authorized to concrete the surface of the cattle pens, the cost not to exceed $25.

The report was carried as amended.

Some By-Laws.

Alderman Hall introduced a by-law regulating the width of tires on vehicles used on the streets of Peterborough. After being read a first time the by-law was referred to a committee of the Whole Council for consideration.

Alderman Denne fathered the by-law, authorizing grants to the Peterborough Central Exhibition, and the Salvation Army, Sons of England and Battalion bands. The by-law received its several readings and was carried.

Alderman Langford brought in a by-law exempting the old Ackerman premises, which are about to be occupied by the Stanley Piano Co.

The by-law was passed.

Alderman Hall introduced the by-law for the execution of a contract with Harry Evans for the erection of bridges on Dalhousie and Sherbrooke streets.

The by-law was passed.

The matter of the purchase of the lots for a town yard and for firehall purposes was referred to the Committee of the Whole. The by-law authorizing the issue of debentures for the purchase of those lots was defeated at the polls.

Mr. James Bogue appeared to ask the wishes of the council concerning the large elm tree, which stands in the centre of Gilmour street and which will interfere with sewer construction. The matter was referred to the Board of Works to ascertain how the sewer can be taken past the tree without injuring this ornament to the street.

It was moved by Alderman Hall and Sawers, that Alderman Langford be appointed acting chairman of the Board of Works.—Carried.

Alderman Hall and Langford moved that the Engineer be instructed to have catch basins constructed on the corner of Hunter and Water streets and George street, between Hunter and Simcoe streets.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

SURF SLIDING IN HAWAII.

An Old Time Incident of the Indulgence in It of Royal Dames.

The old practice of surf sliding—"hee nalu"—upon surf boards was magnificent sport. It has fallen almost entirely into disuse since 40 years ago, when horses became numerous and cheap. Before that date I used frequently to see it at Lahaina as well as earlier at Kailua. I believe some adepts still practice it at Hilo. The board used in surf sliding is from 5 to 8 feet long and 10 to 18 inches wide, rounded at the ends and sharpened at the edges, very much like a paper cutter. The rider swims out with the board under one arm, diving under the rollers until outside where the surf is just beginning to break. There, by an adroit movement, he stretches himself upon the board just in front of a big roller, at the same time violently plying arms and legs to "get a move on," while the roller lifts him from behind. Once in motion the wave does the rest, although great skill is needed to keep the board poised precisely at the proper height and inclination upon the front of the violently breaking roller. The riders will thus shoot several hundred yards to the shore.

By early and long practice great skill was attained in this sport. The more expert would often rise to a standing posture, balancing their boards by their feet at the right point on the wave. I can remember in early boyhood daily watching from my home through the stems of the lofty cocoa palms scores of natives flying in together in the white roaring surf. Some were prone, others crouching on their boards and some standing erect. Both sexes participated, and modesty was much at a discount, except when the venerated missionary was in sight. The males wore the malo or breech girdle when disporting thus in our neighborhood. The females did not stand up on their boards.

Customs in those early days were Arcadian. At about 1834 the writer's young mother at Kailua once received in her thatched cottage a morning call from a bevy of royal dames with their attendants, all fresh from surf play. The maidens carried the garments while their mistresses stalked into the missionary's parlor in stately simplicity and proceeded to dress. All that was utterly innocent, and so in a certain sense was the nearly entire unrestraint of domestic morals in those early days. To infuse some degree of conscience on that point has been altogether the most difficult part of the missionary's task in Hawaii.

Red Hot From The Gun

Was the ball that hit G. B. Steadman, of Newark, Mich., in the Civil War. It caused horrible ulcers that no treatment helped for 20 years. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him. Nelson as a Boy.

"I wonder, child," said Nelson's grand mother, with whom he lived, "that hunger and fear did not drive you home." "Fear!" replied the youngster. "I never saw fear. What is it?"

Nelson was still at school when he was summoned to join his ship. The parting with his elder brother, William, his playmate and bedfellow, was the first of those privations which every sailor must suffer. But, if the goodby at school was painful, how much more so must have been the farewell with his grandmother? As she beheld him, dressed in the smart midshipman's uniform, did she realise that the lad before her would, contrary to all expectations, take to his profession with enjoyment and, within about a year, shake off a fit of depression by saying, "I will be a hero and brave every danger."

Did she see in the upright figure the future viscount whose doughty deeds, unparalleled in history, were to call forth blessings from men and women of every class as he set out on his last, fatal voyage against the French? Did she feel that one day a nation would weep for the loss of one of its noblest sons, whose dying words should be, "Thank God, I have done my duty!"—Cassell's Little Folks.

REBUILDING A MAN.

Artificial Limbs, Organs and Parts and What They Cost.

"Not a great deal of a man's body need remain after an accident," said a maker of artificial limbs, "for me to build up a perfect man so far as outward appearances are concerned. Of course the cost would not be small, for these things cost money. How much? Well, that depends. If you had plenty of money and were to be so badly cut up that everything that can be taken from a man and still leave enough to keep the breath of life going, you would get yourself fitted up in the best manner possible. If your means were limited, you would be able to get fixed up for a smaller sum.

"I'll illustrate. I would begin by fixing you on a pair of legs. You can get these for from $15 to $30 a pair. The high priced ones are really works of art. They have knee joints, ankle joints, rubber buffers and a springy foot. With these you could learn to walk so that nobody would know your legs were not the ones bestowed on you by nature and could dance and ride besides. If you wanted only a foot, I could let you have one for from $25 to $50.

"Then you would want a pair of arms, with hands and various necessary implements. Suppose you had lost both arms above the elbows. The two that I would furnish would cost from $125 to $225. But they would be working members, with elbow joints, wrists and flexible hands. With the hands you could pick up small and light objects and even shake hands without giving your friend the impression that he was grasping a block of wood. But you could not do hard work. For that reason you would require a set of instruments which you would screw into the arm after you had removed the hand. These are a fork, knife, spoon, ring, hook and vise. If you are a card player, you would want a card holder, too, and perhaps a billiard cue rest and a holder for the reins when you want driving. You might want a hammer, saw, clothesbrush and many other things, all of which are prepared for just such as you would be. The whole outfit would amount to about $50.

"As to your head, that would have suffered severely. Your hair would be all gone, and you would want a wig. I would give you the best that can be made for $150. All your teeth would be gone and your palate would be absent. The palate would cost you $15, but for the best teeth I would be obliged to charge you $50. Of course you would want a nose. The making of this member so that it would harmonize with the rest of your face is a delicate task and requires great skill. That would cost about $100, but the nose would be as good as the original, almost. A pair of eyes, useless of course, would cost from $40 to $150, according to your choice. A first class tube in your windpipe would cost $30, and two drums for your new ears would be reasonable at $16. That is all I could do for you. How much does that amount to? I never had such a customer before and never thought of the lump sum. Just $1,116? Well, that would not be too much for a man who has lots of money, but no limbs."—Albany Telegram.

THE BEST ON EARTH

So Says Robert Meikle about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Ont., June 5.—Robert Meikle, a member of the staff of the Star Dining Hall, is kept busy answering questions asked him by his many friends at present. They all want to know how he recovered from what, the doctors said, was a fatal attack of Diabetes.

And he invariably answers: Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, when every other earthly means had failed. They are the only medicine on earth that can cure Diabetes, and they do cure it every time."

If Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Mr. Meikle they will cure you. Try them.

DER KAISER.

Emperor William has sent President McKinley a condensed story of Christianity. Is this William's method of reflecting on the tendencies of America?—St. Paul Globe.

Emperor William will have a great deal of sympathy in the United States. The American public has had much sad experience with the comic song as an instrument of torture.—Rochester Democrat.

One of the German papers says Kaiser Willie characterized what Coghlan said at the Union League club as "ausserlust der weinlaune." That's simply awful. If Coghlan actually was guilty of it, there seems no way of getting round a crisis.—St. Louis Republic.

Let Himself Out.

Luigi Lablache, the singer, was a giant in size. "One of his boots," says a biographer, "would make a good portmanteau. One of his gloves would clothe an infant." There is a humorous exaggeration in the statement, but the fact remains that he was certainly an enormous man.

It is recorded of him that he was very generous and also a lover of jokes. At one time he was staying in Paris at the same hotel with Tom Thumb. An English tourist, who had been making strenuous efforts to meet the latter, one day burst into the great basso's apartment. Seeing the giant before him, he hesitated and apologized.

"I was looking," he said, "for Tom Thumb."

"I am he," answered Lablache in his deepest tones.

The Englishman was taken aback. He must have been a trusting soul.

"But," said he, "you were very tiny when I saw you yesterday."

"Yes," said Lablache; "that is how I have to appear, but when I get home to my own rooms I let myself out and enjoy myself."

Then he proceeded to entertain his guest, who did not, after all, regret Tom Thumb.

It is a clean preparation to use, and a valuable acquisition for the toilet."

The Death Sentence. The wretched prisoner who listens to the reading of his death warrant is not more surely doomed than the man who is threatened with dread consumption and fails to take the right method to repulse its attack.

The child that is born with a shallow, narrow chest; the youth who daily crouches over an office desk; the mechanic who toils in an atmosphere of dust, and the woman whose household duties constantly restrict her to the close, heated atmosphere of her home, all live under the blighting shadow of consumption. There is but one sure protection against this wholesale murderer of men—a sound healthy body; pure, rich, red blood; and clean, clear breathing organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes a man hungry, and really hungry men are usually healthy. But that isn't the whole battle—you may fill a stove with fuel, and if the grate is clogged with clinkers and the chimney with soot, you will have no fire. The "Golden Medical Discovery" sees to it that fuel burns—that the life-giving elements of the food are absorbed into the blood, and that new, healthy tissues are built up in the breathing organs. It prevents consumption by curing all the abnormal conditions which, if neglected lead up to consumption.

Mrs. Josie E. Clark, of Enterprise, Shelby Co., Mo., writes: "I had despaired of ever getting well. I had been in bad health for twelve years. Had aches all through me, numb hands, cold feet, and everything I ate distressed me; bowels constipated, was very nervous, depressed and despondent. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my health is now good."

Constipation disappears while you sleep when you take Dr. Pierce's Pellets.

THE HORSE REVIEW.

Russell B., 2:14¼, will be out on the turf again this year.

The 4-year-old colt Happy Sphinx is stepping fast and has been entered in several stakes.

Joe Thayer is reported to have refused $2,500 for his 2-year-old brother to Jayhawker, 2:14¾.

Dr. D. E. Kelley of Ashtabula, O., has entered him in the $3,000 2:15 pace for the grand circuit meeting at New York.

Millard Saunders has converted the black mare Derby Lass to the pace and predicts that she will reach 2:10 at that gait.

Charles Jeffries will campaign Brice McNeill in California. McNeill recently covered a mile in 2:16 and a half in 1:05½ at Pleasanton.

C. H. Nelson, owner of the ex-champion stallion Nelson 2:09, predicts that Isle Dew, by Nelson, will get a faster record than his sire.

W. O. Foote is entering the hobbled trotter Sam Medium, 2:18, in the grand circuit this year. He took his record in 1896 at Ottumwa, Ia.

Piedmont Farm, Huntsville, Ala., has in Re-election, Sentinel Wilkes and Almont, Jr. (Bostick's), about the greatest trio of stallions owned in the far south.

The horses at Selma are stepping lively now. Miles in 2:16 and 2:18 for pacers and 2:28 to 2:35 for trotters and quarters in 33½ to 34 seconds are not uncommon.

Ed Smith of Chicago has sold a very fast green trotting mare, by Alexander Dumas, to Mr. DeGoff of the same city. She could show 2:20 and will be used as a pole mare.

George Starr's Director-Winifred colt is going great guns this spring at Terre Haute. Parties who saw him work recently say he will be a sensational trotter if he trains sound. He is given all his slow work at the pace.—Horse Review.

WEAK AND PUNY CHILDREN

Become Strong and Healthy by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Children are frequently left weak and sickly as an after result of measles, scarlet fever, etc., and in this state are easy prey to nervous disorders, rickets, spinal disease, or consumption, diseases which do not affect robust, healthy children.

The blood is weak and watery and the nerves improperly nourished. Feed the blood and nerves with Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, and the pale, pinched faces will soon become rosy and plump, and tiredness and weakness will give way to strength and animation.

Mr. E. W. Day, 6a Close Avenue, Toronto, writes: "My eldest daughter, aged eight, became very much run down. Her fretful, nervous, sleepless condition greatly alarmed her parents. She was taken from school, and in spite of the best nursing, the thin, weakened, bloodless face grew painfully worse. Fortunately we used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. An improvement became apparent in a few days, it continued, and in a few weeks she returned to school built up anew, and greatly to our joy fully restored to health."

FIGHTING AGAIN.

Chasing Gen. Pilar's Rebels—Col. Whalley Captured Cainta on Saturday With Small American Loss.

Manila, June 5.—A vigorous campaign was begun on Saturday against Gen. Pio del Pilar's force of 2,000 rebels in the foothills at the mouth of Laguna de Bay and in the towns of Cainta, Taytay and Antipolo, under the supervision of Gen. Lawton. Gen. Hall, with 2,500 men, moved southeast from the pumping station, and Col. Whalley, who relieved Gen. King in command of his brigade, proceeded east for San Pedro Macati, the two divisions approaching each other. Col. Whalley captured Cainta with small loss, the rebels fleeing before the advance of the United States troops. Gen. Hall drove the Filipinos from the vicinity of Marquina, sweeping them toward Col. Whalley's column.

Didn't Get the Name Right.

He was the new pastor and found it somewhat difficult to get acquainted with his flock.

On his way home after his first sermon he overtook a comely young woman whom he recognized as one of his congregation.

She greeted him with a smile, and he felt emboldened to talk to her seriously.

"I was glad," he said, "to see you in church. It always gratifies me greatly to observe a young person voluntarily seeking the one true haven"—

"Excuse me," interrupted the girl, with a slight blush. "You haven't got the name quite right. It's Havens—Jim Havens. He passes one of the plates."

Then the pastor changed the subject.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Helen's Request.

It was Helen's first day in school, and she talked right out loud, just as she did when she was at home. Helen's teacher said, "Now, little folks, don't talk, but whenever you want anything just hold up your hand."

Pretty soon up went Helen's little hand. "Well, Helen, what do you want?" And Miss Pomeroy was surprised when Helen said, "Some candy, please."—Youth's Companion.

MRS. GEO. HURDIS

Writes from Carleton Place, Ont., that Laxa-Liver Pills have made her "smart and healthy."

Most of the misery and ill-health that humanity is burdened with arise from disorders of Stomach, Liver and Bowels. If you're feeling out of sorts, have bilious spells, headaches, sour stomach, heartburn, water brash, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, sallow or muddy complexion—are troubled with dyspepsia or constipation, you feel that life's not worth living, take a few doses of Laxa-Liver Pills and note the change.

The tongue gets clean, the breath sweet, the headache ceases, the complexion clears up, the dyspepsia vanishes, the constipation is cured—everything is life takes on a brighter aspect.

Hear what Mrs. Geo. Hurdis, Carleton Place, Ont., says: "I have used Laxa-Liver Pills for serious Liver Complaint and they did me a world of good. I don't know how much to praise them, as I verily believe from the condition I was in that they saved me from an early grave and made me smart and healthy."

SALT RHEUM TORTURES

Die away before the magical effect of

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The tortures of Salt Rheum are almost beyond human endurance, and as the flesh becomes raw, and the itching and burning increase, the suffering is so intense as to almost drive one crazy.

In desperation salves and ointments are applied, only to give rise to further disappointment and despair.

But there is hope. There is assurance that you can be cured just as scores and hundreds of others have been by using Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Mr. John Siron, of Aultsville, Ont., writes: "For seven years I was a sufferer from Salt Rheum, and my hands were so bad I had to wear greased gloves. Nothing seemed to help me, but I was induced to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and one box cured me completely. There is not a trace of the Salt Rheum left."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has effected most miraculous cures in all parts of this great Dominion. Could you have better assurance that it will cure you? For sale by all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

A MASTER OF MAGIC.

TRICKS BY WHICH HOUDIN ASTOUNDED THE ARABS.

One Instance When the Great Magician Extricated Himself From an Awkward Predicament by the Quickness of His Wit.

To witness Houdin's first performance in Algiers the neighboring tribes were invited. The theater was speedily filled with them and the French officials, who attended in all their pomp and glory. Interpreters were scattered through the house in order to repeat Houdin's remarks to the natives in their own language. With true oriental dignity and gravity, the Arabs witnessed the first few tricks in stolid silence, but the taking of a huge cannon ball from a borrowed hat aroused great excitement.

Then came the great tricks of the evening, especially prepared to astonish the Arabs.

"By a wonderful power which I possess," said Houdin, "I can deprive any man of his strength. I invite any one to prove my words."

On this being interpreted to the Arabs, a tall, strong man stepped forward on the stage. Houdin held in his hand a little iron box, and, balancing it carelessly on his little finger, he asked the Arab:

"Are you strong?"

"Yes," replied the man carelessly.

"Are you sure of always remaining so?"

"Always."

"Lift that box."

The Arab did so and asked contemptuously, "Is that all?"

"Wait," said Houdin, making a solemn gesture. "Now you are weaker than a woman. Try to lift that box again."

The Arab seized the handle and tugged again. He could not raise the box an inch from the floor. After many attempts he paused for a moment to brace himself for a final effort. He seized the handle again, but shrieked aloud with pain, dropped on his knees, then, rising, threw his cloak round his face to conceal his shame and rushed from the theater, leaving his compatriots stricken with fear. The trick was as simple as the result was startling. The box was placed on a powerful electro magnet, and the current being complete, no man on earth could have lifted it. An electric shock, sent at a signal by Houdin from behind the stage, was what caused the Arab to shriek and hurriedly retreat.

Before the excitement caused by this trick had subsided Houdin announced that he had a talisman which rendered him invulnerable, and he defied the best shot in Algiers to kill him. A marabout immediately sprang on the stage, exclaiming, "I want to kill you." Houdin handed him a pistol, which the Arab, examining, pronounced a good one. "It is a good pistol, and I will kill you."

"Very well," said Houdin. "To make sure, put in a double charge of powder. Here's a wad. Take a bullet from this tray and mark it so you will know it again. Ram it into the pistol well."

"It is done."

"Now," said Houdin, "you say the pistol is a good one, and you've loaded it well; so kill me."

"Yes," replied the marabout, "I will do that."

Houdin took a pear, stuck it on a knife and walked a few paces in front of the Arab, and told him to aim at his heart. He fired, and the marked bullet was seen on the pear. After the powder and wad were rammed home, and while the Arab was marking the bullet Houdin slipped a little tube into the pistol. This tube was closed at the lower end, and into this the Arab dropped the bullet. As he thrust the wad down with the ramrod, the tube fitted snugly on to it, and was withdrawn with it, being polished to resemble it. Houdin thus got possession of the marked ball, and all was then plain sailing.

On one occasion during his visit to Algiers Houdin was placed in a very awkward position, from which he only extricated himself by his quick wittedness. He was the guest of an Arab chief, Abou Allem, and entertained his host and friends by a few tricks. One of the company was a marabout, who asserted that the spectators in Algiers had been merely duped by a vision. Houdin, however, produced the marabout's watch in his hand, and, on feeling his sash, the marabout found there a 5 franc piece. Convinced by this and other feats that Houdin was really a sorcerer, he challenged him to repeat his performance in the theater and produced two pistols. "You need not fear," said the Arab, "since you know how to ward off bullets." Without losing his self possession Houdin explained that his invulnerability lay in a talisman which was with his possessions in Algiers. "By six hours' prayer, however, I can do without that talisman, and at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning you can fire at me."

At the appointed time there was a large concourse of Arabs, which the news had attracted. The pistols were brought and carefully examined. The marabout dropped in the powder, Houdin handed him a bullet from the tray, and he rammed it down. Houdin then loaded his own pistol and, walking about 15 paces away, turned and faced the marabout. The shot was fired, and the Frenchman opened his mouth and showed the bullet between his teeth. "You could not kill me," he said, "and now you shall see what my shots can do." He fired at the marabout, and immediately a red splash was seen on the whitewashed wall before which he was standing. The Arab was untouched. Stepping up to the wall, he dipped his finger in the red splash, tasted it and, realizing that it was blood, collapsed in amazement.

Though the trick was simple, only a Houdin could have devised and carried it out successfully. During the night he had melted some wax, blackened it to look like lead, and run it into a bullet mold, thus obtaining a hollow globe of wax exactly resembling a bullet in appearance. It was with this bullet the marabout loaded his pistol, and in ramming it down crushed it to powder. A second bullet, similarly made, Houdin filled with blood obtained from his own body. This he dropped into his pistol and rammed it down very gently, so as not to crush it. As it struck the wall it was broken, leaving a red splash of blood.

LONG BROS.

HE DREADS A RAZOR.

And He Has Good Reason to After His Narrow Escape.

"There is a physician now stopping at this house," remarked the proprietor of one of the hotel barber shops, "who has a mortal dread of a razor in the hands of another. It originated in a remarkable experience. Some years ago he was in a town in Iowa and stepped into a barber shop to get shaved. All the chairs were filled, so he sat down to wait. In a few minutes one of the barbers called 'Next!' and he was getting up when a gentleman who had just entered addressed him.

"'I am in a great hurry to catch a train,' he said, 'and would be very grateful if you would allow me to take the chair ahead of you.'

"Such requests are not unusual, and the doctor, who is naturally obliging, told him to go ahead and resumed his seat. The other man had hardly climbed into position when the barber picked up a razor and cut his throat from ear to ear, killing him instantaneously.

"In spite of stories to the contrary, I think that is the only case of the kind that ever happened in the United States. The barber turned out to be insane, but the horror of the scene and the almost miraculous character of his own escape made such an impression on the mind of the doctor that he has never since allowed anybody to shave him.

"Only this morning I trimmed his hair, and in finishing the job I started, as is customary, to shape up the growth of his temples with the corner of my razor. The moment he caught sight of the blade he turned pale as death. 'Don't touch me with that!' he exclaimed. 'Do the best you can with the scissors and let the rest go!' He has known me a long time and I suppose has confidence in my sanity, but the reminiscence was too much for him, and, really, I don't wonder."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Grief of Parting.

The man leaned right into the railway carriage. There was positive anguish in his drawn face. The lady inside was very pretty and beautifully dressed. Her softnesses of complexion and hair, of lace and filmy material, triumphed in the searching glare of the electric light, which showed the rich luxury of every detail of her costume. She smiled with a pretty, regretful tenderness as she replied lightly to his earnest words. He looked at her as if he could never look long enough, as if her face held for him the whole meaning of life. As the train began to move, his fingers fell passionately on the ungloved hand resting on the window ledge; then instinctively he sprang back, raised his hat, and I caught in full light a glimpse of his white face.

Directly the train steamed out of the station the lady rose, carefully rolled up her veil, and, quite indifferent to my presence, proceeded before the mirror in the carriage to dust her face with a dainty pocket handkerchief, and to apply to forehead and nose the minutest layer of powder with a tiny puff. She patted and arranged her curls, drawing them with a hairpin into coquettish position and curve, and then, lowering her veil, she sank into the seat with a sigh of satisfaction.—Academy.

They Don't Like Tanners.

There are but two tanneries of any magnitude, says a consular report, in operation throughout Japan—one located in Osaka and the other in Tokyo—and they are chiefly occupied in supplying the leather wants of the army and navy. A large tanning establishment is located near Kobe. It was formerly under European management, but, after several unsuccessful attempts to operate it, has been closed. There are many small "home tanneries" in this country, and they are operated exclusively by the etas, a class of persons whose occupation is looked upon as unclean. The beggars (kojiki) constitute the lowest class in Japan, and next above them are the etas, who monopolize the occupation of killing animals for food, the tanning and dressing of leather, grave digging and similar work. The etas are popularly supposed to be in possession of a secret method of tanning.

It is pointed out at the state department as a curious coincidence that in mediæval Germany it was a perquisite of the public executioner, the most desperate and degraded creature in the community, to flay every dead animal and to tan its hide, a task no honest man would undertake.—St. Louis Republic.

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. For correct and full information regarding the new invention and NEWCOMBE PIANOS write to our Direct Representative. Easy Prices. Liberal Terms.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.

The individual who fulfils his promises gains public confidence, and thus holds one of the strongest levers to success. The same is true of institutions, and in this connection the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA, has a record in which it can take a pardonable pride.

Instead of over-estimating the profits on its investment policies, the management of the Company has wisely based the calculations on the proper earning power of money, having due regard to contingencies that are bound to arise. As a result of this the holders of matured Endowment policies are from time to time being agreeably surprised, and not disappointed, in the results of their policies.

The following letter speaks for itself and bears the eloquent and substantial evidence of the fact that the Sun Life of Canada keeps faith with its policy holders:

To the District Manager:—

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge with thanks receipt of cheque for twelve hundred and sixty-four and 95/100 dollars ($1264.95) from The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada to cover Policy No. 15002 on my own life.

This amount represents a return of all premiums which I have paid to the Company and three hundred and thirty-four and 80/100 dollars ($334.80) besides, or about 4½ per cent. compound interest on my investment. In addition to this the Company has carried my risk for thirteen years for nothing, all of which is very satisfactory.

VILLAGE FATHERS.

Met in Regular Monthly Session in Ashburnham Last Evening.

Ashburnham Council met in regular monthly session last night. There were present Reeve Adams in the chair and Councillors Craig, Rutherford, Sheridan and Pollock.

Communications were received as follows:

From a number of villagers complaining that George Stevens' junk yard is a nuisance and asked that steps be taken to insure its abatement.

From Messrs. McFee and Scott asking permission to open a drain from the south side of creek on Brown street along to Elizabeth street, thence on the south side of the latter street to their respective houses, and agreeing to close it in again to the satisfaction of the street inspector.

From Peterborough Light and Power Company re electric light contract, and expressing its willingness to make changes asked for, and to place a lamp at wharf during season of navigation, provided the expense thereof is borne by corporation.

A petition was received from a number of ratepayers asking for extension of water works on Robinson street.

Another petition was handed in complaining of lack of fire protection to north portion of village, and asking that the water mains be extende dfrom the corner of Douro and Stewart streets along Douro street to Concession street, thence north on Concession street to McFarlane street and a hydrant be set at corner of Concession and McFarlane streets.

MONTHLY STATEMENT.

Treasurer Peck presented his monthly statement of receipts and payments as follows.

Pay sheets No. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7...	$287.20
Miscellaneous Expenditure	244.50
Total expenditure	$531.70
Total Receipts	41.15
Overdraft	922.97

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:

T. B. Manlece	$2.50
D. Bellagham	7.00
Kay sheet No. 3	102.80
Pay sheet No. 4	60.75
Pay sheet No. 5	30.00
Pay sheet No. 6	23.50
Pay sheet No. 7...	70.15
J. C. Sullivan	2.50
S. Clancy	3.65
	$307.85

Coun. Rutherford moved, seconded by Coun. Sheridan, that the request of Messrs. McFee and Scott to open a drain on Brown street be granted, provided they make good any damage done to water or gas mains or any other existing drains, and also that the street be left in as good condition as before.—Carried.

In reference to the petition for extension of fire protection, Coun. Craig moved, seconded by Coun. Pollock, that a special meeting be called for Friday evening next to consider the water works extension question.—Carried.

In the matter of the complaint made against Geo. Stevens junk yard, council thought the Board of Health should move in the matter.

Councillors Pollock and Craig moved that more gravel be put on Oxford street, and some clay on Stewart street, opposite Mr. Clark's.—Carried.

Councillors Sheridan and Rutherford moved that the drain at Mr. Baswell's on Cameron street be fixed, the cost not to exceed $6 or $7.—Carried.

Councillors Craig and Pollock moved that the Street Inspector be instructed to have sidewalks blocked up where required.—Carried.

Councillor Sheridan inquired regarding the council's opinion on extend thewatering of Mark street. It was decided to leave the matter over until it was seen what satisfaction contractor would give [illegible] contract.

Councillors Pollock and [illegible] moved that the hill [illegible] Luke's church be cut down [illegible] crossing be laid, that a bl[illegible] crossing at Mark street church [illegible] constructed and that the sidewalk on the east side of Stewart street be removed.—Carried.

Councillors Rutherford and Sheridan, that Mr. Fowler be given the contract for building sidewalk on Concession street for the sum of $12, the same to be done to the satisfaction of street inspector.—Carried.

The council then adjourned.

BYLAW DEFEATED.

A Very Small Vote was Recorded but the Majority was Against the Bylaw.

The by-law which was submitted yesterday to the property owners to vote upon was defeated at the polls. The money was required for the purchase of a town yard and a lot on which to erect a new firehall, as well as to meet the cost of the latter.

The defeat of the by-law was doubtless due to the fact that many property holders were unaware of the fact the voting taking place. The result in the different wards was as follows:

Ward	For	Against
I...	8	32
II...	11	11
III...	8	10
IV...	10	23
	37	76
		37
Majority against...		39

The council will consider the advisability of again submitting the by-law to the people.

Hats that ARE Hats

There are all qualities of Hats—always have been and always will be.

But it is about GOOD HATS we want to speak just now—the high class hat that can only be bought in THE HAT STORES—the kind that never reaches the departmental or clothing stores.

Selling Hats is our Business...

We buy from the standard makers in immense quantities from two of the largest hat stores in central Ontario and control the most reliable, well known, world reputed makes of both English and American manufacturers, such as Youmans, Stetson, Hawes, Tress, Cooksey, and Christy, while others have got to be content with buying what is claimed to be "just as good."

It's reasonable to suppose that we can therefore give you the BEST HATS that the world produces at as close prices as it's possible to get such goods for—and a better class of goods than those houses that sell only "just as good" in a small hole and corner way.

Just to illustrate this we give Four Examples:

OUR 50c. FEDORA Is made of clear English wool felt and the quality brings 75c. from most dealers. We claim it is the best value in town. If you do not think so we will return your money. We guarantee this.

ENGLISH WILKENSON HATS $1.25 The "Favorite English Wilkenson Hat" made of fur felt, for which there is no special agency in Peterborough, and usually retails for $1.75 for $1.25.

OUR 50c. STRAW HATS We have the best 50c. straw hats in Canada, at least we think so. They come in plain split straw, Swiss, and notch straw, have silk bands, plain and fancy. If you can equal it in value elsewhere you can have money back. We guarantee this.

CRASH AND LINEN HATS Just now we are showing especial values in Mens' Boys' and Childrens CRASH, DUCK and LINEN HATS and CAPS and the prices begin at 20c. for Childrens' Tams and run as highs as 75c. for Mens' Linen Hats. These goods are particularly nice for summer wear.

DIRECT FROM SURPASSINGLY SPLENDID TRIUMPHS AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—These are the same great shows, the gigantic aggregation, the same colossal combination that so startled the metropolis of the country by its overwhelming magnitude, its comprehensive completeness, and its veritable avalanche of novelties and floodtide of innovations when it inaugurated its tour of this season at the Madison Square Garden, New York City. Its tremendous triumph was attested by the unanimous and unqualified praises of the press and plaudits of the people, and patronage only limited by the capacity of the largest temple of amusement in the world.

SPECIAL NOTICE—EXTRA!!!—It is hereby promised without reserve and the promise will be faithfully kept, that the programme of the shows to be presented in this city will be absolutely and exactly the same, man for man, horse for horse, animal for animal, feature for feature and detail for detail as the exhibition that so completely conquered the mighty metropolis.

EXTRA SPECIAL NOTICE—EXTRA!!!—The prices for the great consolidation in New York were as high as $2 per seat. Here only the usual prices charged by merely ordinary shows will be asked. No advance over usual prices in spite of the double shows.

MAY ESCAPE HANGMAN

Perrier, the Condemned B. C. Murderer, Attempts Suicide.

WAS AIDED IN THE ATTEMPT.

The Desperate Prisoner Was Lying in a Sea of His Own Blood When the Officials Entered His Cell at Vancouver on Tuesday Morning—Details of His Awful Wounds.

Vancouver, B.C., June 7.—Donald Perrier, the condemned murderer, made a determined attempt to commit suicide yesterday morning. Every indication goes to show he was aided in the attempt by some person unknown. Perrier was sentenced to be hanged on May 30 for the murder of his former paramour, Jennie Anderson. On entering Perrier's cell at New Westminster yesterday, the officials found Perrier bleeding from a gash in the abdomen and from another in the left wrist. The prisoner's bed was a sea of blood. Although he was just conscious, he was unable to speak. Medical men on their arrival did all they could to arrest the flow of blood, but they decline to express an opinion as to the possibility of recovery until they can ascertain the nature of the wound in the abdomen. If it severed the intestines it will be almost certain to prove fatal. The cut in the wrist severed the main artery. Perrier is quite conscious, but is very weak. He has not spoken since he was found.

TO SELL THE PHILIPPINES.

Great Britain, Russia and Germany Spoken of as Possible Purchasers.

Washington, June 7.—Many solutions have been offered for what appeared to be the puzzling attitude of the Administration since the recent discussions over reinforcing General Otis by a call for volunteers or by depleting the regular forces on this continent began.

It is explained that the reason the President finally announced that no call would be issued, although he knew that Gen. Otis considered 75,000 men necessary to subjugate the Filipinos, was that the Chief Executive did not wish to give the country an illustration of the difficulties of conquest.

There is now current in high circles some mysterious talk about another reason, and that is the sale of the Philippine Islands to Great Britain or Russia. Despite the manifested unconcern by American diplomats over the German purchase from Spain, there is really not only chagrin but distinct anxiety also. The Carolines and the Ladrones form a cordon around the Philippines. Germany's engagement to protect Spanish naval stations can easily become an alliance between the two countries.

The President knows that he cannot emerge from all the dilemmas arising from his Philippine experiment by selling the islands unless he first subdues the inhabitants by diplomatic blandishments or force of arms. He yet relies upon the good offices of the Schurman commission.

With peace thus procured, it is claimed, he would wash his hands of the whole distracting subject by a sale to some foreign power. The strongest notion of the nation dealing in the affair is Russia, but it may be Germany herself.

SIR JOHN'S MEMORY.

Decoration Day for the Macdonald Monument in Toronto Queen's Park.

Toronto, June 7.—Thousands of the good citizens of Toronto assembled in Queen's Park yesterday afternoon to witness the decoration of the monument erected to the memory of Sir John A. Macdonald. Seven years ago yesterday the great statesman passed away, and the popularity of this annual commemoration, inaugurated by the Toronto Conservative Club, is evidenced by the increased interest it aroused this year.

Mr. Dumas presided over the proceedings at the monument. Addresses were delivered by Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Whitney, Dr. Roche, Mr. Clarke, Hon. T. S. Casgrain, Mr. McInerney, Mr. H. A. Powell and Mr. J. J. Foy.

The Kingston Ceremony.

Kingston, June 7.—In accordance with their annual custom the Macdonald Club of Kingston yesterday afternoon decorated the grave of Sir John Macdonald in Cataraqui Cemetery. Wreaths were deposited upon the mound by representatives of the Macdonald Club and the Conservative Association of this city and the Conservative members of the Dominion Parliament. Rev. J. Mackie offered the opening prayer.

TRACKMEN OUT AGAIN.

Toronto Men Say They Will Win This Time—Some Have Other Jobs—Kicks Registered in Montreal.

Toronto, June 7.—The strike of the Grand Trunk trackmen is still on, and the men have fully recovered from the shock which they received on discovering on Monday morning how little there was in the report that they were all to go back. It now appears that the three members of Parliament who went to Montreal on Saturday had returned to the capital with a mistaken idea of what General Manager Hays intended to do with the men. Very few of the strikers accepted the company's conditions to apply for reinstatement individually and return to work. The executive at Montreal have called the entire force out again, and it now looks as if the fight between the men and the company will be carried on to the bitter end.

At the strikers' headquarters, 26 Tecumseth street, the only message received was the following from Chairman William Pole:

"Hays has played us false. Call out all men again. Will send instructions by registered letter."

The letter referred to in the message will arrive this morning. The men seem content with the present state of affairs, and are prepared to hold out any length of time. They say they feel disgusted at Manager Hays' action, and intend to show that official what trackmen are.

Kicks Registered.

Montreal, June 7.—Chairman Pole, Secretary Harris, Organizer Lowe and other members of the trackmen's executive were in conference last evening, considering what steps to take in view of the men's act in refusing to go back to work. Telegrams have been pouring in on the executive, protesting against the way in which they managed affairs, and there is apparently a feeling amongst the men that they have not been treated properly. The men were apparently led to believe by the executive that the Grand Trunk had made an agreement to consider the men's grievances, and all they had to do was to go back to work and get their places. The Grand Trunk management absolutely deny that any such agreement was made, and that the understanding was that men for whom places could be found would be taken back. When this was found to be the case, after what the men were led to believe by their executive, there was naturally a good deal of bad feeling. The executive has now to face an ugly position, and it seems they are going to square themselves with the men by again ordering the strike on. According to members of the executive, the strike will be on again to-day.

More Complicated Now.

Things in connection with the Grand Trunk labor troubles appear more complicated now than ever before. Messrs. Pole and Lowe state emphatically that when the members of Parliament left here for Ottawa everyone understood that all the men were to be taken back, and that since then the company have broken faith with the men.

What Mr. McGuigan says.

General Superintendent McGuigan was also seen about the new state of affairs, and asked if he had any statement to make.

"No pledges were broken," he replied, "because no pledges were given."

This is all he would say.

Demand Their Wages.

St. John's, Nfld., June 6.—The officers and crew of the Canadian steamer Gaspesia, whose owners were recently condemned to pay $12,500 salvage to the steamer Kite, for towing the Gaspesia out of the ice floes in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, have brought suit for four months' wages, aggregating nearly $13,000, as they number 80 all told.

Lightning Struck the House.

Markdale, Ont., June 7.—Yesterday, during a short but violent thunderstorm the house of James Henry of this town was struck by lightning. Mrs. Henry received a severe stroke, being severely and painfully burned on the back and one leg. She suffered greatly, but will likely recover. The house was damaged, but not destroyed.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION OPENLY DISCUSSED.

By the Members of the Board of Trade.

ALSO THE GRAND TRUNK STRIKE

Resolution Adopted in Connection With the Latter Other Topics of Local Interest Discussed Last Evening.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade held last evening, there were present Messrs. John Carnegie, President of the Board, D. W. Dumble, J. H. Burnham, A. H. Stratton, B. Shortly, J. McCaig, R. C. McHarris, Myles Henry, T. E. Bradburn, F. D. Kerr, J. W. Butcher, Wm. Might, A. J. McClelland, Macfarlane Wilson, R. R. Philp, Dr. Morrison, W. E. Conway, E. Dawson, Robert Fair, A. W. Spence and others.

A communication was received from C. B. McAllister, urging the Board to petition the Dominion Government to appoint an inspector to examine Manitoba wheat shipped to Montreal, when it arrives at its destination. At present the wheat is inspected at Port Arthur, and often a portion of a car will be spoiled when it arrives at its destination, and the buyer has no redress.

On motion of Messrs. J. H. Burnham and R. C. McHarris, it was resolved that in view of the alleged impropriety in the inspection of Manitoba wheat, and in view of the consequent detriment to the good name of Canada, it is desirable that the Dominion Government be memorialized to investigate the said inspection with a view to the adoption of a proper and reliable standard.

When the matter of the Grand Trunk strike came up for discussion, Mr. D. W. Dumble advised that no step be taken in the present unsettled state of affairs.

Mr. F. D. Kerr differed with the previous speaker. He thought that this was just the time for the Board to step forward and place itself upon record as in sympathy with the men, whose attitude in the strike had been so much admired. They had patiently waited for a settlement of their claims, and when that settlement appeared to be in view, they had gone back to work, until it appeared that they had been caught by what might be termed a Yankee trick. All present knew the circumstances under which the men had again gone out on strike.

Mr. Kerr's earnest remarks on the subject called for hearty applause.

Mr. J. H. Burnham took the ground that 97 cents a day was not enough for a man to support himself and his family upon. No man should be called upon to accept a standard of pay less than enough to support a family upon. The Grand Trunk might say that if the men did not want to work for 97 cents a day they could go elsewhere, but this was not to be tolerated, as if the large corporations were allowed to set the standard of wages, there would soon be no need to import Gallacians, as there would be numbers of labourers here in the same condition.

Mr. R. C. McHarris held that there was no proof of the men only getting 97 cents a day. He had been informed that while a few only got 97 cents a day, many of them got as high as $2.50 per day.

Mr. D. W. Dumble stated that the men had understood that all were to be taken back, but when it was seen that the company was placing itself in such a position that the leaders of the strike could be discharged at will, the men had wisely struck until a better settlement was reached.

It was moved by Messrs. F. D. Kerr and D. W. Dumble that

"Whereas the strike of the trackmen in the employ of the G. T. R. has continued for a lengthened period, and whereas in the opinion of this Board the non-performance of the usual duties of these men is calculated to increase the danger of railway travelling, and whereas the continuance of the strike is necessarily hurtful to the good feeling which should exist between the employees and the employer, and whereas in the opinion of this Board the demands of the strikers are just and reasonable, therefore the Board desires to take this opportunity of extending its hearty sympathy with these men and their families, and of expressing the earnest hope that the management of the railway company may speedily see its way clear to accept the just demands of the tracksmen, that the increased prosperity of the country and the increased earnings of the railway companies would justify the G. T. R. in raising the wages of the section men, and this Board farther suggests that the utmost magnanimity on the part of the company in taking back to its employment all the strikers will meet the most hearty approval of the country."

The resolution was carried.

Mr. J. H. Burnham introduced the subject of "Technical Education" stating that he favoured its establishment because through it the requirements of the country could be lead industrially, and not followed as was too often the case.

Mr. J. McCaig of the Collegiate Institute staff, stated that the matter of Technical Education had been taken up by the Toronto Board of Trade in connection with Trade and Commerce considerations. As anything he thought which improves industry assists trade and commerce, the subject was one well worthy of consideration by the local board. Germany, Great Britain and the United States had all adopted technical education. Germany had been in advance of the world for a number of centuries in mechanical construction and a high degree of perfection had been reached. German cutlery was also crowding closely that of Great Britain in point of excellence. American paper was taking a prominent place on the market, and therefore a government should do all in its power to assist and promote the resources of a country. The Provincial Government was to be commended for establishing its agricultural college

MARMORA MINES.

Movements in the Idustry in Hastings County.

There is serious talk of the Ledyard Co. selling to an English company shortly. In the event of another company buying the mine no doubt a large number of men will be employed.

The Canadian Goldfields started treating their arsenic on Monday last.

More definite information as to the sale of the Gatling Five Acres is at hand this week. Messrs. C. A. Britton, of Cleveland, Ohio, and W. A. Hungerford, manager of the Cleveland Company, were in Marmora on Friday and the papers were signed by Mr. A. W. Carscallen. The price paid was $25,000. The company have 800 acres for building purposes and intend erecting a ten-stamp mill at once.

The Helena Mine Company intend sinking two shafts to the depth of 200 feet each. They employ at present 30 men and began night work Monday last. They have four shafts to the depth of 80, 80, 45 and 30 feet respectively. The veins never run in width less than 5 feet, and from that to nine feet. The ore runs in copper from 7 to 35 per cent. However the mill will not be built until 200 feet has been reached and the mine shows a sufficient quantity of ore.—Marmora Herald.

BENSFORT.

Rev. Robert Emberson, B. A., is spending his holidays with his father.

Mr. Isaac Kerr raised his barn on Wednesday, and is pushing it towards completion with all possible speed. Mr. George Smithson is the contractor.

Mr. Andrew Finnie has his old barn down and will soon raise it again. Mr. McIntyre of Peterborough, has the contract. He is also building a new house for Mr. John Moncrief, on which he has commenced.

Mr. Leach of Millbrook, passed through here on a business trip on Thursday last. He sold Mr. James Wedlock a bicycle manufactured by E. C. Hill of Toronto, whom he represents. Jim says it is a dandy.

Bensfort Sunday School has an excursion advertised for June 9th to Idyl Wild and other points on Rice Lake. The steamer Eclipse is chartered, and a good time is expected. Everybody welcome.

Rev. Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. J. C. Turnbull, of Peterborough, spent a day in Bensfort last week renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. John Riddle had a little smash up last week. His horse took fright at W. H. S. Martin's peddling rig, and ran into the ditch, throwing Mr. Riddle out and breaking the shaft of his buggy. Mr. Riddle escaped with a little fright and a few bruises.

The caterpillars are flourishing. The cool, wet weather has been favourable for them. They are getting very bad, so bad, as one fellow remarked, that they are eating the hair off the pig's backs—at any rate they are stripping the woods very badly.

GRIMSBY PARK, 1899.

A Neat Little Booklet Announces the Programme and Attractions for This Season.

The Ontario Methodist Camp Ground Company has just issued a neatly gotten up booklet descriptive of that famous summer resort, Grimsby Park. Strictly speaking Grimsby Park needs little or no introduction to the people of Ontario for many of those who annually visit that picturesque spot are untiring in their praises of the place, while those who have not had the pleasure of doing so have heard and read much of Grimsby Park's attractions. This year, however, the board of directors have put forth additional energies and have undoubtedly placed at the disposal of pleasure seekers as pretty and attractive a spot as can be found anywhere.

The moral and religious tone of Grimsby Park, is that which its directors seek ever to make prominent, whilst the Park as everyone knows, has an enviable reputation as a health resort, and it is doubtful if any other park can equal it in regard to attractive cottage life which makes it a "family paradise." Many things worth telling and seeing may be enjoyed by a visit to Grimsby this year, among them being the Grimsby Park temple which is a magnificent amphitheatre.

During the season there will be a Service of Song, under the management of Mr. Celeste V. Kellie, Hamilton's distinguished musical director, and Mr. J. A. LeBarge, the celebrated mandoline and guitar player has been engaged for the season. Among the other artists who will take part in the musical services throughout the summer are Mrs. Robt. Campbell, soprano; Miss Christine Steele, soprano; Miss Walton, Soprano; Miss Grace Walton, the popular contralto of Hamilton; Mr. C. Spaulding, baritone; Mr. Wm. Green, basso; Ernest T. Martin, tenor; Mr. George Clark, tenor; Henry S. Saunders, violoncello soloist, (a pupil of Rudolph Henning, Germany's greatest virtuoso); Miss Lizzie Tovell, solo pianist, and accompanist; Miss Janette Lewis, elocutionist; Miss Hattie Taylor, violin soloist.

The booklet also contains special rules for cottagers and residents, and announces many special attractions for the season of 1899.

The American speakers will include Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D.D., Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D.D., of Cleveland, Ohio; Rev. Bishop Fitzgerald, D.D., of Nashville, Tenn., and some of the Canadian talent are Hon. N. Clark Wallace, M.P., Hon. W. Montague, M. P., Rev. Morgan Wood, of Toronto; Rev. John Pickering, of Brantford; Rev. Wray R. Smith, Grimsby; J. W. Bengough, Toronto; Thos. Cutter, Brampton; Rev. R. J. Treleaven, of Brantford; Rev. A. Burns, L.L.D., S. T.D., Toronto; Rev. J. E. Lanceley, Toronto; Rev. J. V. Smith, D.D., London; Bandmaster Robinson, Hamilton; Rev. R. J. McIntyre, Toronto; Bandmaster Stares, Hamilton.

The regimental band of the 13th batt. will give three concerts by permission of the Lieut.-Col. commanding. Other bands are announced to give concerts throughout the season.

Altogether the season of 1899 promises to be a most attractive one and well worth going a great distance to enjoy.

WEAKENING DIARRHOEA

Promptly Checked and the Weakened System Strengthened by Dr Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Diarrhoea does not need to persist for any length of time until the whole system is weakened and debilitated. No other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and often collapse.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not only prompt and effective in checking the diarrhoea, but at the same time it stimulates and strengthens the heart and braces up the system.

Mrs. Joshua Stevenson, Owen Sound, Ont., says that her little girl was weak and almost run to nothing through an attack of summer complaint. Nothing would check it until she gave her Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which acted like a charm. She considers no household should be without this valuable remedy. Wise parents should take to heart this advice of Mrs. Stevenson's, as they do not know when they themselves or one of their children may be attacked by Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cholera, Colic or Cramps.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is not an expensive remedy—only 35 cents a bottle, and the doses are so small that it goes a long way.

Don't accept a substitute or imitation. Many of them are dangerous compounds.

A Powerful Personage.

A juge d'instruction belonging to the tribunal of the Seine, a good, learned and circumspect man, was once questioned by the Emperor Napoleon III about his duties. With a good humor not wholly free from irony the judge replied, "Sire, I am more powerful than your majesty."

"How so?"

"You cannot, directly and of your own will, throw a man into prison. I can do that." The magistrate then explained how, on the slightest pretext or acting upon the most trivial denunciation, an inquiring judge, once put in charge of a case by the public prosecutor, could have an innocent person—an entire stranger to the affair—arrested and kept in solitary confinement if he thought the person had been concerned in it. A personal enemy could be locked up, which, of course, would be a disgraceful proceeding, or simply a suspected man, which would be the result of excessive zeal. The emperor's face assumed an anxious expression, and certainly, if war had not broken out soon afterward, he would have asked his minister of jussice, M. Emile Ollivier, to place a limit to these extravagant powers and make some special rules as to the choice of the magistrates intrusted with such dangerous though honorable duties.—Nineteenth Century.

MR. TARTE ASKED TO RETRACT.

Bay of Quinte Conference Demands an Apology From the Minister.

Belleville, Ont., June 7.—Following is a copy of the resolution moved, seconded and carried in the Bay of Quinte Conference yesterday afternoon:

That, whereas, it has come to our knowledge that statements derogatory and insulting to the whole Methodist Church were made by the Hon. J. Israel Tarte, a prominent member of the Dominion Cabinet, on the floor of the House of Commons, in certain false and malicious charges which he preferred against a small and feeble company of members of that church living on the Island of Anticosti, and which charges appear on the pages of Hansard as uttered by him, we, as a conference, representing more than 120,000 members and adherents of that church, desire in the strongest and most emphatic terms to resist those unjust charges against our brethren, and the slur cast on our whole denomination throughout the Dominion, and demand a full retraction of them in the place where they were made, and an ample apology for the grievous insult offered to us. And we call upon our brethren of the Methodist Church in Parliament to insist on compliance with our demands on the floor of the House of Commons, and we would further suggest that the attention of the general superintendent be called to this matter, and he be requested to take it up and press the case till full satisfaction be given. Copies of this resolution to be sent to the Premier and to the several members of Parliament who are ministers or adherents of the Methodist Church within the bounds of this conference.

AUTONOMY FOR THE TERRITORIES.

Alberta, Saskatchewan and Assiniboia to Be Grouped Into a Province.

Montreal, June 7.—Premier Haultain of the Northwest Territories is here, his mother being very ill. He says that autonomy will be granted the Territories by the end of the present Legislature, and he thinks the new province will comprise Alberta, Saskatchewan and Assiniboia, for all agree that the boundaries will not be changed.

Lightning and Fire.

Hamilton, June 7.—Another severe electrical storm struck the city yesterday afternoon and did considerable damage. Lightning struck Meakin's brush factory, King street, and set fire to the roof. The electricity passed down the elevator shaft and shocked a number of employes.

So Says Robert Meikle about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

London, Ont., June 5.—Robert Meikle, a member of the staff of the Star Dining Hall, is kept busy answering questions asked him by his many friends at present. They all want to know how he recovered from what, the doctors said, was a fatal attack of Diabetes.

And he invariably answers: Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, when every other earthly means had failed. They are the only medicine on earth that can cure Diabetes, and they do cure it every time."

If Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Mr. Meikle they will cure you. Try them.

BILLS IN THE SENATE.

The Upper Chamber Did Some Business on Monday—The Act to Amend the Companies Act Reported.

Ottawa, June 7.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon the bill respecting the Hamilton Powder Company was read a third time and passed.

The House then went into committee on the act to amend the Companies' Acts, and after discussion the bill was reported.

Several bills were read a second time and referred to their respective committees, and a number of bills from the Commons received their first reading, after which the Senate adjourned.

THE USURY BILL.

Five Per Cent. Per Day Charged by Montreal Usurers.

Ottawa, June 6.—At a meeting of the Senate committee on banking and commerce yesterday the Canada Life Assurance bill was passed without any amendments.

An act incorporating the Imperial Loan & Investment Company was also adopted, as was also an act respecting the Home Life Association of Canada.

An interesting discussion took place on Senator Dandurand's bill respecting usury. Mr. Dandurand gave some instances where as high as five per cent. per day was charged, and there were numerous instances of 60 per cent. per annum. In some cases men had their wages garnisheed for two years for small loans of $10, and $10 was still owing at the end of two years.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell gave similar instances of how the usurer operated. There was a strong feeling at the committee in favor of the bill, the only difference of opinion being that the bill did not go far enough.

Hon. David Mills stated that, after discussing the matter with Senator Dandurand, he decided to suggest that the bill be amended so as to reduce the maximum rate of interest from 25 to 10 per cent. per annum on contracts, and from 10 to 6 per cent. per annum after judgment.

Senator Dandurand announced that it is his intention to move a further amendment to the measure, so as to provide for a fine of $1,000 for the practice of professional usury.

The measure was referred to a special committee, consisting of the Minister of Justice, Senators Miller, Clemow, Dandurand and Wood.

MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago Wheat Dropped Two Cents and Is Now Below 75—Liverpool Futures Also Declined—Quotations.

Liverpool, June 7.—Wheat futures declined 1¾ per cental yesterday.

Chicago, June 7.—Wheat yesterday opened down a fraction from Monday's close, but firmed up on fresh crop damage reports from both sides of the Atlantic. Futures broke sharply later in the afternoon, however, when Bradstreet's announced last week's increase in the world's visible wheat supply to have been 1,963,000 bushels. Prices went two cents below Monday's final figures and closed near the low point for the session.

OPPOSITION OBSTRUCTION.

Campaign Against the Intercolonial Agreement With G.T.R.

HOUSE SAT TILL THREE A.M.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper Seems to Be at the Head of the Organized Obstruction Methods of the Opposition—Sample of His Policy and How He Carries It Out.

Ottawa, June 7.—The entire day yesterday was spent in committee, discussing the agreement with the Grand Trunk Railway for the extension of the Intercolonial Railway system to Montreal. The Opposition has obstructed the progress of the bill, and it was not till 3 o'clock this morning that the House adjourned.

Sir Hibbert Tupper, referring to the report of Mr. Ogilvie, which has been printed and distributed, inquired whether it was the intention to have the evidence taken before Mr. Ogilvie printed, and, if so, when.

Mr. Sifton, in reply, reminded Sir Hibbert that when he brought down the return he stated that the evidence, which was very voluminous, was being copied as rapidly as possible and would not be ready for some time. In reply to a further question, Mr. Sifton stated that it would not be ready for five or six days yet.

Mr. Foster argued that the work of copying could be done in a couple of days, as there are plenty of men to be obtained, and a very important piece of public business was awaiting the distribution of this evidence.

Election Act Amendment.

Mr. Ingram (East Elgin) introduced a bill to amend the Election Act, and in doing so explained that it was intended to meet some of the questionable methods now resorted to in elections; for instance, the importation of outsiders to act as deputy returning officers, was to be stopped. The bill also proposed to abolish the clause which required a deposit of $200. Section 55 of the Election Act is proposed to be amended by enacting that when a voter has spoiled his ballot, the deputy returning officer "shall," not "may," furnish him with another. The bill further provides that the deputy returning officer, when the ballots are being counted, "shall" expose the face of each ballot to the view of the agents present. There are also a number of clauses dealing with minor disabilities. The bill was read a first time.

That Disallowed Act.

Mr. W. W. B. McInnes (Liberal, Vancouver) asked the Premier for a statement as to the correctness of the press reports as to the disallowance of an act of the British Columbia Legislature.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that after certain correspondence with the Government of British Columbia in regard to legislation passed by the Legislature during its session of 1898, in reference to the exclusion of Japanese labor, the Government came to the conclusion that the law should be disallowed, and so recommended to His Excellency. The correspondence, he added, will be brought down in a few days.

Klondike Mail Arrangements.

There was a further discussion on the Klondike mail arrangements, Mr. Taylor, the Opposition whip, referring to the case of a constituent of his who had had returned to him from the dead letter office in Victoria two parcels mailed for Dawson.

Mr. Mulock repeated his explanation that until navigation opened, about June 15, only letters could be sent by the Yukon mails.

The Grand Trunk Lease.

The House went again into committee on the Grand Trunk lease.

Col. McLennan disagreed with Mr. Blair's estimate of the cost of a right-of-way and other expenses of construction of a line from St. Rosalie to St. Lambert.

Mr. Blair defended his estimate of the cost by saying they were prepared by the officers of his department. Mr. Borden, Mr. Bergeron and other members said some of these estimates of cost were absurd, particularly that of $300,000 for the Yamaska bridge—831 feet long.

After recess the House resumed in committee the consideration of the bill. The debate was kept up by Col. McLennan, Mr. Foster, Dr. Sproule, Mr. Powell, Mr. Marcil, Mr. Bergeron and others.

Organized Obstruction.

The debate continued until 12.30, when Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper raised the point of order that the Minister of Railways having quoted from a report of the engineer of the department, should be required to lay that report upon the table of the House.

The Deputy Speaker, who was in the chair, held that the point was not well taken, at all events at this stage.

Sir Hibbert Tupper asked that the Speaker be requested to take the chair and give his ruling, and in order to obtain this ruling moved that the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again, for the purpose of having the Speaker's ruling.

The motion was declared lost, and Sir Hibbert then claimed the right of appeal to the Speaker.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that Sir Hibbert had taken his course and the committee had refused to rise and allow the appeal.

Mr. Bergeron contended that the precedent during the discussion on the remedial bill recognised the right of a member to an appeal to the Speaker without the question being put by the Chairman. He assured the Government that this was not the way to make progress.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the other way did not appear conducive to progress at all events. After the clear, deliberate and manifest intention to obstruct the business of the House, which had been shown during the afternoon and evening, hon. gentlemen on the opposite side had no right to protest.

Mr. Foster asserted that nothing that had transpired within the House warranted the Premier in making any such statement.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said obstruction was manifest from the fact that the speech during which the Minister of Railways was alleged to have referred to a document was made some eight days ago, when the Speaker was in the chair, but no objection or demand was then made for the document, yet when the House was now in committee the point of order was raised, when, if there was any point of order, it should be raised when the Speaker was in the chair. After some further discussion Sir Wilfrid Laurier suggested that, according to the rules, the committee should rise for the purpose of appealing against the ruling of the Chairman.

Deputy Speaker Brodeur then called Mr. Flint to the chair, and the committee rose and the Deputy Speaker left the chair. Mr. Flint, as acting chairman of committee, reported that the committee had risen for the purpose of obtaining a ruling upon a point of order.

Sir Hibbert Tupper denied that the Deputy Speaker had the right to take the chair. He insisted that the question be decided by the Speaker.

Deputy Speaker Brodeur replied that under the rules, having been called to the chair by the Speaker, he had the right to preside in the absence of the Speaker.

Sir Hibbert Tupper insisted that the question could not be decided by the Deputy Speaker, but must be decided by the Speaker.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the appeal was not to the Speaker, but to the House.

The division was then taken, and the ruling was sustained by 65 to 20. At 1.20 the House again went into committee, and the debate was resumed.

At 1.40 Col. McLennan made an ineffectual attempt to count out the House.

The committee rose at 3 a.m., reported progress and the House adjourned.

Painters Union.

A special meeting of the Painters' Union will be held to-morrow evening, Thursday, June 8th, at 7.30 p.m. All members are requested to attend. W. J. GARDNER, Financial Secretary.

Struck by Lightning.

During the thunder storm of yesterday afternoon, the house of Mr. W. Lloyd, No. 24 Parnell street, was struck by lightning, the electric fluid passing down through the [illegible] and shattering the coal stove to pieces. Fortunately no serious damage was done, although the escape of one or more persons from being struck by lightning was indeed close.

GRAPTON & CO., BARGAIN DAY, THURSDAY.

Single Tax.

Members of the Single Tax Association have placed in the public library, the Y.M.C.A. reading room, and the Catholic Literary Society's rooms, this year's issue of the National Single Taxer, a monthly journal of well edited matter, explanatory of the progress of Single Tax or Henry George's theories throughout the world and particularly in the English speaking nations. The May number is particularly interesting as it is devoted to an exposition of the Jefferson theories of government which are shown to accord with those of Henry George very closely.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH NOTES

The committee charged with the consideration of the proposed enlargement of St. Luke's vestry, have decided to proceed with the work at once.

The Bishop of Toronto will hold a confirmation service in St. Luke's church next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Next Monday evening Mrs. Parker will sing "If with all your hearts" from Mendelsohn's "Elijah." This is one of the gems of that splendid work.

The Young Women's Chapter of St. Luke's will hold a garden party on Mr. H. T. Strickland's beautiful lawn on Tuesday, June 27th. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of furnishings for the new vestry.

FARMER'S PICNIC.

Held at Bobcaygeon Tuesday, Under the Auspices of the Parishes of Fenelon Fall, Bobcaygeon and Galway.

The annual picnic in connection with the Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon and Galway Roman Catholic churches took place at Bobcaygeon yesterday and was attended by large numbers from the vicinity of these places and the surrounding parishes generally.

Rev. Father O'Leary, the popular parish priest, of Fenelon Falls, welcomed the guests in his usual hearty manner and there were also present Rev. Father McColl, Enniamore; Rev. Father O'Brien, Peterborough and Rev. Father Brereton, of Emily. The steamer Majestic brought from Douro, Young's Point, and Lakefield fully 250 passengers and the steamers from Lindsay and Fenelon Falls also brought large numbers from those places, making probably a thousand people on the ground.

The ladies of the various parishes had provided most bountifully, expecting a large number of guests, and they were not disappointed, as the number present even exceeded the expectations of the clergy under whose auspices the picnic was held.

The dancing platform was fully occupied by the young people, who enjoyed themselves in this manner while the older visitors enjoyed themselves while renewing old associations. A shower scattered the crowd for a short time, when the steamers were taken possession of at the water's edge, but the rain was only of short duration and the programme was completed afterwards.

During the afternoon, Father O'Leary occupied the chair and short addresses were delivered by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and Mr. Daniel O'Connell, of Peterborough, in which these gentlemen complimented the clergy on the success of the picnic and the good feeling which prevailed, not only there but throughout the land.

Taken altogether the picnic was a most successful one and the receipts will be satisfactory to the various parishes concerned.

PERSONAL.

Dr. Moher and Mr. H. LeBrun were in attendance at Father O'Leary's picnic at Bobcaygeon yesterday.

Mr. Andrew Onderdonk was in town yesterday, having paid his first visit to the work being performed by him on the Balsam Lake section of the Trent Valley Canal. Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer, brought Mr. Onderdonk in the Government yacht from Balsam Lake to Lakefield. Mr. Onderdonk expressed himself as particularly pleased with the waterway and its grand possibilities, and is as greatly surprised at the volume of water as are all other visitors. He left on the midnight train for Ottawa.

A PRESENTATION.

To Mrs T. B. Tate by the Women's Mission Circle of the Queen Street Baptist Church, St. Catharines

Mrs. J. B. Tate, wife of Mr. J. B. Tate, watchmaker, Opera House block, and mother of Mr. J. G. Tate, of the Tate Optical Co., of town, was, on leaving St. Catharines to take up residence in Peterborough, presented with a very handsome set of Japanese chinaware by the members of the Women's Mission Circle of the Queen street Baptist church, of which Rev. Mr. Trotter, formerly of town, is the pastor. The gift was accompanied by the following address:

Dear Mrs. Tate—The members of the Women's Mission Circle have learned with deep regret that you are so soon to remove from our midst. We wish from our hearts to assure you that we shall miss you very much; for your cheerful disposition, your devotion to our work, and your efficient discharge of the duties of secretary have endeared you to us all. Willing workers are all too few and our hope is that others may be raised up to fill the gap thus made in our ranks.

It is gratifying to remember, however, that in every place there is work to be done for Jesus, and that you are going where a church and circle exist, and where work awaits you. We trust that you may soon find a happy church home and a fitting place in which to serve the Master; and be sure, dear sister, that our best wishes and prayers will follow you.

Our hearts forbid us to let you go without expressing in some simple way our regard for you; we ask you, therefore, to accept this small token of our esteem as a remembrancer of the happy meetings we have had together. And may the blessing of Our Lord Jesus Christ be with you and yours always.

Signed by J. Trotter, president; B. McTavish, vice-president; Maria A. Mills, L. M. Hooker, Bella Rogers, Shenstone, Fannie E. Wisner, Mrs. B. Widdicombe, Mrs. G. Lloyd, J. Robinson, Mrs. Parnell, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Eckhart.

G. T. R. STRIKE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—At a meeting of the local G. T. R. trackmen, who are now out on strike, held last evening, I was instructed by resolution to return through the press the sincere thanks of the men to Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of St. John's, and his congregation, for the kindly sympathy expressed with us in our course, and also for the practical demonstration of that sympathy shown in the collection taken in our behalf at last Sunday's services. The trackmen have received many expressions of warm sympathy in their present trouble, and none was more appreciated than that given by the Rector and congregation of St. John's. The men while standing out for what they deem is only fair and just, will endeavour to conduct themselves in a manner that will show them worthy of this sympathy which has been extended to them.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
C. NOYES,
Chairman Local Committee.

THE NEW INDUSTRY.

Manufacture of Pianos to Begin in Peterborough Next Month.

At Monday night's session of the town council, Mayor Davis made some very interesting statements regarding Peterborough's new industry—the Stanley Piano Co. He explained that when the company, of which he is president, began to consider the matter of building a factory, they made up their minds to construct what is known as a "slow-burning" building, as fully $500 could thus be saved in insurance rates. In this class of building the joist have to be 8 X 12 in thickness instead of the usual size of 2x12. As the temperature in the factory averages from 80 to 90 degrees only well-seasoned and dry lumber can be used in its construction and no mill in this vicinity is prepared to furnish joist of the sizes required unless they are of this year's cut, which would be too green. This, therefore, was found to be an insurmountable obstacle to the immediate construction of the factory, and it was found impossible to proceed at as early a date as was expected.

Last year's output from the works in Toronto is just half what the company is doing this season, 220 pianos being now under course of construction at Toronto. Mr. Stanley finds it necessary to remain in Toronto and superintend this work and could not therefore come to Peterborough to oversee the erection of the local factory, to which the company intend removing their works.

In consideration of these facts the company decided to take the building recently vacated by B. F. Ackerman, when he moved into his new premises. The building will be fitted up to meet the requirements of the Stanley Piano Co., and an addition 30 x 40 in size added to it. A drying kiln will also be constructed which will enable the company to save $2.50 per thousand on their lumber, as that sum is charged for drying. The move, therefore, will be seen to be a wise one, and in a month or six weeks at the outside, the manufacture of pianos will begin in Peterborough.

The occupation of the Ackerman building is understood to be merely temporary, and the Mayor suggests that the Council ask the Commissioners to make such changes in the deed of the town lot, which it is proposed to give the company, as will enable them to wait another year before beginning work on it. By this time the class of lumber required will be obtainable.

OBITUARY.

Death of a Former Resident of Peterborough in Almonte

The Globe's Hamilton correspondent says: "The remains of the late Mrs. Elizabeth D. Travers, wife of the late Mr. J. N. Travers, Manager of the Bank of Montreal, this city, and mother of Mr. R. W. Travers, Manager of the Bank of Montreal in Almonte, with whom she resided, arrived on the G.T.R. at 8.30 this morning, and were interred in the Hamilton cemetery. The deceased lady who had many friends in this city, came to her death through the accidental discharge of a revolver in her hands in Almonte. Rev. Canon Sutherland conducted the services and the pall-bearers were Messrs. R. W. Travers, Almonte; Col. Smith and Ernest G. Smith, London; Adam Brown, A. D. Braithwaite and R. A. Lucas, this city."

Older residents of Peterborough will recollect the time when Mr. Travers was manager of the Bank of Montreal. Mrs. Travers was a sister of Mr. R. M. Hay, of town.

GEORGE BURNHAM, Chairman Finance Committee.

A Special Committee.

reported as follows:

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—A Special Committee appointed at the last meeting of the Board of Education to consider the advisability of establishing a system of savings banks in connection with the Public Schools, beg leave to report:

That the committee have carefully investigated the matter including the evidence furnished by reports of the success of the system in other places where it has been adopted, and in many in which it has been enforced for a number of years. The success is represented by the formation of habits of thrift and saving at the impressionable period of child life, and influence in a most beneficial way the citizenship of the province. Instances are frequent in which the savings of the child or children have come to the rescue of the family when the bread winner has been prostrated or out of work.

Under the system properly administered there is no rivalry between children of the school, because one has no means of knowing the amount to the credit of another, unless voluntarily disclosed; the importunities by children of parents for money for deposit is within the control of the parents themselves. The intention of the system is to provide a safe depository for the earnings of children, and for the trifling sums often given by parents to spend on childish luxuries; the encroachment on school time is extremely limited, being only ten or fifteen minutes per week, and the cost of operating the system is merely normal, stationery being the chief item.

Your committee therefore recommend that the system of Savings Banks be introduced into the Public Schools on September 1st next, and that this committee be empowered to make the necessary arrangements for giving their recommendation in effect.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

GEORGE BURNHAM, Chairman.

Some little discussion followed the reading of the report in which nearly all the members took part.

W. B. Bamford asked for further information on the matter and Dr. Burnham went into further details in explaining the system. It had been tried in Galt and other places and gave the utmost satisfaction and he thought there was no reason why it should not be tried here.

Mr. H. Denne, while he favoured thrift thought that if a child were inclined to save money there were plenty of banks for him to put his money in without putting the school board to any responsibility.

Mr. R. Fair was in favour of the scheme but considered that there should be every safeguard against scholars drawing their money out when they felt so inclined and other such ideas.

Mr. W. H. Hill spoke in favour of the system and suggested that it be referred also to the finance committee who will act with the special committee in arranging the details of the system.

On motion of Dr. Burnham, seconded by W. B. Bamford, the report was adopted and left with the special committee and finance committee with power to make all necessary arrangements for the carrying out of the scheme.

General Business.

On motion of Mr. J. J. McBain, seconded by Mr. W. B. Bamford, the secretary of the board was instructed to write the Minister of Education, asking that the fourth form examination be held as heretofore.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. J. J. McBain, seconded by Mr. W. H. Hill, the chairman of the property committee was instructed to have plans drawn and ask for the tenders to make the necessary sewer connections from the Central school with the town sewer with a view of having the work done during the summer vacation.

Before adjournment the secretary read a communication from the secretary of the Windsor Board of Education, asking the board's opinion on the system of letting scholars out at an early hour in the afternoon for faithful work, etc.

The matter was referred to the supervision committee.

The board then adjourned.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION OPENLY DISCUSSED.

at Guelph for the purpose of encouraging the dairying of the country and the Dominion Government was entitled to credit for lending its aid in improving the transportation facilities to get the agricultural products to the British market as quickly as possible. Nations may take credit in living to themselves and consuming the products they raise but only those nations become great which can place on the markets of the world some articles which are in advance of those produced by any other nation and as Canada is making a name for herself with her agricultural products we should remember this fact, even though we live in the town, and devote our energies to improving this branch of trade in advance of every other for the time being.

The popular idea of Technical Education is that it enables pupils to immediately enter paying employment on leaving school, but with this idea of adding technical education to the work in the schools, the speaker was not in sympathy for three reasons—it was impossible, it was not advisable and it was not necessary. At present there are a number of subjects on the public school curriculum—arithmetic, grammar, history, geography, etc., and it takes the pupil all his time to prepare his studies. These studies are such as are indispensable to a youth's education and have to be acknowledged as such by all civilized nations. They are as much as a pupil can attend to and the introduction of Technical Education would only be a handicap. It would not be advisableas the forcing of boys into special lines of work at an early age was unnatural and cramped him. Special education for any particular calling in life, given at an early age would result in destroying the individuality of the pupil.

With regard to Technical Education apart from the public school system, the speaker thought that it was impossible at the present time to make an industrial country of Canada by this means as fifteen twentieths of the population were engaged in agricultural pursuits and vast areas of land all over the country was unappropriated. While this is the case, Canada cannot be made into an industrial nation. Those in connection with the Mechanics' Institute will be able to tell if there is much of a demand for Technical Education. Canada would drift towards industrialism at some time, as no country could be truly great until it did. Then the towns can take the question up. This time had not yet arrived as the Mechanics' Institute seemed able to meet with the present wants of the community in this respect.

Mr. D. W. Dumble fully agreed with Mr. McCaig in the statement that the present public school system should not be tampered by the introduction of Technical Education. The lads had not the capacity to undertake more studies. The mind should be first developed by the regular studies, so that with advancing years, the boys take hold of Technical Education more readily, if they wished to take up that line of work. A time might come when it would be necessary to have schools in which Technical Education would be exclusively taught but at present those connected with the universities appeared to meet the demand.

On motion of Messrs. J. H. Burnham and D. W. Dumble, Messrs. Jas. Kendry, M.P., and John Lang, M.P., were appointed to represent Peterborough at the conference which is to be held in Ottawa in regard to this matter.

When the topic of "Excursions" was introduced Mr. Dumble advanced the thought that it would be a good idea to run an excursion from Montreal over the Trent Valley Canal when delegates from the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade could be invited to take the trip and see the waterway. He knew of no way to impress the advantages of the council upon these gentlemen better than to let them see it for themselves.

The matter was referred to a committee composed of Mr. Carnegie, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and the chairmen of the different committees. The matter of the annual Board of Trade excursion was also referred to the same committee.

MARKET REPORTS.

A Big Increase in the Visible Supply Caused a Sharp Drop in Chicago Wheat—The Latest Quotations.

Liverpool, June 6.—Wheat futures were strong yesterday, closing ½d to 1¼d above Friday's final figures.

Chicago, June 6.—Wheat market opened strong yesterday morning at an advance of 1c a bushel over Sunday. This initial buoyancy was based on bad crop reports and the better tone of cable advices. The rise brought out sellers, and when an increase of nearly 2,000,000 bushels in American visible supply was announced, the market broke. The decline totalled 2c, and the close was at about the lowest point of the day—1c a bushel below Saturday's final quotations.

The Visible Supply.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has increased 1,993,000 bushels; that of corn has decreased 418,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 433,000 bushels. The visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 56,345,000 bushels, against 55,392,000 bushels a week ago, and 69,467,000 bushels a year ago.

HE GOT HIS REVENGE.

IT CAME IN THE WILD RIOT STARTED BY THE CIRCUS MAN.

He Bided His Time, and When It Came the Mexicans Who Had Tortured Him Paid Dearly For Their Unwarranted Brutality.

"'I've been mixed up in a good many 'Hey, Rube,' fights in the western states, and I've got myself pretty badly clawed apart in some of them at that,'" said the settled down Capitol hill man who used to be boss tentman with a circus, 'but the worst 15 minute 'Hey, Rube,' battle I ever got tangled with happened in Mexico. The battle was started to satiate the vengeful spirit of one man, and the neat way with which he brought it off was surely a warning to grasshoppers. This man was in my gang. He joined the show up in the northern part of Starr county, Tex. He was inexperienced, but he was a worker, and he didn't want to do all the talking himself. His head was done up in bandages when he joined the outfit, and I asked him who had been slugging him.

"'Greasers,' he replied shortly, and, as a sort of a hard, steely light crept into his eyes when he snapped out the word, I didn't press him for details.

"We had a sort of a half baked 'Hay, Rube,' fight down in the middle of Starr county—we were working toward the south—and I noticed that the new man didn't take any part in it.

"'You've got to do your end of these mix ups,' I told him. 'When you hear the "Hey, Rube," hoot, it's a part of your business to grab the heaviest thing you can swing and rap the first duck that doesn't belong to the show with it. "Hey, Rube," means all hands around, and every man that draws wages from the show is expected to give a club swinging exhibition when that yell goes up.'

"'I'm saving myself for a game that's coming later on,' the man told me with another of those flinty glares stealing into his eyes. 'The show's bound for Camargo, Mexico, isn't it?'

"I told him that Camargo, Mexico, was on the date book; that it was probably the last town the show would appear in before going into winter quarters.

"'That's what I understood when I joined the show, and that's why I took the job,' said the man quietly. 'You just let me out of whatever scraps happen between here and Camargo. When we get there I'll do what I can to keep my end up.'

"Then the man opened up and told me why he had it in for Camargo.

"'A greaser tried to pink me with a knife in the back a couple of months ago over in Camargo,' he said. 'Don't know why. Never saw the gopher before. I was too quick for him and planted a ball in his shoulder. Then about a hundred of his pals hopped me, and they came near kicking me inside out. That's what ailed my head when I joined the show. When they got through with me, the half Injun constables got hold of me and chained me to the floor of a dungeon. I was there for two weeks, on bread and water, when I got the steel out of one of my boots and sawed myself loose. I broke out of the dungeon and swam the Rio Grande to get on American soil. While I was chained one of the guards made it his business to come into my dungeon every day and punch my sore head. Oh, I'm going to have some trouble in Camargo all right. That's what I joined the show for.'

"Now, it was my business as one of the responsible men of the show to peach on this fellow and have him fired before the show struck Camargo. But I didn't. A lot of old pals of mine in the circus business had told me of the way they had got the worst of it on many occasions at the hands of the Mexican authorities, and as I had along with me in my gang about the toughest bunch of fifty and odd bad scrappers that ever hit up a dirt road and as, besides, I felt that this quiet tentman had a genuine grievance, I just chewed a straw and walked away.

"A huge crowd of half breeds turned out for the show in Camargo. There was but one performance, the night show, and the ranchers for about a hundred miles around had galloped in to take in the show. About three-quarters of the bunch of several thousand in the tent were gaudily bedecked cow handlers. They all had knives in full sight, but no guns. Mexican cow punchers rarely pack guns. They don't fight on the level, and a knife isn't a level instrument to fight with.

"Before the flaps were pulled up for the crowd I noticed my quiet tentman getting a stack of wagon poles, nearly a hundred of them, piled together in a heap. I also noticed that none of the hands, either in my gang or in the other gangs—there were nearly 200 men all told connected with the show—were doing much talking. They seemed to be on edge for something that was going to happen.

"The last act of the 'concert' following the show was about over, and the greasers were leaving their seats, when my quiet tentman hopped on top of the pile of poles he had fixed and gave the 'Hey, Rube,' yelp—gave it like any bull of Bashan. He had put the whole gang of hands next, for they didn't waste a second in taking up the yelp all over the tent. Then they came a-rushing for the poles. Well, I thought I'd keep out of that one. I made for the shelter of a ticket wagon and saw it all from there. The quiet tentman served out all of his poles in less than two minutes, and then the hands began to break. First the constables in their funny blue uniforms and bare feet—20 of 'em—were batted into unconsciousness in less time than I'm telling it. The quiet tentman looked like a devil up in the front of the scrapping. In a spirit of complete defiance he quickly dropped his pole and began to use his fists. He was a six footer and built in proportion, and the way they went down was a caution. Finally his eye lit upon the prison guard who had beat him when he was chained, and, by a curious coincidence at the same moment, the greaser who had tried to stab him heaved in sight. The victim of Camargo dragged one to the other by the scruff of the neck, banged their heads together and then stabbed them both to the heart with one of the guard's knives. That was the last I ever saw of him, but he got away. We got across the Rio Grande in our barges just in time to see five troops of Mexican cavalry pull up on the banks of the Mexican side. The show would have been there yet if they'd been a bit earlier.'—Washington Star.

A HELPLESS CHILD.

A weak and puny child is almost as much abandoned to its fate as if it was left alone on a chimney-top. It is isolated from the healthy enjoyments of its little fellow-beings. It cannot partake either of the play or their sturdy work and progress in the world; its whole life is embittered by incapacity and weakness.

Any woman who expects to become a mother ought to know what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do both for her own health and safety during her time of trial and also to insure her in bequeathing a fair measure of health and strength to the prospective little one.

"Some months before my baby came I found myself in rapidly failing health," writes Mrs. W. J. Kidder, of Hill Dale Farm (Enosburg Center), Enosburg, Vt., in a grateful letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. "I suffered dreadfully from bloating and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker every day and suffered much sharp pain at times. I felt that something must be done. I sought your advice and received a prompt reply. I followed your directions and took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became excellent, and I could do all my own work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby boy."

There never has been a remedy in the history of medicine that has done what this marvelous "Favorite Prescription" has accomplished for weak, ailing women.

It's an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to attempt to palm off upon you a substitute for this world-famed medicine. You know what you want. It's his business to meet that want. When he urges some substitute he's thinking of the larger profit he'll make—not of your welfare.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Possibly Speaker Reed has come to the conclusion that the house is fit for self government.—Detroit Tribune.

It would be too much to expect the next speaker to take up the czar business right where Mr. Reed left off.—Washington Post.

It is curious how many men are willing to sacrifice their political futures by becoming speaker of the house of representatives.—Albany Times-Union.

General Grosvenor of Ohio says that if the west votes solidly the next speaker of the house will be a western man. General Grosvenor is a western man.—Brooklyn Citizen.

There is a demand for Reed's old shoes, but not for his scepter. There is nobody with the nerve to play czar over the house of representatives as he has done.—Washington Times.

Having dropped the speakership ball right in the center of the field, Mr. Reed has wisely gone far enough out of the way to keep clear of the ensuing scrimmage.

Nelson as a Boy.

"I wonder, child," said Nelson's grandmother, with whom he lived, "that hunger and fear did not drive you home." "Fear!" replied the youngster. "I never saw fear. What is it?"

Nelson was still at school when he was summoned to join his ship. The parting with his elder brother, William, his playmate and bedfellow, was the first of those privations which every sailor must suffer. But, if the goodby at school was painful, how much more so must have been the farewell with his grandmother? As she beheld him, dressed in the smart midshipman's uniform, did she realize that the lad before her would, contrary to all expectations, take to his profession with enjoyment and, within about a year, shake off a fit of depression by saying, "I will be a hero and brave every danger."

Did she see in the upright figure the future viscount whose doughty deeds, unparalleled in history, were to call forth blessings from men and women of every class as he set out on his last, fatal voyage against the French? Did she feel that one day a nation would weep for the loss of one of its noblest sons, whose dying words should be, "Thank God, I have done my duty!"—Cassell's Little Folks.

No Cure for... Bright's Disease

In its advanced stages—The Reason Why—Danger Prevented by the Timely Use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

To understand Bright's Disease is to know that in its advanced stages it is past the reach of human aid. The cells of the kidneys undergo a wasting change, which leaves them dead so far as performing their functions is concerned. Just think of having the kidneys dead. Think of the poisons left in the system when these organs could no longer perform their duties as filters of the blood.

It would be difficult to conceive of anything more dreadful, and yet this is the goal to which every case of neglected kidney disease must lead.

When the back aches, when urinating is difficult or too frequent, when there are deposits in the urine after standing for 24 hours, there is no time to lose in procuring Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

It is not claimed that they will cure Bright's Disease in its last stages. They are an absolute cure for kidney disease, and so long as the kidneys are not entirely wasted away they will give new strength and vigor and enable them to resume their duties of filtering the blood.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will stop backache and headache in short order by removing the cause, and will positively prevent Bright's Disease. One pill a dose, 25c. a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Sleep no more, Corinna! Night
Stealthily in ghostly vat'ling
Flecing, scattered in her flight
Whereso'er her mantle trailing,
Brushed and bent each grassy spear
Bounties of dew silver here.

Now in splendid pageant moves
Like a far sea phosphorescent,
Passing down the mountain groves,
Dawn to kiss the lake's lime crescent,
Golden arrows falling over
From her loose rose-belted quiver.

Silken strands of thistle down
(Woven by the pixie maidens)
Glitter, and the coral crown
Wherewith every hawthorn's laden,
E'en as if in rubies set,
Sparkles with the hoar frost wet.

Sleep no more, Corinna! Nay,
Slumber hath outgrieid its limit
When the pomp of newborn day
Thrusties see and rise to hymn it,
When, all loveliness, the sun
Setteth forth his course to run!

How Did Jim Know?

For several years my early morning walk lay through the first block of West Fifty-seventh street, where I used regularly to meet a milkman delivering milk. He would take from his wagon a rack containing several bottles and go from house to house, while his old gray horse walked sedately on alone.

One morning as I was passing the pair midway the block the man said to his horse:

"Go on, Jim, and turn at No. 7."

I watched with interest. Jim did go on until exactly opposite No. 7. Then he carefully turned and walked back to his master—or shall I say comrade? Yet some people think that the lower animals cannot reason.—Our Animal Friends.

INCALCULABLE GOOD,

AN EXPRESSION OF FAITH.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have done me an incalculable amount of good. I think they are the best, surest and quickest acting cure for nervousness, unhealthy action of the heart, insomnia or sleeplessness, anemia or impoverished blood, loss of appetite, general debility and ill-health. For nine years, before I commenced taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, my heart was weak and in an unhealthy state. Its action was so much impaired that I could not walk across the street without suffering great distress, my heart fluttering and beating so rapidly that I could scarcely breathe, causing faintness, loss of strength, and leaving my nerves all unstrung. My sleep was very much disturbed, I had no appetite and there was little strength or vitality in my blood; I was always excessively nervous.

I have now taken three boxes of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills and since taking them I have not been away from my business an hour. Before taking these pills it was a frequent occurrence for me to be away from business. As a result of taking Dr. Ward's Pills my heart is perfectly healthy and strong and gives me no distress or trouble whatever. They removed all nerve trouble, made my nerves strong and gave me healthy sleep. These pills also made my blood rich and strong and gave me a healthy appetite. Dr. Ward's Pills have given me perfect health, restoring my lost strength, in place of continual ill-health, weakness, heart trouble and nervousness. In justice I cannot speak too highly of this wonderful medicine. Signed, Miss N. Millward, Walton St., Port Hope, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DOCTOR WARD CO. Limited, 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

ENGLISH RED TAPE.

It Took a Broken Leg to Get the Chair Repaired.

It is stated that one morning recently a young fellow who had just secured a clerkship in a government office was considerably startled by a little scene that he witnessed. An elderly man, one of the senior clerks in the room, suddenly rose from his desk, dragged the comfortable chair on which he had been sitting into the middle of the room, seized a poker and attacking the chair with great vigor succeeded in breaking one of its legs. When it was done, the official gave a sigh of relief and flung the chair into a corner of the room. The budding junior's first thought was that his senior had suddenly taken leave of his senses, and he almost expected that his colleagues would put him under restraint. But to his astonishment the other clerks hardly raised their eyes while the work of destruction was in progress. Before the office work was over the newcomer sought information from one of his fellow clerks.

"Can you tell me," said he, "why Mr. Dash carried on in that extraordinary fashion? I mean, of course, when he broke a perfectly sound leg off the chair in which he had been sitting."

"Oh, that was all right!" replied the other with a meaning laugh. "A caster had come off one of the legs of that chair, and, you know, 'my lords' will not provide us with new casters; they will attend to nothing less than a broken leg. So Dash had to break one of the legs to get his chair put right at the public expense."—London Standard.

A Terrible Affliction.

There is no suffering the human flesh is heir to that is more severe than rheumatism. But the pain can be for ever removed by taking Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure. Mrs. James Hunt, Port Hope, Ont., suffered with Muscular Rheumatism in the hands for three years. Four bottles of Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure cured her completely. She has been free from pain since. This preparation is used internally. One bottle contains ten days' treatment, price 50 cents. For sale at all drug stores.

Had Observed It.

There had been a brilliant company at the home of a society leader, a woman whose husband, while a very worthy man, was noted rather for his wealth than for his mental attainments.

"Well, Abner," she said after the last visitor had gone and they had sat down to talk it over, "it was a complete success, wasn't it?"

"Sure," replied the husband.

"Did you notice Professor Muchman?"

"He was the man with the bandage around his neck, wasn't he?"

"Yes. You heard him talk, didn't you?"

"Oh, yes; I heard him."

"What an astonishing vocabulary he has!"

"Well, that may be what it is," said Abner doubtfully, "but from the way he held his head I should judge it was a carbuncle."—Youth's Companion.

Not Listening.

She was a very little girl, but not so small that she did not recognize swearing as something very wrong or that if other people used bad language it was her place to close her ears to it. She was on the street with her mother, and as they passed a group of men talking in loud tones the passersby heard the small girl exclaim in shocked tones, "Oh, isn't that awful!" And then, as if suddenly remembering, "But I'm not listening."

Piles for 15 Years.

Mr. James Bowles, Councillor, Embro, Ont., writes: "For over 15 years I suffered the misery of bleeding, protruding piles. The many remedies I tried all failed. I was was advised to use Dr. Chase's Ointment, and must say that the first application gave relief, after the third day, the bleeding stopped and two boxes cured me completely."

A FAMOUS PLATE.

The First Engraving Was Printed on a Laundress' Bundle.

Two groups of tourists were standing in the Pitti palace before the large plate of pure silver upon which Finiguerra, the great master of early engraving, had depicted his lovely "Madonna and Child" in a trellised arbor covered with roses. An Italian lady was telling her friends in an undertone the charming anecdote of Finiguerra and the laundress.

The artist, it seems, in mastering the new and difficult art of engraving upon metal, had acquired a singularly keen eye and delicate touch, and he also possessed a number of very fine and sharp instruments, which he used in his work.

Being a kindly man he sometimes placed both his sure hand and his fine tools at the service of his friends and neighbors in performing for them some of the simpler operations of surgery, until he acquired quite a reputation for his skill in doctoring their hurts.

One day a poor laundress who had been washing clothes, in wringing out a garment in which a needle had been carelessly left, ran it deeply into her hand. Worse yet, it broke off in the wound and a part remained imbedded in the flesh. She was in much pain, and on her way back from the stream where she had been washing she stopped at the house of the artist and was admitted.

Entering his studio she hastily set down her wet and heavy bundle and held out the injured hand, begging his assistance. Finiguerra left his work to help her, and after long and delicate manipulation extracted the broken needle. The woman thanked him and turned to go, lifting her bundle from its resting place.

Then he saw that she had set it upon one of his engravings. Like all others at that time, it was a plate of engraved metal, complete in itself, and regarded as a single and sufficient picture, exactly as if it had been a painting.

But as the damp bundle was raised the quick eye of Finiguerra saw that it had received an impression from the engraved picture beneath, and his quick mind seized at once the suggestion of the possibility of indefinite reproduction from a single original. So that from the kindness of a great artist to a poor washerwoman sprang the discovery which has placed the beautiful products of the engraver's art within the reach of all of us today!—Youth's Companion.

HIS NARROW ESCAPE

Mr. John N. Babcock's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sharbot Lake, Ont., May 29. — No resident of this place is better known to the thousands of tourists and sportsmen who visit us annually than is Mr. John N. Babcock.

Mr. Babcock has had many thrilling experiences, but the narrowest escape he ever had, he tells of in these words:

"After twenty years of pain, caused by Gravel and other Kidney Complaints, I am pleased to be able to state that I have been completely cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. During these years I have spent hundreds of dollars for doctors and remedies, but only Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me."

RAILROAD.... KIDNEY

A Disease Peculiar to Railroad Men, which is readily Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Did it ever occur to you that most railroad men die of kidney disease?

Such is the fact, however, and the disease is known among railroaders as "railroad kidney."

The first and most marked symptom is a weak, lame and aching back. You may think at first that you are only tired; but as this trouble increases day by day, kidney disease, with all its terrors, is fast claiming you as a victim.

Mr. Geo. Cummings, for over 20 years engineer on the Grand Trunk running between Toronto and Allandale, says: "The constant duty with my work gave me excessive pains in my back, racking my kidneys. I tried several remedies until I was recommended by my fireman, Mr. Dave Conley, to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two boxes have completely cured me and I feel to-day a better man than ever. I recommend them to all my friends."

A NEW INVENTION!

The Newcombe Piano Has It.

It consists of a Patented Practice CLAVIER or STOP which diminishes the tone when required and saves wear on the Piano; it also does away with the old way of having to press down the pedal with the foot in order to soften the tone when running the scales or practicing. Oftentimes the young pupil on the piano cannot press down on the pedal without throwing themselves out of the proper position when they should sit erect. This invention in the NEWCOMBE PIANO will enable children to begin two years earlier on the piano. In addition to the above, the NEWCOMBE PIANO is the finest made in Canada. Children often complain about practicing; they like it if they have a NEWCOMBE PIANO. 1899 styles are gems of art, containing every late improvement; they possess that beautiful full sweet tone which lights the singer, and so pleases every musical ear. Organs of every description at Wholesale Prices.

Big Bargains now on hand in slightly used. Upright and Square Pianos of the various makes taken in part exchange for the famous NEWCOMBE PIANOS. Every NEWCOMBE PIANO has a new registered scale and the warranty is cast in the plate. TETTER ON HANDS

Troubled for years. Sore All Over. Could not use them. Spread over Arms, Neck, and Face. Smarted Like Fire. Physicians no Benefit. Tried CUTICURA. Immediate Relief. Permanent Cure.

I had been troubled with tetter for several years. At times my hands would be so sore all over, so that I could not use them at all, and were so tender that about water, even, smarted like fire, and it spread over arms, neck, and face. I had been treated by physicians, but without benefit, when I began the CUTICURA remedies. I found relief before I had taken the first bottle. I used three or four bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and one box of CUTICURA (ointment), and it has never troubled me since. BASS AND LUNGE FISHING.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The time seems to have come again when Mr. Kennedy has to air his views on the subject of bass and lunge fishing, and as we have had some experience in the matter, we would like to say a few words in reply to his letter of May 31st. We are glad that Mr. Kennedy has come out so strongly in favor of the preservation of the fish, and we are glad that he has the courage of his convictions to write over his own name. We wish more would do the same.

It may be Mr. Editor, that the Indians have had their faults, but they do not compare for greediness of the "Anglers' Association," who are for this change. They may be of some consequence, but they are the subjects and waste of the country. It is very easy to make suggestions at someone else's expense. What would you put them at Mr. Editor?

In Peterborough and all through there parts in winter we find men looking for work and can't find any. And so far as the Indians are concerned many of them are incapable of doing anything else than fish.

For Mr. Inspector Sheppard of Toronto was a good gentleman and knows all the reasons for the seasons. First, the fry of fish that are allowed to be caught the more will be left in the waters, and second, they should be protected for sportsmen, who, being civilized beings and desiring to share the sport with the fish, keep it "on the hook" and "play it" for all it is worth, until the gamey little fish in his unequal fight for life, gets played out, then the guide is supplied with a scoop net to scoop it into the canoe or boat, while the Indian, who fishes for food, with the cruel character of his uncivilized nature, kills the fish at once and puts it out of misery.

But, Mr. Editor, is this not class legislation of the most objectionable kind? Trying by legislative enactment to take from those "few Indians" their necessary food supply, and from the rest of us our occasional fish without just reason, and with the avowed object of preserving them for "sportsmen" and "summer visitors."

The fish caught by the Indians is a mere bagatelle and plays no important part in the depletion complained of. Besides, few of them do any fishing in Stoney Lake, and that only for about two or three weeks during the whole year.

The cause of depleting these waters of bass and lunge lies at the door of the white man and his government, and we cannot get rid of the difficulty by starving the Indians and depriving them of their ancient rights.

Every spring about the first of April, as the ice is beginning to break up and just when the bass and lunge are beginning to look for spawning ground, the stop logs are put down and the water is raised from three to five feet on the perpendicular. You can imagine how far out beyond the ordinary water mark these flat shores will be flooded, and as both the bass and lunge go far out and spawn in shallow water, a large proportion of the spawn is thus left far out beyond the ordinary lake level, and since the water is usually lowered again to normal level during the month of May by the Government's servants long before the spawn and fry is able to take care of itself and go back into the lake with the receding water, the parent bass is forced to abandon her fry, and both spawn and fry are thus lost, and may be seen in millions along the flat shores every spring, when we are lakes and being deprived of our rights.

If it is necessary to raise the water to such a height every spring, it should be maintained at that height until July or until such time as the fry is able to go back into deep water, and I beg to suggest Mr. Editor, that the members of the "Anglers' Association" use their influence to stop this nuisance and maintain the bass.

And though few of the residents are anglers, sportsmen, or summer visitors, they have as much right to their occasional fish as others, and being so far the most numerous, they ought to have an opportunity to express themselves before such a radical and necessary change is sprung on them.

And incidentally Mr. Editor, this matter should bring forcibly home to the Indians the necessity of putting themselves in a position to be heard in matters so much affecting their interests, and this they can never do until they obtain and intelligently use the franchise.

Apologizing for using so much of your space, I am, yours respectfully,

A. E. KENNEDY.

NOTE.—We publish the above communication from Mr. Kennedy with pleasure, as we have no desire to prevent anyone being heard upon such an important question. The estimated wealth from our lakes and rivers amounts annually to many millions of dollars and is a subject therefore which is worthy of the most careful consideration. Mr. Kennedy, who has resided amongst the Indians for so many years, should know their habits very well and we do not think Mr. Kennedy is so innocent of their doings as to not know that in the fall of the year before the ice forms, the Indians who are practically on the water all the time during the summer season, locate the positions of all the bass and lunge beds, when after the ice forms during the winter, the fishing shanties are built over the holes and being thus protected from the weather they fish continuously, and we have it on undoubted authority that sleigh load after sleigh load of fish leave Stony Lake—caught at a time when it is most important that fish should be left in the beds and one does not have to go further than the stores in Peterborough, during the winter months and into the back premises to see the barrels and barrels of bass that are on sale—at slaughter prices, owing to the fact it is hard to get rid of them in such bulk and no doubt the price paid for them is not in proportion to the time taken in procuring them, which is another reason why the unprofitable business should be closed. No one would object to the Indians being allowed to take fish for their own use, if it ceased at that, but no one knows better than Mr. Kennedy that it is the abuse of the heretofore granted privileges that is causing all the difficulty to-day, and that if the from three to five hundred pounds of fish, which are brought in weekly, and purchased from the Indians at a nominal price are allowed to remain in the waters and propagate until the proper season, they will be able to replenish our streams, and then when the fishing season opens all will have a fair opportunity of procuring fish for food as well as for the market. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and a little care now will ensure our waters being restocked according to the laws of nature.

There is no doubt a good deal in what Mr. Kennedy says regarding the injury done the spawn by the fluctuation of the water during the spring months, but that is a matter very difficult to regulate where the water varies from three to seven feet in depth, owing to the spring freshets. It is generally thought though that there could be some improvement made along this line.

We have been unable to find anyone, with the exception of Mr. Kennedy, to contend that a handful of people be allowed to continue to deplete our lakes and rivers of the few fish that are left in the waters by Port Robinson and Rice Lake fishermen. With regard to the sentimental side of the question, we might say that there are many good people bereaved with the fish that are caught in a legitimate way during the proper season than there are benefitted during the winter season. It is a well known fact that even from the first of April to June 15th the law is being continuously violated and not alone by the Indian, but the Indian is doing his fair share. What we want to see is the seasons so arranged that the waters will not be depleted entirely and that the law be observed by both Indian and white man alike.

DANGER IN SODA

Serious Results Sometimes Follow Its Excessive use.

Common soda is all right in its place and indispensable in the kitchen and for cooking and washing purposes, but it was never intended as a medicine and people who use it as such will some day regret it.

We refer to the common use of soda to relieve heartburn or sour stomach—a habit which thousands of people practice, and one which is fraught with danger, moreover the soda only gives temporary relief and in the end the stomach trouble gets worse and worse.

The soda acts as a mechanical irritant to the walls of the stomach and bowels, and causes gas on record where it has accumulated in the intestines, causing death by inflammation or peritonitis.

Dr. Harrandson recommends as the safest and surest cure for sour stomach and dyspepsia an excellent preparation sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These tablets are large 20-grain lozenges very pleasant to the taste and contain the natural acids, pepsin and digestive elements essential to good digestion and when taken after meals they digest the food perfectly and promptly before it has time to ferment, and sour and poison the blood and nervous system.

Dr. Wuerth states that he invariably uses Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in all cases of stomach derangements, and finds them a certain cure, not only for sour stomach, but by promptly digesting the food they create flesh, and strengthen the action of the heart and liver. They are not a cathartic, but intended only for stomach diseases and weakness, and will be found reliable in all stomach troubles, except cancer of the stomach. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50c per package.

HALL'S GLEN.

A number of delegates, accompanied by several members of visitors, from Zion Lodge, I. O. G. T. left this neighbourhood on Friday morning to attend the District Convention in Peterborough, which, it is thought must have been a grand success. Some of the representatives managed to return home inside of five days, while the remainder had not showed up at the beginning of the following week.

The Church of England people are now at work on the foundation of their church, and the building committee has invited the Orangemen to take part in laying the corner stone, which is to take place on Friday evening.

Mr. Alex. Darling, who intends to build a new summer kitchen and woodshed addition to his house, has been busily engaged this week with a number of men digging the cellar, which he has almost completed.

Rheumatism Can't Exist.

When the kidneys are kept healthy and vigorous by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. If is uric acid left in the blood by defective kidneys that causes rheumatism. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills make the kidneys strong and active in their work of filtering the blood, and thus remove the cause of rheumatism. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box.

WANT THE MEN BACK

The Trackmen Say the G.T.R. Is Making Advances.

THE BIG STRIKE IS STILL ON.

The Men Claim That Only 60 Men Are Working in the Middle Division, But the Company's Officials That 60 Per Cent. of the Full Strength Is Working—At Montreal.

Toronto, June 8.—Late last night there were a few new developments in the end of the Grand Trunk Railway trackmen's strike which go to show that the officials are doing their utmost to get the men back again. All efforts so far have proved unavailing, and the men are still not at work. The men say here that, to their knowledge, not a man has resumed his work since the strike re-commenced, and that only 60 trackmen are patrolling the middle division.

The Men Had Their Eyes Opened.

James Imrie received the following telegrams yesterday from the executive committee in Montreal: "Yes, things going finely all over. Tell the boys this."

"Brothers turning out like bees. Have helped more than hurt us. Will not deceive committee twice. Your response is gratifying; post us daily."

"Thanks. No return to work till signed and sealed, sure."

What the Officials Say.

The officials said yesterday that 60 per cent. of the trackmen on the middle division were back at work again. General Roadmaster Ferguson was sure that 400 men were on the middle division alone. That official said that the men were returning and the road was in a good condition.

The Situation at Montreal.

Montreal, June 8.—"The strike is on again tighter than ever."—The Strikers' Committee.

"We are quite satisfied with everything."—The Grand Trunk.

That is how matters stood last night in connection with the difficulties between the Grand Trunk and the Trackmen's Union. The strike inaugurated by the latter more than two weeks ago and called off on Saturday last was yesterday morning officially declared on again, and the men once more summoned to lay down their tools and quit work. Mr. Lowe says that when it was found that some were accepted and others rejected, indignant protests were telegraphed to the executive, and they responded to these by issuing an official notification from headquarters ordering a resumption of the strike. A call at the offices of the Grand Trunk revealed the fact that the management regarded the strike as over. The men who have come out the second time have nothing to look for from the company, who say that, with the new labor they have secured during the time the strike was in active operation and those who returned to work and have remained faithful, they have practically all the men required for their purpose at present.

The executive committee of the Grand Trunk trackmen claim that nearly all the men on the system have again gone on strike. The executive say that no settlement will now be considered unless it is in writing. The Grand Trunk officials apparently do not attach much importance to the latest developments, and say they can get all the men they require. They deny most emphatically that any promises were given.

OOM PAUL STUBBORN.

President Kruger Refuses to Grant Required Reforms.

BLOEMFONTEIN BREAK-DOWN.

The Transvaal President Offered Concessions, But Made Them Contingent Upon Britain Accepting the Principle of Arbitration in Settling the Differences Between Them.

London, June 8.—The Exchange Telegraph Company yesterday published an interview with the Parliamentary Secretary of the Colonial Office, the Earl of Selborne, in which he is quoted as declaring that the conference at Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, between President Kruger of the Transvaal Republic and the British high commissioner and Governor of Cape Colony, Sir Alfred Milner, proved unsatisfactory, and that there is no probability of its resumption.

A telegram was received at 1 o'clock in the afternoon from Sir Alfred Milner stating the President Kruger obstinately refused all concessions tending toward a settlement of the Transvaal difficulties.

Upon receiving the despatch, Secretary Chamberlain, Lord Selborne and others held a consultation concerning the failure of negotiations, which created a serious situation.

KRUGER WANTED ARBITRATION,

But Milner Would Not Thus Acknowledge Equality Between Them.

Brussels, June 8.—Doctor Leyds, the European representative of the Transvaal, has received an official despatch from Pretoria confirming the report of the failure of President Kruger and the British high commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, to reach an agreement at the conference just held at Bloemfontein.

It is added that although President Kruger offered important concessions he made them contingent upon the British acceptance of the principle of arbitration on the differences existing between Great Britain and the Transvaal.

This Great Britain heretofore has invariably refused on the ground that it would be an acknowledgement of the equality of the two countries.

According to the despatch received by Dr. Leyds, President Kruger proposed that a sojourn of two years be necessary for naturalization, and that the full franchise be acquirable five years later, coupled with property and other qualifications. The British high commissioner regarded the proposal as insufficient and made a counter proposal. President Kruger, it is further asserted, intends to submit both proposals to the Volksraad, subject to the favorable decision of Great Britain relative to arbitration.

Effect of the Failure.

London, June 8.—The report of the breakdown of the Bloemfontein negotiations has created considerable anxiety in political and official circles, and there is much speculation as to the next move of the British Government. While Great Britain does not mean war, it is generally thought that, at any rate, there will be military preparations.

Mr. Balfour Still Hopes.

London, June 8.—The Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House of Commons, in the course of a speech at a political banquet last evening, said the failure of the Bloemfontein conference was a source of deep regret to the Government. It was England's duty, he said, not to allow her rights to be trampled upon; but he did not believe that the controversies were incapable of solution.

In concluding his references to the conference, Mr. Balfour said:

"My sanguine forecast of a successful issue out of the troubles is based on facts that principles so obvious as the elementary rights of civilization, which we demand for our fellow-countrymen, must commend themselves to the citizens of the Transvaal, and I venture to think that the good sense, justice, policy and wisdom of the leaders of public opinion in the Transvaal will make for some settlement which will rightly preserve the independence of the Transvaal."

Mosquitoes on the Warpath.

Kingston, Ja., June 8.—Mail advices from the Mosquito Coast say the Indians there have rebelled against the Government of Nicaragua, are taking the warpath and are sending a delegation to invite Prince Clarence to head the rising, which, it is added, will probably receive financial support from the foreign residents of the Mosquito Coast. Prince Clarence is now at Kingston, but he recently declared he would never break faith with the British Government, preferring his easy retirement here to active life as King of the Mosquito Coast.

Death of Augustin Daly.

Paris, June 8.—Mr. Augustin Daly, the well-known theatrical manager of New York and London, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. Mr. Daly's death was due to heart failure. Mr. Daly was born in Plymouth, North Carolina, July 20, 1838. For several seasons he managed the Grand Opera House in New York.

GRAND TRUNK STRIKE

House of Commons Discusses the Unfortunate Situation.

EFFORTS OF THE PREMIER.

Sir Wilfrid Was Negotiating With Mr. Wainwright When Messrs. Powell, Taylor and Clarke Went to Montreal—Sympathy With Strikers—Statement of Mr. Powell—Obstruction Again.

Ottawa, June 8.—The trackmen's strike again formed the chief subject of discussion in the House yesterday, the question being introduced by Mr. W. F. Maclean. Messrs. Powell and Taylor, who conducted the negotiations with the management of the G.T.R. on behalf of the striking trackmen, made statements and produced correspondence in support of their contention that faith had not been kept with the men. Sir Wilfrid Laurier during the debate informed the House that he had been negotiating with the G.T.R. for a settlement of the strike, but when he learned that Messrs. Taylor and Powell had been accepted as mediators by the strikers the negotiations were dropped. The debate upon the strike occupied the attention of the House until half-past 10 o'clock in the evening, when the House again went into committee upon the bill confirming the agreement with the G.T.R. for the extension of the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal. The Opposition immediately upon getting into committee renewed the obstructive tactics of the previous day, demanding fuller information from the Minister of Railways and challenging the accuracy of his estimates of cost.

The G.T.R. Strike.

Mr. Maclean said: Before the orders of the day are called, I would like, in the public interest, and in the interest of public safety, to direct the attention of the Government and of the Minister of Railways and Canals to the present strike on the G.T.R. To that end I would like to read a statement that has been made this morning and published in the evening papers in connection with the event.

Mr. McKenny's Statement.

Mr. H. F. McKenny of this city, Grand Secretary of the United Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, this morning issued the following statement in reference to the strike on the Grand Trunk Railway, which began on May 22nd, and has been in force since, except for a few hours on June 6th. In the course of the circular Mr. McKenny says:

"During this momentous struggle for fair living wages and humanitarian hours of duty, the men on the G.T.R. remained true and carefully guarded against any acts of lawlessness or any infringement of the statutory laws of Canada.

"We believe they have earned for themselves the respect and admiration of every fair-minded citizen by pursuing this course, and an ultimate victory is now assured, but the trackmen who only through long experience have acquired the work they perform have reached the conclusion that the company is only determined to defeat the Union, and is ignoring the prospect of passenger trains becoming derailed, which is likely to occur at any moment owing to the road being out of condition while it is not patrolled, the workmen watching for such irregularities.

"Recognising the great risk that the shippers and the traveling public are subject to, the Union submitted a requisition to Sir Wilfrid Laurier asking that the differences between the company and the men be settled by arbitration. It was promised that the best arrangement possible should be made, but Mr. Wainwright afterwards intimated that the company desired to settle.

"Messrs. Taylor and Powell, M.P.'s offered to act as mediators, and accompanied the deputation to Montreal, where Mr. Hays, General Manager of the G. T. R., guaranteed that the grievances of the men would be satisfactorily remedied.

"Believing him to be sincere the men were prepared to resume work, and the requisition for arbitration was withdrawn.

"On Monday morning when ready to go to work they were informed that no employment could be guaranteed them except an application was made, and even if this was done certain of them would be dismissed.

"The company now denies any agreement that all the men should be put to work, and the executive has consequently ordered another strike.

"We leave it to the people to determine if we are not justified in perpetuating the struggle against a corporation which by word and action shows itself unreliable."

Now, Mr. Speaker, here is an instance where the leaders of a body of men seeking to have decent pay and decent hours accorded to them, say that faith has been broken with them by this great corporation. If that is the case and the men feel that faith has been broken with them, I think that the public safety is doubly endangered, and it is now the duty of the Government, and especially of the Minister of Railways and Canals, to interfere on behalf of the people of this country and to compel that great corporation immediately to consider the grievances of the men and to rectify them.

The G.T.R. put forward the defence now that the men are simply a little out of form, and they are telling people privately that they are on duty. The G.T.R. people send me a message that they do intend to do something for the men and they do intend to pay them better wages, but that they object to the form in which the men are moving. Well, that is not a fair way to treat the public or the men. The men are only seeking their rights and if anything is to be conceded to them it ought to be conceded to them now, before the public safety is jeopardized. I hope that not only the Prime Minister, whose name is brought forward in this statement, will make a statement to the country to-day, but that also those members of Parliament whose names have been brought into this discussion, and who, I am told, alleged that the Grand Trunk Railway had broken faith with the men, will also make a statement, and that these statements will have the effect of bringing this dispute to an end and guaranteeing safety to the public in travelling over the lines of this company.

I can state from my own observation that last week a distinguished man in this country, who is a great supporter of the G.T.R. and who always travels by that line, in coming to Ottawa thought that it was in the interest of his own safety to abandon the line he has always patronized in the past and to take the

THE STRIKE DEVELOPMENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly insert enclosed items from the Toronto News regarding the trackmen's strike:

The managers of the Grand Trunk appear to have added duplicity to parsimony in dealing with their trackmen. The arrangement that was made on Saturday to induce the men to return to work was certainly understood by them to mean that they would go back in a body and not individually. Otherwise there is not the least likelihood that the men would have abandoned the struggle. The men acted in good faith, accepting the representations made on behalf of the company at their face value, and it is an exhibition of heartlessness with few parallels for the company to refuse to carry out the agreement as it was understood by the men. Whether such tactics succeed in defeating the men or not, the railway company stands to lose the respect of every decent citizen by taking advantage of their helpless employees in this way. As a matter of fact, yesterday's developments should strengthen the case of the trackmen. Public sympathy should be stronger for them now than before they met with this treatment from the company, and all who were active sympathisers with the men prior to Saturday will show their sympathy much more plainly hereafter.

It was a peculiarly heartless thing for the company to lead their employees and their wives and families to believe that the struggle that has been so serious a matter for them was at an end, and then to deliberately refuse to carry out an arrangement made on the men's behalf. From the beginning the company had not a leg to stand upon in the dispute with the trackmen, but this latest development puts them in even a worse light than they occupied before.

The strength of the sympathy for the striking trackmen of the Grand Trunk Railway is shown by actions such as have been taken by the people of Millbrook, where several of the trackmen reside. In that town a two-horse conveyance has been set apart for the use of the people to reach the C. P. R. line in order that all who have occasion to use a railway shall be accommodated without having to patronize the Grand Trunk. This is only one instance in which public sympathy deprives the Grand Trunk Railway of business. The same feeling exists throughout the entire province, so that from a purely utilitarian point of view it is the height of folly for the Grand Trunk to attempt to continue the struggle.
